Forestry Service Seeking Western Firefighters

The Forestry Division of the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is seeking the help of volunteer firefighters to form crews to fight forest fires in the western states this summer.

To qualify for the crew, a person must be 18 years of age or older and a member in good standing with a volunteer fire department, who has completed basic fire training. Volunteers will be required to undergo two days of special training by the DNR, must be willing to be away on fire detail for a minimum of two weeks, and a maximum of three, should their crew be activated for western duty. A letter of agreement must also be submitted to the forestry division from each volunteer's employer, in order for the volunteer to be away from work for that length of time.

Each volunteer must also pass a physical fitness test administered by the forestry division. Testing in Allegany and Garrett counties will be held April 28.

In past years, fire fighting crews from Maryland have gone to California, Washington, Oregon, Montana, Idaho and Michigan.

The firefighters can expect to earn about $8 per hour and work 80 to 100 hours per week.

Interested firefighters should contact Walter Glass, regional fire manager with the forestry division of DNR, at (301) 777-2137 by April 21.

Vice President Of MSTa To Be At Local Workshop

Karl Pence, vice-president of the 36,000-member Maryland State Teachers Association, will kick-off the Association's Leadership Workshop April 25 in the Holiday Inn at Grantville at 9:10 a.m., according to Tom Shaffer, University director for local teacher association affairs. American leadership from both the Allegany and Garrett County teachers associations will attend the Saturday workshop.

Staff from MSTa will conduct the training of Association activists in advocacy organizing, membership recruitment and retention, and rights and responsibilities of teachers, Shaffer noted.

Members of the local association's Executive Boards will be advised by Walter S. Levin, chief counsel of MSTa, on governance responsibilities under state law and Association by-laws. A continental breakfast and lunch will be provided. Reservations are due April 22.

TO BE FEATURED AT OLYMPIC TRIALS FESTIVAL—One of the featured performers in the Star Spangled Festival at the Savage River during the U.S. Canoe and Kayak Team Olympic Trials, May 16-17, will be Ben Sincell, associate professor of speech and theatre at Garrett Community College and owner of and performer in the Magical Mime Company. A native of Garrett County, Sincell has been a performing magician for over 20 years, having been interested in magic since the age of eight. A graduate of West Virginia Wesleyan College with a degree in dramatic arts with a masters of fine arts degree in theatrical design from West Virginia University, he performs regularly in the local area, and is often assisted by his wife Beverly, and his three children, Daniel, Angie, and Miriam.

Special Meeting Set For Families Of Mentally Ill

Recent developments in the Garrett County mental health community have prompted increased activity by officers and members of the Alliance for the Mentally Ill, according to Carol Cox, president of the advocacy group for those affected by biological brain diseases such as schizophrenia, bipolar disorder (manic depression), clinical depression, and obsessive compulsive behavior.

The need for increased services, the reassignment of the former campus of the Lighthouse Rehabilitation program; and the very future of that program itself have been in question for several months, according to Cox, and steps are now underway to further unify AMI, the state-mandated Mental Health Advisory Board, and members of the public who have vested interest in mental illness.

A special meeting is scheduled for Friday, April 24, at 7:30 p.m. in the fellowship hall at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland. AMI members urge all citizens interested in expanding public awareness and securing the best possible services and personnel for those affected by these mental illnesses to attend this special information session.

Further information regarding plans for this meeting are available by calling 334-4357. Special guest speakers will be present and printed material will be distributed.

Middle Schools Receive Math Video Series

Northern and Southern middle schools each received a set of videotapes through donations by Dr. Donald Richter and the Senior Division of the Mountaintop Basketball League.

The series are aimed at showing students a variety of careers open to them involving different mathematics skills. The "Futures" series will be used in conjunction with the new mathematics program being implemented at the middle school level.

Dr. Richter, who had viewed the series initially, contacted representatives from CUBE (Citizens United for Better Education) with the desire to give a set of the tapes to one of the middle schools. At a meeting with Wilda Massi, principal of Northern Middle School, and Jack Rickman, principal of Southern Middle School, it was agreed that both schools would benefit from owning the series.

Members of the curriculum committee of CUBE (Citizens United for Better Education) then spoke with Rob Michael of State Farm Insurance, who agreed to purchase a set through the Senior Division of the Mountaintop Basketball League which is comprised of local business persons. The "Futures" series uses media personalities and leading figures in the fields of entertainment, fashion, sports, science, agriculture, and other fields to examine and explain the wide variety of careers which use math skills and are available to students.

NHS MOCK TRIAL HELD - The Northern Garrett High School Mock Trial Team convened recently and tried a case concerning sexual harassment and the 14th Amendment. The plaintiff won in the case which revolved around the posting of a "centerfold" in an office situation. Judge Fred A. Thayer presided at the trial, and awarded the teams a score of 95-94. The members of the mock trial teams solicited several businesses to pledge money per score point. The money raised will be used to build a new sign board for the school, according to Tom Ables, trial team advisor. In the photo above, seated left to right, are Amber Close, Mike Metrick, Erin Sines, and Krisel Warnick. Standing in the same order are Shad Wechter, Danielle Hasselbeck, Sara Bosley, Julie Ferguson, Tara Braskey, Pete Forno, Wrenny Smith, Rachel Morton, Christina Peck, Carla Creekmore, and Marie Millor.

Both Massi and Rickman expressed enthusiasm for the series and indicated that it would open the eyes of the students and parents to career possibilities available.

Fashion Show To Benefit Red Cross Slated May 15

The Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross will present a Spring Fashion Fling on Friday, May 15, at 7 p.m. at the McHenry House, Wisp Resort.

The show will feature spring fashions from Doe Ann's Ladies' Apparel, Rudy's Department Store, Fashion Trax, Kathy's Intimate Apparel, J.C. Penney's, Flinn's Family Store, and Marvin's Men's Wear. Doe Raynovich and Amy Rudy are coordinating the show. Tickets are $7 per person and are available at all the participating stores or from any model. Tickets are also available at the Wisp.

During the intermission, a well-known vocal group will entertain. A complimentary cheese and fruit table along with a cash wine bar or non-alcoholic punch will be available.

Models for the event are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Warther, Jennifer Thorn, 1992 Winterfest Queen, Dr. Donald Richter, Sheila Edwards, Dr. and Mrs. Linn Grant, Jim Harvey, Lori Heginbotham, Kim Grimm, 1991 Miss Maryland, Sheila Friend, Norma Hesen, Patrick Damon, Frances Gnegy, Pat Vetter, Tammy Friend, and Judy Umstot.

Donna Heginbotham, fund raising chairperson stated that this is the "first of several interesting fund raisers planned for 1992."

Co. Roads Dept. Switching To Summer Schedule

The Garrett County Roads Department will be switching over to its spring-summer work schedule beginning Monday, April 20, according to Robert Fousek, roads administrator.

Campground At Randolph Lake To Open May 1

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers at Jennings Randolph Lake has announced that the Robert W. Craig Memorial Campground will open on May 1 for the 1992 camping season. The campground is located five miles north of Elk Garden, W. Va., on W. Va. Rt. 46.

The campground features an amphitheater, a playground, a basketball court, horseshoe pit, and a one-mile-long tree identification trail. Evening programs will be presented every Saturday in the amphitheater starting Memorial Day weekend.

This year 25 campsites have had electrical service installed. The fee for campsites with electric will be $8 per night. A fee of $5 per night will be charged for use of sites without electric service.

Good Friday Service Slated At St. Ann's

A community ecumenical Good Friday Service will be held by the Casselman Valley Ministers Association on Friday, April 17, at 12:30 p.m. in the St. Anne's Catholic Church, two miles east of Grantsville, along Alt. Rt. 40.

Focused on the passion of Jesus Christ, the service will be led by pastors in the Association and include special numbers of music given by local people.

The community is invited to participate in this service of preparation for the celebration of Easter.

Original Music Concert Set For April 23 At FSU

The Frostburg State University student chapter of the Music Educators National Conference is sponsoring a concert of original music to be presented in Pullen Auditorium, Thursday, April 23, at 8 p.m. All the compositions on the program were written by either faculty members or students of FSU's Department of Music.

Faculty members whose works will be performed include Dr. Jon Bauman, Kim Andrews, Sue Orrell and Dr. Robert Pusey. Students presenting works are Rose Lechman, Cumberland; Daniel Morris, Baltimore; and Curtis Swallow, Central City, Pa. A variety of types of compositions will be featured: instrumental and choral, solo, and ensemble.

The program is free to the public, however, as a service to the Department of Music, student members of the sponsoring organization will accept voluntary donations at the door, which will be added to the music scholarship fund.

Oakland Civic Club Holds First 1992 Meeting

The Oakland Civic Club held its first meeting of the year at Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake.

President Martha Jachowski led the meeting. Betty Mollay of the nominating committee and Marion Day, corresponding secretary, received thank-you cards from Hospice, the Salem Children's Trust, and other individuals. Helen Wagner explained that the craft committee had made boxes for each club member and Easter baskets for the nursing homes and the Salem home. An Afghan made by Erice Capelle is being raffled off to raise funds for materials for the craft department.

The Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs annual meeting will be held April 26 through 28 at the BWI Marriott.

Requests by various local charitable groups were heard by the club so that the members may allocate funds raised in the annual Autumn Glory Antique Show. The amounts for the charities will be determined at the next regular meeting, which will be held on April 28 at Will O' the Wisp.

The program for the next meeting will include the election of officers for 1992-93 and a discussion of the Charter Home Rule.

Record Quarterly Earnings Posted By First United

"First United is encouraged by the positive economic signs we are experiencing," stated Richard G. Stanton, chairman of the Board, president and chief executive officer for First United Corporation, headquartered in Oakland. He said First United posted its highest quarterly earnings during the first quarter of 1992, as the company exhibited a return on average assets of 1.48 percent and a return on average shareholders' equity of 14.17 percent. "This exemplifies First United's strategic goal of achieving consistent, profitable performance," Stanton added.

First United's consolidated earnings for the first quarter of 1992 totaled $1.30 million, which represents a 13.67 percent increase over the $1.12 million earned for the same period in 1991. Plus, the return on average assets and return on average shareholders' equity compares favorably against the 1991 first quarter performance of 1.33 percent and 14.11 percent, respectively.

Stanton continued, "A bank's income is directly related to the quality of their loan portfolio. I'm pleased to say due to our loan review process, along with prudent underwriting standards, we have seen decreases in both the provision for possible credit losses and charge-offs. The provision decreased from $21 million a year ago to a current level of $18 million. And, net charge-offs amounted to $17 million versus $19 million for the same period in 1991."

During the first quarter, net interest income increased to $4.15 million or 3.13 percent over last year's first quarter. Other operating income also increased to $62 million, a 3.73 percent increase over the first quarter 1991 operating income of $59 million. Stanton attributed the increase in other operating income primarily to continued growth in Trust Department earnings. At the same time, the company experienced a decline in non-interest expense to a level of $2.71 million, a 3.06 percent decrease under the same period in 1991.

Stanton explained, "It is typical in the first quarter to experience slow deposit growth. First United Corporation posted $309.3 million in deposits at the end of the quarter, a slight increase over year-end. Net loans also showed a marginal increase to a balance level of $240.7 million from year-end. These figures are reflective of current economic trends."

He continued, "Our shareholders and customers are always interested in the financial strength of the company. One of the primary measures of strength is shareholders' equity. Currently it stands at $36.6 million, reflecting a primary capital to total assets ratio of 11.11 percent. This is considered strong for our industry."

First United announced this week plans to pay a dividend of $.30 per share to shareholders on May 1, 1992. This dividend shows an increase of 3.45 percent over the dividend paid in the previous year. At the same time the stock price increased from $30.00 to $31.00, over the same period in 1991.

As of March 31, 1992, First United posted assets of $350.5 million, deposits of $309.3 million, and capital resources of $36.6 million.

Glenroot Piper To Lead Evening Discussion Wed.

Glenroot Piper, an Oakland businessman and priest-hood leader, will guide the next Wednesday evening discussion presented by the Deep Creek Branch of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

The topic of the discussion will be "The Holy Ghost" and will be held April 22 from 7-8 p.m. at the church building, 1022 John Drive, Mtn. Lake Park.

Scriptural texts will be taken from the Bible, the Book of Mormon, and the Pearl of Great Price. Refreshments will be served and the public is invited.

PUBLIC NOTICE

According to Sections 2-205 and 6-308 of the Tax Property Article, a taxing authority is required to hold a public hearing when it plans to impose an actual property tax rate that is higher than the Constant Yield Tax Rate, even if the planned tax rate is the same as last year. The Town of Oakland plans to keep its tax rate at the same rate as last year, but must publish notice of the proposed tax rate. The Town must publish the notice below, according to the above noted law. THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND IS NOT INCREASING YOUR TAX RATE!
Adv. 7-3t

NOTICE OF A PROPOSED PROPERTY TAX INCREASE

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, Maryland proposes to increase property taxes.

1. For the tax year beginning July 1, 1992, the estimated assessable base will increase by 4.6%, from $29,400,621 to $30,757,676.

2. If Oakland maintains the current tax rate of $1.20 per $100 of assessment, property tax revenues will increase by 4.6%, resulting in $16,285 of new property tax revenues.

3. In order to fully offset the effect of increasing assessments, the property tax rate should be reduced to $1.15, the constant yield tax rate.

4. The Town is considering not reducing its property tax rate enough to offset increasing assessments. The Town proposes to adopt a tax rate of $1.20 per $100 of assessment. This tax rate is 4.3% higher than the constant yield tax rate and will generate $16,285 in additional property tax revenues.

A Public Hearing on the proposed property tax increase will be held at 7:30 p.m., on May 4, 1992, at Oakland Town Hall, 109 South Third Street, Oakland, MD. The hearing is open to the public, and public testimony is encouraged.

Persons with questions regarding this hearing may call (301) 334-2691 for further information.

AURORA/EGLON NEWS

RAMP DINNER

A ramp dinner will be served at the Aurora fire hall on April 26 from noon to 4 p.m. Dinners will be $5 for adults and $3 for children, and will feature ramps prepared in various methods plus a full meal, beverage, and dessert.

EASTER SERVICES

A Tenebrae service on Friday evenings, April 17, will feature a dramatization "Have You Seen My Son?" in which mothers speak of their sons. The service will be held at 7:30 p.m. at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Aurora, and the public is invited.

On Easter Sunday morning, the community will gather at 6:30 a.m. at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren for sunrise service and breakfast will be served at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building following services. Speaker for the sunrise service will be the Rev. Rick Rutkauskas and special music will be provided by the community choir.

CARD SHOWER

Norah Strawser will be observing her 88th birthday April 18. She resides at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Helen and Dorman Phillips, Rt. 1, Box 316, Chenoweth Creek Road, Elkins, WV 26241. Mrs. Strawser is a former resident of Egdon.

HOMEMAKERS NEWS
"Laughter doeth good like medicine" was the basis for the April 7 study by the Egdon Extension Homemakers. Avenell Parsons had asked members to bring funny stories or experiences and these were shared by several of those present.

Opening devotions included two poems, "Easter Is" and "Secret Information," in addition to scripture and prayer read by hostess Sandra Hauser and her sister, Mary Rembold. The club will be bringing supplies to be sent to the Ronald McDonald House in Morgantown at the May meeting. Donations of $50 to Preston High for landscaping and flowers and of $25 to the Aurora PTO were made. Date of the appliance pick-up will be announced later. The club will be providing favor-table decorations for the Area Meeting to be held June 4 in Kingwood. The new county handbook was shown and the change of name for the organization noted from "Open Line."

The special feature shown was a rabbit doll made for Beth Hauser by her grandmother, Maxine Hauser, and aunt, Mary Kelly, and also a drawing of the doll done by Beth. The hostess also showed a copy of the new county newspaper, The Preston Guardian.

Welcomed back was Ruth Teets, the secretary, who had spent three months in Florida. Acting secretary during her absence was Rebecca Teets. Others in attendance included president, Linda Lewis; Nina Layman, Lectie Bonner, Lillian Knotts, and Jean Winters.

PERSONAL MENTION

Among those who were in the community for April 12 services for Brooke Stemple were his sister, Vera Stemple, Bridgewater, Va., Ervin and Margaret Shrock of Charleston, Cline Shrock, his son-in-law and grandson, all of Ohio, and many other friends and relatives from out-of-town. Weekend visitors with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Myers and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Teets, Aurora, were Alan and Mary Teets of Springfield, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Harsh of Silver Knob and Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Teets of Egdon journeyed to Athens, Ohio, Saturday where they met their children, Bruce and Mary Teets, and brought their grandchildren, Tracy and Melinda Teets, home with them to spend this week.

Asa and Grace Pennington of Canaan Valley are both ill and have been hospitalized or undergoing tests during the past two weeks. Mr. Pennington is the brother of William Pennington and Lectie Bonner, Egdon.

Gary Baker is spending a leave with his parents, Steve and Carolyn Baker, and sisters, Leah and Lauren, Aurora Pike, before reporting to his new assignment aboard the Wasp at Norfolk. He has completed his computer repair training at San Francisco with the U.S. Navy.

Bob and Eileen Rembold of Pittsburgh were Sunday visitors at Egdon with their son and family, Bruce and Mary Rembold, Shawn and Craig. Also visiting during the afternoon were David and Wilma Teets of Horse Shoe Run.

A birthday dinner Sunday at the home of Tom and Linda Lewis, Egdon, honored both Mr. Lewis and John Montgomery. Others attending were the Lewis daughters, Julie, Emily and Sara, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Winters, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Norwish and Gary Baker.

Attending the Tucker County Chorus concert on Sunday evening, April 19, at Canaan Valley State Park were Mr. and Mrs. David Teets, Elma and Jolena Slaubaugh and Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Teets.

Jim Bolyard of Amboy was injured recently at work and last week underwent arthroscopy for his knee at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. He is now recuperating at his home.

OBITUARY

Joseph Brooke Stemple, 78, of Aurora, died April 9, 1992, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland. Born December 17, 1913 at Aurora, he was a son of the late Luther J. and Ada Stemple Stemple. Mr. Stemple was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Aurora, a charter member of the FFA, an American Leader of 4-H clubs and helped to establish the Preston County 4-H Camp.

He is survived by his wife, Gertrude Bolyard Stemple, Aurora; two sons, Joseph Kyle Stemple of Aurora, Ronald Brooke Stemple, Oakland; two daughters, Lynn Louise Lechner, Clarksburg, Mary Kowalkowski, Aurora; two sisters, Vera Stemple of Bridgewater, Va., and Martina Copeman of Kingwood; and eight grandchildren.

Services were held Sunday, April 12, at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Aurora, with Pastor Rick Rutkauskas officiating. Interment followed in the Aurora Cemetery. Arrangements were by Hinkle Funeral Home, Davis, where friends were received Saturday.

KVFD Auxiliary Contest Noted

The Kingwood Volunteer Fire Department Auxiliary is conducting an art contest to help preserve and maintain an interest in the history of Preston County.

Persons are invited to submit framed pictures, no larger than 12 by 16 inches, depicting areas and places of interest from the early history of Preston County. Suggested media include water colors, pen and ink, charcoal, color pencil, crayons, applique, or cross-stitch.

Prizes for the winners will be $25 for first place, $20 for second, and $15 for third. The proceeds from last year's quilt project raffle will be used for prize money.

Members of the Kingwood VFD and Auxiliary are ineligible for prizes.

Surplus Food To Be Distributed

The Preston County Office of North Central West Virginia Community Action will be coordinating the distribution of surplus food commodities on April 22 at various sites in the county.

The schedule is as follows: Arthurdale Presbyterian Church, Arthurdale, and Evergreen Baptist Church, Terra Alta, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.; Aurora Fire Hall and Bruceton United Methodist Church, 9 a.m. to noon; Camp Dawson, Kingwood, and Tunnelton United Methodist Church, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.; Newburg Senior Center, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.; and Rowlesburg Fire Hall, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Persons are asked to bring their own bags or boxes to pick up food. It is not known at this time which commodities will be available.

activities, Bausch & Lomb, $100 and sunglasses to be awarded as prizes; First United National Bank & Trust, $200; Knights of Columbus, $100; and Cumberland Concrete (local office), $250. Members of the Deep Creek Lions Club have volunteered to serve as casino workers for the night and local disc jockey Dave Zimmerman (Mr. Z) will provide music.

Chuck Harkins, a teacher at Southern and co-organizer of the party, explained that students were presented with the idea for such a celebration in their English classes.

"Though a few students were skeptical of the idea of an all-night party at school, the great majority of our juniors and seniors were very enthusiastic," he said. "They have been especially excited about the MTV style video booth being funded by the Garrett County Health Department and the car being given away. In fact, students seem enthusiastic about all aspects of the party, from the casino area to beauty make-overs to music."

Harkins explained that the purpose of the event is to provide a safe haven for prom goers, giving them an alternative to other all-night parties held elsewhere that may include the use of illegal drugs and alcohol. He said it will also keep the students off the roadways during the night hours. Weekly meetings are being held at 7 p.m. each Thursday night at Southern. More chaperons are still needed and persons wishing to take part in the event are encouraged to attend one of the meetings.

Many Americans Not Properly Vaccinated

According to the National Council on Patient Information and Education, many Americans are not protected against certain bacterial or viral infections because they have not received appropriate vaccination. The Council reports that only 70 to 80 percent of preschool children have received all scheduled immunizations. Several thousand adults die each year from complications of influenza, a condition that can be prevented with proper immunization. The problem may occur from an inadequate understanding of the need for vaccinations by parents and other adults, or the failure of health care providers to ask family members about vaccinations.

According to a recent issue of Postgraduate Medicine, since 1983 the number of cases of measles has increased dramatically. The American Academy of Pediatrics is now recommending that children aged 11 to 12 receive another dose of measles vaccine (the first dose is given to infants at 15 months). The Academy further recommends that college students receive the second dose if they received only one dose. Vaccines for H. influenzae type b can be given to infants as young as two months to prevent bacterial meningitis. High-risk persons such as health workers and IV drug users can prevent hepatitis B if they are vaccinated with the hepatitis B vaccine series.

Lakers Stretch Streak To 13 Wins Before Falling To Powerful Essex

The Garrett Community College Lakers stretched their school record winning streak to 13 games last Thursday afternoon by sweeping both ends of a home-opening doubleheader over Potomac State College. 12-3 and 12-11. However, the streak was ended Saturday afternoon when the Lakers dropped a 9-5 decision over a strong Essex team at Essex. Then they split a doubleheader with host Frederick Community College on Sunday, winning the first game, 8-4, and dropping the nightcap, 6-3.

Coach Lawrence Nesselrodt's team, now 14-11, will host Montgomery-Germantown in a doubleheader this afternoon, and then play single games at home against Cecil CC on Saturday, Allegany on Sunday, and Potomac State next Wednesday.

The Lakers wasted no time putting runs on the board against Potomac State last Thursday, as they scored four in the first inning and one in the second to take a 5-0 lead. Kevin Green doubled in a pair of runs in the first inning, while Bo Bishop and Jermaine Shy each rapped RBI singles. Rob Hottinger scored the second inning run on a double steal. The Catamounts came back with three runs in the top of the third on a double by Jeff See and a pair of Laker errors.

Garrett made it 7-3 in the fourth when runs scored on a double by Hottinger and a sacrifice fly by Mike Leshok.

They put the game away with five more runs in the sixth. The first was scored on a bases-loaded walk to Tony Angelo that sent John Cullen home. Rod Freeman then scored on a wild pitch and Green followed with a three-run homer.

Brian Shaffer went the distance on the mound for the Lakers to improve his record to 3-2.

The Lakers found themselves down 6-1 in the second inning of the nightcap before rallying for their 13th straight win. They came back with three runs in the bottom of the second on RBI by Doug Bertolini and Leshok. A solo homer by Angelo in the third cut the Catamounts' lead to 6-5, but it was answered by a similar shot by Potomac's Mike Perkins in the fourth.

Garrett knotted the score at 7-7 with a two-run homer by Leshok that drove in Chad Sines in the bottom of the fourth. Then they took a 10-7 advantage with three runs in the fifth on a two-run triple by Bertolini and another run-producing triple by Bishop.

Potomac State tied it at 10 apiece in the sixth with a three-run blast by Perkins. Then Randall Ours put the Catamounts back on top in the seventh with a solo homer.

But the Lakers came back to win the game in the bottom of the seventh as Whittington singled and moved to second on a sacrifice by Bertolini. Freeman followed with a walk and Leshok singled to score Whittington. After attempting to tag Whittington out at home, Catamount catcher Larry Winston then made a fatal error by trying to throw Freeman out at third. His throw got away and Freeman came home to record the winning run.

Jake Sawyers improved to 2-2 with the win, as he took the mound in the second inning and went the rest of the way.

The Lakers held a brief 1-0 lead in Saturday's game against 14-2 Essex when Green stroked an RBI single in the first inning.

Essex came back with a two-run homer by Boyd in the bottom of the inning before Garrett tied the score at 2-2 on a sacrifice fly by Leshok that scored Shy.

Then Essex added five runs in the third on a fielder's choice, a single by Batten, a two-run double by Boyd, a run-producing double by Frye, and a Laker error.

After a single run by Essex in the fourth on another RBI by Boyd, the Lakers scored a run in the fifth on a sacrifice fly by Green. Essex added another run in the eighth on a single by Lahr and the Lakers concluded their scoring with two runs in the ninth on a wild pitch and a ground out.

The Lakers left eight men on base. Bishop led Garrett's hitting with a double and a single, while Freeman and Leshok each singled twice. Chris Lollis and Whittington each recorded a double.

Ryan Harman and Paul Bowman combined for a six-hitter in the first game against the Frederick CC Cougars on Sunday, as Harman tossed the first six and two-thirds innings and was credited with the win, which upped his personal record to 3-0. He struck out five batters and walked only two, while Bowman retired both batters he faced in the seventh.

The Lakers went on top 2-0 in the first inning on a RBI double by Leshok and a run-producing single by Angelo. They added a single-run in the second inning and two more in the fourth when Whittington came home on a single by Bishop and Bishop scored on a double by Angelo.

Brian Shaffer stroked an RBI single in the fifth and a two-run homer in the seventh to conclude the Lakers' scoring.

Three of Frederick's runs came on a three-run homer by Tritopoe.

Huskies Sweep Mapletown Before Ripping Shanksville; Record Now 5-2

The Northern Huskies improved their season mark to 5-2 this past week by recording their second, third, and fourth straight victories. They swept a doubleheader from host Mapletown, 9-3 and 14-9, on Saturday and then whipped visiting Shanksville last night, 13-6.

Coach Phil Carr's squad will attempt to keep the streak going this afternoon when they host Westmar.

The Huskies recorded 13 hits in the opening game against Mapletown on Saturday, while Derek Mason fired a seven-hitter and allowed only one earned run.

Jon Houser paced the offense with two doubles and three RBI, while Doug Brennenman recorded three RBI with a double and a single. Jarrett McKenzie hit a double and a single, Paul Edwards and Chad Anderson each singled twice, and Mason added an RBI double.

The second game remained tight until the sixth inning when Northern broke a 7-7 tie with five runs.

Mark Beals led off the Huskies' sixth with a triple and then scored on an Alan Sebald single. Sebald then moved to third on a bunt single by Harrison Foy and Todd Burdock followed with a walk to load the bases. Rich Schofield then walked.

McKenzie finished with a triple and a single for three RBI. Foy hit two singles. Speicher recorded three RBI on a single, and Beals tripled.

The Huskies broke last night's contest with Shanksville wide open in the bottom of the third inning by scoring seven runs to break a 3-3 tie.

Paul Edwards started the streak with a single and later scored on an error. McKenzie, who reached on a walk, then scored on a single by Brennenman. After another run scored on an error, Eric Umbel smacked a three-run double and Speicher followed with an RBI single to put Northern on top 10-3.

Brennenman finished with four singles in the Huskies' 14-hit effort, while Umbel and Edwards each singled and doubled, McKenzie homered, and Beals doubled.

Houser recorded the win on the mound, his second in three starts, as he allowed only five hits, struck out nine, walked three, and yielded only one earned run in going the distance.

Mark Snyder doubled and singled and Scott Hoads singled twice for Shanksville.

Northern Track Teams Finish Second In Meet

The Northern High School boys' and girls' track teams opened their seasons at Allegany High School last Thursday by placing second in a meet that involved Allegany, Hampshire, and Mount Savage.

The Northern girls, who set five school records and recorded five first place finishes, scored 67.5 points, behind Allegany with 106 and ahead of Mount Savage (42.5) and Hampshire (40).

Rebecca Fratz won three events for the Northern girls, including the high jump (5-0), the 400-meter dash (1:05.5), and the 300-meter intermediate hurdles (51.6).

The 3,200-meter relay team of Bobbi Dolan and Jennifer Dolan, Susannah Mathews, and Stacy Anderson also placed first with a school record time of 11:20.54. Jennie Rider won the 110 hurdles in a time of 17.7, a school record, and set a school record in the triple jump (27'6.5") that was good for third place.

Bobbi Dolan's 13:19 third place finish in the 3,200 run was a school record, as was Michelle Fazembaker's fifth place finish in the 73'10.5".

The Northern boys finished with 63 team points, while Allegany scored 81 and Hampshire finished with 42.

Jerry Buckel recorded two first places for the Northern boys, winning the 800 and 1,600 runs. The Husky 3,200 relay team of Buckel, Barry Savage, Rich Bowser, and Brent Hull also placed first with a time of 8:52, as did the 800 relay team of Tim and Dave Hinebaugh, Chris Bittner, and Chris Wachter in 1:46.82.

Other Northern first places were recorded by Mike Fike in the shot put with a toss of 45'5" and Wachter in the high jump with a leap of 5'10".

Rams Win Three Of Five In Quest To Get Back On Schedule

The Southern Rams had a busy week attempting to make up games and get back on schedule, as they played five contests since last Thursday. Coach Jim Bosley's team won three of the five games and will play again this Saturday at Berkeley Springs in a 1 p.m. doubleheader.

Southern dropped an 8-5 game to visiting Petersburg last Thursday, split a doubleheader with Preston County on Saturday, winning the opener, 10-5, and dropping the second game, 12-4, blanked host Elkins Monday, 10-0, and ripped Tucker County last night, 10-1, in Parsons. The Rams are 5-2 on the season.

The bad weather and subsequent lack of practice time was evident in the Rams' game against Petersburg, as they committed when errors and recorded only three hits.

The Vikings went up 2-0 in the second inning with both runs a result of two-out infield errors that scored J.R. Hiser and Will Watts, who had both singled and advanced on a bunt by Tom Routt.

Petersburg scored two more in the third on a two-run homer by Hiser and four more Ram errors in the fourth allowed the visitors to up the score by two more runs, making it 6-0.

A two-out RBI single by Gary Upole in the fourth, and run-producing singles by Garth Glatfelter and Brett Rice, coupled with a bases-loaded walk to Britten Martin in the fifth cut the Rams' deficit to 6-4.

Then Petersburg recorded their final two runs in the sixth on a two-run double by Routt.

Watts, Doug Fletcher, and Wes Alt combined for a three-hitter for the Vikings.

In the opening game against Preston County on Saturday, Dave Kurtz spearheaded an 11-hit effort by the Rams, as he rapped a home run, a triple and a single for four RBI. Rice singled and doubled for two runs and Jeremy Bosley added two singles.

Southern took a 6-0 lead in the first inning to take control of the game. Jeremy Goines accounted for two of Preston's five runs, both singles.

Shane Skipper, Craig Calhoun, and Bosley combined on the mound for the five-hit win over Mike Ashby.

Preston County effectively utilized the long ball to win the second game, as they smacked five home runs. Rick Sharpless hit two of them, Toby Hall added a two-run shot, Dan Poe had a solo shot to go with a single, and Toby Dixon hit the fifth homer, also a solo.

Poe also got the win on the mound, as he tossed a six-hitter with 10 strike-outs. Glatfelter homered and singled, while Skipper doubled and singled for the Rams. Upole absorbed the loss.

The Rams' easy win over Elkins on Monday was highlighted by a three-hit pitching effort by Rice and a two-run homer by Britten Martin.

Kurtz singled home a pair of runs in the first inning and Martin's blast came in the fourth inning. Josh Woods finished with two singles.

Rice, who improved his record to 2-0, gave up just three singles and fanned seven batters.

In last night's Potomac Valley Conference win against Tucker County, Upole aided his own cause on the mound by driving in three runs, while Glatfelter and Jason Rinker each finished with three hits.

The Rams recorded 16 hits on the afternoon. Kurtz added a double and a single and Woods finished with two singles.

Southern took a 2-0 lead in the first inning on a two-run single by Martin. They made it 4-0 in the second on Glatfelter's two-run single.

Kurtz singled and later scored on a single by Upole in the sixth to make it 5-0.

The Rams added five insurance runs in the seventh on a run-producing double by Kurtz and two-run singles by Upole and Rinker.

The only run for the Mountain Lions was recorded via a solo homer in the sixth inning.

Upole pitched six innings and was relieved in the seventh by Calhoun.

Bosley Resigns

Southern athletic director Tom Woods noted his appreciation of Bosley's efforts. Bosley served several seasons as an assistant to Woods in the football program.

"It has been an honor to be associated with Tom over the years and we will be hard-pressed to find someone who is willing to put in so much extra time and effort as a coach," he said.

Woods noted that, as of this week, no one had applied for the position.

Fly Fishing In Garrett County

The Casselman River

by Ralph M. Burnett

The Casselman River is a moody and pensive river flowing from its tributaries at Jennings and Bittering, east of Grantsville, then north into Pennsylvania. Its flow is narrow and fast through the Casselman Valley until it curves through high banks a mile south of the Interstate 68 bridge and then the stream flattens and widens for its three-mile journey to Pennsylvania. After flowing under the Casselman Stone Arch bridge, the river runs smoothly past Penn Alps, Stanton Mill, the Meshach Browning Club, the steel bridge and concrete overflow (seen in the photographs of Leo Beachy) and then through several large farms. During its trek the river widens considerably, with long riffles and deep holes. All these features, especially the flat flow, free of the typical overhang of trees, make the Casselman a rarity among eastern rivers, a "no-hang-up, no-tangle" fly fishing river—advantageous for beginners and still a challenge to those adept in the sport.

Like most Garrett County rivers and tributaries, the Casselman's entry into recorded history was not as a fishing river, but as a commercial conduit and boundary. When the first white settlers arrived in Garrett County, the Casselman Valley was populated by Indians. The Shawnees, Iroquois, Delaware, and Senecas depended on the river plan for their food and resources. There has been some argument that the Seneca Trail, the trail of warriors moving north to south into the Carolinas, passed near the Casselman River. Both Braddock's expedition against the French in 1775 and George Washington's subsequent forays into Ohio and Pennsylvania crossed the Casselman River.

Some of the first commercial coal mines in Garrett County were opened in the Casselman River Valley and were serviced by the Jennings Brothers Railroad (later the Casselman Valley Railroad Company), which carried Bittering-Jennings coal along the Casselman River to Pennsylvania until 1959 when service to the Casselman River Valley was discontinued. It is hard to determine how many deep mines were dug in the Casselman River Valley, but it is certain that most were punch and donkey mines, dug by hand and abandoned when the coal was fully dug out or market conditions no longer made coal mining economical. The high for Casselman River coal was between 1910 and 1950. As a result of the untreated discharge from these mines flowing into the stream until the early 1980s, the river was generally unfit for fish habitation because of low p.h., high water temperature, and high sulphur concentrations.

Even though the view of the river from the bridges crossing the Casselman River was scenic, no one considered the river a fishery, and certainly no one considered the river might have fly-fishing potential. But in 1984 the Department of Natural Resources began testing the waters of the Casselman and discovered that the p.h. was in normal ranges and that sulphur content was much reduced. Although water temperature had decreased to comfortable levels in the spring months, the temperature during summer could soar to levels too high for trout survival. The following year, the Department of Natural Resources began stocking small-mouth bass in the river. Furthermore, brook trout and Pennsylvania stocked rainbows were discovered living adjacent to and below the Yoder Farm. This indicated to the Department of Natural Resources that trout survival was a possibility. It was obvious that during the warm stretches of the summer, especially in July and August, trout were holding over and surviving.

In the spring of 1989 at the urging of the Garrett County Development Corporation and the Youghiogheny Chapter of Trout Unlimited, the Department of Natural Resources undertook a program of stocking rainbow and brown trout on the Casselman River from I-68 to the Pennsylvania state line. This stretch of river is managed as a delayed harvest area. Until June 1 only artificial lures are permitted and all fish must be released. After June 1 bait is allowed and fisherman may keep two fish per day. The result has been an enjoyable, easily accessible fishery that is drawing anglers from Pennsylvania and West Virginia, as well as Maryland.

The uniqueness of the Casselman River derives from its similarity in appearance and water to western rivers. The river is generally flat and wide, permitting long casts and drifts for a dry fly. Unlike fishing the Potomac and the Youghiogheny, chest waders are unnecessary. The water during the months of April and May has depths running generally to 2½ to 3½ feet. Because of the river's western flavor, I prefer western style flies: fishing down river with wooley buggers, girdle bugs, and muddler minnows. My greatest success has been with a black wooley bugger. Last year using a black wooley bugger I caught and returned 18.

LURED BY TROUT to Garrett County last weekend was Bruce Forejt of Elk City, who made the several hour trip knowing beforehand that he would return home empty handed. Forejt joined numerous other anglers in testing the delayed harvest trout management area of the Casselman River near Grantsville, where trout captured before June must be returned to the stream. Forejt apparently enjoyed wading the water on Saturday, as he returned to the Casselman on Sunday despite colder temperatures. Photo by Craig Speicher.

Garrett County Fishing Contest Begins May 1

The 32nd Annual Garrett County Fishing Contest will begin May 1 and continue through September 30, 1992.

Fishing is popular at Deep Creek Lake, Maryland's largest freshwater lake, and the county also boasts a large variety of rivers, streams, and reservoirs which offer excellent fishing, according to a spokesman for the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council.

Weekly winners of the fishing contest are awarded an emblem and citation, and plaques are awarded for the season's largest catches of largemouth and smallmouth bass, crappie, chain pickerel, walleye, yellow perch, northern pike, trout and bluegill. All fish must be registered at Johnny's Bait House along U.S. Route 219 just south of the Deep Creek Lake Bridge.

This fishing contest is sponsored by Johnny's Bait House and the Promotion Council. For more information on this and other events, persons may contact the Promotion Council, 200 S. Third Street, Courthouse, Oakland, MD 21550-1581; telephone (301) 334-1948.

trout in two hours. One of the trout was a 17-inch brown. When trout are taking insects off the surface, I again revert to western patterns: trudes, royal wulfs, and cad-dimintations.

The hottest sections of the river are that portion running from the I-68 bridge under the Stone bridge and past Penn Alps, the section running adjacent to the Yoder Farm, and the stretch at the metal bridge above the Pennsylvania state line. There are several other riffles noticeable from the River Road which hold trout.

The best time to fish the Casselman is before July, while water levels are up. The ease of access, gentle flows, and plethora of fish make this a very enjoyable stream. The multitudes of wildflowers along River Road are an added bonus. There are picnic facilities at streamside at Casselman River Bridge State Park. Penn Alps has a fine restaurant located adjacent to the state park and the Meshach Browning Club at streamside on River Road is a purveyor of liquid refreshments.

Timbering

 management zone in the 10-year plan should be curtailed in an effort to mitigate the anticipated adverse impacts upon the county and the timber industry.

In the letter written by the county commissioners, dated March 5, concerns were expressed about the forest plan in terms of "fire danger to the forest and adjoining private landowners." That fire danger, according to the commissioners, is caused by dead wood from gypsy moth destruction and overly mature trees.

"This one catastrophe would cause far more damage to the forest than logging," stated the letter.

The commissioners also stated in their letter that, while timber sales have been "regularly inventoried," the same could not be said for most other uses, except for camping permits and legally harvested game.

In referring to the 10-year plan, the commissioners stated, "We find the enormous increase in nearly all categories of recreational use between 1989 and 1990 to be unbelievable. Did hunting increase by 523%? Fishing by 270%? Hiking by 773%? Or picnicking by 8,854%? The draft report emphasizes recreational demands on the forest, but in fact we do not know what the demand for recreational use actually is, or what the potential use might be, especially now with the state of the economy."

The commissioners also complained about the 29,000 acres of general management zones (which are not restricted from logging) being so fragmented as to be inaccessible to logging equipment. They also suggested that an annual recreational user's fee of $24.50 would be appropriate to offset the loss in timber sales revenues.

Governor Schaefer responded to both the commissioners and the planning commission, in separate letters, by stating, "I certainly recognize your concern for the direct economic benefits realized by the county, primarily as a result of timber sales from these lands; but, he said, "the actual revenues from timber sales in recent years continue to approximate the average amount derived from timber sales over the past 10 years, despite the delays caused by manpower shortages, political opposition, and increasing needs for public involvement and environmental awareness."

Schaefer emphasized that "important new benefits to a wide variety of groups" would be realized by the county with the current 10-year plan, and also cited a study conducted by the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development in which it was estimated that "the total economic benefit to Maryland derived from Savage River State Forest for the 1990 fiscal year exceeded $33 million" and while the report is limited to only one year, "$33 million is a tremendous economic impact from a 53,000 acre forest."

Schaefer also noted that $26 million of that figure resulted from recreational use of the forest, "which, while not precluded by timber management, certainly requires sensitivity to the needs of various user groups."

He continued by stating, "The economic impact study does not even include various other benefits such as scenic beauty, research opportunities and protection of water quality and quantity."

In fact, Savage River State Forest watersheds provide over one million gallons of water per day to various local municipalities. Throughout the recent droughts we have seen the importance of that aspect of forest management."

The 10-year plan for the forest, according to Schaefer, is a positive force in addressing the concerns of all the various interest groups. "It strikes a careful balance between lands actively managed for a variety of benefits and those designated as natural, scenic, and water management areas. It also provides guidelines and establishes procedures to make the political processes more manageable, which should ultimately be of great benefit to those who depend upon forest products for economic stability."

In Schaefer's letter to the commissioners, he also stated, "I am most surprised by your characterization of the new plan as one-sided and pro-environmentalist. I have heard from many environmentalists who describe the plan as anything but pro-environmentalist. Most seem to recognize the plan for what I believe it is, a compromise, which takes into account the needs and desires of a variety of interest groups. While it does designate additional portions of the forest for uses which may preclude commercial timber management, I think you will be pleased by the mix of benefits which will accrue from the management envisioned by the new plan."

Finally, in his letter to the commissioners, Schaefer stated, "Public involvement and environmental awareness may create some short-term inconveniences for us as public servants, and may also ultimately lead to changes in the way we do business, but as stewards of public lands we have a responsibility to carefully weigh all resource management decisions."

The Savage River State Forest 10-year management plan received its final hearing in March.

 commented on whether or not they will take advantage of the offer.

The tax plan also includes a new, but temporary, six percent tax brackets for those Maryland residents whose income exceeds $100,000, a five-cent-per-gallon increase on gasoline, a 20-cent-per-pack increase on cigarettes, and an expansion of goods and services to be taxed.

The budget is reportedly $600 million more than was approved for fiscal year 1992. Spending increases will go toward education and prison facilities, while state government funding will show a slight decrease.

FAMILY BUSINESS EXPANDS - Piper Building Supply, located just west of Oakland on Md. Rt. 39, recently increased its variety of building supplies and added 1,280 square feet of space to the showroom with a new sales counter. Additionally, there is a new paneling display, a new line of stains, a new line of ceiling products, and a new bathroom display being installed. The business has been family owned since 1954 when Frankie W. Piper and his wife, Ruby (Dille) Piper started the business. The three sons of Frankie formed a partnership in 1983 and Leif, Glen, and Fritz continue to operate the business. The three brothers are veterans of the Armed Forces with honorable discharges from the Army, Marines, and the Coast Guard and have been working closely in the family business since the partnership began in 1983. Piper Building Supply is the original sponsor of the first house built by the Southern High School carpentry students. Father Frankie purchased that first house and it is now being used as a rental home. The Piper brothers continue to support the local schools and the efforts of the students. The brothers invite the public to visit them during their current open house. Piper Building Supply is a franchise "Golden Rule Lumber Center" and is a member of the Western Building Material Dealers Association.

Garrett County Job Fair Set For April 25

The first annual Garrett County Job Fair will be held Saturday, April 25, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Garrett Community College. The Deep Creek Lake Business Association is sponsoring this event in coordination with the Garrett Community College Job Placement Center. The fair will provide an opportunity for local employers to recruit employees for summer, year-round, or future jobs.

An individual display table will be set up at the college for each interested employer. This display table will be staffed by the employer to provide details about job opportunities and application information. Employers may also display information about their business and conduct mini-interviews.

The GCC Job Placement Center is inviting Garrett County students and community members, as well as students from West Virginia University, Frostburg State University, Potomac State College, and Allegany Community College to attend.

Bausch and Lomb has donated Ray Ban sunglasses to be used as door prizes at the fair. Cathy Clocker will be doing live remote broadcasts from the fair on WKHJ Radio.

Employers who would like to participate should contact Lynne Glotfelty at the GCC Job Placement Center at 387-6666, ext. 180, immediately.

OVER $5,000 in donations and pledges was raised by the first Garrett County Multiple Sclerosis Walk, held Saturday, April 4 in Mtn. Lake Park. Ninety-two persons of all ages participated in the effort as walkers and dozens of other individuals and local businesses supported the walk by making pledges and/or donating food items and prizes. The photo above was taken during registration and below are several of the walkers on the five-mile trek that took them through Broadford Recreation Park and back again. Plans are already underway for next year's walk according to Betsy Colaw, coordinator.

LWV COMMENDS RECYCLING EFFORT - Students at Loch Lynn School are learning all about recycling during the month of April, thanks to the initiative of Monaca Hedrick, school media center director. Ms. Hedrick arranged for different speakers to give presentations to the students. Above, Lee Thorne, Garrett County recycling coordinator, speaks to fourth graders about why recycling is important and what can be recycled. Ms. Hedrick is pictured at left. Visiting the school Tuesday was Donna Aspinall, League of Women Voters editor, who explained the different kinds of paper, glass, and metal that can be recycled. Next Tuesday the Extension Office will show the children different art projects using recycled materials and on April 28, Thorne will return to give a presentation on composting of yard and food waste. Anyone wishing to attend one or more of the presentations is welcome to do so and may call the school for the times. A spokesman for the Garrett County LWV noted appreciation to the various individuals who are promoting recycling in the county "and not waiting for much needed mandates to be passed by government."

where a spaghetti dinner will be served and the evening's entertainment will take place.

A limited number of tickets to the dinner will be available to the public at a nominal charge. Stemple noted that the 121st Engineer Battalion Company "C" has donated the use of the hall for the occasion.

Participating in the parade will be many of the whitewater athletes, the Northern High School Band, the GCC Pipes and Drums, a color guard, and various local officials.

Master of ceremonies for the program, Pat Gregg, will introduce Dr. Steve Horman, president of Garrett Community College, the host agency for the Olympic Trials, and Asa McCain, mayor of Oakland, who will officially welcome the guests. To begin the program, Kim Grimm, former Miss Maryland, will sing the national anthem. Several local groups are also among the evening's entertainers, include the Aerobic Dancers from Brenda's Body Shop, The Accident Community Band, and Tom Peterson's barbershop quartet.

A return appearance of the U.S. Navy's bluegrass band, Country Current, will highlight the evening's program. This group has performed at the Kennedy Center, the White House, and at many concert halls and festivals throughout the country. They have appeared in this area at Garrett Community College for the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival and at the Deep Creek Lake State Park for the '89 World's Whitewater Championships.

must submit a sensitive area management plan to the Maryland Office of State Planning no later than January 1, 1993, according to Jamison.

The plan will encourage economic development in areas already designated for growth in an effort to stem "sprawling growth." In addition, a list of "visions," prepared last year by the 2020 Commission, would become the policy basis for local comprehensive plans.

The Garrett County Commissioners responded to the passage of the bill this week by stating their disapproval of it because, they say, it gives the state too much control over the local jurisdictions. They have indicated, however, that the need for an update of the county's comprehensive plan, which was established in 1974, is a valid one. The plan has reportedly never been updated since its inception.

Kimble-Beckman Couple Exchange Wedding Vows In March Ceremony

Wedding vows were exchanged between Catherine Kimble and Jack Beckman on Saturday, March 21, 1992, at Crellin United Methodist Church. The 1 p.m. ceremony was performed by the Rev. Kenneth Montgomery. Traditional wedding music was provided by Elaine Bateman.

The bride is the daughter of Richard and Mary Kimble, Oakland. The groom is the son of Galen and Velma Beckman, Mtn. Lake Park. Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of glowing acetate satin. The gown featured a sweetheart neckline, short puffed sleeves, and a fitted bodice, all of which were accented with pearls and sequins. The full skirt featured a lace-flounced hemline and extended from the antebellum waistline into a chapel-length train.

The bride wore a fingertip-length veil held by a spray of white silk flowers and pearls. She carried a cascading bouquet of peach day lilies, peach satin roses, and baby's breath.

Rita Hardesty, friend of the bride was matron of honor. Mary Lynn Kimble and Richann Kimble, sisters of the bride, served as bridesmaids. All the attendants wore peach floor-length gowns and carried white lace fans with peach silk lilies and roses. Randi Beckman, niece of the groom, was flower girl. She wore a white floor-length gown with peach trim and carried a lace-trimmed basket of mixed peach flowers. Theresa Lewis, cousin of the groom, was in charge of the guest book. All the flower arrangements were designed by Leota Martin.

Kenneth Hardesty, friend of the groom, served as best man. Guests were ushered by William Kimble, brother of the bride, and Gene Eastell. Joshua Beckman, nephew of the groom, was ring bearer. The groom and all the attendants wore grey tuxedos, peach ties and cummerbunds, and peach boutonnières.

A reception followed at the Crellin Community Building. The hall was decorated with peach and white crepe paper braids, white bells, and peach center pieces. The peach-trimmed, three-tiered cake sat atop a lighted fountain with ribbon streamers leading to side cakes. The cake was baked and served by Leota Martin.

Jane Lewis and Violet Alexander, aunts of the groom, helped serve other food and punch. Following the wedding, the couple set up residence in Mtn. Lake Park.

Harshes To Wed; Reception Slated

William Scott Harsh and Lyvonne Kaye Harsh announce their engagement and forthcoming marriage.

Mr. Harsh is the son of Bobby and Carolyn Harsh, Aurora, W.Va., and is employed by Massey Construction of Horse Shoe Run, W.Va. Miss Harsh is the daughter of Marvin and Ellen Harsh, Horse Shoe Run, and is employed by Pineview Veterinary Hospital in Oakland.

The couple will be united in a private wedding ceremony; however, there will be an open reception on Saturday, May 2, at 2 p.m. at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren in Eglen, W.Va. No invitations are being sent; however, all family and friends are invited to attend.

Tichnell's To Celebrate 50th Anniversary

An open house will be held this Saturday, April 18, in the lower level of the American Legion Home in Oakland to honor Fred and Vera Tichnell on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary. The event will be held from 1:30 to 4 p.m. and all friends and relatives are invited to attend.

The Tichnells are the parents of seven children, Mrs. Susan Colaw, Petersburg, W.Va.; Gary Tichnell, Pasadena, Md.; Mrs. Linda Margraff, Accident; Fred Tichnell, Fairplay; Mrs. Robin Smith, Oakland; Mrs. Marsha Todd Bosley, Gorman; and Dawn Panther, Oakland. The couple also has 12 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

"Hats Off" GLAF Gala Benefit Plans Underway

The Tichnells were united in marriage on April 17, 1942. Former residents of Oakland, they now reside in Wilmington, N.C.

The benefit committee organizing this year's gala benefit for the 1992 Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF) has grown from 10 to 13 with the addition of three new committee members: Chan Bell of Deep Creek Lake, Renee Savage of Oakland, and Mary Warther of Swanton, all fully involved in planning "Hats Off to GLAF," set for June 13 at the Wisp Resort, McHenry. The women join Fern Belmonte, Ann Englander, Diana Thayer, Pam Holloway, Charity Janssen, Ginny Moran, Nancy Nemith, Eleanor Plachta, Cindy Stacy, and Jenianne Stitt, who staged last year's successful GLAF fund-raiser which encouraged guests to dress in black and white (and most everyone did). Hats of any size, shape, and/or color will be the motif this year as the gala dinner and art auction capitalize on the benefit's fifth anniversary of helping GLAF.

Mrs. Elva Tasker, Rt. 1, Swanton, observed her 92nd birthday Sunday, April 12. Mrs. Tasker resides alone in her own home and is still an active gardener. She is an active member of the Walnut Bottom Assembly of God Church, where she serves as secretary/treasurer for the congregation, as well as for the Sunday School.

Mrs. Tasker's address is Rt. 1, Box 263, Swanton, MD 21561.

Marriage Permits Recently Issued

Robert Lee Huffman, 35, and Sherri Lane Taylor, 27, both of Kingwood, W.Va.

John Albert Gould, 45, and Karen Elizabeth Wicker, 39, both of McHenry.

Robert Lewis Milliren, 46, Friendsville, and Nancy Lee Friend, 53, Markleysburg, Pa.

Mark Clarence Glass, 35, Hookstown, Pa., and Renee Louise Tilton, 31, Chester, W.Va.

Christian Hans Heller, 27, and Lucretia Jo Perilli, 29, both of Morgantown, W.Va.

Roy Lee Litton II, 18, New Martinsville, W.Va., and Melissa Dawn Anderson, 16, Proctor, W.Va.

Jonathan Lane Nuzum, 19, and Tracie Lynn Dawson, 20, both of Oakland.

Daniel William Paugh, 19, Valparaiso, Indiana, and Rachael Jean Belstra, 16, Kitzmiller.

R.J. Hart, 24, Morgantown, W.Va., and Nettie Jean Wolfe, 31, Dellsboro, W.Va.

NORTHERN HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS RECYCLE - One of the many ways of bringing meaning to the upcoming celebration of Earth Day may be as simple as beginning a recycling program (or reinforcing one already in progress.) Students at Northern High School are doing their part by setting a recycling example for the rest of the community and other schools where such programs have not yet been implemented. Currently, there are barrels outside the school for the recycling of clear glass, aluminum and bi-metals. The students believe that by working with the cooperative efforts of students and the communities, Garrett County's resources may be saved. Shown above, left to right, are students Sherry Labowitz, Wrenny Smith, Kelly Friend, and Sarah Bosley.

At a committee meeting held this week at the Will O' the Wisp, members finalized many details of the event, including a dinner Martin Heiss will specially prepare in honor of the fifth anniversary.

Besides thinking of hats, some advance planning on the part of guests might also be helpful, noted the benefit committee. Guests, for example, may like to reserve tables for eight or get together with friends to bid on unique auction items such as a Deer Park Inn cooking class for six and dinner for 12 to follow; a week's stay for six at Arnold Palmer's Golf Club near Orlando; or a gourmet dinner for eight at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Johnson in Oakland.

However, as in past years, the gala benefit will still include a cash bar, dinner and wine, musical entertainment, and the evening's mainstay - an art auction conducted by long-time GLAF supporter and auctioneer Tom Henline. For more information on the benefit, persons may contact any committee member.

In the Kitchen

BUSINESS HOME ECONOMISTS Meeting Consumers' Needs

ZEST UP YOUR LIFE Add Citrus to Your Entertaining

"Entertain! It can be a celebration of faith and hope, thanks for good fortune and wishes for much more. There is much to feel good about." —Roxanne Wyss

- Be a conscientious host attuned to your guests' needs.
- Incorporate your guests in food preparation.
- Keep it simple! Simplicity equals elegance in today's society of fast pace and hustle-bustle.
- Serve an elegant sliced citrus tray as a healthful alternative to high-calorie sweets.
- Save that peel! Orange peel imparts a delicious flavor to many recipes. Finely-grated peel contains an oil which adds concentrated fresh flavor to stews and other simmering meat dishes, soups, gravies, stir-fry, rice, puddings, cakes and cookie batters.
- Combine orange juice with a splash of club soda as a refreshing anytime-beverage.
- Squeeze the juice from Florida citrus on any fresh vegetable for a sparkling taste sensation.
- Use fresh citrus in your favorite vinaigrette to add zip and zest to your salad.
- Remember—citrus is a sweet garnish for any entree.

TRENDS in TODAY'S APPLIANCES

"People care more about what their appliances look like. Since the kitchen is the hub of activity, it becomes the gathering place for the family as well as for entertaining." —Jan Cooper

- There is more glass on appliances—especially cooktops and oven doors. White is becoming more and more popular as an alternative to black glass.
- Today more appliances have electronic touch controls. They're convenient, easy to clean and give the user more precise settings.
- Emphasis on energy efficiency has increased dramatically since the '70s. While today's appliances are much more stingy with energy use than earlier models, refrigerators and dishwashers have had the most dramatic improvement—76 and 58 percent, respectively.
- In cooking products, there have been numerous changes. Options now include ceramic glass cook tops, solid elements, halogen cook tops and sealed gas burners—all sleek looking and easy to clean.
- Indoor grilling is on the upswing with ranges or cooktops having built-in grills.
- Today's kitchens feature increased popularity of built-ins—ovens, cooktops, microwaves and dishwashers.
- New or remodeled kitchens are including multiples of cooking surfaces, ovens, microwaves, dishwashers and sinks. This enables more than one person to prepare food and clean up at the same time.

A simply elegant dessert—the perfect ending to any meal. Peeled fresh orange or grapefruit halves are enhanced with a quick-to-make chocolate sauce.

Food, clothing, housing and nurturing—basic components of a quality life. Today people are seeking answers to many questions regarding these basics, especially in nutrition and the preparation of food.

And preparation of food isn't just meeting a basic need—it's an integral part of our entertaining. People of all ages are in the kitchen cooking and socializing at the same time. Cooking is Entertaining might well be the theme of the '90s.

To answer consumer questions about food preparation techniques and appliance selection, what better person to help than a home economist, who specialized in studying these aspects during college.

There are 2500 HEIBs (Home Economists In Business) nationwide who are fulfilling these and other varied positions in assisting the consumer. For instance, Roxanne D. Wyss, current national Chairman of HEIB, who is a Nutrition Consultant for Florida Department of Citrus. Or Jains C. Cooper, 1991 Business Home Economist of the Year, who is Corporate Vice President of Public Affairs for Maytag Corporation.

Wyss' path emerged from the influence of her family's lifestyle that frequently involved food and entertaining. She then expanded this background to incorporate her career goals in the field of home economics. Nutrition education isn't just for grown-ups. Much of Wyss' work for Florida Department of Citrus is geared toward children. Specifically she says, "Orange juice and oranges are nutritious foods that are high in vitamin C and fit into today's busy, healthy lifestyle."

As for entertaining in today's busy lifestyle, Wyss believes in keeping it simple. "Simplicity is elegance in today's society," says Wyss. "But even in our health conscious society, people are budgeting for sweets. Fruit for dessert is a lighter alternative to rich desserts."

Not only basic food preparation techniques, but education in the selection, use and care of food preparation equipment continues to be a need for consumers. Straight from college, Cooper headed to Maytag as a staff home economist. The role of a home economist is a vital one in a consumer products company, according to Cooper. "There's a critical need for home economists to translate the needs and wants of consumers into the product designs that go to market. But one of the advantages home economists have is that their additional training and skills in management and effective communications equip them to work, not only as a traditional home economist, but in management as well."

Tradition moves into a new era...

In the beginning, Cooper worked as a traditional home economist with students, teachers and extension home economists in promoting Maytag's laundry equipment and dishwashers. Cooper's leadership skills then qualified her to move into a supervisory position. She's a rarity having been with the same company for 22 years. However, Cooper's worn several hats along her path to a top management position. Maytag acquired the Hardwick, Jenn Air and Magic Chef companies in the '80s, which enabled the company to introduce a line of cooking products. In 1986, Cooper moved into a nontraditional home economist position in the Public Affairs area, where she is now responsible for corporate communications, government affairs and corporate giving programs.

Jan Cooper's skills and achievements led her to a top management position with Maytag Corporation and the honor of being selected the 1991 Business Home Economist of the Year.

From corporate to consumer...

Wyss began her journey with a small appliance manufacturer. The primary focus of this position was new product development and recipe testing, which were critical components to keeping appliances and recipes current for today's lifestyle. In her present position with Florida Department of Citrus as a regional spokesperson and educator for Florida citrus products, she travels frequently throughout the United States and Canada promoting the importance of good nutrition among school children. Wyss states, "We are all going through a time of change, a perfect time for flexibility and growth in home economists who primarily focus on enriching the daily lives of families."

Leading her colleagues as national Chairman of Home Economists in Business, Roxanne utilizes her Florida Department of Citrus spokesperson skills.

This kitchen was designed to accommodate a grill range and a separate cook top so the primary cook can have some help from a guest or family member.

Elegant Oranges

1 Florida orange or grapefruit per serving
2 tablespoons Velvet Chocolate Sauce (recipe below)

1 maraschino cherry per serving

Chill fruit before peeling. Using sharp knife, cut through rind and membrane using round strokes in spiral fashion. Trim off remaining pieces of membrane after peeling. Slice through circumference and place on individual serving plate. Cover and refrigerate while making Velvet Chocolate Sauce.

To Assemble Dessert: For each serving, pour 2 tablespoons Velvet Chocolate Sauce over top of orange halves and top with a maraschino cherry. Nutrition information per serving: 220 calories, 2 g protein, 7 g fat, 37 g carbohydrate, 5 g fiber, 70 mg sodium, 12 mg cholesterol, 69 mg vitamin C, 94 mg calcium, 524 mg potassium.

Velvet Chocolate Sauce

1 cup milk chocolate morsels
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1 cup low-fat milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine milk chocolate morsels and butter in top of double boiler; bring water to a boil. Reduce heat to low, simmering until chocolate melts.

Remove top of double boiler and set on cooking surface. Stir sugar, corn syrup and milk into chocolate mixture. Stirring frequently, cook over medium heat until sugar dissolves and sauce is smooth. Stir in vanilla. Yields 1 1/2 cups.

Microwave Directions: Place milk chocolate morsels and butter in a 2-quart glass measure. Stirring midway through cooking, microwave on Hi 1 to 2 minutes, or until chocolate melts. Stir in sugar, corn syrup and milk. Stirring midway through cooking, microwave on Hi 1 to 2 minutes, or until sugar dissolves and sauce is smooth. Stir in vanilla.

Orange Dessert Pie

1 9-inch tart shell, baked (recipe below)
1/4 cup all-purpose flour
1/4 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups milk
2 large eggs
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
8 Florida oranges, peeled and sectioned

Prepare tart shell. In medium saucepan, mix flour and sugar. Beat together milk and eggs in a small mixing bowl. Gradually stir milk mixture into flour and sugar in saucepan.

Stirring constantly, cook over low heat until custard thickens. Remove from heat, add almond extract. Place piece of plastic wrap directly on surface of filling. Cool. Spoon custard into prepared tart shell. Chill.

Before serving, arrange orange sections over custard. Makes 8 servings.

Nutrition information per serving: 370 calories, 7 g protein, 15 g fat, 52 g carbohydrate, 3 g fiber, 160 mg sodium, 172 mg cholesterol, 70 mg vitamin C, 129 mg calcium, 187 mg potassium.

Microwave Directions: Combine flour and sugar in small bowl. Use a wire whisk to combine milk and eggs in a 4-cup glass measure. Blend dry ingredients into milk mixture. Stirring with whisk midway through cooking, microwave on Hi 4 minutes, or until thickened. Add almond extract. Complete recipe following conventional directions above.

Tart Shell

1 1/4 cups all-purpose flour
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup butter or margarine, at room temperature
2 egg yolks

Preheat oven to 400 F. In a medium bowl, mix flour and sugar. Add butter and egg yolks; stir with a fork until mixture clings together in a ball. Press dough into a 9-inch tart pan with removable bottom. Chill 15 minutes.

Bake in a 400 F oven 10 minutes (no need to prick bottom of shell); reduce oven temperature to 350 F. Bake 10 to 15 minutes longer, or until shell is lightly browned. Transfer to wire rack. Cool completely.

"Were YOU There?"

"Were you there when they crucified my Lord?" ...

Jesus was there, fulfilling His destiny. Pilate was there, convinced yet unconvincing.

"Were you there when they nailed Him to the tree?" ...

Jesus was there, suffering for our sins. His mother, Mary, was there, witnessing the unthinkable yet knowing it was prophesied. Jesus' disciples were there, staring in disbelief. A condemned thief was there, believing in God's mercy.

"Were you there when they laid Him in the tomb?" ...

Jesus was there, bloodied and lifeless. His disciple, Joseph, was there, burying Him. Pilate's centurion guard was there, sent unsuccessfully to guard against Jesus' escape.

"Sometimes it causes me to tremble... tremble... tremble..."

Jesus was not there. Amidst the earthquake, He had risen, the Savior of humankind!

This Easter, will you be there, in Christ's sanctuary? May we echo the words of the astonished centurion guard... "Truly, this was the Son of God!"

COVER
STORYScott Baio bounces back from his teen-age fame

BY LYNN HOOGENBOOM

TV viewers have known Scott Baio for a long time, first as teen-age Chachi on "Happy Days," then as college student Charles on "Charles in Charge." Now, he is playing "someone's my own age," a building superintendent on "Baby Talk" (airing Fridays on ABC).

There's one thing that has remained constant, though the groups to whom Baio, now 31, appeals.

"You know, it's really weird," he says, "but my demographic has not changed since I started. It's kids 4-7, then women 18-34."

Baio's kid appeal, which kept "Charles in Charge" running in original syndication for a number of years, is one reason that the producers of a revamped "Baby Talk" wanted to land him for this season. But they started at a disadvantage: Baio had seen the show and wasn't impressed.

"I had heard a rumor—who ever starts these rumors I don't know—that they were going to ask me to do the show," he says. "I thought, 'Well, good luck.'"

Two weeks later he was offered the role. He turned it down, then began to have second thoughts. "It was kind of a strange position to be in—to be offered a series and turn it down based on what something was I said. Well, maybe we can do something better."

Baio has been in show business a long time, and he admits that it has caused him to miss out on a few things. "You know what I think I missed?" he says. "Doing the college thing. I always wonder what that would have been like. I see it portrayed in TV things. I think I missed that. But I was lucky enough to do a show ('Happy Days') where nobody had any egos, nobody did any drugs, everybody had a great time every single day. I wouldn't change anything to be perfectly honest. I've had a fairly good life."

But dealing with fame can be difficult for any teen-ager. "Listen, I got arrogant for a while," Baio says. "It's impossible not to. I started to cop an attitude, and I caught a lot of flack because of it."

Of course, it's a rare teen-ager, in or out of show business, who doesn't at some point develop an attitude.

"Yeah, but I had the money to back it up," says Baio. "I never did drugs, and I never bought anything I didn't need to buy, but with that money comes a strange sense of power. You're a child, and you're making $25,000 a week or whatever, and you have people telling you how great you are. And once you have that, it's so addictive. It's a drug, you need to have that adulation, that notoriety. And when it's taken away, people just freak."

Scott Baio, Mary Paga Kellar and Ryan Jaaup (top to bottom) star as a building superintendent, a single mother and her son in "Baby Talk." It airs Friday nights on ABC.

TV DIALOGUE

BY TONI REINHOLD

PIERCE PARLEY—I'm a big fan of Pierce Brosnan and would like an update on him. Is it true that he was supposed to play James Bond after Roger Moore decided not to reprise that role?—C.W., Ghent, W. Va.

Pierce Brosnan

Pierce Brosnan, who first came to fame as the star of "Remington Steele" from 1982-87, is currently starring in the sci-fi feature film "The Lawnmower Man," which is based on a short story by Stephen King. In 1986, Brosnan was slated to star as James Bond in "The Living Daylights" after "Remington Steele" was canceled. Then NBC did an about-face and re-ordered a limited number of new episodes, and Brosnan had to forfeit the Bond role, which was subsequently filled by Timothy Dalton. The Irish-born Brosnan has put his career partially on hold in recent years because of the illness of his wife Cassandra Harris, who died of ovarian cancer last December at age 39. They have three children: Sean, 8; Christopher, 19; and Charlotte, 20. Brosnan is preparing for another film and he may star as a journalist in a series called "Running Wilde," which NBC is considering for the fall schedule.

STRONG PERFORMANCE—Was "Conan the Barbarian" Arnold Schwarzenegger's first film?—D.R., Norwalk, Conn.

Schwarzenegger's first film was 1970's "Hercules in the Land of the Enchanted," also shown under the titles "Hercules: The Movie" and "Hercules Goes Bananas," in which he was billed as Arnold Strong. In fact, Schwarzenegger appeared in a number of other films before he took on the role of the heroic fantasy figure Conan in 1982, including a bit part in "The Long Goodbye" (1973), "Stay Hungry" (1976), the documentary "Pumping Iron" (1977), "The Villain" (1979), "Scavenger Hunt" (1979) and the TV movie "The Jayne Mansfield Story" (1980).

FOREVER YOUNG?—Loretta Young and Sally Blane are sisters. What are their given names? Is the actual spelling of their family name "Jeag"?—P.C.R., San Dimas, Calif.

Young is their family's real name. Loretta was born Gretchen Michaela Young, and Sally Blane was born Elizabeth Jane Young. Their other sister, Polly Ann Young, also did some acting, as did their stepfather, Georgianna Young, who is married to Ricardo Montalban.

SOAP SCOOP

Oh, Fiona! Hutchison is back—and talking

BY CONNIE PASSALACQUA

From the first scene in which terrible beauty Jenna Bradshaw shot out a look of pure evil from under her 3-foot-wide brimmed black hat on "Guiding Light," daytime viewers knew that Fiona Hutchison was back to spew. "Spew" is the word we've been using to describe how certain daytime actresses pour out emotion. And during her five years as bad, bad Gabrielle Medina Holden on "One Life to Live," no soap actress spewed out more raw emotion than Hutchison.

Hutchison is back for a three-month stand on "GL" as a jewel thief who will be hunted by the romantic and professional team of police detective A.C. Mallet (played by Mark Derwin) and cadet Harley Cooper (played by Beth Ehlers).

Last spring, Hutchison exited "OLTL" amid a cloud of questions. According to her, she was the first victim of the 5 percent pay raise cap that was imposed on actors by the regime of new ABC Daytime President Dennis Swanson.

"They lied," Hutchison says bluntly. "They say it's a 5 percent increase, but for some people, it works out to a 42 percent decrease." She explains that the 5 percent raise is only for an actor's guaranteed work, "which for me was two days a week. I often worked four or five. So if you divide up the money over the extra days, it adds up to a 42 percent decrease."

"I was touted as a good person to try it on, because they had heard I was going through a messy, messy separation with an alcoholic husband and that I was being sued and I needed the job," Hutchison continues. "Well, their information was wrong."

Hutchison says that new "OLTL" executive producer Linda Gottlieb wanted to bring her back to reunite her with the returning James DePaiva, who plays Max Holden.

But ABC said no way. Hutchison claims. "And I was never allowed to speak to Dennis Swanson. Swanson is amazing to me, because he comes in from sports (where he had been an ABC vice president), and he thinks he knows everything. They started ripping apart a show that was at least surviving in the ratings."

So far, Hutchison says she has found her "GL" experience peaceful. She says she loves to work with her friend Michael Zaslow (who plays Roger Thorpe). "He's such a supportive partner," Hutchison says.

Zaslow and Hutchison? Roger and Gabrielle—whooops, we mean Jenna—the two icons of daytime evil? Batten down the hatches. It's spewing time!

SPORTS CALENDAR

Bulls should stampe to second straight title

BY CHRISTOPHER HULL

The six-month-long National Basketball Association season comes to an end on Sunday, April 19, and the teams making the playoffs will take a couple of days off and move on to the second season.

At deadline, depending on how the playoff picture developed, NBC was planning to air one of two games on Sunday, either Detroit at Chicago, or

Seattle at Golden State.

In the Eastern Conference, the Chicago Bulls will close out the season well ahead of their nearest competition and finish the season with the best record in the league. The team is poised to capture its second consecutive NBA title, and it appears that it will take a miracle to derail them.

As the season wound down, the New York Knicks were riding a successful seven-game winning streak and appeared to be on the verge of challenging the Bulls' supremacy. But when the teams met March 31 at Madison Square Garden for their final confrontation of the regular season, it was a mismatch. Characteristically, Patrick Ewing, the Knicks' multimillion-dollar center, wilted at crunch time, and the Knicks yielded by six. Adding insult to injury, Michael Jordan made a pair of foul shots with his eyes closed during the game. Enough said.

Things were much more interesting in the NBA's Western Conference, where the top eight spots have been tightly contested all season. The Portland Trail Blazers were being challenged for the best record in the West by the Golden State Warriors, who are led by Chris Mullin and Tim Hardaway, and both teams were closely followed by the rest of the pack.

Besides Golden State, San Antonio also stayed near the top for most of the season. However, soon after all-star center David Robinson elected to have surgery on his injured left thumb and dropped out of the lineup in late March, the team went into a tailspin. Before the injury, Robinson had played in 232 straight games.

The NBA playoffs will be covered by both TNT and NBC TNT is airing two first-round games each day from Thursday, April 23, through Sunday, April 28, and more as the playoffs progress. NBC airs two first-round games on Saturday, April 25.

ABC airs the $300,000 Firestone Tournament of Champions—the richest event on the NBA tour—from Fairlawn, Ohio, on Saturday, April 25. Chris Schenkel, who is celebrating his 50th year in broadcasting this year, will describe the action.

CENTRAL Casting: Cable's Comedy Central premieres "The A-List," a new stand-up comedy series, on Sunday, April 19. Richard Lewis hosts. On Sunday, April 19, Joan Lunden and Regis Philbin host the "Walt Disney World Easter Parade," airing on ABC. Barbara Bain ("Mission Impossible"), Bradford Dillman ("Falcon Crest"), Cathy Podewell ("Dallas") and Jessica Walter ("Amy Prentiss") guest on a repeat of "Murder, She Wrote," airing Sunday, April 19.

The new animated children's series "Shelley Duvall's Bedtime Stories" premieres Tuesday, April 21, on cable's Showtime. Ringo Starr and Bette Midler narrate the stories on the premiere episode. Cable's Lifetime airs the original movie "Midnight's Child" on Tuesday, April 21. Olivia d'Abo ("The Wonder Years"), Marcy Walker ("Santa Barbara") and Cotter Smith ("Equal Justice") star. On Wednesday, April 22, PBS airs a pair of environmentally themed "3-2-1 Contact Extra" specials for children: "A Popular Little Planet" and "Get Busy: How Kids Can Save the Earth." (Check local listings.) John Prine guests on "The Texas Connection," Saturday, April 25, on cable's Nashville Network.

MOVIES ON TV

Douglas and Peters shine in 'The Secret'

BY FELICIA A. FEASTER

Ranking high on the cutemeter, "The Secret" (CBS, April 19) stars Kirk Douglas as a New England small businessman with a long-hidden disability, who must come to terms with his problem when he finds his grandson (Jesse Tandler) is similarly afflicted. With the help of his best friend (Brock Peters) and a lifetime of covering up by his deceased wife, Mike Dunmore (Douglas) has managed to hide the dyslexia that has prevented him from learning to read. But the effort to hide it from his son (Bruce Boxleitner) has alienated him since childhood. Kirk Douglas is without a doubt the most charming of the Douglas clan.

As Dunmore, he is by far the most interesting figure in this drama. While "The Secret" looks at some complex family neuroses—including Boxleitner's role as Mike's proud son who won't acknowledge the disability of his own son, Danny (Jesse Tandler)—the presentation of the material lacks any emotional "oomph." After the diagnosis of Danny's hereditary dyslexia, the film goes downhill, with no substantial conflicts to keep the momentum up. The culmination of all this trauma hits rock bottom in the Frank Capraesque ending. The film shouldn't be entirely written off, though, it has some redeeming qualities, including the performance of Brock Peters.

Buddy Van Horn directed the 1989 film "Pink Cadillac" (ABC, April 19). Bernadette Peters and Clint Eastwood star in the film about a collector for a bail bondsman sent to capture the wife of a white supremacist, who is holding a fortune in counterfeit money. But the husband and his gnarly ragtag bunch of supremacist friends are also after Lou Ann (Peters) and her money. In an all-too-obvious turn of events, Tommy Novak (Eastwood) finds himself protecting Lou Ann from the bad guys while trying to rescue her kidnapped baby. Both Eastwood and Peters are wasted in their cardboard roles. "Cadillac" comes up short in every department, with canned laughs, outrageously bad dialogue and a surprisingly dull romance between a woman and her bounty hunter.

Perhaps inspired by the success of the 1940s-set ABC series "Homefront," NBC airs its own World War II period piece, "Lady Against the Odds" (NBC, April 20), starring Crystal Bernard and Annabeth Gish as private eyes investigating a murder in 1943 Los Angeles. Polly Bergen and Dan Castellana also star.

IN FOCUS

Gary Oldman (l) and Tim Roth star as two obscure "Hamlet" players who become the key characters in "Rosencrantz & Guildenstern Are Dead," playwright Tom Stoppard's take on the Shakespeare classic. Stoppard himself directed this 1991 film version. It is more clever than funny, but aficionados of "Hamlet" will find it very clever indeed. It airs on PBS' "Great Performances," Wednesday, April 22. (Check local listings.)

SOLUTION

IN FOCUS

Beginning with the purchase of a marginal Sydney afternoon tabloid, debt-laden entrepreneur Phillip Cromwell (John Bach) holds no partnership sacred as he drives to parlay his acquisition into the world's most powerful media empire. The allusion to real-life Aussie media magnate Rupert Murdoch is unmistakable in "The Paper Man," a five-hour Australian British miniseries airing Saturday and Sunday, April 25 and 26 on A&E.

Tests On Donated Blood Enhanced By Red Cross

Officials of the Johnstown Region of American Red Cross Blood Services, of which Garrett County is a part, have announced the Red Cross's introduction of enhancements to infectious disease tests performed on all units of blood donated.

According to Robert E. Kramer, M.D., chief medical officer, the tests will help to further protect the nation's blood supply from hepatitis C and HIV-2, a blood-borne disease similar to HIV-1 (AIDS).

"Since May 1990, Red Cross has tested all units of donated blood for the presence of antibodies to infection by the hepatitis C virus, believed to be the cause of most cases of non-A, non-B hepatitis," Dr. Kramer explained.

"The first hepatitis C test substantially reduced the risk of transmission of hepatitis C, to as low as one blood unit in 1,000. Our new test should cut that risk by two-thirds, preventing as many as 40 cases of blood-borne hepatitis C cases across the country daily," he said.

Dr. Kramer explained that, although hepatitis may be caused by a number of viruses, only two have been found to be transmitted by blood transfusion—hepatitis B and C. All blood has been tested for hepatitis B since 1971.

Since the mid-1980's, blood centers have looked for evidence of non-A, non-B hepatitis in the blood supply, which, in the United States, is caused primarily by the hepatitis C virus. "People who contract this virus may have no immediate symptoms," Dr. Kramer said, "but after harboring a silent infection for many years, carriers may develop cirrhosis or other chronic liver disease."

The introduction of the improved hepatitis C test this week follows the introduction on March 16 of a new combination tests, called anti-HIV-1/HIV-2.

HIV-2, a new strain of the virus that causes AIDS, has just recently appeared in the United States and is thought to pose only a remote risk to Americans at this time, Dr. Kramer said.

"This disease has been found primarily in parts of West and central Africa, below the Sahara Desert. It's spread in the same manner as HIV-1: through sexual contact, blood, or sharing contaminated needles during intravenous drug use," Kramer said.

He noted that prior to introduction of the combo test, blood centers have effectively kept HIV-2 out of the U.S. blood supply by excluding potential blood donors who may have had contact with populations from parts of the world where HIV-2 is most prevalent.

Kramer commented, "HIV-2 had not previously been detected in any American Red Cross blood donors. This new test replaces the previous geographic exclusion of blood donors from sub-Saharan Africa, and will help ensure that HIV-2 does not enter the nation's blood supply."

Implementation of the combination test in all Red Cross Blood Services regions replaces the previous HIV-1 test initiated in 1985 and, according to the Food and Drug Administration, will be effective in excluding potential donors who are unknowingly infected with HIV-1.

The Red Cross performs seven infectious disease tests on every unit of donated blood. Four of the seven tests screen for evidence of hepatitis. "We measure a liver enzyme called ALT, do hepatitis B core antibody and surface antigen tests which identify people at increased risk for hepatitis B, and the hepatitis C antibody test," Dr. Kramer said.

Donated blood is also screened for the presence of antibodies to syphilis infection, HIV-1/HIV-2 infection and HTLV-1, a virus that causes a rare form of leukemia and paralysis.

Maryland, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia, is committed to meeting the needs of patients in the 81 hospitals in its service area; of region residents receiving blood products elsewhere; and of patients in Red Cross-supplied hospitals in parts of the country where demands are high because of specialized medical care provided yet supplies are chronically low.

In addition to its center headquarters in Johnstown, the Johnstown Region maintains blood collection, component preparation and distribution in Beaver (Pa.), Morgantown (W. Va.) and Winchester (Va.).

First United Declares Dividend

The Board of Directors of First United Corporation declared a $ .30 per share cash dividend at their April 1, 1992 meeting.

Richard G. Stanton, chairman of the Board, president, and chief executive officer, said, "This dividend continues the consistent dividend policy of the Corporation. And, it further enhances First United Corporation's shareholder value, which is a critical component of our management strategy."

Stanton said the dividend will be paid to shareholders of record as of April 15, 1992, payable on May 1, 1992. The ex-dividend date will be April 9, 1992.

"Our Board of Directors declared this dividend based on strong earnings exhibited during our first quarter. It is this consistent, profitable performance that has allowed us to maintain our current dividend policy. Specific financial results on the first quarter performance will be released in the near future," Stanton concluded.

First United Corporation is a multi-bank holding company headquartered in Oakland. The Corporation's banking subsidiaries are First United National Bank & Trust and First United Bank of West Virginia, N.A.

State Recycling Directory Is Now Available

The 1992 Maryland Recycling Directory is now available from the Maryland Environmental Service (MES), the waste management agency of the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

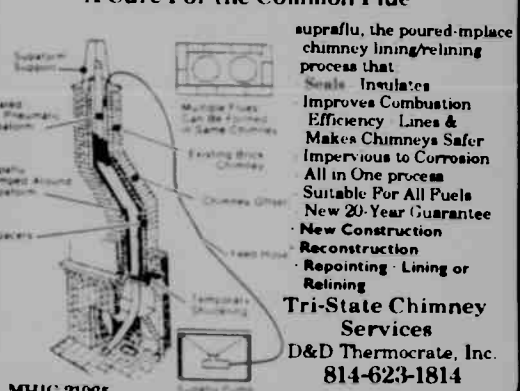

MES publishes the directory as a public service to the citizens of Maryland. The directory lists recycling programs and businesses in Maryland which buy or accept for donation common recyclable materials such as paper, glass, plastics, and aluminum. New in this year's directory is an expanded list of collection centers for recycling used motor oil and used antifreeze. Comprehensive county maps are included to make the search for a recycling center very easy.

Each directory listing contains the name and address of the program or business, telephone number, hours of operation, types of material collected, and whether materials are purchased or only accepted for donation. The directory also contains an expanded listing of recycling information sources and office recycling contacts for businesses.

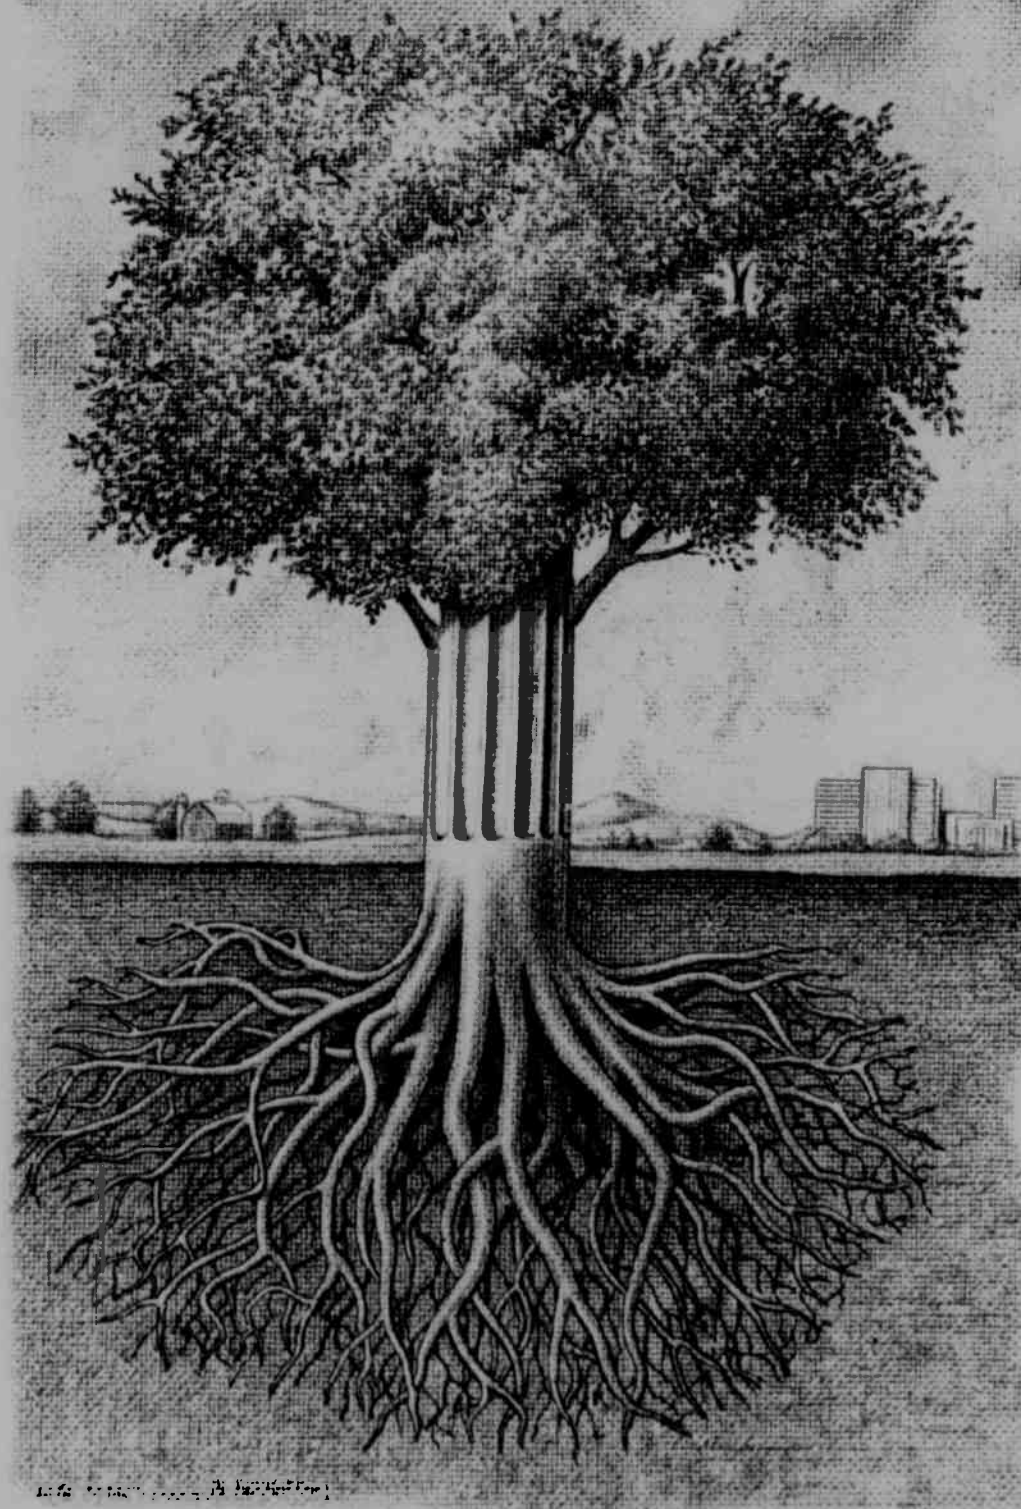

To request a free copy of the 1992 Maryland Recycling Directory, persons may call 1-800-1-RECYCL (1-800-473-2925) or write to Maryland Environmental Service, 2020 Industrial Drive, Annapolis, MD 21401.

A commitment to growth. A tradition of strength.

LIKE A STURDY OAK, First Federal Savings Bank of Western Maryland has built its business on our deep roots within the communities we serve, and on our willingness to bend to the winds of change by adopting innovative ways to better serve our customers.

POWER OF TODAY'S TECHNOLOGY TO WORK FOR YOU.

One of the most significant changes at First Federal is our new computer system that will allow us to process our customers' transactions more quickly and accurately, as well as develop new products that would have been impossible to offer under our old system.

Unfortunately, our conversion to this new system may cause some temporary inconvenience for some of our customers. While we are making every effort to minimize problems in serving customer accounts, errors may still occur during this change. If an error occurs on your account, please call us and we'll make it right.

We appreciate your patience as our employees become more familiar with the new system, and promise that any delay you experience today will be far outweighed by the many new benefits First Federal will be able to offer you in the near future.

FIRST FEDERAL CUSTOMERS WILL ALWAYS BE OUR FIRST CONCERN.

As some companies grow larger, they tend to forget who got them there in the first place. You can be assured that all of us at First Federal have a very special commitment to the people and businesses of Western Maryland. And we show it every day by managing our business in a way that is deserving of the trust our depositors place in us with every dollar they entrust to our care. Their continuing faith is our most important asset.

Oakland Chapter #67 OES Meets

Oakland Chapter #67, Order of the Eastern Star, met Tuesday, April 7, at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple. Debbie Raynovich, Worthy Matron, opened the meeting with a reading, "The Violet," after which Ted Raynovich, Worthy Patron, led the pledge of allegiance and National Anthem.

Baby food will be collected at the next two meetings for families of veterans. April birthdays were celebrated. Dick Travis received the birthday honors.

Scheduled events include: the Grand Chapter session to be held April 27-29 in Hagerstown, trip to Cranania Chapter #281 Painesville, Ohio, May 8, and a bus trip to Lancaster, Pa., May 1-2 (call 334-3630 for details). Mrs. Raynovich announced plans to take a bus trip to the Festival of Lights with a day of shopping at Ohio Valley Mall on November 7.

The next meeting will be held April 21 with an Easter program.

The Worthy Matron closed the meeting with "April's a Child." Refreshments were served by Mary Clark and her committee.

Civic Club Hears Appeals For Funding

The Oakland Civic Club recently entertained requests for funding from 16 various groups and organizations. The civic club will be dispersing money earned in the Autumn Glory Antique Show to the separate groups, according to a club spokesperson. Each organization sent a representative to speak at the club's January meeting, held at Will 'o the Wisp.

President Martha Jachowski stated that the meeting provided club members with a "tremendous learning experience," and that "each of these organizations certainly have worthy purposes, and we wish we could fully fund every one of them. Our club is proud to help and wish to thank those who participated in any way in the Autumn Glory Antique Show."

The Alliance of the Mentally Ill is a new group headed by Carol Cox, who spoke with the civic club. Cox explained that mentally ill persons are often not acceptable and therefore have a difficult time getting financial support. The donation would be used for stamps and stationary to help educate the public about mental illness and to dispel damaging myths.

Glen Besa spoke for the

SPEAKERS APPEAL FOR CIVIC CLUB FUNDS - The Civic Club of Oakland recently hosted a luncheon during which several area organizations appealed for funding. The civic club plans to give funds raised at the annual Autumn Glory Antique Show to various non-profit or low budget organizations. See story in the photo above, left to right, are Martha Jachowski, civic club; Ida Maust, Hospice; Tom Bratten, Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse; Dr. Lillian Mitchell, Garrett Community College; Ward Ashby, Crime Solvers; Louisa Richards, Salem Children's Trust; Dorothy Leighton, Garrett Lakes Arts Festival; Clarence Stem, Habitat for Humanity; Mary Beckman, Literacy Council; Hannah Sincell, Garrett Choral Society; Edith Brock, Ruth Enlow Library; Beth Friend, Historical Society; William Hardy, EMS Training Foundation; Carol Cox, Alliance for the Mentally Ill; Rayma Weeks, Southern Garrett Rescue Squad; and Maria Helbig, House of Hope. Not pictured is Glen Besa of the American Lung Association of Maryland.

American Lung Association. He told the group about a special camp for children with chronic lung disease where patients may go to learn more about their disease. Children can outgrow the disease if treatment is available. There are five to eight Garrett County children who attend the camp each summer. The funding would be used for transportation to the camp, which is at Frostburg University.

The Garrett County Memorial Hospital Foundation was represented by Rob Sharps. Sharps told the group that any donation would be used for more equipment in the hospital, explaining that there is a large gap between what a hospital may charge patients and what new equipment costs.

Tom Bratten spoke for the Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse. Donated monies would be used to further the group's attempt to make the public aware of the extent of alcohol and drug abuse problems.

The Garrett County Crime Solvers organization was represented by Ward Ashby. Ashby explained that the group is a tax-exempt, non-profit organization formed to help police in solving crimes. Monies are needed for rewards given to persons who provide the group with tips. The group is affiliated with all police departments in the county.

The Emergency Medical Services Training Foundation was represented by William Hardy, who told the civic club that state budget cuts have hurt the EMS program greatly. Funds are needed to continue the education of new technicians by purchasing new books. Operators must be licensed as well, which is another expense.

Hannah Sincell spoke for the Garrett Choral Society, stating that quality entertainment is needed in the area, and quality entertainment costs money. Funding would be used for props, lights, advertising, and paying soloists.

Dr. Lillian Mitchell represented Garrett Community College, expressing concern about the large budget cuts levied by the state. Money is needed for library books, tutoring, and computers. Approximately 80% of the students need financial aid or scholarship monies.

The Historical Society was represented by Beth Friend. The purpose of the society is to preserve the history of Garrett County. Funding would go to the printing of the "Glades Star" and to the maintenance of the museum. There is no admission to the museum so that more children will feel free to tour.

Dorothy Leighton spoke for the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival. Monies are needed to help defray the costs of paying the executive director and toward publicity for the event. Leighton made a plea for volunteers to work in the box office and to assist with publicity.

Habitat for Humanity was represented by Clarence Stem. The purpose of the organization is to provide affordable housing for families. Stem stressed that the building of a home is not a handout, but that the houses are sold to deserving families with no interest.

Ida Maust represented Hospice. She explained that a room has been designated at Garrett Memorial Hospital where families may stay with a dying loved one. Any donated monies would be used to decorate and furnish the room.

The House of Hope spokesperson was Maria Helbig. She explained that the house is a charitable home run by the two Sisters of Mercy, and that demands are greater than ever. Fuel and medicines are needed in this shelter for the homeless.

Mary Beckman spoke for the Literacy Council. The mission of the organization is to teach reading to out-of-school teens and adults. The group currently utilizes a room at the library. Any monies given will be used to construct an outside entrance to the library basement.

Edith Brock spoke on behalf of the Ruth Enlow Library, telling the group of the severe cut-back suffered by all libraries. Any donated monies would be used for records, films, and material books. The library also needs a set of standard encyclopedias.

Louise Richard spoke for the Salem Children's Trust, which is a home for abandoned or abused children. Monies given would be used to purchase four musical instruments, used in conjunction with music therapy.

SUPPORT FROM THE COMMUNITY is rolling in for the first after-prom party scheduled at Southern High School on May 9-10. The event is being held in order to provide a safe alternative for students attending the prom, to encourage them to stay off the roadways and away from other parties that may provide illegal alcohol and/or drugs. Among the major contributors of financial support for the event are the Garrett County Health Department, which has provided a $1,500 grant for an audio-video booth at the party, and the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club, which has donated $750. In the photo above, left to right, are Chuck Harkins and Lisa Bender, teachers who have coordinated the effort, and Jay Cross and Ann Kendall, of the Health Department. Squad. She explained that the need for equipment is great, and funds would be used to help pay off a new ambulance.

DNR Seeking Park Volunteers

Maryland's Department of Natural Resources is seeking volunteers to work at state parks and forests. Volunteers are needed to help with programs for the public, and assist with projects like clean up and maintenance projects, office work, serving as a campground host, trail work, building bluebird boxes, or helping at special events. Anyone who likes to work outdoors with people is needed, the DNR said.

Maryland state forests and parks host over 8,000,000 visitors a year. Many forests and parks already rely on volunteers to help keep areas open and available to the public. For more information on ways to help, persons may contact the state park nearest them or call 410-974-3771 in Annapolis to find out how to become a volunteer.

An Easter basket brimming over with excellent family recreational properties!

This Easter "Real Estate" bunny was spotted in the vicinity of Deep Creek Lake State Park. An interview revealed that this year's Easter basket is full of goodies awaiting the second-home buyer.

INVENTORY

LOW INTEREST RATES:

INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITIES:

Currently, buyers have numerous fine properties from which to choose. Spring fever has struck, and the early birds will find the best selection!

Choices include a variety of prices, types of homes, hunting camps on private acreage starting at $29,500, lake front properties starting at $77,000, new construction, rustic log homes, townhomes, or unimproved lots.

The lowest they have been in years, and certainly, they won't remain this low for long. As the rate lowers, monthly payments also lower (almost proportional to the rate) thus permitting a buyer to purchase a more expensive property and/or to realize a lower cash outlay from the family budget.

There are two types of investments families make when buying Deep Creek Lake Garrett County property.

First, they are investing in quality time for and with their families -- something that many families have been robbed of by fast paced urban society. The inventory now available provides an excellent opportunity for matching a family's interests with their financial ability to purchase the property of their choice.

The second investment one makes is in appreciation. While you are enjoying your property, its value should continue to grow. Immediately after a recession and in a high-inventory market, most recreational property prices are generally "down." Buying at current low prices increases the probability that property investments will appreciate.

For the most part, the Deep Creek Lake market did not suffer a great deal. The can be attributed to various factors. However, the bottom line is that real estate in the resort retained its value during a down market. If you are an owner, you can be very pleased with the condition. If you are a buyer, you can feel comfortable that you are purchasing a property which historically has held its value.

Yet another type of investment here is one of buying simply for financial opportunity.

Should you care to talk about the various investment possibilities available, I would be happy to discuss them with you or your financial advisor to see if they would be compatible with your portfolio.

My wife, Jean, and I are very knowledgeable about Deep Creek Lake and Garrett County Real Estate. We are dedicated to and involved in the many facets of enhancing and protecting the family experience in this beautiful area of Maryland. If you or a friend have a need for professional real estate service here in Garrett County -- either buying or selling -- we would be very happy to assist you. ## SUNNYSIDE-UNDERWOOD

The Underwood Bible study group has been meeting for the past two weeks as guests of Mrs. Goldie McMillan. Attending this week were Wilma Waybright and Jane Kope from Brookside, Mildred Peterson, Hazel White, Jean Dill, Carolyn Foster, Underwood, Ardena Dilley, Rosedale and a friend, Linda.

During the worship service on Sunday morning in the Underwood Church a dedication service was held for four new members.

Goldie Sellers and her granddaughter, Ashley, Table Rock, were visiting Marie Knotts on Monday. On Tuesday, Roy Ahern and his mother, Anna Hartley, Jean Sellers, and her friend, Dorothy Smith, Rebecca Helmick and a friend from Thomas, W.Va., visited in the Knott's home.

On Wednesday, Vida McElbie and her grandson, Ricky McElbie, Grafton, W.Va., and Mrs. Knotts accompanied them to Thomas, W.Va., on business. On Thursday, Floyd and Wilma Knapp and her sister, Nina Layman, visited Mrs. Knotts.

On Friday, Mrs. Knott's son, David McElbie, and wife, were supper guests of his mother.

On Saturday, Mrs. Knott's brother, Warren LeMasters, accompanied by his friend, Ray Frazee, and his girlfriend, Sandra, from Parkersburg, were calling on Mrs. Knotts.

Those also visiting Mrs. Knotts on Saturday included Mary Miller, Eglon, W.Va., and Dorothy Armstrong, Mt. Lake Park. Then Violet Pitman and her friend, Pearl, Grafton, W.Va., and Anna Hurlley and Myrtle Harvey, Oakland, were dinner guests, as were Dave and Bobbi McElbie.

On Thursday, Mrs. Knotts accompanied her niece, Charlotte Dillsworth, to a quilt demonstration and show at the Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home.

Debbie Uphold was a guest on Tuesday afternoon of Bessie Canan.

Gwendolyn Hebb and daughter, Kenette Bevins, of St. George, were visiting Ardena Dilley in the nursing home. An item in a recent column incorrectly stated that Glenn Harsh visited Mrs. Boling. It should have stated that Glenn Strawser

Drivers Urged To Be Extra Careful During Holidays

Maryland State Police are urging motorists to buckle up and obey Maryland's 55 mile per hour speed limit during the long Easter/Passover holiday weekend.

"The safety belt is your best protection against serious injury or death on our highways," said Corporal Michael J. Fischer of the Field Operations Bureau. Appearing on the Maryland State Police Radio Program, a weekly public service broadcast, Corporal Fischer said troopers will be looking for violations of Maryland's child safety seat law.

"We are reminding parents to properly secure their children while traveling in a vehicle," Fischer added. Maryland is among 50 states and the District of Columbia with laws mandating child safety seats. "Our enforcement will be aggressive and strict," stated Fischer.

Maryland State Police will deploy weekend patrols in search of motorists in need of emergency assistance.

"We will monitor the emergency channel (9) on the citizens band radio," Corporal Fischer said. "We will also be looking for disabled or disoriented motorists along the interstate highway systems throughout the state."

State Police are reminding the motoring public that police will confiscate the driver's license of a motorist who refuses to submit to a chemical test for alcohol or whose test results exceed the state's legal .10 limit. Every trooper in Maryland will have access to breath test equipment during the holiday weekend for use on all traffic stops where drunk driving is suspected.

The Maryland State Police Radio Program is a weekly public service broadcast carried on approximately 50 radio stations in Maryland and the District of Columbia. Portions of this program are carried on the Maryland State Police Newsline, (410) 653-4275.

"THINKING CAP QUIZ BOWL" was the name of a competition held recently among the fifth grade students at Broad Ford Elementary School. The quiz bowl is a computer competition that includes 100 general information questions. Scores are based on how quickly and accurately students can answer the questions. ## State Used Oil Collection Tops 320,000 Gallons Maryland Environmental Service (MES), the waste management agency of the Department of Natural Resources (DNR), announced the Maryland Used Oil Recycling Program collected more than 320,000 gallons of used motor oil in 1991. This volume represents 122 percent more than was collected in 1990.

The statewide program, administered by MES, has been in existence for four years. Since its inception, the program has increased the number of state and local government collection locations from 44 to 160 collection centers currently in operation.

CUB SCOUTS VISIT HALLMARK ENGRAVING - The Accident Cub Scouts, Den 1, Pack 80, recently visited Hallmark Engraving of Accident. The scouts' theme for the month of March was "Things that Move" and the boys were able to watch three machines in action at the engraving company. Hallmark Engraving utilizes computer driven engraving machines in the manufacture and designing of signs, badges, plaques, and nameplates. The cub scouts pictured above in the front row, left to right, are T.J. Durat, Jesse Rawley, Nickie Malcomb, Karl Miller, and Chad Stallman. In the back row, same order, are Michael Hall of Hallmark Engraving, Sarah Durat and Carolyn Miller, den leaders, Ed Oster, cub master, and Wilbur Stallman, den leader.

tion centers currently in operation. These centers, where individual residents can properly deposit their used motor oil into recycling tanks, are located at various public works facilities, recycling centers, and solid waste transfer stations throughout the state.

As part of the program, MES conducts an aggressive public education program, operates a recycling hotline, and maintains a listing of over 400 volunteer service stations and garages that accept used oil.

Citizens are reminded that only used oil can be disposed in used oil collection tanks. Used oil should never be mixed with other substances. Careless mixing creates a hazardous waste which is not recyclable.

To encourage public participation in used oil recycling, MES provides educational materials and assists individuals in locating used oil collection sites nearby. For more information, persons may call the State Recycling Hotline at 1-800-1-RECYCL (1-800-473-2925).

Farm Bureau Calling For Federal Spending Reduction

Farm Bureau has urged a House Appropriations panel to reduce all federal spending, including entitlement programs, by an across-the-board cut or a freeze.

In a letter to the Subcommittee on Rural Development, John Datt, executive director of the American Farm Bureau Federation's Washington office, said that the 1990 budget agreement continues to test the adequacy of agricultural funding levels. Farm Bureau submitted its comments regarding the U.S. Department of Agriculture's budget for 1993, which the Appropriations Committee is now deliberating.

"Since much of agriculture's spending falls within the agreement's domestic discretionary category, it is easy prey for those who would seek to fund other government programs by reducing discretionary agricultural spending," Datt said. This is particularly true in the agricultural research area, where the benefits of many projects to the public and the economy often go unrecognized, he said.

Farm Bureau recommends that the Appropriations Committee and the administration should reduce all federal spending rather than terminating many research projects. Datt said. "We find it disturbing that agricultural spending (program level) on production-related areas has decreased. If all sectors of the budget had been subject to the kinds of reduction that agriculture has sustained the federal budget would be in much better shape today."

Datt pointed out that while many agricultural programs have been reduced or proposed for reduction, agricultural producers are being stifled by government mandates and new regulations.

A concept Farm Bureau opposes is financing federally mandated inspection programs through user fees. "The objective of federal and state meat and poultry inspection programs is to provide consumers a supply of wholesome meat and poultry products," Datt said. "This is a service to consumers, and costs should be paid from general revenue funds."

The Farm Bureau letter pointed out that "equity is needed in spending restraint and all areas of federal spending should participate in deficit reduction."

Studies show English speakers dislike a conversation full of over four seconds and try to fill the gap.

USDA Announces Dairy Initiatives

Secretary of Agriculture Edward Madigan last week announced he is taking four additional administrative steps to bolster farm milk prices.

"The administration shares the dairy industry's goal of avoiding unnecessary price instability," Madigan said. The new administrative actions will supplement the six steps announced on March 11, he added.

"These new initiatives should help balance supply and demand for milk and dairy products this year, and therefore stabilize farm milk prices," he said.

Madigan said the U.S. Department of Agriculture will immediately add Mexico as an eligible destination under the dairy export incentive program (DEIP) for 25,000 metric tons of milk powder and will continue to inform DEIP countries that they may exchange export credit guarantees for the dairy export program.

In addition, Madigan said USDA would revise the current dairy export program invitation for cheese to include additional varieties of cheese for those countries currently eligible to purchase cheddar cheese under the program. The varieties to be included are mozzarella, gouda, feta and cream cheeses.

Another step taken to assist dairy farmers, Madigan said, is that USDA will adjust the Commodity Credit Corp. purchase price of barrel cheese by reducing the differential between cheese in 40-pound blocks and 500-pound barrels from 1 cent to 3 cents per pound.

M-W Price Drops

The average price paid for manufacturing grade milk in Minnesota and Wisconsin dropped to $11.20 per cwt in March. With the current differential, the M-W price is $10.98, down 23 cents from the previous month but 96 cents higher than last March.

Farm Program Signup Ends April 17

"Farmers have only a few more days to sign up and become eligible for program benefits on their 1992 wheat and feed grains," Kenneth R. Bachtel, chairperson, Garrett County ASC Committee, said. The 1992 Farm Program signup ends April 17.

Bachtel said producers will not have the opportunity to sign up after this deadline. "However, producers who have already enrolled and those who sign up before April 17, have the option of withdrawing and returning any advance payments."

To be eligible for price support loans and target price protection on this year's crops, farmers must reduce their acreage bases by at least five percent for wheat, corn, grain sorghum, barley, and zero percent for oats.

Bachtel said target prices protect farmers' income if market prices fall below the federally established levels. "Through our price support loan program, farmers can obtain interim financing to operate and have time to wait for a better market," Bachtel said.

Farmers who sign up may request a 40 percent advance cash payment for crops of wheat and feed grains. The 1992 programs offer planting flexibility on up to 25 percent of the crop acreage base, the same as in 1991. "Flex" acres may be planted to any program crop, oilseed, industrial, or experimental crop designated by USDA, but not to fruits, vegetables, or other prohibited crops.

Although farm program participation is voluntary, ASCS official Bachtel said producers should clearly understand that if they do not sign up, they will not be eligible for benefits offered under the 1992 programs.

Coordination Is Key To Sludge Regulation

Effective management is a key to profitable long-term sewage system sludge use by farmers and ranchers, Farm Bureau told a House Agriculture subcommittee.

The key issue is how government regulations should dovetail with existing farm and ranch soil conservation programs, according to John Datt, executive director of the American Farm Bureau Federation's Washington office.

Currently a legislative remedy (H.R. 4360) is being considered to alleviate problems related to sludge application, and the Environmental Protection Agency is rewriting regulations governing the application of sewage sludge.

Agencies within USDA should ensure that the use of sludge is consistent with the overall management plan of a farm or ranch, and within the conservation requirements of government laws and regulations, Datt said in a letter to a House Agriculture subcommittee. USDA and EPA should work together to ensure "adequate regulation of sewage sludge production."

Sheep And Wool Festival Planned May 2 And 3

The 19th annual Maryland Sheep and Wool Festival will be held May 2 and 3 at the Howard County Fairgrounds, West Friendship, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Admission and parking will be free.

The festival features more than 250 craft and equipment booths, sheep dog demonstrations, sheep shearing contest, a sheep to shawl competition, a fashion show, musical entertainment and many other activities.

The 250 craft and equipment booths will feature handmade craft items and specialty goods. Wool garments, yarns, sheepskins, pillows, jewelry, books, and original artwork are just some of the items available for sale.

An estimated 1000 sheep will be at the fairgrounds for various competitions and demonstrations. There will be a display of many of the different breeds of sheep.

The Sheep to Shawl competition involves competing teams of five people who shear the sheep, comb and spin the raw wool into yarn, and then weave the wool into a shawl.

Working sheep dog demonstrations will be held at 11 a.m., 1 p.m., and 3 p.m. on both Saturday and Sunday.

Dulcimer and guitar players, Irish dancers and other live entertainment will be provided free on both days of the festival.

Abush has been chartered by the Kan Knit Machine Knitters Club of Oakland, and will leave Oakland on May 2 at 6 a.m., returning at approximately 9 p.m. the same day. The cost is $20 per person for the bus. To reserve a seat, those interested may call Renee Shreve at 334-2783 between 9:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. before April 18.

Datt encouraged the committee to look closely at the regulations "to ensure that all sewage sludge products, regardless of point of generation, are delivered to application sites as a known and tested product."

Farm Bureau policy states that government agencies responsible for approving land application systems should allow private agriculture to utilize municipal wastewater and sludge whenever possible, Datt said. The safe use of municipal sewage sludge by a farmer or rancher should be voluntary, he added.

Regulation of municipal sludge should be a process that makes no distinction regarding the point of origin of sludge. Instead the emphasis should be on the quality of the product delivered, Datt said. Waste handling authorities should be responsible for declaring that heavy metals and other non-degradable materials have been removed from the sludge.

Farm Bureau supports indemnity payments for crop losses caused by components in the waste, Datt said.

Survey Shows Ag Recovery Continuing

Agriculture in the United States continued to recover from financial problems of the early and mid-1980s in 1990, according to the most recent Farm Costs and Returns Survey by USDA.

"For the majority of U.S. farms and ranches, the period of 1987 through 1990 can be characterized as a sustained recovery from the hard times of several years ago," reported economist Mitchell Morehart of USDA's Economic Research Service. "In 1989 and 1990, farm income reached record highs -- 1989 was a particularly successful year."

In 1989 total assets for all farms surveyed averaged $375,470 and increased to $410,600 in 1990, according to the survey. Total average debt rose from $51,522 in 1989 to $54,053 in 1990.

The proportion of farms with a positive net farm income was 61.5 percent in 1990, down from 62.4 percent the year before.

Farms in Appalachia and the Corn Belt were in the best overall financial condition, with the highest percentage of favorable operations and the lowest share of vulnerable operations. The Mountain and Pacific regions had the highest proportion of vulnerable operations.

The survey has been a means of assessing the financial health of farm businesses for seven years. Enumerators are currently gathering data for the eighth survey.

North Central DHIA Banquet And Meeting Held April 7 In Aurora

Members of the North Central Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA) met Tuesday evening, April 7, at the Aurora Fire Hall to recognize owners of the top producing herds in the district.

Preston County Extension Agent Tom McConnell opened the meeting and said they were there that evening to focus on the year gone by, to look back and reflect on the many changes the year had brought. He stated that the last five to 10 years have provided changes that add up to be threats to dairymen.

"The environment, land use, deer problems -- not all of West Virginia sees the white tailed deer as a nuisance -- we must look at all of these as a challenge," McConnell said. "A lot of people have views on how we (farmers) should do our business. But, they're glad the small farmer, the dairyman, is still around, to be rustic, to attract the tourist dollar."

He reminded those present that the things he just mentioned are good reasons for farmers to band together, to form cooperatives, such as DHIA, which he said is a good example of farmers working together. He concluded by applauding the members of North Central DHIA, who, he said, have made a lot of sacrifices to keep the organization going.

Before presenting the evening's awards, McConnell introduced Ronnie Helmondollar, the new Extension agent from Taylor County, who was present at the dinner and awards program.

Awards were then presented to owners of the top three herds for milk production. The top award went to Milford and Greg Gibson, with 64 cows that produced 21,283 pounds of milk; second went to Tom and Dorothy Mason, with 60 cows producing 19,502 pounds of milk, and third to John and Connie Fint, with 61 cows producing 19,203 pounds of milk.

Awards for the top three fat producing herds went to Milford and Greg Gibson, with 64 cows producing 784 pounds of fat; John and Connie Fint, with 61 cows producing 768 pounds of fat; and Doyle and Wade Harsh, with 82 cows producing 713 pounds of fat.

The top three protein producing herd awards went to Milford and Greg Gibson, 64 cows producing 708 pounds of protein; John and Connie Fint, 61 cows producing 645 pounds of protein; and Tom and Dorothy Mason, producing 633 pounds of protein from 60 cows.

The top three active herds with the greatest increase in milk for a one-year period received awards. They were: Reymon Memorial Ayshires 30-cow herd with a 25.45% increase; Ken and Dorothy Bachtel's 37-cow herd with a 17.85% increase; and Tom and Dorothy Mason's 63-cow herd with a 17.48% increase.

Awards for the three top active herds with the greatest increase in milk for a three-year period were presented to: J.J. Dalton, 40 cows, with a 17.86% increase; Reymon Memorial Ayshires, 30 cows, with an 8.67% increase; and Milford and Greg Gibson, 61 cows, with a 7.6% increase.

Receiving awards for the three top active herds with the greatest increase in milk for a five-year period were: Stanley and Melvin Harsh, 31 cows, with a 38.84% increase; Milford and Greg Gibson, 61 cows, with a 30.77% increase; and Ken and Dorothy Bachtel, 37 cows, with a 21.15% increase.

The award to the herd with the lowest Somatic Cell Count (SCC) was presented to Doyle and Wade Harsh, whose average linear score for 1991 was 2.60.

Representing the State DHIA were Gene Long, state manager, and Bob Hope, DHIA Laboratory supervisor. Long stressed

Proper Management Keeps Dairy Farmers In Business

Change continues to challenge dairy farmers. But producers who take advantage of new opportunities can remain in business, according to specialists for the Cooperative Extension Service, Maryland Institute for Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Here are some things to consider:

* Milk solids pricing began Jan. 1 in the Mid-Atlantic Marketing Area (Federal Order No. 4). This means that dairy farmers in Maryland and other nearby states will have a financial incentive for culling and breeding cows on the basis of total milk solids, including protein content and butterfat percentage.

* The wholesale market is approaching its seasonal downward price pattern for the spring and early summer months. Conversely, the cost of good quality alfalfa hay has spurred upward recently because cold weather slowed pasture growth for early grazing.

* When the cost-price squeeze gets tough, there's a temptation for dairy farmers to cut costs by reducing their use of artificial insemination or full-service record-keeping offered through Dairy Herd Improvement programs.

Proper attention to DHI records affords farmers an opportunity to deal profitably with all of the change factors mentioned above, says J. Lee Majeskie, dairy herd management specialist for the Cooperative Extension Service. Dr. Majeskie's views are supported by John W. Wysong, an agricultural economics specialist in dairy production management.

"The loss incurred by the preventable death of just one calf could more than pay for a year of full-service DHI record-keeping on some farms," Majeskie notes.

Maryland dairy farmers involved in DHI testing receive a monthly herd summary computer print-out that provides a wealth of data about every cow in the herd, as well as herd production averages and distributions. Within the last year, a set of templates has been made available to help sort out the dairy herd data in a straightforward manner.

Close attention by herd managers to averages like days in milk and calving interval can help to increase milk production per cow by at least five pounds per day with no change in feeding practices, Majeskie declares.

He points out that DHI provides the detailed individual-cow record-keeping and whole-herd analysis information necessary to keeping dairy farming as a profitable business.

Now listen to some comments from Dr. Wysong, the agricultural economics specialist:

"Dairy farmers generally benefit from equalling or slightly exceeding their milk production quotas established during the base period of the federal Mid-Atlantic Marketing Order. This means that nearly all of their milk receives the full blend price, with only a relatively small amount going into Class II and the Class III manufacturing milk category.

"Total milk cow numbers continue to decline, both nationally and in the Mid-Atlantic area, as cows increasingly become concentrated in herds of 100 cows or more. Meanwhile, average milk output per cow continues to increase.

"However, many herds with fewer than 100 cows still can be profitable - both on a per-cow and per-herd basis - in situation where labor and capital resources are kept in balance with the number of cows handled, replacement heifers raised, and crop acres farmed.

"Higher net incomes per worker and higher levels of milk sold per worker are central to dairy farm business survival in the 1990s.

"A Total Mixed Ration feeding program permits offsetting poor quality forage feeds by adding necessary grain concentrate supplements to maintain energy levels that keep heifers growing at a thrifty pace and milk cows producing at high levels throughout their lactations.

"With a shortage of feed brought on by last year's drought and this spring's slow-growing pastures, it'll pay to harvest first-crop alfalfa as haylage - possibly as early as mid-May."

Tree Planting Funds Available

Funds are currently available under the Forestry Incentives Program (FIP), to assist farmers in planting trees, according to Michael R. Kozier, director of the Garrett County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

He said farmers could save tons of top soil over the next several years by planting trees on idle and marginal cropland, and on critically eroded areas.

The FIP helps increase the nation's supply of timber products by encouraging private, non-industrial forest landowners to plant trees on suitable open lands or cutover areas, and to perform timber stand improvement work for production of timber and other related forest resources. "Cost-sharing under the program is generally necessary because landowners often cannot afford to make the long-term investment needed to produce crops of timber," ASCS official Kozier said. Tree planting and timber stand improvement are two of the major practices offered in Garrett County.

To request cost-sharing funds for tree planting, farmers should contact the Garrett County ASCS office.

Student Ag Day At Maryland To Be Held April 25

Something new and something old, farm animals and small children, hot dogs and bedding plants.

This year's Student Ag Day on the campus of the University of Maryland at College Park again will offer the atmosphere and traditions of a country fair in an urban setting.

The 66th annual event is scheduled Saturday, April 25, in the livestock barns area, behind the Institute for Physical Science and Technology at the intersection of Regents Drive and Farm Drive. Activities will run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. There will be no admission charge.

Ag Day will get underway with traditional fitting and showing competition involving dairy cattle, beef cattle, swine and sheep. By 3:30 p.m. the winners in each livestock class will be exchanging animals to determine who deserves the honor of being selected grand champion showman.

Other farm animals will be waiting in the livestock barns to make friends with youngsters attending Ag Day activities. Student riders from the nationally famous University of Maryland Cavalry Regiment will be grooming their horses for a 1 p.m. parade down Rhode Island Avenue on Sunday, April 26, that is being sponsored by the College Park Boys' and Girls' Club.

Formal opening of the new Phase I addition to the nearby Animal Sciences Building is set for 11 a.m. in Room 0408 of the new section. Speakers will include Robert L. Walker, Maryland Secretary of Agriculture.

At 2:30 p.m., several College of Agriculture faculty members will participate in a comedy-filled swine showmanship contest.

Barbecued beef hamburgers and chicken hot dogs will be sold throughout the day by student clubs in the College of Agriculture. Bedding plants and vegetable transplants will be sold by the University of Maryland student chapter of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers.

A new food item offered this year will be fried fish—farm-raised hybrid striped bass and possibly catfish—served by the student Aquaculture Club, organized just last fall.

A country and western sound will fill the air with musical entertainment. The morning disc jockey from WMZQ, a radio station in Washington, D.C., will spin records.

Ag Day is sponsored each year in late April by the Agriculture Student Council at the University of Maryland, with cooperation from other student organizations in the College of Agriculture.

Jerry V. DeBarthe, associate professor of animal sciences at the University of Maryland, is a longtime advisor to the Ag Student Council. Dr. DeBarthe sees the Ag Day fitting and showing competition as an opportunity for student participants to acquire something more than textbook knowledge about the care and handling of farm animals.

In case of rain or inclement weather, the Student Ag Day event will be postponed to Sunday, April 26.

Farm Bureau Wants To Balance Needs Of People And Species Protection

Farm Bureau last week urged a Senate panel to balance the needs of people with the protection of endangered species.

In a statement submitted to a Senate Environment and Public Works subcommittee hearing regarding the reauthorization of the Endangered Species Act, the American Farm Bureau Federation said, "The challenge facing Congress is to craft a statute that will promote recovery of truly endangered or threatened species and, at the same time, not destroy the social and economic fabric of affected areas. The current law fails in both regards, and a completely new approach is called for."

This was the first hearing on the act, which is due to be reauthorized this year. The hearing consisted of witnesses from the administration and two other panels.

Even though the act is up for reauthorization this year, "election year politics may cause Congress to delay action until next year," according to Jon Doggett, an AFBF assistant director of national affairs. A bill that would reauthorize the act for five years (H.R. 4045) has been introduced by Rep. Gerry Studds (D-Mass.).

AFBF said the "history of the Endangered Species Act has been one of failure—failure to recover species that are listed under the act, failure to protect a species, failure to take appropriate actions that might save a species and failure to focus attention on those species in those areas that most need help."

"Nearly 20 years after initial passage, the Endangered Species Act is in need of a complete overhaul. The grandiose ideas of 1973 to save species from becoming extinct have instead fostered bitter disputes centering on species preservation and the economics and social well-being of rural communities. Instead of instilling a greater appreciation for the plight of listed species, the act has produced divisions and misgivings. Small farmers, ranchers, loggers and others are being suffocated by the smothering land-use regulations required by the act."

Recovery plans and critical habitats are being created for more than 600 species currently listed and an additional 3,600 species are under active review for listing.

The possibility of thousands of plants and animal species being listed "can stop a number of agricultural practices without compensation," Doggett said. The current legislation "specifically forbids consideration of human and economic impacts of recovery efforts, and states that an endangered species must be protested at all cost under the law."

Doggett said Farm Bureau members should contact all members of Congress to urge them to oppose H.R. 4045 and instead support a comprehensive reform package.

The next Senate hearing in May will center on the northern spotted owl controversy. No hearings have yet been scheduled in the House.

GAO Report Shows Some FmHA Loans Are In Trouble

A General Accounting Office report found that the Farmers Home Administration risks losing $14 billion in loans to troubled farmers, according to investigators. The report blamed lenient loan-making policies and repeatedly refinancing borrowers, as contributors to the potential problem.

The GAO also said it found problems in the agency's guaranteed loan portfolio, which FmHA estimated has potential losses of $1.2 billion. This represents 28 percent of the portfolio. The agency agreed with GAO's requests for improvements.

FAMILY VEAL FARMING: A Portrait From The Heart Of America.

Editor's note: The American Veal Association, a non-profit organization of independent veal farmers and allied industries, has submitted this series of articles in an attempt to educate the American public about their product. The series will feature health benefits of veal, the industry's roots, how veal is raised, farm technology, ecology and product safety.

Farm Families: Greetings From The Heartland.

America. Just think of its vastness, the many types of people, landscape and cultural backgrounds. Despite all our differences and diversities, we join together to create one of the richest and most blessed countries in the world. Millions and millions of individuals from all walks of life have combined their blood, sweat and tears to make this country great. Individually using each person's unique talents and then combining these with the efforts of others, we became a nation... a great nation. At the heart of all this, woven into the segment of everyday life, is the farm family.

Comprising only three percent of the national population, the American farm family responsibly works to provide food for our country. A job that is done so well that the national surplus has become a vital food relief to millions of people in countries less fortunate than ourselves throughout the world.

Today's American farm family is a living institution where you still find good old American values practiced and cherished. It's where the family still gets together over the dinner table, where "quality of life" means more than how many luxuries and conveniences one can accumulate and the whole family works together for the success of their farm business. The business of feeding America is an important one and farmers do not take the task lightly.

Along with on-the-job training at home, farmers today are continually using higher educational sources to keep them up to date in the latest technology and advances for farm improvement. Additionally, groups such as 4-H and Future Farmers of America keep each new generation of farmers in touch with issues that will become a part of their careers in farming. It is this blend of pride, education and commitment that comprises today's farmer.

You can count on the American farm family to produce food products that are unparalleled in quality and quantity anywhere in the world. The family, educational institutions and a broad spectrum of dedicated individuals all work together to improve farming, and, in turn, better the American way of life.

In Loving Memory of Roger Wilhelm & Evelyn Bowman

Aug. 4, 1991 Feb. 10, 1983

A part of us went with you the day God called you home. Now to your grave we travel. The flowers we place with care, But no one knows the heartache, as we turn and leave you there. When the family gets together, there are two we fail to see. Our hearts are filled with sadness thinking of how it used to be. So many times we needed you, so many times we've cried. If love could have saved you, you never would have died. God, we know your arms are around them and they know no suffering there. The flowers we place upon your graves may wither and decay, But the love for the ones who sleep beneath, will never pass away.

The Families

It Pays To Implant Suckling Calves
Implanting suckling calves can return you $15 to $20 for every dollar invested, report Kansas beef cattle specialists. A summary of 19 research trials conducted from 1985 to 1991 reveals that calves implanted during the suckling phase were 18.6 pounds heavier at weaning than non-implanted calves. Heifers responded more to implants than steers. In a four-trial summary by Nebraska specialist, the average response among heifers implanted with Synovex-C at branding time was 32 pounds, compared to 18 pounds for steers.

In seven trials conducted to date, the reproductive performance of heifers implanted with Ralgro or Synovex-C was similar to non-implanted heifers. However, while heifers implanted with Synovex-C in a Missouri study tended to reach puberty at an early age, fertility was somewhat lower among those heifers receiving implants. Fewer of the implanted heifers calved early the following season. If you are concerned about implanting replacement heifers, an option is to forego implanting early-born heifers, which are most likely to be saved for herd replacements, and to implant the remaining two-thirds or three-fourths of the heifers.

If your operation permits, re-implanting in mid-summer can improve performance. Research data over the last five years show the re-implanted calves weaned eight to 10 pounds heavier.

Machinery Operating Costs For 1992

The costs of operating farm machinery is a very significant factor in the total expenses of farming. These costs should be calculated into your production costs when you are figuring your net profit. I now have a fact sheet that lists the costs of owning and operating machinery. This information can be sent to you upon request.

Phytophthora Root Rot In Alfalfa
Just this week I saw an alfalfa field totally killed by the phytophthora root rot. The first thing that comes into your mind when you look at the field is that the freezing and thawing has pushed the plants out of the ground. However, when you examine the roots you will find they are dead.

Unfortunately, there is nothing you can do for plant recovery. Select a seed variety that has resistance to the disease. I also believe the fungicide Ridomil may be helpful in preventing the disease on new planting. We will be doing some experimenting with Ridomil this coming spring.

Fertilizing Apples
Young apple trees benefit tremendously from early spring applications of nitrogen. An apple tree should receive approximately one pound of actual nitrogen. Hand placement in the drip line is the most efficient means of application. Early application is important so that soluble nitrogen can be picked up by spring rains and moved into the root zone at a time when tree roots will take advantage of it.

Flock Source Can Spell Satisfaction Or Disaster

Backyard poultry flocks offer homeowners in rural areas an opportunity to supplement family income, provide eggs and meat for the table, and help children learn to care for other living creatures.

But a budding backyard enterprise can turn quickly into disaster if diseases like Salmonella pullorum-typhoid and Mycoplasma-both highly contagious to poultry—are allowed to gain entry.

Such maladies often are fatal to chicks and cause unthriftiness and poor performance in young birds. Adult fowl can pass the diseases to other birds through their manure droppings and to their progeny through their eggs.

Keeping these diseases out of your flock is best accomplished by purchasing chicks and other poultry supplies only from approved sources, says Charles J. Wabek, small flocks specialist for the Cooperative Extension Service, Maryland Institute for Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Approved sources, explains Dr. Wabek, are those that practice health and sanitation measures in their hatcheries and participate in pullorum breeder-flock testing programs specified by the National Poultry Improvement Plan. NPIP was established 56 years ago by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in cooperation with poultry health professionals.

To be on the approved list, hatcheries also must obtain their eggs from breeder flocks that have not had any serious disease outbreaks in recent years.

Newspaper and magazine advertisements normally do not indicate whether mail-order baby chicks come from approved sources, Wabek warns. And NPIP standards are not adequately enforced in some states.

Wabek updates annually a Maryland Small Flock Source List, intended to protect the health of small flocks as well as the Delmarva area's important commercial broiler industry.

The list indicates approved sources of supply for several classes of poultry—including layers, meat birds, turkeys, guineas, waterfowl, and even fancy purebred poultry. It also provides information on purveyors of poultry equipment and supplies.

The Maryland Small Flock Source List is available free from offices of the Cooperative Extension Service throughout the state. It also can be picked up at animal health laboratories of the Maryland Department of Agriculture.

Early Planting Making Progress Across Maryland

By April 12 producers were making rapid progress planting cool weather spring crops. Warm weather during the week encouraged high field activity. Spring field preparation was 29 percent complete, planting of potatoes reached 46 percent complete, green peas were 65 percent planted and spring oat planting was 28 percent complete.

An average of 5.8 days was suitable for fieldwork during this past week according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. Across the state, topsoil moisture rated 33 percent short and 67 percent adequate. Subsoil moisture ended the week as follows: 17 percent was short, 79 percent was adequate and four percent was surplus.

Emerging stands of small grains were in fair to mostly good condition. Barley was just beginning to form heads. Pastures averaged in good condition, with development in western counties slowed by recent cold weather. Hay supplies were short to adequate, with prices up with strong demand.

Maryland's progress for week ending April 12 was as follows, listing the item, percentage planted this year, last year, and a five-year average.

Crops seeded: Sweet corn, 4, 3, 4; corn for grain, 1, 1, 1; potatoes, 46, 30, 47; green peas, 65, 59, 50; spring oats, 28, 38, 41.

Fruit bloom: Peaches, 39, 75, 68; apples, 15, 30, 17; strawberries, 14, 16, 12.

WEATHER

Maryland weather for the week ending April 10 was colder than normal with light precipitation. Precipitation averaged 0.09 inch, ranging from none at Woodstock and College Park to 0.31 inch at Bel Air. Regional averages were: Western, 0.10; North Central, 0.12; Southern Maryland West of the Bay, 0.06; and Eastern Shore, 0.07 inch. Temperatures averaged 50.6 degrees, 1.5 degrees below the normal of 52.1 degrees for the April 4-10 period. Minimum temperatures ranged from 17 degrees at Oakland to mostly the upper 20's and low 30's

Madigan Outlines USDA Management Changes

Agriculture Secretary Edward Madigan last week outlined management changes he has taken to improve the 130-year-old Department of Agriculture in testimony before the Senate Agriculture Committee.

The hearing was held in response to Sen. Richard Lugar (R-Ind.), the ranking member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, who has been calling for reforms in USDA.

Madigan said he welcomed the committee's action in calling the hearing because USDA has been working to develop new management initiatives and to better coordinate existing ones.

"We share a common interest. In many ways management improvements will be made only to the extent we work together," Madigan said. "In many respects USDA is one of the least understood organizations in our government. Effective management improvement must be premised on an accurate understanding of the department and its missions."

Lugar has said there are some federal offices that are wasteful because there aren't enough farmers to warrant single agency offices in some counties. He advocates consolidating offices and downsizing the bureaucracy.

Madigan said more than 300 offices have been closed in the last five years, and steps have been taken to consolidate offices or create "one-stop shopping" for farmers and ranchers.

USDA is the fourth largest federal agency in terms of spending, with annual outlays at about $62 billion, Madigan said.

The secretary has ordered a short-term review of local ASCS operations. State directors were asked to review offices, suggest changes and report back by the end of April. "I plan to proceed by closing and consolidating those offices that can no longer be justified," Madigan said. Such changes will be made "with compassion," he explained, and will be accomplished through attrition.

One county ASCS office is scheduled to be closed in Ohio County, Ind., the first of May, which will save taxpayers an estimated $79,000 annually, according to Lugar.

In order to improve management and operating efficiency, Madigan said USDA has taken steps to make more effective use of computer technology. The computers in some offices cannot communicate with those of another agency, resulting in inefficiencies.

Besides actions taken by Lugar in the Senate, Rep. Dan Glickman (D-Kan.) has made calls for USDA transformation to "free farmers to farm" instead of being "farm fillers."

House Agriculture Committee Chairman Kika de la Garza made an announcement last week about upcoming House Agriculture Committee involvement on the issue. De la Garza said he has requested that chairman of the panel's eight subcommittees to start a "top-to-bottom" review of USDA's current and proposed regulations to determine what changes can be made to spur economic growth, improve program efficiency and simplify paperwork.

"I am optimistic about the future of the Department of Agriculture. It is a fine organization with a long history of valuable service to this country," Madigan said. "In many respects the department's traditional philosophy of cooperative, on-the-ground problem-solving with people at the state and local levels is a sound, proven approach. However, traditional approaches need to be reviewed and adapted to current and future circumstances. I think we have a good opportunity to position USDA for service into the next century."

NAFTA Talks May Conclude This Year

A North American free trade agreement can still be concluded this year, according to U.S. Trade Representative Carla Hills, who met with her Canadian and Mexican counterparts in Montreal last week. She said implementation before the election may depend largely on Congress. The trade ministers did not commit themselves to any timetable or deadline to complete negotiations. Agriculture Undersecretary Richard Crowder said the three nations are close to an accord on plant and animal health and food safety issues but a number of other obstacles remain.

Attempt Made To Harmonize EC, U.S. Meat Inspection

Testimony in a Senate Agriculture panel hearing last week indicated progress is being made in negotiations to harmonize EC and U.S. meat inspection processes. Industry representatives emphasized importance of eliminating the EC's non-tariff trade barriers, establishing equivalent inspection processes and the need for the U.S. to use the Section 301 dispute resolution process. Sen. Tom Daschle (D-S.D.) said legislation (S. 1731), which would ban U.S. imports of EC meat products, is needed if negotiations are inconclusive.

COLLATERALIZED MORTGAGE OBLIGATIONS (CMOs)

If the countdown is on for rolling over your CD or IRA, better check the interest rate you're getting from your bank. CDs may not be the answer anymore.

CMOs are bonds backed by pools of Ginnie Mae, Fannie Mae, or Freddie Mac securities. These securities are guaranteed as to timely payment of principal and interest by either a government corporation or a government-chartered company. Because of these guarantees, all CMOs carry an implied AAA rating.

CMOs also offer flexibility. You have the ability to choose yields and maturity dates, and you'll like the exceptional credit qualities and attractive yields.

For conservative investment alternatives like CMOs—contact our office nearest you. Or call toll-free, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 1-800-768-9510.

Humberson Work To Be Part Of Regional Show

Work by Deer Park resident Tracy Humberson has been selected to be included in the AIGA Baltimore First Regional Design Show.

Humberson's entry, a compact disc design which includes original and cover song titles and lyrics, was judged on the basis of visual conception and effective design interpretation. The jury, made up of three nationally and internationally known designers, included Jilly Simmons, an active member of the American Center for Design; Kent Hunter, board member of the New York chapter of the American Institute of Graphic Arts; and Robert Valentine, whose clients consist of Conde Nast Publications, Time-Warner, The Whitney Museum, Gilbert Paper and Polyr Ralph Lauren.

Humberson is the daughter of Keith and Doris Barnett and Fred Humberson, Friendsville. She is a junior at Shepherd College majoring in graphic design.

The AIGA Baltimore is a chartered chapter of the American Institute of Graphic Arts, a non-profit organization whose members conduct an interrelated program of lectures, publications, exhibitions, educational activities, and projects in the public interest to promote excellence in graphic design.

The student show presents an opportunity for students to have school work evaluated by a national panel of design professionals.

The Best of Category, Silver, and Gold winners will be announced at the award dinner to be held at The National Aquarium in Baltimore on Saturday, May 9, from 7 to 11 p.m.

GCFT Nominates Lipscomb For Special Award

The Garrett County Federation of Teachers has announced its nomination of Don Lipscomb for the American Federation of Teachers Diamond Service Award, which recognizes local AFT members who have made outstanding contributions to their organizations and communities.

Lipscomb has taught mathematics for more than 20 years at Southern High School and has been president of the GCFT for over 14 years. Among his accomplishments are a collective bargaining agreement for head custodians and cafeteria managers and receipt of the John Dewey Award. He has also represented a number of school board employees to insure due process and employee rights.

Local Student Initiated Into Phi Kappa Phi

Melanie N. Barr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Barr, Mtn. Lake Park, was recently inducted into the Hood College chapter of Phi Kappa Phi National Honor Society, which recognizes outstanding academic achievement.

A junior, Ms. Barr is a consistent dean's list student, recipient of the Chemistry Achievement Award and Biology Freshman Award, member of the Iota Society, Hood's honor and service group, earned Convocation Honors last fall, and was named a Hood Scholar. She was recently elected to Mortar Board Honor Society. She is a 1989 graduate of Southern Garrett High School, where she was a drum major and member of the concert, marching, and stage bands.

Founded in 1897, the primary objective of Phi Kappa Phi is the recognition and encouragement of superior scholarship, honoring those persons of good character who have excelled in their field of interest. There are 205 chapters of Phi Kappa Phi in 49 states plus the District of Columbia, the Philippines and Puerto Rico.

Residents Reminded Of DNR Open Air Burning Regulations

Officials from the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR), forestry division, are reminding people of the regulation dealing with open air burnings, which, they say, is especially important this time of the year.

According to the open air burning regulation, a person may not engage in open air burning except under the following conditions:

There should be a natural or constructed fire break (free of flammable material) at least 10 feet wide completely around the material to be burned. A "firebreak" is a cleared strip, one which is bare down to the mineral soil, around the material to be burned. Fire research indicates that a 10-foot strip should be adequate for containing a debris fire under normal conditions.

Adequate personnel and equipment must be present to prevent the fire from escaping. In essence, the individual doing the burning is responsible for controlling the fire, and at least one responsible person must remain at the location of the fire until the last spark is out, and the fire must be completely out by midnight.

In addition, burning may occur only between the hours of 4 p.m. and midnight a.s.t., except when the ground is covered with snow. After 4 p.m. a.s.t. there is more moisture in the air, the temperature drops, and the winds die down.

These regulations do not apply inside the limits of incorporated towns, as they have their own regulations.

Further information may be obtained by calling the County Forestry Office, DNR Forestry Division in Garrett County at (301) 334-3296.

GCMH Laboratory Staff Observing National Medical Laboratory Week

April 12-18 is National Medical Laboratory Week, a time set aside to recognize medical laboratory professionals and educate the public, government, and private sectors about their role in health care delivery. The 1992 theme is "Our Mission: Your Good Health," and in over 12,000 laboratories across the nation, more than 100,000 professionals are celebrating this week. Medical laboratory professionals include but are not limited to: laboratory directors, managers, supervisors, medical technologists, and medical laboratory technicians.

The laboratory staff of Garrett County Memorial Hospital is headed by Tom Prince MT (ASCP), who has 22 years experience in the laboratory. Nine years of this time has been at GCMH. "This year we are saluting the laboratory professionals who work very hard to provide our patients with timely, accurate diagnostic test results," Prince said.

The lab staff at GCMH is comprised of four MT (ASCP) medical technologists who have bachelor of science degrees in medical technology and have taken a National Certification test given by the American Society of Clinical Pathologists; one CLT (HEW) medical technologist who has been certified by taking the HHS certification test; one

MT (AMT) medical technologist who is certified by the American Medical Technological organization; four MLT (ASCP) medical lab technicians who have associate of arts degrees in medical laboratory technology and have taken the national certification test given by the American Society of Clinical Pathologists; three on the job trained lab assistants; and one phlebotomist who is on-the-job trained at GCMH.

Since this week is to honor the people who work in medical laboratories, Garrett County Memorial Hospital would like to share the following information about the laboratory staff "to acquaint the public with their commitment and caring."

Judy Umstot has 25 years experience working as a registered medical technologist. She was attracted to this field by the technical aspects of doing tests, working in a hospital setting and the need for medical technology. Working in a smaller hospital gives greater opportunity to follow the patients' progress and treatment. "Laboratory work can be stressful and fast-paced, but it is also very rewarding. Constant updates and improvements offer better health care to all of us," Ms. Umstot said.

Mary Herring, who has been at the hospital for 19 years, added, "The job and our hospital has seen many changes. I enjoy working with the patients and also enjoy the camaraderie with my fellow workers."

Shirley Hare has worked in a hospital laboratory for the past 18 years. She chose medical technology because she enjoyed the communication with the patients of all ages and the opportunity of being an essential member of a health care team. "I am committed to the highest quality standards of testing; fostering quality patient care," she said.

Tina Devine, who has been employed in the hospital laboratory for six years, said, "I picked this career because I wanted to be a helpful part of the health care team."

Eireasa Baumgardner has been at GCMH for four years and is currently hematology section chief. She said, "I entered the field of medical technology to combine the ideas of working in a field with heavy emphasis on science and math and working in a medical field. This job is a challenge - no two days are the same. As we move into more automation, a lot of mechanical skills are needed. Working in a small hospital lab means that everyone does a little bit of everything. Even though we are a small hospital, we do tests that usually only a larger hospital would do. I'm very proud of that."

Lois M. Hogan has been chemistry section chief for three years. When describing her job, she stated, "My job is interesting, challenging, stimulating and time consuming, all of which are ideal for me. The variety of tests done at the hospital and the variety of people served by the laboratory makes every day a new adventure."

Vicki Morris was looking for a career move that would provide her with more stability and benefits. "I wanted to help the public and was intrigued about the many aspects of the medical laboratory field," she said. Vickie has been working at the hospital for almost four years.

Jennifer Moon has been on the laboratory staff as a medical technologist trainee for the past three years. "Laboratory work is very intriguing and different from day to day. Medical laboratory technology involves knowledge in all areas of human anatomy, how organisms cause diseases and what drugs can be used to cure them," she said. Jennifer is presently attending college to get her degree in this field.

Amy King, who has been at Garrett Memorial for two years, said, "I enjoy working in a small community hospital because things are never the same on any given day and you get to deal directly with the patients instead of just nameless tubes of blood."

Bonnie Stemple has been employed at the hospital since 1985, but joined the lab in 1990. "I find my job challenging. I like working with the public and patients here at the hospital. The lab has a warm friendly atmosphere. I enjoy working with all my fellow employees," she said.

Deena Helmstetter said she also likes her job at the hospital. "I enjoy the friendly employees and the patients. The lab also has good automated equipment. I went into the Medical Lab Technology Program because I wanted to be in a career which took part in a patient's care. Out of nursing, radiology, respiratory - the laboratory interested me the most."

Lori Peck added, "I chose this career because I knew that it would be an exciting and rewarding job. Working at Garrett County Memorial Hospital I have met many new people and it has given me the opportunity to work in all areas of the laboratory."

Stroke Club To View Video At Friday Meeting

A video film prepared by the National Stroke Association will be shown at the next meeting of the Allegany County Stroke Club on Friday, April 17, at the Kensington-Algonquin Senior Apartments, 1 Baltimore Street, Cumberland. The meeting will commence at 1 p.m. The video follows the theme of what a stroke is and what can be done about it.

Although this meeting will be mainly a social gathering, both support groups, the stroke veterans and the caregivers, will meet as usual at the end of the session. Refreshments will be served.

All meetings of the ACSC are open to the general public, but especially to those who have suffered strokes and their caregivers. According to a club spokesman, every effort is made to answer questions of visitors, either from personal experience or through a medical professional. The meetings are held the third Friday of each month at the time and place mentioned above.

The next fund-raiser for ACSC will be a flea market, to be held Sunday, May 10, in the Gee Bee parking lot, Queen City Drive, Cumberland. Anyone having clean, usable items in good working order, which they wish to donate for this fund-raiser should bring their items to the April meeting or contact the ACSC to have the items picked up for the sale. The telephone numbers to contact for this purpose are 304-738-9467, 304-738-8926, or 301-722-1457.

A second fund-raiser will be a raffle for a winter scene in Cumberland, "North End Snow," a watercolor painted by local artist, Alexis Levine. This scene was painted by Mrs. Levine at a recent ACSC meeting and was donated to

GCC Offering Sewing Course

A course entitled Basic Sewing will be offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College. This course is scheduled to be held at the Oakland Center of the college beginning May 6. Sessions will be held each Wednesday from 6 to 8 p.m. for 10 weeks.

Students will learn the basic parts of the sewing machine and how to read a basic pattern. Hands-on experience will include layout and cutting of the pattern, understitching, and basic seams. Each student will have the opportunity to construct a completed garment during this course.

For more information, persons may call Patricia Baer at 334-8304.

Thank You

The family of Ruth E. Dodge would like to take this opportunity to thank the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad, Dr. Earles, Dr. Thomas Johnson, Garrett Memorial Emergency Room Staff, friends, neighbors, relatives, and anyone else who made contributions of any form during the death of our wife and mother. It is during this time we realize how much our friends and family really mean to us. A special thank you to Brad Stewart and Staff of Stewart Funeral Home. Also, to Rev. Edwan Rice and Rev. Leslie Moats for their many prayers and comforting words. Your expressions of sympathy will always be remembered.

May God Bless You All.

Regional Science Expo Winners Are Announced

The fourth annual Western Maryland Regional Science Expo was held Friday, April 3, at Allegany Community College under the joint sponsorship of the Regional Education Service Agency, Allegany Community College, and Allegany and Garrett County boards of education. The Expo recognized the achievements of award-winning middle and senior high school students who have carried out independent scientific study over the school year.

The Expo was underwritten in part by six corporate sponsors who were acknowledged at the Expo Awards Ceremony: Bausch & Lomb, First Federal Savings Bank of Western Maryland, First United National Bank & Trust, LaVale Lions Club, Superfos Packaging, and TCI Cablevision of Maryland. The ceremony capped a day of activity for 62 middle and high school students from the two counties.

Each student had the opportunity to participate in a project review under the direction of a team of science judges. The student was interviewed to determine the level of knowledge and understanding developed in carrying out his/her scientific experimentation. The Expo was divided into two groupings with middle school and senior high school students competing in separate divisions. The students competed in 12 categories for awards assembled from a wide field of Expo affiliates. The students were hosted to a luncheon and dinner as guests of the Expo. In addition, they participated in workshops designed around special elements of science of particular interest to students of the participants' age group. A feature presentation, "The Lights Fantastic," was presented by Donald Miller of C&P Telephone, retired, for the students following lunch. A public viewing of the students' projects preceded the awards ceremony.

Janet Hutzel, of Northern High School, won first place in the Behavioral & Social Sciences category, high school division. The overall grand prize winner was Amy Donhardt of Beall High School. Her entry was entitled "Examining the Invertase Gene Switch of the Yeast Saccharomyces Cerevisiae." Donhardt will be the region's representative in the 43rd International Science and Engineering Fair at Nashville May 10-16.

Overall grand prize runner-up was Nathan Moody of Allegany High School whose project was "Performance Curves of Selected Transistors."

There were 36 judges who conducted interview sessions with all of the Expo participants.

Expo 1992 was conducted under the direction of Dr. Glenn Workman and his staff and Frank Peto of RESA. The Expo was presented by the Regional Education Service Agency of Appalachian Maryland in cooperation with the RESA member institutions: Allegany Community College, Allegany County Board of Education, Frostburg State University, Garrett Community College, Garrett County Board of Education, Hagerstown Junior College, Washington County Board of Education, and the University of Maryland System.

Lawyer Advertising To Be Restricted

As of July 1, 1992, lawyers advertising in Maryland must adhere to new restrictions. These new lawyer advertising rules were proposed by the Maryland State Bar Association (MSBA) and approved by the Court of Appeals of Maryland on April 8, 1992. MSBA sought these three new rules because it discovered, through a comprehensive study of lawyer advertising in the state, there was a need for greater disclosure in legal advertising.

The new lawyer advertising rules prohibit the use of testimonials and endorsements from persons who are not "bona-fide" pre-existing clients. Any lawyer advertising to the attorney's past success record must carry a disclaimer warning clients that the past record is "no assurance that the lawyer will be successful in reaching a favorable result in any future case." Finally, lawyer ads must warn consumers if they will be responsible for litigation costs and expenses in a case.

Attorneys advertising in Maryland must comply with these rules as of July 1, 1992, and they apply to television and print ads purchased or renewed after the effective date.

A&A Associates Complete Course; Earn RMMs

The following associates of A&A Realty/Better Homes & Gardens recently completed the second in a series of Better Homes & Gardens Master Classes, Buyer Power: Qualification, Counseling and Commitment. The course was designed to provide Better Homes and Gardens associates additional ways to help their buying customers find and acquire the right home that best meets their needs and capabilities.

Publication On Forest Mgmt. Now Available

Maryland Department of Natural Resources Secretary Torrey C. Brown, M.D., announced the completion of Maryland's Guide to Forest Harvest Operations and Best Management Practices.

The manual is produced through the DNR's Forest Stewardship program in cooperation with the DNR's Water Resources Administration and the Maryland Forests Association.

The manual is available to loggers, foresters (service and consulting), and sediment control inspectors regarding forest harvest regulations. It is also a tool for good management practices designed to protect, maintain and enhance our natural resources, Brown said.

The manual contains two sections. The first section contains a summary of the management activities which are required by Maryland law including erosion and sediment control, non-tidal wetlands, Chesapeake Bay Critical Areas and waterway access.

The second section contains Best Management Practices (BMPs). These are individual methods, measures or practices that can be used separately or in combination to prevent or reduce water quality problems caused by forestry activities.

A copy of the manual may be obtained by contacting the DNR's Forest Stewardship Program at (410) 974-3776.

State, County Jobless Rates Up In February

Seasonal layoffs, coupled with an increase in the number of job-seekers entering the labor market, caused Maryland's unemployment rate to climb to 7.5 percent in February, according to statistics released this week by the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development (DEED).

Garrett County's jobless rate also increased, from 13.6 percent in January to 14.1 percent in February. The February 1991 rate was 12.7 percent.

During February, Maryland's civilian labor force increased by nearly 2,500 persons to 2,531,340. At the same time, seasonal layoffs reduced employment by 3,045 to 2,340,968. As a result, the number of jobless persons was up during the month to 190,372, an increase of 5,528.

However, Maryland's economy continues to exhibit positive signs, the DEED said. The excessive job losses reported during the recession are no longer occurring, as shown by the steep production in initial unemployment insurance claims. Initial claims for unemployment insurance fell to 30,383 in February from 45,766 in January -- a 34 percent decrease. For the second consecutive month, the number of people filing for unemployment insurance benefits was lower than figures a year ago. Total benefits paid in February were 3.6 percent below last year's level.

In addition, sporadic hiring reported by Maryland businesses has encouraged job-seekers to enter the labor market, causing the labor force to rise by nearly 30,000 workers in the past year.

"Although our unemployment rate increased slightly in February, unemployment in Maryland continues below national levels," said DEED Secretary Mark L. Wasserman. "Other economic indicators show that Maryland's economy is beginning to improve. Sales tax revenue is up, consumer confidence is rising and housing starts remain above last year's levels."

In March, sales tax revenue increased nearly three percent, reflecting February retail activity. According to the State Comptroller's Office, this is the fourth consecutive month that sales tax revenue has increased over the previous year.

Although housing starts declined from January levels, the number of housing units authorized were 22.8 percent above February 1991 totals.

Average hourly earnings in Maryland's manufacturing industries increased from $12.37 to $12.42, because of a 13-cent jump in nondurable industry wages.

During the third quarter of 1991, export tonnage at the Port of Baltimore increased 94 percent over the third quarter of 1990. Import tonnage experienced a 13 percent decline during the same time period.

Retail sales fell from December to January, a normal seasonal pattern. Compared with last year's levels, retail sales were up 0.2 percent in Maryland in January.

On the Eastern Shore and in Southern Maryland, three counties reversed the state trend, as their unemployment rates dropped in February. Cecil County's rate declined from 13.7 percent in January to 12.3 percent in February due to recalls in Delaware's auto industry. St. Mary's County also experienced a drop in unemployment, from 6.5 percent to 6.3 percent.

Nationally, the unjustified unemployment rate rose from 8.0 percent in January to 8.1 percent in February.

Tobacco-Free Coalition Will Meet Tuesday

The Garrett County Tobacco-Free Coalition's next meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, April 21, 6 p.m., at the Silver Tree Restaurant, Deep Creek Lake. Anyone interested in tobacco or health issues is invited to attend this "dutch treat" dinner meeting.

"We will be brainstorming to plan the next important activities of the Coalition," stated a Coalition spokesperson. "We know that if we combine our individual energies, we can more effectively prevent young people from beginning to use tobacco products, help people quit smoking, and prevent exposure to second-hand smoke. Together, we can make a greater difference."

Dr. Rex D. Archer, Garrett County health officer, and a member of the Coalition, said, "Large people to support this. Smoking is the single most preventable cause of disease in our county. At the present time, about 50 people in Garrett County die unnecessarily each year from tobacco-related diseases. And this doesn't even take into account all of the tobacco-related illnesses that occur each year in children and adults."

The Coalition recently held a poster contest for 4th and 5th grade students. Posters are now on exhibit throughout the county. Locations include: Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland and Accident Branch, Grantsville Foodland, Accident IGA, Mt. Lake Park IGA, Browning's Foodland in Oakland, Pizza Hut in Oakland, Super Valu in Oakland, and the former location of Helbig's Jewelry Store, Oakland.

For further information about the meeting or to confirm attendance, persons may contact the Health Department at 334-8116.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption in the following property, situate in Election District No. 1, Garrett County, Maryland, sold by the Collector of Taxes for Garrett County and State of Maryland to Homes & Land Development, Inc.

That parcel of land containing 1.02 acres, more or less, situate in Election District No. 1, Garrett County, Maryland, and being the same as described in a deed from Jack W. Engelhardt and Lawrence J. Engelhardt to Jack W. Engelhardt and Jean M. Engelhardt, his wife, dated August 23, 1976 and recorded in Liber No. 371, folio 615 &c., one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The Complaint states, among other things, that the amounts for redemption have not been paid, although more than six months and one day from the date of sale has expired.

IT IS THEREUPON, this 2nd day of April, 1992, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, ORDERED that notice be given by the insertion of a copy of this Order in some newspaper having a general circulation in Garrett County, once a week for three successive weeks before the 24th day of April, 1992, warning all persons interested in the said property to be and appear in this Court by the 2nd day of June, 1992, and redeem the property and answer the Complaint, or thereafter a foreclosure will be rendered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property, and vesting in the Plaintiff a title, free and clear of all encumbrances.

Plans Finalized For First Job Fair At GCC

The first Garrett County Job Fair will be held this Saturday, April 25, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. The Deep Creek Lake Business Association is sponsoring this event in coordination with the Garrett County Community College Job Placement Center.

According to a GCC spokesman, the job fair will provide an opportunity for local employers to recruit employees for summer or year-round or future jobs. The Job Placement Center is inviting Garrett County high school students and community members as well as students from Garrett Community College, West Virginia University, Frostburg State University, Potomac State, and Allegany Community College to attend the Fair. Those seeking jobs are asked to bring resumes if possible. Applications will be available for those who do not have resumes. Those seeking jobs are encouraged to dress as they would for an interview. There is no need to call the Job Placement Center prior to Saturday.

An individual display table will be set up at the college for each employer who is participating in the Fair. The following employers are currently registered to participate: Stray Cat Cafe, Stained Glass Gallery, Fox's Pizza Den, Frontier Mini Golf Arcade, Dr. Willy's Seafood, Hallmark Engraving, Appalachian Crossroads, Navy Recruiting Station, Deep Creek Lake Recreation, Allegany Rehabilitation Association, McClive's Restaurant, Flushing Shirt, Dominick's Pizzeria, Point View Inn, Broadford Lake Park, Mountain Surf Inc., Garrett National Bank, First United National Bank, Cornish Manor, MD Army National Guard, Beauty Control Cosmetics, and JG's Pub. Other employers may also be involved. Employers will be given details about current or future job opportunities and application information. They may also conduct mini-interviews at the Fair.

Bausch and Lomb donated Ray-Ban sunglasses to the Fair.

A FAMILY ART - Jeanne Gilbert and her children, Laura, Krista and Sam Hollingsworth, recently made coloring Easter eggs a family art, not to mention a fun activity. Christians continue to celebrate the Easter season which does not end on Easter Sunday. Just as Christ dying for us symbolizes new life and hope, so does the egg, which is why the egg coloring custom continues to thrive.

Corrections On Lay-Off Noted

It was reported last week that 74 of 105 employees of Garrett Manufacturing, Inc., Deer Park, were permanently laid off from their jobs, however, it should have stated that all 74 employees of the plant lost their jobs. There were not 105 employees at the plant at the time of the lay-off.

The story also incorrectly described the workers as "fired" in one paragraph. In fact, the workers were not fired, but laid off because of a loss of contracts at the plant.

Special Meeting Scheduled By School Board

A special meeting of the Garrett County Board of Education has been scheduled for Monday, April 27. An executive session will begin at 4:30 followed by a public session. The meeting will concern personnel, according to a spokesperson.

A specific time for the public session was not available, but a spokesperson said the entire meeting will be short.

Grantsville Woman Escapes Serious Injury When Vehicle Flips Over

A Grantsville woman escaped serious injury Tuesday when the vehicle she was operating flipped over, according to reports filed by the Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry.

Kelly A. Allen, 28, was treated for minor injuries and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland, according to a hospital spokesperson, following the 8:15 a.m. mishap.

The accident occurred near a local hospital by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad. T.C. J.E. Foley investigated and charged Allen with failure to control speed to avoid an accident.

Kim Grimm To Open Olympic Trials Weekend

Among local performers who will entertain guests during the U.S. Canoe and Kayak Team Olympic Trials, will be the weekend of May 15-17, will be Kimberly Grimm, a former Miss Maryland. Grimm will perform at the opening ceremony in the National Guard Armory on Friday evening, May 15, and she will open each day of the races by singing the National Anthem at the Savage River site.

During her year as Miss Maryland, Ma Grimm traveled throughout the state performing at festivals, dinners, hospitals, conventions, parades, and award ceremonies.

"Some of her most memorable moments came as she sang for troops returning from Desert Storm," said a spokesperson from the olympic trials committee, who added, "She dedicated time and energy to her platform of inspiring children with serious medical problems, sharing with them her belief in self discipline, goal setting, and the determination to succeed."

A graduate of Allegany Community College, she is currently employed as a computer operator with Garrett Optical, and is furthering her education in Business Administration at Garrett Community College. She is the daughter of Rita and Francis Grimm, Mtn. Lake Park.

Variety Of Topics Discussed At Recent Education Board Meeting

The Garrett County Board of Education met last week and members discussed several topics, including a calendar revision for this school year, the condition of Loch Lynn Elementary School, the status of the breakfast program at Northern Middle School, and the recommendations of the Food Advisory Committee.

Superintendent Jerome Rysavage also responded to the recent public complaints concerning Michael Sines, director of transportation.

The school-closing laws do include an emergency clause, which may allow an education board to order a quick closing, Rysavage investigated that option.

When I asked about the emergency clause, the fire marshal asked me if this danger situation was new, or if it had been noted in the past. Of course it has been noted in the past - for several years, in fact. The fire marshal told me in that case, it cannot be considered an emergency," the superintendent said.

Rysavage has asked the fire marshal about a year-long grace period which would allow the school officials to wait in fixing the problem areas while deciding what to do with the Loch Lynn students. Those who currently attend Loch Lynn would probably be transferred to Broad Ford, Dennett Road, or Kitzmiller elementary schools.

"We have an immediate problem to face," Rysavage said. The fire marshal has ordered some significant changes at Loch Lynn."

Olympic Trials Meeting Slated In Bloomington

A meeting will be held on Friday, April 24, at 7 p.m. in the Bloomington fire hall, Bloomington, to present information on the U.S. Canoe and Kayak Team Olympic Trials scheduled to be held on the Savage River below the dam on May 16 and 17, 1992.

Interested residents of the area are invited.

Commissioners Seek To Improve Jobless Picture

The Garrett County Commissioners are currently working on a strategy that would help improve the county employment picture.

The commissioners are attempting to revise future in-county capital projects contracts with bidding contractors in order to include provisions requiring that a certain percentage of local residents be hired by those contractors. The contract would also require that a certain percentage of local materials be used, as well.

According to Commissioner John Braskey, the commissioners have been made aware of the problem in recent months in light of contractors working on the airport and other county projects who have hired workers from out of the county and none from within.

"We're also more aware of the problem now because of the current high unemployment rate," said Braskey, adding, "This will benefit the county."

Braskey said that research is being conducted by the county attorney to make sure those proposed provisions could be legally included in the contracts.

First Rabies Cases Of 1992 Are Reported

The Garrett County Health Department recently reported the first two rabies cases of 1992. The first was confirmed in January and the second on April 13.

A raccoon was killed at the home of Rick Green in January, and was later confirmed rabid. The Green residence is located on Fibewe Lane in Mountain Lake Park.

The second case of the year was confirmed after two dogs came in contact with a raccoon in the Frick's Crossing area near Deer Park. The diseased animal was killed. The dogs were vaccinated, and one of the animals will be quarantined in a double-fenced pen for several months.

Persons should not handle their pets if the animals come into contact with a suspiciously behaving wild animal. Pet-owners should not touch their pets for at least two hours following an encounter.

All pets should be vaccinated against the deadly disease, and a health officer noted that rabies clinics will begin in May.

Persons should absolutely avoid contact with wild animals, especially if the animal is not showing any fear of humans. Raccoons and skunks that are out in the daytime hours should be suspected of possible illness. Persons are asked not to feed their pets outdoors. If this is practiced, pet-owners should bring the food in at night.

WINS STATE TITLE, FINISHES FIFTH IN NATION - Brian Roderick, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Roderick, Swanton, successfully defended his Maryland State Archery Title, Cub Freestyle Division. In the state shoot held recently in Frederick, Brian also won first place in a regional competition in Westminster, as well as in the Mid-Atlantic Sectionals, also in Westminster, as he defeated archers from Maryland, Virginia, New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania. The fourth grade student at Broad Ford Elementary School also competed in the National Championships in Kansas City in late March and captured fifth place. His victories are still more impressive in that the Cub Division includes archers up to age 11. This is only his second year of competitive shooting.

Charter Board Completes Writing Of Charter; Special Election To Be Held

Garrett County residents will have an opportunity this summer to decide whether the county will keep its current form of government or adopt the charter home rule form of county government.

The Garrett County Home Rule Charter Board this week presented the completed proposed charter for the county to the Garrett County Commissioners. The charter represents approximately one year of intensive work and study by the group and will be presented to local voters during a special election tentatively planned for July.

Chairman John E. (Jack) Hinebaugh explained that, if the charter form of government is adopted, three major changes would occur. The first major change would be that the power to pass laws or ordinances would be transferred from the General Assembly in Annapolis to the local level of government.

That power, said Hinebaugh, would be vested in a county council and not in a board of county commissioners. That is the second major change - the establishment of a council consisting of a member from each of the proposed five voting districts.

The council members, however, would be elected at large and would serve four-year terms.

The council would conduct two types of sessions: legislative and administrative. The legislative sessions would deal with all matters pertaining to the enactment of laws.

The charter provides that all legislative sessions will be open to the public, as well as all administrative sessions, except those expressly exempted under the Maryland Open Meetings Law, stated Hinebaugh.

The charter further provides that the minutes of all open sessions be kept in a journal available for public inspection, copies of which would be available at the courthouse and library.

All laws would be introduced as bills, under the charter, and public hearings would be held before the enactment of any law. Upon enactment, the law would then be subject to a referendum.

If the public doesn't like the law, it can be taken to referendum by a petition which contains signatures of five percent (or approximately 575) of the voters in Garrett County," said Hinebaugh.

He continued, "It would be easy to take a law to referendum if the voters don't like it - what it does is put the county council on notice of being very careful about the laws it passes."

The charter also provides for the appointment of a county administrator by the county council, and the charter spells out what qualifications will be required of the administrator and will set forth, in detail, what his responsibilities and duties will be. It also provides for his dismissal from office if those responsibilities and duties are not met.

"All county agencies would be under the control and supervision of the county administrator, who will receive his direction from the county council," said Hinebaugh.

Hinebaugh noted that the structure of the county government would remain the same, and all agencies stay intact with the addition of CHARTER BOARD COMPLETES WORK - Members of the Garrett County Charter Board. After one year of intensive research and study, this week presented the completed charter to the Garrett County Commissioners exactly one day before the deadline to do so. The commissioners now have 30 days in which to publish the charter in its entirety, after which they will have no less than 30 and no more than 60 days to hold a special election for voters to select either the charter or the form of government or the present form. Pictured above are members of the charter board: left to right, seated, Dorothy Lighthill, Charlotte Sebold, and Jesse McCullough. Standing, same order, are Spencer R. Schoenagle, John E. Hinebaugh, and DeCorsey Bolden. Not present for the photo were Richard C. Browning, William F. DeWitt, and Theodore Reynovich. See story for more detailed information about the charter.

PSI Ordered For Oakland Man Found Guilty Of Drug Charges

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for an Oakland man in Garrett County District Court proceedings last week after he had been found guilty on drug charges.

Robert J. Rounds, 23, was found guilty of one count of possession of marijuana and one count of possession of drug paraphernalia.

One additional count each of marijuana possession and possession of paraphernalia and a count of maintaining a common nuisance for illegal storage and concealment of drugs were not prosecuted by the State's Attorney's Office.

Rounds had been arrested when the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force was conducted a pre-raid surveillance on February 6 at Rounds residence on Memorial Drive. The Task Force had a court-ordered search and seizure warrant that had been signed by Circuit Court Judge Fred A. Thayer.

Members of the Task Force reportedly observed Rounds leave his residence and travel to Terra Alta, W. Va. When he re-entered Maryland about an hour later, he was stopped by police officers. A search of his vehicle revealed suspected marijuana residue in the console area. He was placed under arrest and transported to the Garrett County Jail where a correctional officer conducted a search. That search produced a brass smoking pipe and a small plastic bag containing two grams of marijuana taken from Rounds's pants pocket.

The search warrant was then executed at the residence and the search revealed plastic baggies, a gram scale, a smoking pipe with marijuana residue, a partially burnt marijuana cigarette, and numerous marijuana seeds.

In a separate drug case, Chris T. McRobie, 21, and V. McRobie, 20, both of Deer Park, were found guilty of one count each of possession of marijuana, possession of drug paraphernalia, and possession of an unregistered shotgun. Pre-sentence investigations were ordered for both men. Each was found not guilty on one count each of maintaining a common nuisance.

The McRobies were arrested on December 19, 1991, after the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force executed a court-ordered search and seizure warrant at their residence.

The search revealed six smoking pipes with suspected marijuana residue, a cup and a film container containing suspected marijuana seeds, one package of rolling papers, numerous pipe screens, various pipe ends, a set of scales, plastic bags, and a short-barrelled shotgun.

A Deer Park man was sentenced in court proceedings last week after being found guilty on January 21 of possession of marijuana. A pre-sentence investigation had been ordered in January.

Edward D. Shuttleworth, 26, was handed a one-year jail term (all but 30 days was suspended), fined $200, and placed on 24 months of supervised probation. Charges of possessing drug paraphernalia and maintaining a common nuisance were not prosecuted by the State's Attorney.

Shuttleworth had been arrested when a search and seizure warrant had been executed by the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force on November 21, 1991, at a home in Crellin. He reportedly came to that residence during the search and gave police permission to search his vehicle. Suspected marijuana seeds and stems and a marijuana cigarette were found in the vehicle. Also a smoking pipe with suspected marijuana residue was found in the vehicle. It was still warm.

Keith W. Campbell, 28, Umontown, Pa., was found guilty of felony theft in court proceedings last week. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

Campbell had been arrested following a December 18, 1991, incident in which he was observed at the Auto Center Texaco Station in Friendsville. He was the only person in the store and when he left, there was reportedly $599.75 taken from that place of business.

William E. Schreck, 22, Deer Park, was sentenced after he had been found guilty of misdemeanor theft, resisting arrest, and assault in January court proceedings. A pre-sentence investigation had been ordered at that time.

Schreck was handed a one-year suspended jail term (all but 30 days was suspended), fined $50 for each count, and placed on one year of supervised probation.

He had been arrested following a shoplifting incident at Browning's Foodland on December 2, 1991.

Sweeping Sales Tax Changes Noted; Many To Be Effective May 1

The most sweeping changes in Maryland's sales and use tax law in a generation will affect thousands of businesses and consumers, with many of the changes taking effect May 1, 1992, according to the Maryland State Comptroller's Office. In addition, Maryland's cigarette tax will increase from 16¢ to 36¢ per pack of 20 on May 1, and the state gasoline tax increases from 18½¢ to 23¢ per gallon on May 1.

Legislation enacted by the Maryland General Assembly and signed by Governor William Donald Schaefer on April 10, 1992, will repeal the sales tax exemption for newspapers, specific snacks and prepared foods sold in grocery stores and other items. The new legislation also adds the 5% sales and use tax to cellular telephone services, many other telephone services, pay-per-view television, security services and other types of services. Thousands of businesses and professionals, such as veterinarians, security services and industrial cleaning companies, will have to register for sales and use tax licenses for the first time. They should contact the State Comptroller's Office as quickly as possible. Many of them will be able to register by telephone by calling (410) 225-1300 in the Baltimore area or 1-800-492-1751 from elsewhere in Maryland.

The State Comptroller's Office is now mailing informational materials and new licenses to more than 100,000 vendors who already have sales and use tax accounts.

Sales and use tax licenses are being replaced because many older licenses do not bear current registration numbers or do not reflect the current location address of the licensee.

Consumers will begin to pay sales and use taxes on over-the-counter, subscription and home delivery sales of newspapers May 1, 1992. Newspapers sold through vending machines will be taxable beginning January 1, 1993.

Cellular telephone and other mobile telecommunications services, including "beeper" telecommunications charges, will be taxable beginning May 1, 1992.

A variety of other telephone services also become taxable May 1, 1992, including telephone answering services; "900" type services, and custom calling features, such as call forwarding, caller identification, and rapid dialing, call back and telephone conferencing.

one-year suspended jail term, fined $50, and placed on 18 months of supervised probation after he was found guilty of assault. Charges of discharging a weapon with intent to maim, disorderly conduct, and reckless endangerment against him were not prosecuted.

Tasker had been charged by the Maryland State Police following a fight at Erv's Place in Deer Park. He was reportedly asked to leave by the manager and did so, but returned a short time later with a loaded shotgun. Some customers were able to take the shotgun from him before he left the establishment.

Leo E. Lowdermilk, 39, Grantsville, was found guilty of felony theft and handed a one-year suspended jail term, fined $50, and placed on one year of supervised probation. A charge of breaking and entering was not prosecuted.

Lowdermilk was charged by the Maryland State Police after investigating a December 18, 1991, incident in which Lowdermilk reportedly went to work at the State

Accident Slates Clean-Up Day

Residents of the Town of Accident are reminded that Friday, May 1, has been designated by the Mayor and Town Council as "Spring Clean-Up Day." Residents are asked to gather debris and trash and place it along the street for pick-up no later than 2 p.m. The usual household garage will not be collected on this day.

Food Drive By Post Offices Nets 4,422 Pounds

Postal customers and employees in Garrett County were very generous with their contributions to the "Harvest for the Hungry" campaign this year, according to Oakland Postmaster Eugene H. Salmons, who said a total of 4,422 pounds of non-perishable food items were collected and donated to the local food bank in Oakland for distribution to the needy in Garrett County.

"We were overwhelmed by the generosity of our customers and employees this year," said Salmons, "particularly considering the state and local economic situation. This did not prevent our customers and employees from making that extra commitment to serve those less fortunate, and for that we are most thankful."

A total of 1,941 pounds of food items were collected by the Oakland Post Office and its branch offices at Deer Park and Mountain Lake Park for an increase of 1,015% over that collected last year. Post Offices in Accident, Bittinger, Bloomington, Friendsville, Grantsville, Kitzmiller, McHenry, and Swanton collected a total of 2,481 pounds.

The postmasters and employees of Garrett County noted their appreciation to their customers who participated in the "Harvest for the Hungry" campaign.

I close my eyes to see your face
Your eyes, your lips, your hair
I hear your voice, your footsteps too,
Your shadow is everywhere!
I steeled my heart against your charms and kick you outside too.
But when I stoop to see inside,
I find those dreams of you,
The days are long, the ache is dull
The world is vast and sad,
I see my heart robbed of its joy
And tears from dreams I've had!
Forgetting is hard since you have gone
My laughs and smiles are few,
And yet I have the pain of it.
There is no forgetting you

G.C. Health Dept. To Implement Local "Buckle-Up" Project

The Garrett County Health Department has received a federal grant from the Centers for Disease Control (CDC), Atlanta, Ga., to implement a county-wide safety-belt program.

Dr. Rex D. Archer, Garrett County health officer, explained that the 18-month program is designed to increase safety-belt usage among county residents. He stated that the high rate of death and disabilities resulting from motor vehicle accidents is a major national health problem. About 2,500 Marylanders are killed or injured each year in transportation-related accidents, but many of those deaths could be prevented by wearing seat-belts, he stated.

Archer noted that a preliminary health department survey showed that the current rate of compliance with the state seat-belt law is only about 50% in Garrett County, which is far short of the state compliance rate of 70%. Recent local observations also suggest that pick-up truck drivers are lagging even further behind at a rate of only 27% compliance.

"Almost all of us know someone who has been killed or injured in an automobile accident. It's so tragic when a loved one could have been saved simply by buckling up," Dr. Archer stated.

Carol Brown, community health educator with the health department, will oversee the program in conjunction with the Communities for Child Safety project currently underway in the county. Debra Barnard is

Bill Crawford has been selected as program coordinator for the safety-belt awareness segment, and Donna Aspinall will serve as program specialist.

Crawford brings 19 years of experience in emergency medical services (EMS) to the position. He has been active as an EMT and paramedic, and has been involved in various aspects of health care. He is a graduate of Frostburg State University, and most recently served as director of EMS for Suburban Rescue Squad in Easton, Pa. He and his family reside in Allegany County.

Aspinall has been involved in the health care field in numerous administrative support capacities for over nine years. She has also been a member of the Tobacco-free Coalition, the Garrett County Healthier Year 2000 Environment Task Force, and is editor of the League of Women Voters' newsletter. She resides in Oakland with her husband Bill and son Bobby.

Crawford stated that baseline surveys are currently being conducted at various sites in the county, but that several intervention programs will soon be implemented. "We're beginning at our doorstep by conducting a pilot program here at the health department in conjunction with Garrett Memorial hospital," he stated. "We care about the quality of our neighbors' lives, and we're proud to be setting the example for others."

More information about seat-belts or injury prevention may be obtained by contacting the health department at 334-8116.

Two W.Va. Men Found Guilty Of Felony Theft

(Delayed one week)

Two West Virginia men were found guilty of felony theft in Garrett County District Court proceedings two weeks ago by Judge Timothy Finan from Allegany County District Court.

Christopher R. Wright, 21, Grafton, W.Va. and Larry M. Harris, 21, Bridgeport, W.Va., were both found guilty of felony theft and each was sentenced to three years to the Maryland Department of Corrections. All but 30 days of those sentences was suspended. They were also both placed on 30 days of unsupervised probation. Fines and court costs were waived, but they were ordered to make restitution to Dirk A. Yoder.

Additional charges of breaking and entering and stealing against both men were not prosecuted because of plea agreements with the State's Attorney's Office.

The pair had been arrested in March by the Maryland State Police after an investigation into a reported theft of two Honda motorcycles and a pair of motorcycle racing boots, all valued at $7,470. Wright was brought to the McHenry Barrack on March 13 where he confessed to the crime. He also led police back to West Virginia where the stolen items were found.

In other District Court news, Judge Jack R. Turney found L. Bradford Wolfe, 34, Oakland, not guilty of one count of felony theft.

Wolfe had been charged with that crime on March 3 by Brian K. Craver who stated that Wolfe had removed his $500 guitar from the apartment of Bobby Stark. He said he asked Wolfe for the guitar and contacted police when it was not returned. Wolfe told police he would have to pay $4 a day for storage of the guitar. Craver said he never requested that Wolfe store the guitar.

William L. Gaither, 39, Oakland, was found not guilty of two counts of battery by Judge Turney.

Gaither had been charged by a 17-year-old female who contended Gaither had slapped her and grabbed her neck when she was talking to a neighbor that he didn't like.

Paul A. Dixon, 31, Mtn. Lake Park, was found guilty of disturbing the peace, resisting arrest and causing a disturbance while intoxicated. On the disturbing the peace charge, Dixon was handed a 60-day suspended jail term, fined $100, and placed on 18 months of supervised probation. For the resisting arrest charge, he was handed a one-year jail term (all but 90 days was suspended), fined $250, and placed on 18 months of unsupervised probation. He was given a 90-day suspended jail term, fined $50, and placed on 18 months of unsupervised probation for the disturbance while intoxicated charge. An additional charge of disturbing the peace was not prosecuted.

Dixon had been arrested by Garrett County Sheriff's Office deputies after being called twice to Dixon's residence on February 27 for disturbing the peace. On the second call, Dixon was located outside the home. Upon seeing a police officer he drew back his arm as if to strike the officer. He began yelling and had to be physically restrained by officers following his arrest.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for Melvin E. Smith Jr., 28, McHenry, who was found guilty of harassment, trespassing on private property, malicious destruction of property, and one count of battery. He was found not guilty of a second charge of battery.

Those charges had been brought against Smith by John R. Livengood Jr. and Darlene Smith following several incidents that began in August of last year and continued through February 15 of this year.

Smith reportedly harassed the two and rammed his vehicle into Livengood's vehicle while Darlene Smith was operating it. He also allegedly hit Darlene Smith in the face and arms while attempting to retrieve something from Livengood's vehicle.

Steven N. Attman, 23, Randallstown, was found guilty of misdemeanor theft (the original charge was felony theft) and handed a six-month jail term (all was suspended but 48 hours), fined $100, and placed on six months of unsupervised probation.

Attman had been charged with the theft of a pair of rental skis from the Wisp by the Maryland State Police on December 29, 1991. The report indicated that Attman was observed placing the skis in his vehicle by two ski school instructors who detained him until police arrived. Attman reportedly admitted that he stole the skis that were valued at $350.

We're Losing the War...

In the late 1960s and early '70s there was a great effort made by the mass media to warn people about the dangers of certain illegal drugs. The real targets of that early "say no" campaign were marijuana, speed, LSD, and heroin, with the latter two being accurately described as the real life-threatening ones. Everyone knew what LSD and heroin were and how dangerous they were.

In the late '70s and early to mid '80s, a drug that received the considerable press was PCP, as its effects were causing incidents of violent, bizarre behavior by its users.

In the past several years, cocaine and its various forms (i.e. "crack") have seized the major headlines, as this deadly drug continues to rip families apart and take a heavy toll of life, particularly in our major cities. Other even more toxic substances now on the market include the synthetic narcotic fentanyl citrate, known as "China white," that has killed over two dozen Baltimore area residents just in the past three months. This particular drug is 100 times stronger than heroin.

We have noticed in the past six months or so that the "drugs of the '60s" are making a comeback, even in Garrett County. For so many years there was almost no sign of LSD, for example, in the county. Yet, just in the past several months, there have been a number of arrests of persons with this drug in their possession.

Among the questions that come to our minds is, do the young people of today even know about the dangers of LSD? Has anyone told them? While the mass media has been doing a reasonably good job lately warning the general public about the dangers of cocaine, we believe it is doing next to nothing in explaining the dangers of some of these other substances.

Also, while some strides are apparently being made in the war against cocaine, the availability, sale, and use of heroin are increasing at alarming rates.

One of the conclusions we draw from this 30-year pattern is that the media campaigns should be broadened to include the dangers of all drug use, and not just the use of certain drugs. Another far more sober conclusion is that, while we may win an occasional battle, we are currently losing the overall war against drugs. We must investigate some new, original tactics that may be more effective.

The reason for illegal drug use is multi-faceted and extremely complicated. Social and economic conditions, quality of education, and the dysfunction of the family unit are among those facets. Until there are some major, positive changes in all of these areas, we believe the drug problem will continue. In the meantime, as parents and concerned adults, we must do all we can to educate our own children about the real, often horrifying, consequences of illegal drug use.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Your editorial in the April 9 issue of The Republican was a superb outline of the problems facing libraries in the State of Maryland.

The current situation at The Ruth Enlow Library is the direct result of many years of underfunding by the county government of its share of library operating expenses. In each of the last six fiscal years, requests were submitted for the minimum funding necessary to provide adequate library services, and in each of those years, cuts averaged 15 percent. This fiscal year, cuts in funding have been more than one-third of the amount requested.

Other Maryland counties comparable to Garrett County in population and tax base are able to put twice as many dollars per capita into their share of library budgets.

Friends of The Ruth Enlow Library have more than fulfilled its role of supplementing and enhancing library programs, thanks to the generous support of the people of Garrett County.

No private organization has the resources to compensate for these continuing shortfalls in funding. I ask that anyone reading this letter write or call our county commissioners and let them know that you are in favor of adequate funding for The Ruth Enlow Library.

Sincerely,
Jack M. Caruthers
President
Friends of The Ruth Enlow Library

To the Editor:

I am a property owner in the Town of Mt. Lake Park. Yesterday I received my water bill with a letter attached from the Sanitary Commission. This letter was concerning the universal rate system for all sewer systems. Toward the end of the letter, the statement from the commission was that they felt that the new user charge system is much more equitable. I'm not sure where they obtained the definition of the word equitable, but in my dictionary this word means fair, just.

SAH, IF WE'RE GOING TO BOMB IRAQ... COULD ONE OF OUR PLANES DROP ME OFF AT THE MASTERS?

My previous flat rate for sewerage was $17.50, due only to the fact that I try to conserve water, which at that time our charge was based on how much consumption of water we used. Now that seemed equitable -- according to use.

I know I'm not alone in the community as far as what equitable really stands for. When you take the difference between $19.75 vs. $17.50 percentage-wise, it's an increase of 184.29 percent per quarter. And this is supposed to be equitable? I think not...

Ron and Mona Metz

To the Editor:

On April 4, the Grantsville School PTA sponsored a spaghetti dinner at the school. A great many from our school/community made donations or volunteered time to make this a successful event.

We want to thank Mr. Dale Gurlitz, principal of Grantsville School, and Mrs. Peggy Gurlitz, cafeteria manager, for their help at this event. Our fifth grade girls, who worked as waitresses, did a great job. All of the adult workers who donated their time and more made the day an enjoyable one.

A big thanks to Grantsville Foodland for their generous support.

We appreciate all those who attended our dinner and helped to make this a success.

In conclusion, it was a pleasure to see the school and community work together.

Transplants Make Miracles Happen Every Day

The following article was written by staff members of Garrett County Memorial Hospital. It is the fourth in a series of informative articles designed to educate the public.

Nicole is a healthy, rambunctious seven year old despite the fact that she began life with a congenital liver disease that kills most children before they reach the age of five. Biliary atresia is a congenital disease characterized by an inadequate formation of the bile ducts. This disease results in persistent jaundice and end-stage liver damage. But Nicole is one of the lucky ones who beat end-stage organ disease as a result of liver transplant. At two years of age Nicole couldn't walk or talk or do anything that required energy. Nicole was placed on the liver transplant waiting list along with, at times, hundreds of other children her age. A call from a transplant surgeon changed Nicole's prognosis considerably: the family of a brain dead child who was Nicole's size and blood type generously consented to organ donation. Since being transplanted over five years ago, Nicole's growth and development have normalized so that today she's just like any other child her age.

Thanks to the generosity and courage of many people like Nicole's donor family, this and other similar stories are played out daily. Last year over 15,000 people in the United States received a heart, liver, kidney, pancreas, or lung transplant that saved their lives. Over 400,000 patients received some type of tissue transplant such as corneas, skin and bone. Yet at any given moment there are still approximately 24,000 people on the waiting list for vital organs and many thousands more who could benefit from the use of tissues. Unfortunately many patients awaiting a vital organ transplant will die for lack of availability.

Through the Transplant Resource Center of Maryland, Garrett County Memorial Hospital offers families the opportunity to donate organs and tissues when a loved one dies. In many cases, being able to donate brings some comfort to families facing the tragedy and often senselessness of their loved one's passing.

The Transplant Resource Center was formed in December 1990 to serve as the organ procurement organization and tissue bank for the people of Maryland. This non-profit health service organization is the consolidation of the Maryland Organ Procurement Center (est. 1983) and the Maryland Tissue Bank (est. 1985). The Transplant Resource Center links donor referrals to waiting recipients. The staff provides the following services: receive potential donor referrals 24 hours a day seven days a week, evaluate patients as potential donors, support medical staff in patient management, obtain consent from family and medical examiner, arrange and assist organ recovery in the operating room, coordinate recovery of all donated organs and tissues, provide supplies and services for the preservation and placement of organs and tissues, provide follow-up information to family and hospital and guarantee payment of all costs related to donation.

Organ donation and transplantation are truly miracles. Today, stories like Nicole's are more common place than ever before, but each story is a miracle in itself. To people who have end stage organ failure, transplantation provides the possibility of a long, productive life. The limiting factor however, has always been and continues to be the shortage of available donors.

Working together, Garrett County Memorial Hospital and the Transplant Resource Center of Maryland can save and improve the lives of hundreds of kids like Nicole (and adults too) who can be given a second chance at life. The Transplant Resource Center recommends that everyone discuss their own wishes regarding donation with their next of kin. There is no cost to donating as all costs associated with the evaluation and recovery are paid for by the Center. No charges for donating are ever sent to the family.

To obtain more information about the donor program or to receive a Uniform Donor Card, contact the Transplant Resource Center of Maryland at 410-328-3626.

April Is Child Abuse Prevention Month

Child Sexual Abuse
by Debbie Holler, counselor,
Domestic Violence & Sexual Assault
Information Center

Garrett County is a rural area with low crime rates. Many people believe that incest and child sexual abuse don't happen in this area. In 1991, 25 cases of child sexual abuse were reported to the Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault Information Center. These reports were not confirmed, but the incidence of false reports is very low. Considering that the majority of cases go unreported, this shows that the problem does exist in Garrett County.

The effects of child sexual abuse are severe and long-term. Sexual abuse can damage a child physically, mentally and emotionally. If the child is not treated, he or she will carry the pain of abuse into adulthood. (Note: Child sexual abuse happens to both male and female children, but it is more common among girls. For simplicity's sake, the child will be referred to as "she" in the remainder of this article.)

The child feels ashamed and dirty. She usually feels the abuse is her fault. She cannot understand why the abuser has hurt her in this way. If the abuser is a family member or close friend, the child's confusion is increased. An adult that the child trusted, and in some cases loved, has hurt her and betrayed her trust. This gives the child a basic attitude of mistrust and suspicion towards others.

The best way to deal with child sexual abuse is to prevent it from happening. Parents need to teach children that a child's body belongs to her alone. No one has the right to touch her in a way she doesn't like or force her to do anything that makes her uncomfortable. Children need to be taught the difference between appropriate and inappropriate touches. They should know where their "private parts" are and that these parts should not be touched unless the child is sick or being examined by a physician.

The next best thing to prevention is stopping the abuse once it has begun. Children need to know to tell an adult they trust if anything like this happens to them. They can tell their parents, teachers, school counselors, or clergy. If the person they tell does not believe them, they should tell someone else. They should keep telling until someone believes them and the abuse stops.

There are several reasons a child will hesitate to report abuse. A sexually abused child will often blame herself for the abuse. She may feel that she is bad or did something wrong to cause the abuse to occur. In these cases, it should be stressed that the child is not at fault. The abuser is responsible for his actions and the child did nothing to bring it on. Often the abuser has threatened harm to the child or her loved ones if the child tells anyone. Also, the child may not realize that her situation is abnormal. For example, a victim of incest may think that every father treats her daughter this way. If this behavior is all she has experienced, she may not see it as wrong.

Because a child may never report the abuse, adults should be aware of the signs that a child may be sexually abused. Overly compliant behavior or aggressive, acting-out behavior may signal the child is being sexually abused. The child may exhibit pseudo-mature behavior or have detailed knowledge of sexual behavior. Repeated incidents of inappropriate sexual play with other children or themselves is a strong sign of sexual abuse. The child may also have a lack of trust with others, poor concentration, regressive behavior or depression.

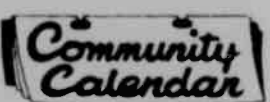

If you suspect a child is being sexually abused, you should report it to Child Protective Services at the Garrett County Department of Social Services, 334-5405. For more information on sexual abuse, contact the Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault Information Center (D.V.S.A.I.C.) at 334-9000.

Alcohol and Drug Facts

by Floyd R. Baker

Drinking and driving do not mix. Nationwide statistics show that at least fifty percent of traffic fatalities can be attributed to the use of beverage alcohol. These statistics also apply to Maryland. In fact, it can be shown that too many people drive while under the influence of alcohol in Garrett County! The addition Service of the Garrett County Health Department reports that during fiscal year 1991 they treated 201 persons who were arrested for driving while intoxicated (DWI). Over 120 of these people were Garrett County residents.

The drinking drivers who were sent to treatment were only a part of the total number of those who were arrested for this crime. Some defendants were tried and placed on probation, others were processed by the court, but released to other states or jurisdictions. Nevertheless, nearly all DWI cases that pass through the courts in Garrett County are evaluated by the trained counselors at the Addiction Service who determine whether they are "social drinkers" (drinkers who accidentally drank too much), or whether they are problem drinkers who need treatment. A driver can be arrested with a blood alcohol concentration (BAC) of .05% (under 18 years of age, the limit is .02%). At this level, he or she is considered impaired and an unsafe driver under Maryland law. At a blood alcohol concentration of .10% or more, a driver is considered under the influence (legally drunk) and usually is subject to stiffer penalties.

The counselors who evaluate the DWI clients review arrest records, family histories, work histories, and medical background information to make their diagnosis. Generally, a history of drunk driving arrests signals that a person has a drinking problem. The Health Department statistics for fiscal year 1991 show that 25.9% of the people evaluated had BACs of .08 to .12%, 38.8% had .13 to .20%, and 10% had .21 to .30%. Five percent had BACs over .31%. At the latter BAC, most normal people would be unconscious and at risk of heart or respiratory failure. Imagine them at the wheel of a speeding vehicle. Nearly 23% of the drivers had been arrested once before. Almost 10% had been arrested three times.

Most of the people arrested for DWI are men (87.6%). However the women, at 12.4% are being arrested for DWI at an increasing rate according to available statistics. In the first half of fiscal year 1992, 13.5% of the clients have been female.

While increased enforcement has been somewhat effective as a deterrent to driving while under the influence of alcohol this dangerous behavior cannot continue to be tolerated. For this reason information and education programs are being developed by local, state and national agencies and organizations aimed at reducing the numbers of people who drive while impaired. The alcohol beverage

NEWS

SAFE DEBRIS BURNING

The Department of Natural Resources, Forestry Division, would like to remind people that spring is traditionally a time of high forest fire danger in Maryland. In 1991 more than 600 wildfires burned nearly 8267 acres in the State. 1177 acres of this acreage was woodland. Many of these fires occurred in the spring, mostly on weekends and in the afternoons. Typically, spring is the time of the year when many property owners are conducting outdoor burning of leaves and other debris. Unfortunately, many people do not burn safely, resulting in wildfires. In 1991 debris burners caused 174 wildfires in Maryland. Debris burning in Garrett County accounted for 10 fires or 27 percent of the wildfires in the County last year.

In order to prevent wildfires from occurring and causing destruction to private homes and woodlands, the State of Maryland has established open-air burning regulations. These regulations apply to activities in woodlands and within 200 ft. of woodlands, or activities adjacent to or within an area where flammable materials that could ignite and carry fire to woodlands are located. These regulations are:

1. A natural or constructed fire break at least ten feet wide must completely surround the material to be burned.
2. Adequate personnel and equipment must be present to prevent the fire from escaping.
3. At least one responsible person must remain at the burning location until the last spark is out.
4. Permissible burning hours are between 5 p.m. and 1 a.m. Daylight Savings Time.

5. Open air burning prior to 5 p.m. D.S.T. requires a burning permit from D.N.R. and from the County Health Department.

Open air burning of any type not in accordance with these regulations is subject to citations and fines ranging from $50 to $250. If you are burning, be extremely cautious and be certain that the fire does not get out of control and spread into nearby grass and woods. The protection of our forest resource is vital to the continuation of forests for water quality protection, timber, wildlife habitat and recreation.

Miss Lori Klotz And Mr. Jeffrey Peck Exchange Vows In Double-Ring Ceremony

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white taffeta sheath gown with a satin neckline. The bodice was embellished with Sposabella lace adorned with iridescent sequins and pearls. The wrist-length Gibson girl sleeves were accented with Sposabella lace appliques decorated with iridescent sequins and pearls. The trumpet skirt and cathedral length train were enhanced with a border of beaded Sposabella lace.

The bride wore a tiara of crystals surrounded by pearl sprays. A folded pouff with a double layer of shoulder length illusion scattered with pearls accented the tiara headpiece.

The bridesmaids wore midnight blue iridescent taffeta floor length gowns. The sweetheart neckline and Basque waist were enhanced with gold lame embroidered lace. A full skirt and short puff sleeves accented the bridesmaids dresses.

Serving as her cousin's maid of honor was Arlene Nolder, Baltimore. Bridesmaids were Stefanie Pritt, Oakland, Rebecca Rounds, Grantsville, and sister-in-law Jennifer Peck, Swanton. Flower girl was Kera Hinebaugh, Oakland.

Acting as best man was Brian Glass, Swanton. Ushers were Randy Bernard, Oakland, Craig Fowler, Swanton, Bobby O'Brien, cousin of groom, Swanton and Ron Edwards, Swanton. Serving as ring bearer was Chad Carr, McHenry.

A reception was held at Brodak's Private Mountain Resort, Oakland.

Following a trip to the Pocono Mountains, Pa., the couple established residence in Oakland.

The bride is a graduate of Northern High School and Allegany Community College, Cumberland, with an associate's degree in medical laboratory technology. She is employed by Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Mr. Peck is a graduate of Southern High School and Garrett Community College. He is employed by C&P Telephone Company, Oakland.

Beachy-Horsman Couple Wed In December Double-Ring Ceremony

Wedding vows were exchanged between Linda Gail Beachy, Grantsville, and Franklin Ewell Horsman Jr., Cambridge, in a double-ring ceremony held December 7, 1991, at the Cherry Grove Church of the Brethren with the Rev. Steve Durr officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Blaine Beachy, Grantsville, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin E. Horsman Sr., Vienna.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride was escorted to the altar by her father and by her nephew, Russell Lawson. She was attired in a full-length ivory sequined gown with a chapel-length train and an ivory fingertip veil. The outfit was accessorized by a pearl necklace and earrings. The bride carried a cascade of ivory and red silk roses, mixed with pine and pine cones.

Serving as matron of honor was Sally Miller, Grantsville, sister of the bride, while Mandy Horsman, Cambridge, daughter of the groom, served as bridesmaid. The attendants wore emerald green tea length dresses, with matching hats, and carried white fur muffs, with holly and red and green ribbons.

Best man was Andrew Atkinson, Cambridge, and Olwyn Maxey, also of Cambridge, served as usher. The event was videotaped by John Horsman, brother of the groom.

A reception followed at the Eastern Garrett Company Fire Hall in Finzel. Refreshments were prepared by the bride's family and served by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Eastern Garrett Fire Company. The cake was baked by Shelby Gable.

The couple spent their honeymoon at Deep Creek Lake.

The bride is a graduate of Northern High School, was formerly employed in the lab at Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, and is presently employed at Eastern Memorial Hospital in Easton.

The groom is a graduate of North Dorchester High School, is employed at Chesapeake College in Wye Mills, and is owner of After Hours Interior-Exterior Designs. The couple now resides at 711 Goldsborough Ave. in Cambridge.

BHS Class Of '72 Meeting Set

The Bruce High School Class of 1972 will be holding a meeting on April 27 at 8 p.m. at Moran's Lounge in McCoolle. Anyone interested in helping organize the event or who is able to provide name and addresses of classmates is asked to attend.

Water Safety Course Slated By Red Cross

Because drowning is a major cause of accidental death and 80 percent of all drownings happen to people who suddenly and unexpectedly find themselves in deep water, the Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross continues to offer its Water Safety program for beginner to advanced swimmers.

The next Water Safety class will begin May 5 and continue for four weeks on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. Children's classes will begin at 5:30 and 6:30 p.m. and the adult classes will begin at 7:30 p.m. All classes are held at the Alpine Lake pool near Terra Alta, W. Va.

A chapter spokesman noted that the pool at Alpine Lake was recently improved with a new heating and filtering system which has resulted in much warmer water than in the past.

Classes will be held throughout the summer and fall. Persons interested in enrolling or obtaining more information may contact Barbara Speicher, Water Safety coordinator, at 746-8437.

Senior Citizens To See Kenny Rogers

The Flowery Vale Senior Center, Accident, has arranged a trip to the Coca-Cola Star Lake Amphitheater in Burgettstown, Pa. on May 30. Country and western singer Kenny Rogers will be performing.

The Garrett County Area Agency on Aging is sponsoring the trip and has stated an April 29 at 4 p.m. as the deadline. Persons under 60 years of age may be included, but priority will be given to senior citizens.

Garrett Transit Service (GTS) vans will depart from the Oakland Senior Center at 3 p.m. and the Accident Senior Center at 3:30 p.m. A stop will be made in Morgantown, W. Va., giving participants an opportunity to enjoy dinner. The vans will then proceed to Burgettstown for the 8 p.m. performance.

Reservations will be confirmed upon receipt of the $30 fee which includes transportation costs and the ticket for the performance. Checks or money orders may be mailed to the Area Agency on Aging, P.O. Box 449, Oakland, Maryland 21550 or given to the site managers at either the Oakland Senior Center or the Flowery Vale Senior Center.

Reservations are limited and are on a first-come, first-served basis.

Schott Glass Presents Glass Disc To B&L

Joseph Rudy, sales manager ophthalmic sales, and Frank Kost, accounts manager ophthalmic sales for Schott Glass Technologies, Inc., Duryea, Pa., made a special trip to the Bausch and Lomb facility this month to present a specially commissioned optical disc in recognition of the business partnership that has been formed between the two corporations since 1986. "A true partnership has evolved from the seeds planted in 1990 at Bausch & Lomb's first annual Vendor Quality Day," stated Butch Sumpter, B&L plant manager.

The optical disc was presented to the employees at the Oakland facility, and accepted by Sumpter. The art is to serve as a symbol of the significant relationship that has developed on behalf of all 475 Schott Glass employees at Duryea, Pa., Sumpter said.

Rudy said, "Our employees are the backbone of both organizations and contribute the most to the success of both corporations."

"As a result of Schott's relationship with Bausch & Lomb we have developed several combined company teams including 1) a quality improvement team, 2) a business review team and 3) a new product development team, all of which have contributed to improvement in the development of lens blanks used by Bausch & Lomb in manufacturing Ray-Ban sunglasses," Sumpter said.

The optical disc which was presented to Bausch & Lomb employees is made of ultra high homogeneity boron crown glass, or BK-7, the premier material used for sophisticated optical lens systems. The composition is 70% high purity quartz, 10% boron oxide, 10% sodium carbonate, and 10% various optical glass raw materials. "These components are of the highest purity and quality levels known to man," Rudy said.

A special mold was developed for the purpose of casting the 165-pound blank which measured approximately one meter in diameter. The initial weight before grinding and polishing was approximately 1,200 pounds and required a melting temperature of 1,300 degrees centigrade. It took almost 24 hours to fill the mold casting which was placed into a preheated annealing oven and under went six weeks of coarse annealing. The optical disc was then cut with a diamond wire saw to the diameter and fine ground and polished to extreme tolerances. The artwork for the piece was then sand blasted on both the front and back surfaces of the disc to acquire the desired dimension. The final piece took 4,570 manhours to produce, of which 350 hours were specifically dedicated to the disc in its final form.

GLASS DISC DONATED TO B&L - The local Bausch & Lomb plant recently received a Ray-Ban optical disc, presented by Schott Glass Technologies, Inc., in recognition of the partnership between the two corporations that evolved in 1990 during B&L's first Vendor Quality Day. The disc is composed of 70% high purity quartz, 10% boron oxide, 10% sodium carbonate, and 10% various optical glass raw materials. Making the presentation to B&L manager Butch Sumpter, pictured center above, were Joseph Rudy and Frank Kost, of Schott Glass.

Rudy and Kost concluded by expressing their appreciation to the Bausch & Lomb management group for the many years of cooperation and working together of the two companies.

Sumpter expressed his appreciation on behalf of all the employees and reaffirmed his confidence in the partnership between the two firms.

Several Thefts Probed By GCSO; Arrests Noted

Several thefts were reported to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office this week, and investigations into the incidents are currently underway by sheriff's deputies. The officers also logged various arrests in the past week.

Torch equipment was apparently stolen from Robert H. Schmidt last Friday or early Saturday. Schmidt told police that he had used the outfit on Friday and had left it on his farm property located along Oakland-Deer Park Road. The equipment, including two tanks of oxygen, a handmade cart, and two Victor brand gauges, was gone on Saturday morning.

The loss in this theft has been set at $400.

Charlie Tressler reported an incident of property destruction and theft to the Sheriff's Office this week. The incident involved a 1986 Pontiac Grand Am, which was parked in a used car lot along U.S. Rt. 219 South. Tressler said the automobile's side window was shattered and the radio was stolen from inside. Donald E. Bittinger, Oakland, is the owner of the vehicle.

Damage done to the car was estimated at $500, and the theft of the radio at $315, according to the report.

Another car radio was apparently stolen from Diana Spiker, Gorman, who parked her car near Dennett Road on the evening of April 18. On the morning of April 19, she discovered that someone had entered her vehicle and taken the AM-FM cassette radio. Other items in the vehicle, such as loose change, were not disturbed.

The loss in this case has been estimated at $300.

Arrests
Donald G. Duckworth, 44, Swanton, was arrested on the strength of a warrant on April 13. The defendant was charged with trespassing, disorderly conduct, and failure to pay court costs, according to the report.

Donna J. Schafferman, 59, McHenry, was arrested for driving while intoxicated on Saturday. Dep. J. Green made the arrest after he observed the defendant operating her vehicle in an erratic manner on U.S. Rt. 219 North. Schafferman was released after signing the citation.

Walter R. Artice, 19, Bruceton Mills, W. Va., was arrested on the strength of a warrant for violation of probation, according to the police report. The warrant was issued from Garrett County Circuit Court.

A bench warrant was issued for Michael S. Lewis, 25, Oakland. Lewis was charged with violation of probation. He was later released on his own recognizance.

Kenneth W. Hardesty, 26, Friendsville, was arrested in Washington County on the strength of two bench warrants from Garrett County. Hardesty failed to appear in court to face traffic charges, according to the report.

James W. Butler, 29, currently an inmate in the Garrett County Jail, was served a bench warrant this week for violation of probation. He apparently failed to obey a court order.

Highway Administration garage at Keyser's Ridge at about 11:30 p.m. and removed a door to the parts room. He then removed three snow plow cutting edges and a spreader auger. The items were placed on a state truck and taken to an old stock pile located on U.S. Route 219 North and unloaded there.

When he learned of the investigation, he reportedly returned the items by unloading them at the front gate. He then left and returned later and said he found the items by the front gate. The items were valued at $480.

Rick Burgess, 38, Kitzmiller, was found guilty of malicious destruction of property. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

Burgess had been charged by Amy Whitacre following a February 29 incident in which he shot and killed her family dog.

Baltimore Man Arrested For Felony Theft

A young Baltimore man and a 16-year-old female juvenile were apprehended Friday by the Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, in connection with an automobile theft.

Richard E. Gentry Jr., 18, was charged with felony theft, giving a false statement to police, and numerous traffic violations.

Gentry was reportedly operating a 1978 Chevrolet Camaro on Interstate 68 when he was motioned over by a stopping team working VASCAR (visual average speed computer and recorder). The vehicle reportedly failed to stop and the driver allegedly attempted to elude the troopers by taking the Grantsville exit off the Interstate.

At that point, the vehicle reportedly struck a light post and became disabled. Both occupants then allegedly fled the scene on foot, but were apprehended a short distance from the accident. The Camaro had been reported stolen on April 13 by Joseph A. Egan, Baltimore. Gentry allegedly gave police a false name and date of birth. His true identity was ascertained through a computer check.

Troopers involved in the stop included Tfc. J.K. Moore, Tfc. J.W. Hare, Tpr. S.H. Anderson, and Sgt. W.J. Lehr.

In other state police news, Alvin T. Schrock, Oakland, was charged with theft after allegedly stealing a carton of Marlboro cigarettes from the rear area of Chestnut Ridge Amoco. He was reportedly apprehended a short time later on Md. Rt. 495, north of the North Glade Road.

An investigation is continuing into the report of an attempted breaking and entering of a Community Action van that was parked behind the Accident Senior Citizen Center.

Community Action officials told police that someone damaged the sliding door on the van after prying it with a clothes hanger to gain entry. Tpr. S.H. Anderson is heading the investigation.

In Loving Memory of my Father & Mother Ed and Marion Lewis

Happy memories of days gone by
With Dad and Mom and home
Brothers, Sisters, all together
And all the love they've shown
It broke our hearts to lose them.
The day God called them away
But the memories they left us
Are still precious today
If your Dad and Mom are still with you,
Treat them nice and kind
When they are gone you'll miss them
The way that I miss mine

Junior Woman's Civic Club Meets, Makes Donations

The April meeting of the Junior Woman's Civic Club was held at the home of Debbie Weissgerber at the Blakeslee, Deep Creek Lake. The scheduled scavenger hunt was postponed because of inclement weather.

During the business meeting, final plans were made for the 10th Annual Community Feud, to be held this Saturday, April 25, at Southern High School.

Discussions were held regarding a Big Bucks Bingo, planned for June 6, as well as proposed improvements to the club's Pizza Shack at the Garrett County Fair.

Donation checks were written to the Garrett Community College Foundation, Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, Oakland Volunteer Fire Department, Summer Recreation Program, American Cancer Society, Mt. Laurel Garden Club, and Big Brothers/Big Sisters.

The evening concluded with the awarding of the door prize, which went to Debbie Weissgerber.

The next meeting is scheduled for May 7 and will be the club's annual progressive dinner. For more information, persons may call Vicki at 387-8890.

Down To Business!

This is a new feature of The Republican to better acquaint our readers with various area business establishments.

Flushing Shirt Company, Inc.

Flushing Shirt Company, located in Grantsville, is a division of the B. Lippman Company that was founded in 1937. Its founder, Lippman, located the original plant in Flushing, New York. The business flourished due to the need to provide shirts for the military during World War II.

In 1953, Ed Olesky, the current president of B. Lippman, opened new markets for uniform dress shirts with police and fire departments. A new plant was needed to handle just this type of order, and in 1953, the town of Grantsville agreed to build a fire hall with space above for a manufacturing plant. It has expanded three times since and now totals 60,000 square feet.

There are now three other plants owned by B. Lippman, located in Waynesburg, Pa., Carmichael, Pa., and Martinsburg, Tenn. The other three produce high-volume, less-styled shirts that are used mostly for the military and postal service. Only the Grantsville plant produces high-style, low-volume uniform dress shirts. It turns out 800-900 dozen shirts a week and the work mix is extremely varied.

The Grantsville plant, with its 240 employees (95% of them female), serves as the central distribution point for the whole B. Lippman operation and has the largest facility of the four plants. Shirts produced by the Lippman plants are sold and shipped to distributors who sell them to various police, fire, and military groups.

Jim White, plant manager at Grantsville Flushing Shirt, grew up in Barnum Springs, North Carolina, and graduated from Chowan College in Murfreesboro, North Carolina. His 30 years of experience in the apparel industry includes work as the senior industrial engineer for Bobby Brooks Women's Wear, the director of industrial engineering for White Stag Women's Wear and the director of manufacturing for Crawford Manufacturing.

White and his wife, Ann, have two children and four grandchildren who reside in other states. Their youngest child, Mitzi, is a student at Northern Middle School. White is a longtime and current member of Lions Club and a former member of Junior Chamber of Commerce and Rotary.

The couple feels that Garrett County is a wholesome place to raise a family and for children to go to school. They are especially enjoying the special beauty and the recreational opportunities found in the county. When chatting with business friends all over the country, the Whites make them jealous by bragging about being just minutes from the ski slopes and lake activities.

White says that B. Lippman is the largest maker of uniform dress shirts with 40% of the market, and adds, "We don't try to outsell with price. We outsell with quality." One factor that contributes to the high quality of the shirts is the use of the military crease which was developed by Flushing. The wool blend tropical shirt with a permanent military crease is one of the company's best sellers.

Rusty Geiger, the senior plant engineer at Flushing, who has more than 20 years of experience in the apparel industry, stated, "Even in a downturn, the company has prospered because it has an excellent reputation as a long term manufacturer of high quality uniform shirts. Our shirt is peerless as far as competition is concerned because our quality is second to none."

White believes that the employees at Flushing are the company's greatest asset and practices an "open two-way type of management style" rather than management from the top down. He explains, "The people are what make the company. Giving your people the proper training, tools, equipment and support - these are the keys to productivity." Since starting to manage the company in July, Jim has been working hard putting this philosophy into action.

Nancy Savage, supervisor of the training department for eight years, described the change in management. "We're more employee oriented now," she said. "We don't just care about getting the shirts out the door, we also care about the employees. The supervisors now have more freedom to run their depart-

For Savage, one of the real benefits of the class was just getting together and talking with other supervisors. "We found we shared the same problems and were able to work together better because of the sharing. It helped us to find out how much we have in common and that other supervisors have similar problems."

The importance of having good supervisors was noted by Willis Younkin who has worked for the company for 23 years. Younkin stated, "We have a good supervisor in our section and everyone gets along well together. This helps our department be enthusiastic about work and reliable in attendance. Everyone is here most of the time. This is important because we have just the right number of people and if someone is not here it throws our work off and makes everyone's job harder."

Ginny Basinger, who makes budge pieces, is also enthusiastic about her supervisor. She is especially impressed by his strong self control. She says she has never seen him angry. "When extra work is needed," she stated, "he doesn't pressure me but he asks for my help so nicely that I feel guilty if I can't help out."

The company feels training is essential, not just for supervisors but for all employees in the operation. According to White, "Our turnover rate is low compared to the garment industry standards but new technology, product lines, and equipment require continual training. This is essential to a progressive operation."

Flushing uses AMT, which is a Vestibule Training System. Savage, the training supervisor works with employees off the floor for up to 12 weeks. She uses a series of training exercises and techniques to build dexterity and sewing skills. According to Senior Plant Engineer Rusty Geiger, this training system is excellent because it incorporates all the positive techniques and allows new employees to develop well-entrenched good habits before working on the production floor.

The introduction of new processes and procedures to improve productivity is also important at Flushing. It currently uses semi-automated equipment that is ments. Jim considers us as part of the management team and encourages us to use that role in daily operations. The supervisors work together more now than they did in the past."

Liz Durst, who has supervised for three years, likes the open door policy White has established. She states, "We can go to Jim anytime with a problem and between us we try to work it out." This open door policy also is extended to the operator, not just the supervisors, she adds. "Employees who are experiencing problems can discuss them openly with Jim."

White says he sees training as a critical part of effective management. Soon after his arrival at Flushing, he began to work out plans for customized training for the supervisors. He put together an extensive training program with Sandy Major, coordinator for Business Training at Garrett Community College. Supervisors recently completed this management class that included work on hiring and developing employees, training, evaluation, planning, organizing and controlling, time management, team building, communication skills, progressive discipline, and coping with change. The instructor of the class, Darlene Park, has extensive experience as an operator, supervisor, and plant manager in the apparel industry. According to Savage, who participated in the class along with 14 other supervisors, "Darlene is an excellent instructor because she can relate so effectively to the issues and problems that are a part of the apparel industry."

In reflecting on the classes, Durst, who supervises 36 operators commented, "When we first started the class, we had some serious attitude problems; now we have more positive attitudes. Our operators are more conscientious about what is going on and more alert to quality. I believe this is because we are making the standards more clear. We're also trying to reinforce good work. I try to talk with each of my operators the way I want them to talk to me. I let them know that they're appreciated. I depend on them and they're usually there for me. We're more of a team now and are learning how to work together effecabout as automated as can be used for making a shirt. A recent addition is an automated piece of equipment that makes epaulets. It will triple productivity in this area, White said. A new state-of-the-art payroll/production reporting system, which uses a bar-coding wand to calculate wages based on piece-work has also been installed recently, and the use of a computerized micro-dynamic automatic marker marking system assures the most effective utilization of fabric.

Durst noted that the company is continually upgrading machines to provide better quality and more quantity. She is looking forward to the upcoming addition of a new button hole machine that will be faster and yield better quality in her area.

One real concern for the management of the company has been the limited availability of applicants to fill recent job openings created by increasing production needs. The apparel business is very labor intensive because automation possibilities are limited. According to White, "There are plenty of people who could work here and we have an extensive training program for new employees so they can learn the skills needed. But unfortunately, the garment industry has not conveyed an outstanding image in years past. This is unfortunate because today, Flushing has much to offer employees with better than average wages and benefits and a clean working environment."

According to Brenda Durst who operates the Automatic Center Set Maker, most anyone can learn the operation if given the training, but it does take a lot of patience. Durst says she likes working at the company now because the boss really cares about the people and the potential for good pay is high because of the piece-rate system. She also likes the fact that she produces a high quality shirt that people need. She says, "Often when I'm watching television, I say 'we probably made that shirt.' I always wish I could look at the label."

Ninety-five percent of the machine operators at the Grantsville plant are

March 15th Was Not An Ordinary Day For Jim Moon.

Jim Moon had suffered a heart attack. It was a terrifying experience for the entire family. Jim was quickly brought to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the rescue squad. Because of Jim's condition they were able to administer the drug t.P.A. to dissolve the blood clot that caused his heart attack. The expert diagnosis of the attending doctors saved his life not once, but twice. We are proud to hear Jim's wife say that he "received the best care in the world".....

Woodmen of the World Lodge No. 41 met at the Lodge Hall on April 13 with Phyllis Bender, president, presiding.

Two new members were accepted in Lodge 41 and one in Lodge 128. The Western Spring Meeting will be held this Sunday, April 26, at 3 p.m. at the Woodmen Hall and will be hosted by Lodge No. 41.

A donation was given to the Cancer Society. The Lodge will "Adopt A Highway" at Keyser's Ridge, and members should plan to meet there at 8 a.m. on Saturday.

Janis Pope won the door prize. The next meeting will be held on April 27.

HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Mars Hill Homemakers Club met Tuesday, April 14, at the Jennings United Methodist Church for a regular monthly meeting.

The members celebrated Ruth Kinsinger's birthday. Mary Kamp baked cupcakes which were served with ice cream.

Norma Bowser was in charge of the games. Prizes were won by Clara Wiley, Robyn Brenneman, Esther Stanton, and Ruth Stanton. Ruth Stanton, president, presided over the business session.

Robyn Brenneman read the scripture. The roll call question was: "Name one good thing you learned about Garrett County recently." Each one reported her volunteer hours.

The demonstration by Mary Kamp was "Understanding Home Rule Charter and County Government."

THE EASTER BUNNY WAS "EGGS-ACTLY" what all the children were looking for this past weekend, and it's exactly what they got as Easter egg hunts were held around the county. Shown above are children surrounding the Easter Bunny at Herrington Manor State Park this past Saturday. A total of 116 children, ranging in ages from nine months to 12 years, found a total of 30 dozen decorated Easter eggs. The eggs were dyed by students from Crellin Elementary School. Prizes donated by Proudfoot's and Englander's pharmacies were awarded by the Easter Bunny to those who found the most eggs. Winners in the age six and up group were Rodney Bird and Max Norton. In the under five age group, the winners were Terri Teaker, Tiffany Simmons and Jennifer Steyer. Shown at right are children who participated at the Easter egg hunt, also held on Saturday, at the grounds of Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Reports indicate that everyone had a "hoppin'" good time.

Outhouse Race
Fresh Air Fest

A unique activity planned for the Greater Oakland Fresh Air Festival, May 22-25, will be the Outhouse Race, scheduled for Saturday, May 23. Five-person teams will operate the outhouses in several heats, and winners will receive trophies. Awards will also be given for the best decorated outhouse and the best dressed team.

The number of entries allowed is limited to nine. Interested persons should pick up entry forms at either Jay Dee Photography on North Third Street, Oakland, or Marvin's Men's Wear, Second Street. The entry fee is $15, and persons should return their form and fee to Jay Dee Photography.

The rules for the event are outlined on the entry form. The outhouse must be built of wood and be muscle powered, and should be three feet by three feet and six feet high. The five-member team must include two women, and one team member who weighs at least 100 pounds must ride the outhouse. The races will be conducted based on double elimination and run in heats, depending on the total number of entries.

The outhouses should represent a "traditional Appalachian" structure with standard fixtures and amenities, and appropriate slogans may be used "in good taste." The outhouses will be displayed during May at areas of sponsorship. Naylor's Hardware outhouse team members have built their entry and it is currently on display at the store.

The Fresh Air Festival is a new event in the Greater Oakland area, and will include several activities, including an arts and crafts show at the Mountain Fresh Produce pavilion. Organizers are still seeking other ideas for activities, such as music or storytelling performances. Interested persons should contact Connie Margison at 334-9211.

Flushing Shirt

Continued from Page A-8 women. It is felt that generally women have better eye, hand and foot dexterity than men and these are essential skills for the operation of most machines.

Basinger, who has been an employee for 10 years, sees many benefits in working at the company. These include a good insurance plan and prescription program, long vacations, and personal days. She also feels good because the quality of her work is being noticed by others.

In discussing the need for new employees, Savage said, "We need new employees who want to work, care about their job, and are willing to put forth 100% effort. We're really having trouble finding them. People need to know that there have been some positive changes and in many ways we're like a new company. Past sewing experience is not needed because we'll train those who really want to be trained. In addition to full time positions, we have some part time and night shift positions. If someone wants to work part time, we try to be flexible."

JoAnn Engle, who operates the computerized marker system, appreciates the fact that the work is dependable. During her 32 years with the company there has only been one lay off, and that was due to a snow storm in 1974 that knocked out the electricity for days.

According to White, training has increased at all levels and Flushing is becoming a good neighbor. He states, "As a company, we're becoming more involved with the community. We're giving support to local and school activities. We're also initiating an open door policy for employees as well as for the community. We're striving to bring changes which will promote better working conditions and community relations."

White believes Flushing is important to the well being of the community, and stresses that "the company takes from the county by hiring employees, but gives back in terms of payroll, taxes, and being a good neighbor. Our employees have seen us as an economic stronghold in this area and we're proud of that."

The future holds more changes for Flushing Shirt Company. The current production method consists of a group of 170 operators who each do small segments of the product. According to White, the company plans to become more efficient by using modular production within the next five years. Modular production occurs when many groups of cells made up of between eight and 15 operators each make the product complete from start to finish.

According to White, "Modular production is the way of the future because it requires more employee decision making and involvement." The management of the company believes they can be more responsive to customers with pricing, quality and delivery through increased employee involvement. Moving toward modular production will require increased capital investment. It will mean more equipment and more extensive training for management and other personnel.

The company is planning to make this investment because management feels Flushing can best retain its strong market share through continuing to increase efficiency in producing high quality garments and responding quickly to customer needs. The willingness to make this investment is also supported by White's belief in the capabilities of Flushing employees. According to him, these employees have "some of the strongest work ethics" that he has been exposed to in his work in various parts of the country. "Based on this," he states, "we as a company feel we have a long and strong future in Garrett County."

THE SAVAGE RIVER

by Jack King

Many anglers consider the Savage River the "Crown Jewel" of Garrett County trout streams. Born in the northeastern part of the Garrett County near Finzel, the Savage River, despite its name, cascades gently from the pool to pool through its 2-mile trek to the confluence with the North Branch of the Potomac near Bloomington. Along the way, the Savage grows in size as it picks up water from half a dozen delightfully beautiful tributary streams. This ecosystem is one of the most unique trout fisheries in Maryland. This fabulous stream can be described as having two distinct and uniquely different sections of river which are separated by the Savage River Dam.

That part of the river above the dam is first and foremost a native brook trout stream. In the main stem from the confluence of Little Savage River to Big Run State Park, its characteristics differ significantly from that part of the river located below the dam. In the scenic and beautiful upper section, the banks are shadowed by laurel with undercut banks and many protective holding lies for trout. Streams like Black Lick, Blue Lick, Little Savage, Poplar Lick, and Bear Pen all feed the main stem of the Upper Savage with their crystal clear and icy water. Each of these streams, in themselves, are independent fisheries which hold healthy brook trout populations. In the late fall, these small streams see an increase in population of fish from the resident brook trout in the Savage's main stem. These trout are competing for places to spawn and propagate.

The water from Merrill's Bridge downstream to the dam is stocked by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources with rainbow trout. The water above Merrill's Bridge is primarily all brook trout and overlooked by many local fishermen.

This section above the bridge is probably the most beautiful part of the Savage River and can offer an angler an absolutely breathtaking day of trout fishing in some of the prettiest scenery in the State of Maryland. The river also holds a population of brown trout which have been stocked by the Department of Natural Resources and harbors fish that run up the river from the dam in the fall, thus creating an exciting challenge and the opportunity to hook into browns that can exceed 20 inches.

The Upper Savage offers its best fishing opportunities during those periods immediately after a rain when the water is slightly high and off-color. It is during these times that sculpin minnow imitations, mudminnows, or dark streamers such as Black Ghosts and Woolly Buggers, bring the healthiest fish out of their holding lies. However, catching the river in this condition is one of those occurrences that only happens to the average fisherman once or twice during the season. Nevertheless, don't overlook these unique times, as the rewards will be astonishing.

The upper part of the river has a rich food source which is primarily composed of caddisflies and sculpin minnows. There are abundant hatches of May-flies which occur throughout the spring and into the summer. These include a very healthy population of March browns and a prolific Green Drake Hatch which can occur during the last weekend of May or the first week of June. Later in the year, there are significant hatches of Isomyia and Potamanthus Distinctus, known to many anglers as the Yellow Sallies.

The river below Savage River Dam is entirely different than the river in the upper stretches. The most noticeable difference is that it is not fed by tributary streams and its primary source of water comes from the Savage River Dam. The strength of this part of the river is that throughout the year, the average temperature of the Savage is very cold as a result of the water flow from the bottom of the dam. The first mile of water below the dam is almost invariably 55 degrees or less, even during the hottest days of the summer. This provides a unique opportunity for the average fisherman in that 55 to 65 degrees is the temperature that provides optimal conditions for trout feeding activity.

The Savage below the dam is also a brook trout stream. However, it also holds a tremendously healthy population of brown trout, many of which exceed 20 inches. In the fall, the upper part of this river near the outlet of the dam becomes literally choked with resident populations of brown and brook trout which are moving upstream to spawn.

The Savage from Arons Run up-stream to the Allegany bridge is pleasing water to fish because the levels of the river are controlled by flows from the dam. It is gorgeous pocket water that, although slippery, is easily wadeable. The entire stream can be cast to without effort. This lower part of the river always provides a tremendous level of suspense in that one minute you will be catching a three-inch brook trout and the next minute an 18-inch brown trout can explode after a same fly.

The upper river from Merrill's Bridge to the dam is governed by Maryland's normal put and take regulations which allow an angler to keep five fish a day. All of the non-stocked tributaries have a limit of two fish per day.

The lower river below the dam has benefitted greatly from special regulations enacted by the Department of Natural Resources. From the dam down to the Allegheny Bridge, flyfishing only is allowed. From the Allegheny Bridge to the North Branch artificial lures only are permitted. Anglers may keep trophy-sized trout in both stretches. Check the current Maryland regulations for specifics.

The Savage is a very special resource and is truly a trout fisherman's dream. It can provide day after day of difficult challenges and enjoyment any time of the year. So, for an exciting day of breathtaking scenery, ask a friend to join you for a day on this eastern blue ribbon trout stream.

Youth Soccer League Slates Clinics May 3, 17

The Mountaintop Youth Soccer League will host soccer clinics on May 3 and May 17 at the Southern High School track, from 1:30 to 4 p.m. in the afternoon.

Players from ages 5 to 15 years old are welcome at the clinics. Anyone else who is interested in learning more about the sport, and promoting soccer in Garrett County, is invited to attend. The theme of the clinics will be "Summer Games for Backyard Soccer."

"The purpose will be to teach fun games that don't require a large field or a lot of players, but sharpen basic soccer skills," stated an MYSL spokesman.

The MYSL will be giving away two soccer balls in a drawing for participants of the clinic. The soccer balls have been donated by Bausch & Lomb to help promote the youth soccer program.

These clinics are the lead-in to the 1992 fall soccer season. The MYSL will register players by August 31, practice will begin September 8, a player clinic will be held September 12, and the season will be from September 19 to November 16. No games will be held during the Autumn Glory Festival.

Area DNR Officer Writes Guide On Fishing At Deep Creek Lake

by Bob Teets

Lonaconing resident and Maryland Department of Natural Resources officer T.A. "Tim" Doolan is about to become known as a Dragon slayer.

The 52-year old Doolan, an avid fisherman since his father first introduced him to the sport at age 7, has written "The Complete Fishing Guide to Deep Creek Lake," a just-published book that the author says is a compilation of knowledge gleaned from dozens of long-time Deep Creek anglers and his own personal experience of having successfully fished the lake for over 40 years. He will be on hand April 25 at the Waldenbooks Store, Country Club Mall in LaVale from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. to discuss fishing techniques and to autograph copies of the book.

Mr. Doolan concedes quickly that fishing is more than a hobby. "For me, it's more like a life," he quips. It is that intense interest, along with hearing people complain that they can't catch fish at Deep Creek, which promoted him to write the book.

An old documentary produced in the 1940's labelled Deep Creek as "Fishing's Reluctant Dragon," owing to its unique shape and an apparent unwillingness to share its bounty of game fish.

Mr. Doolan's book attempts to knock the myth down to size -- trophy size, he says.

The Guide begins with a brief overview of the 3,900-acre fishing "hole," and describes the type of game fish at Deep Creek and their preferred habitat. He lists the lures and equipment that has produced the big strikes, and he tells the reader where and how to find fish under any given conditions.

Maps are provided to guide the would-be angler to 21 of the best "hot spots" on the Lake for fishing.

His down-to-earth commentary, which accompanies each map, describes the water depth, natural and man-made reefs, and the proven methods of luring fish to strike.

Several photographs of suggested lures and the catches they've produced reveal the success that Mr. Doolan and many of his fishing buddies have enjoyed.

Featured in the "Dragon-Tamers Hall of Fame" are photos of Jim Wiegand, owner of the Bassin Box in Lonaconing, Fred Faidley of Cresaptown, Jeff Sweitzer of Mtn. Lake Park, and many other local fishermen.

Specific sections of the book are devoted to catching the most popular game fish found at Deep Creek, including trout, walleye, largemouth and smallmouth bass. Fly and ice fishing also have separate sections.

Mr. Doolan, a 27-year veteran with the DNR, says Deep Creek offers the best fishing of any lake he's visited, including some of the more remote regions in Canada. "We catch more quality and quantity (at Deep Creek) than anywhere we've been," he says. He attributes part of that fact to the efforts of state fisheries personnel and private groups such as B.A.S.S. for maintaining and improving the habitat and managing the fish population.

He generally fishes about once a week, but often he does not take his equipment. Instead, he visits a lake and studies it, measuring its depths, mapping reefs and otherwise assessing its fishing potential. He writes down everything, and then plans his attack. This is the same methodology he's used on Deep Creek for nearly four decades.

He has made a life-long study of various fish and their habits, as well. But he says, "each one is an individual. You have to serve up a variety of lures until you find one that the fish likes."

As part of his job, Officer Doolan presents approximately 30 fishing programs a year to various school and civic groups throughout the region, and says he uses the sport to escape the pressures of work. "When I'm fishing, that's the one place where I don't take my job along." It's for that same reason that he doesn't participate in fishing tournaments. "It's too much like work," he says. "When I attack a lake, I'm not working hard, I'm recreating hard."

His advice for fishing Deep Creek?

"It's a high mountain lake that you almost have to fish like one of the northern lakes. You have to know the water temperature, the oxygen content in the summer and so forth. But every lake is similar because each fish will migrate toward what biologically suits them. So, you'll find that smallmouth are rock oriented. Anytime you find a rock structure or any sort of structure on the bottom, you'll find smallmouth. They like cooler water, too, so you'll find them in the northern sections of Deep Creek."

"Largemouth are more mud and grass oriented, and they prefer the warmer waters that you'll find in the shallower southern part of the lake."

"It helps to have a good memory, too, so you can remember what you did right when you caught a fish. I've seen people do something during a cast that caught them a fish, but they didn't notice what they did. It's that moment that you must remember."

"Deep Creek is such a great fishery that anyone, whether you fish one day a year or every day of the year, stands a real good chance of catching fish."

The book is available at many local bookstores and sporting goods and tackle shops, and carries a suggested retail price of $8.95. It may be ordered by mail direct from the publisher (for $10, includes shipping and handling, West Virginia residents must add 54 cents for tax, total $10.54: Headline Books, Inc., P.O. Box 52, Terra Alta, WV, 26764).

Southern Junior Varsity Winner Of NHS Tourney

The Southern High School junior varsity baseball team whipped host Northern, 13-3, in the championship game of the Northern junior varsity tournament last Friday.

The Rams reached the final game by topping Allegany, 9-5, while the Huskies ripped Westmar in the other semi-final contest, 16-6.

Mark Elliott and Shane Eyer each rapped two RBI singles, Matt Newcomb stroked a two-run double, and Chad Warnick finished with three singles for the Rams in their win over the Huskies. Billy Younkin hit an RBI single for the Huskies.

Southern's win over Allegany featured home runs by Sonny Livengood and Warren, with Elliott recording the win on the mound.

In Northern's win over Westmar, Bobby Fritz rapped a triple, double, and a single, Ryan Folk hit a double and a single, Brad Williams and John Hamilton each singled twice, and Todd Brenneman doubled. Alkir doubled for the Wildcats.

Allegany finished in third place by topping Westmar, 9-1.

Youth Soccer League Meeting Set For Monday

The Mountaintop Youth Soccer League will meet Monday, April 27, at 7 p.m. in the Bausch & Lomb Conference Room.

This special meeting was called in order to approve the organization's first constitution and by-laws. Therefore, all interested persons are urged by the officers to attend. Copies of the constitution are available from Dave Spirk at 334-9933.

Another agenda item will be the presentation of a slate of officer candidates. Other nominations will be accepted.

The MYSL was formed in 1990 with 100 area youth involved. Last year's enrollment totaled 180.

"We look forward to continued growth of this popular sport and the generosity of local businesses who make the league possible," stated a league spokesman.

For more information on Monday's league meeting, persons may contact Carole Ann Lovett at 387-9565.

PIONEERS

MAKE PLANS

Meghan Durst led in singing "Gray Squirrel" to open the April 13 meeting of the Aurora Pioneer 4-H Club at the Joe Fint home. Vice president Courtney Fint called the meeting to order with Tina Fint leading the pledge to the flag and Lora Forman leading the 4-H pledge. Joey Fint read "The Man I Have Seen" as devotions.

Missy Callahan asked for volunteers to walk in the Walk for Hospice to be held April 26 in Kingwood and beginning at 1 p.m. from the Civic Center. She also announced that the trees ordered were unavailable.

Upcoming events include State 4-H Days at Jackson's Mill on June 6, Preston County 4-H Day at Manheim on Saturday, April 25, camp for first-year campers at the Preston County 4-H Camp, May 8-9. On May 4, a drug abuse program will be presented at West Preston and plans were made for a day at VEPCO Lake on August 12 with a picnic and swimming, also a tour of the plant.

Carla Fint showed pictures and a video tape of Jackson's Mill and told of her experiences there as fulfillment of her teen leader contract. Debbie Fike spoke to the group about gardening, encouraging the members to try on their own.

Reciting original 4-H limericks were Courtney Fint and Tina Fint and leader Stacy Fint. The new challenge is for each member to plant something, either plant or seed, and care for it.

West Virginia

News from Preston, Tucker, Grant and Mineral Counties.

Kendra Durst and Jessica Callahan did a visual presentation, "The Magic in Milk"; Courtney Fint and Melissa Callahan presented their demonstration, "Snacks: Good, Bad and Healthy" and Kimberly Fike told how to raise a healthy calf. Carla Fint had a talk and visual on Jackson's Mill.

Present for the meeting were the above named and Rebecca and Joey Fint, Charles Blamble, Beth Hauser, Lori Dixon, Adrian Stemple, Elizabeth and Peter Morgan, Joe Hauser and leaders Betty Fint, Opal Myers, and Sandra Hauser.

Charter Board

an ethics commission. According to reports, the county currently has an ethics commission but charter members reported that it is non-operational and said they were unclear about who its members are.)

Any changes in the organizational structure would have to be approved by the

The third major change, according to Hinebaugh, would be that the charter establishes a discipline in the financial maneuvering of our county and accountability in our budget."

The budget will represent the complete financial plan of the county and will consist of three parts: operating and expenses; capitol projects and program budget; and a budget statement.

"We've examined the budget and finance process of other counties in Maryland and we found an urgent need to change the way our county does business," stated Hinebaugh. He noted that eight other counties in the state are currently governed by charter home rule.

Hinebaugh has stated that the present county government "has no structure" and that he was unable to obtain an organizational chart from the county commissioners' office. He also stated that there is no accountability regarding the releasing of expenditure data within the commissioners' office, noting that the charter board had even filed for information via the "Freedom of Information Act" but that the data requested by the board was still not re-

Garrett County Administrator Robert Fousek and Garrett County Commissioner Elwood Groves, however, stated that information was released to the group. "As far as I know, all reasonable requests were honored," said Groves, who noted that one "voluminous" request was ruled by the county's attorney to be "not specific enough" and "not reasonable."

Fousek agreed with that assessment, explaining that some of the information requested "was not in the format they wanted it in and, according to our legal counsel, we are not obligated to create records in order to provide information to the public."

Fousek also stated that board members complained they couldn't read his audit information because of the format. "The format for recording audit information is not mine," he said, "it's the state's -- if you're not an accountant, it would be hard to read the information."

According to Hinebaugh, the charter also provides for a transitional period wherein the three present county commissioners would become three of the five council members until the next regularly scheduled election.

The council members' salaries would be set at $15,000 each per year, and the county administrator's salary would be determined by the council.

When Hinebaugh was questioned about whether the charter form of government would be more expensive than the present form, he answered that initial costs would be "infinitesimal" but that a savings would be realized in the long run because county government would become "more efficient."

Board members stated that the major advantages of adopting the charter form of government are that county residents would have more of an opportunity to have a voice in the workings of the county, county government officials would be more accountable to the public, and there would be a wider representation with five council members.

The charter board has presented information about the charter form of government to various civic and town groups throughout the past several months in an effort to educate the public and to answer questions and concerns.

Juried High School Art Exhibit On Display At GCC

A juried high school art exhibit is currently on display in the Bausch and Lomb Art Gallery of Garrett Community College where it will remain for the month of April, according to Ron Skidmore, associate professor of art and coordinator of the gallery.

A total of 50 artworks are in the exhibit, including the categories of painting, drawing, sculpture, and mixed media. The entries include works from Northern and Southern high schools, Preston High School, and Turkeyfoot Valley Area High School.

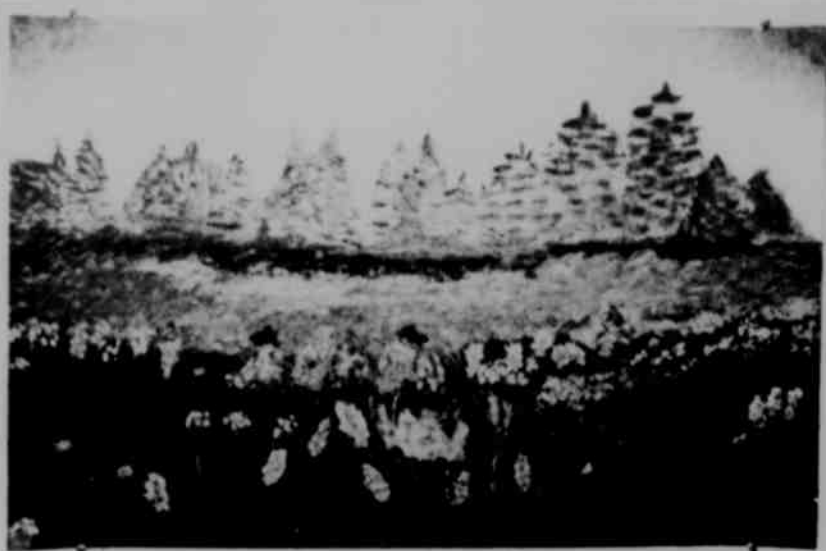

"Best of Show" winner was John Holliday from Turkeyfoot Valley for his painting titled Nikki, Miss Naahoon and Cousin Jerry, which won a cash award of $50.

First place winners in each category won a prize of $40. They were Misty Spahr of Preston for her painting, Adam's Rib & More; John Mitchell of Turkeyfoot Valley for a drawing, Grouse; Brian McKenzie of Northern for a sculpture, Predator; and Gina Collins of Southern for a mixed media work, Black Forest.

Second place winners who won $30 each were Judd Elkins of Preston for a painting, Falling Vase; Brian Blocher of Northern for a drawing, Viking; Chris Hart, Amy Reed, and John McCloud of Preston for a sculpture, Polinican; and Jared Bowers of Turkeyfoot Valley for a mixed media work, Conflict in the Wild.

Special recognition awards of $20 went to Preston High School students Hart, Reed, and McCloud for Polinican as the most humorous, Michelle Strawser for Tangerines on Ice as the best abstraction, and Misty Spahr for Shell Play as the best representation.

Honorable mention awards of $5 were given in all four categories. Winners for paintings were Becky Selby for Luminous Pond; John Mitchell for Woodpecker; Michelle Strawser for Buckets of Fun; Kimber Lee for Dream Flower; Judd Elkins for 417 Royal; Jamie Mann for Seclusion; Laura

Under a new law enacted by the General Assembly and signed by Governor Schaefer on April 10, 1992, individuals with Maryland taxable incomes over $100,000 - or over $150,000 if filing jointly, or as qualified widow(er) or head of household - are subject to a new 6% tax rate, based on the amount of taxable income that exceeds those income levels.

activities include Scottish Highland and country dancing, folk music by renowned Scottish singers Carl Peterson and Ian Bruce, performances by harpist Lynne Barnes, and Scottish fiddling by Bonnie Rideout, three-time U.S. Fiddle Champion. The festival will also feature open and amateur solo bagpipe competitions, sheepshearing demonstrations, harp, bagpipe and hammered dulcimer workshops, Scottish highland cattle, and living history military encampment units. Clan Societies and Scottish shops and foods will be available. The Athlete of the Day and Piper of the Day awards will be presented during the closing ceremonies.

At the end of the day, persons may want to visit one of many local restaurants for dinner, then plan to attend the ceilidh (Scottish party with entertainment) at the Will O' the Wisp. The event will feature festival entertainers and dancers, beginning at 8 p.m., free snacks and a cash bar. Seating is limited.

On Sunday, June 7, a Kirkin' O' the Tartans will be held at 10:30 a.m. at St. John's Episcopal Church on Route 135 in Deer Park. Following the services, the Garrett Community College Pipes & Drums, host band for the festival, will perform in concert.

Admission to the festival is $5 for anyone 12 and over and admission to the ceilidh is $3 per person.

This festival is sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council and funded in part by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council, Maryland State Arts Council. The ceilidh is hosted by the Wisp Ski Resort, Will O' the Wisp Prestige Condominiums, and the McHenry Highland Festival. For a free festival brochure, advance tickets, or more information, persons may contact the McHenry Highland Festival, Courthouse, 200 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550-1541, telephone 301-334-1948.

Higher Income Residents To Pay Higher Tax Rate

If you're single and expect to have income over $100,000 this year, be sure to check the Maryland taxable income reported on line 59 of your 1991 state income tax return before you store it away, the Maryland State Comptroller's Office advises.

Under a new law enacted by the General Assembly and signed by Governor Schaefer on April 10, 1992, individuals with Maryland taxable incomes over $100,000 - or over $150,000 if filing jointly, or as qualified widow(er) or head of household - are subject to a new 6% tax rate, based on the amount of taxable income that exceeds those income levels.

Approximately 27,000 taxpayers will be affected by the new law.

New legislation also allows local governments to increase the local "piggyback" income tax rate from 50% to a maximum of 60% of the state tax due, in two or five percent increments. This could affect an individual's 1992 taxes. Local governments are expected to finalize their budgets in May, including any rate increases.

However, the law stipulates that the local income tax rate will be capped at 50% for income affected by the new 6% state income tax bracket.

The new 6% tax bracket is retroactive to January 1, 1992. High income taxpayers should adjust their withholding now since the new withholding tables will not go into effect until July 1, 1992. New withholding guides will be issued to employers before the July 1 implementation date.

WM Bancorp Holds Meeting, Elects Directors

The annual meeting of stockholders of WM Bancorp was held Monday, April 20, at the Grantsville Holiday Inn. WM Bancorp is the largest registered independent and locally owned multi-bank holding company in the area with Garrett National Bank, Liberty Bank of Maryland, and The National Bank of Keyser as subsidiary banks.

During the meeting, Dr. Harry W. Boggs and Samuel C. Schwab were elected to serve as members of the WM Bancorp board of directors.

Dr. Boggs, a practicing optometrist in Keyser, W. Va., is a retired naval reserve captain and former naval aviator. He attended Potomac State College, West Virginia University, and the Pennsylvania College of Optometry.

The newly elected director is active in Mineral County and state of West Virginia municipal and philanthropic organizations. He and his wife, Flo, reside in Keyser.

Schwab is president and chief executive officer of S.

Schwab Company, Inc., of Cumberland. A graduate of Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania, he studied law and received a doctorate from the National Law Center, George Washington University, and an LLM degree in international and comparative law from Georgetown University.

A Cumberland native, Schwab is active in a variety of Allegany County and state of Maryland economic and business organizations. He resides in Cumberland with his wife, Lyndley, and their two children, Matthew and Lauren.

Thomas C. McDermott, President And Chief Operating Officer For Bausch And Lomb, Visits Oakland Plant

Butch Sumpter, Mark Hays, Bob Palmisano, Peggy Ream, Tom McDermott, and Larry Savage discuss the capabilities of the Seiko Edger.

Bob Palmisano, Butch Sumpter, Mark Hays, and Tom McDermott review the plant's Key Operating Measures.

Jim Teals explains the operation of a furnace to Tom McDermott.

Melinda Gank, Butch Sumpter, Tom McDermott, Bob Palmisano, and Mark Hays observe Nina Newby as she adjusts a pair of plastic sunglasses.

Mr. McDermott Notes Significant Improvement In Oakland Operation

Thomas C. McDermott, Bausch & Lomb's president and chief operating officer, recently visited the Oakland, Maryland facility for a business review. Accompanying McDermott were James Ward, vice-president and controller, Robert Palmisano, Eyewear Division president, and other Eyewear Division officers: Gary Kessler, vice-president of Human Resources, Steve McCluski, division controller and vice-president of Finance, and Ken Smith, director of Materials.

The visitors were escorted on a facility tour hosted by a number of the plant's manufacturing employees: Mark Rodeheaver, Melinda Gank, Mike O'Connell, Peggy Ream, Jim Teats, Barbara Evans, Louise Gordon, Larry Savage, Chuck Ford, Gerry Eichorn, Hill Pickering, John Frazee, Steve Reese, Dancien Kolodziej, and Ron Junkins. McDermott was impressed by the physical improvements made at the plant since his last visit in November, 1990. These include millions of dollars in new equipment, engineering innovations, and a relay-out of the production floor which allows the entire lens production process to take place in work cells (called "dedicated lines").

These improvements expanded the production capacity by 300,000 lenses per week, reduced the manufacturing cycle from sixteen to eight days, and brought quality to record level yields.

McDermott noted other improvements made in such areas as Plastic Frames, Vacuum Coating, and Glass Polarized Lenses.

Following the tour, McDermott and company were provided with a review of the business for 1991. Highlights included the Oakland facility exceeding its financial plan and winning the US Senate Award for "Excellence in Manufacturing Process".

Other notable achievements over the past year were described by various plant employees. These included over $700,000 in cost reduction, the establishment of a preventative maintenance program, vendor certification, reduced inspection, improved shipping to schedule, and the building of a new roof over the plant.

On the "people" side of the business, McDermott was impressed by the degree of involvement of the entire workforce in making the business a success. Last year, $600,000 and over 16,000 hours were invested in Oakland employees through various training programs, including supervisory training and operator certification. Five hundred and forty-three employees participated on eighty-four quality improvement teams during the year. Equally impressive was the amount of involvement of the plant and its employees in supporting the local community.

Oakland plant manager Butch Sumpter described the plant's vision. This vision is comprised of four factors: a dedication to continuous improvement, enhanced employee involvement, support for technical advances, and a commitment to meeting customer expectations through supporting price/value with quality.

McDermott, Palmisano, and the other guests commended these accomplishments, and expressed the optimism they had for the plant's meeting future challenges. McDermott closed the review by expressing his "sincere appreciation for the significant contribution that the Oakland facility has had on the overall success of Bausch & Lomb over the years."

Following the visit, Butch Sumpter thanked the employees who worked many long and hard hours to make the president's visit such a success. Sumpter commented, "I have never been more proud of a team or more convinced that the Oakland facility truly does have 'the world's finest people.'"

Louise Gordon discusses the Vacuum Coating dropball process with Bob Palmisano, Tom McDermott, and Bill Pickering.

Isabelle Terrant welcomes Mr. McDermott to Oakland.

Eyewear Division Wins Prestigious President's Award For Quality

Bausch & Lomb employees form the "Q" for Quality to exemplify that there would be no quality without involvement.

Jack King, Mark Rodeheaver, Barb Riley, Walt Cooper, and Butch Sumpter proudly accept the Maryland Center for Quality and Productivity Award for Excellence in Manufacturing Practices.

Seven factors emerged as being the most important considerations in product and service: style, brand image, price, comfort, durability, protection, and marketing support/service/warranty. In comparisons with its major competitors, the Ray-Ban line of sunglasses was far and away the leader in each of the seven areas.

However, to remain the world leader, the Eyewear Division is committed to continuous improvement. Thus, more important than documenting Ray-Ban's domination of its market, the survey identified opportunities for improvement.

"In the final analysis, the only true distinguishing criteria from one organization to another are its people -- and ours are extraordinary."

According to plant manager Butch Sumpter, "Measures of customer satisfaction became our Key Operating Measures which drive the delivery of each and every product we provide. Our quality strategy embodies the concept of continuous improvement -- of finding better ways to focus in on our customer needs and capitalize on the strengths of our employees to produce the highest quality products."

"In our vision of quality, employees are the critical driving force for quality improvements and changes. Our employee involvement teams help drive our improvement efforts. Division-wide, nearly 100 teams involving over 700 employees were empowered to develop and generate improvements."

Once the areas for improvement were identified, the results of the survey were shared with all Eyewear Division employees. Key Operating Measures were set, and more employee teams were formed to seek improvements.

The result: significant progress was made against the Key Operating Measures. This included a reduction in backorders, improved first run yields, a greater selection of sunglasses for youth and women, and fewer returns due to defects.

Commenting on winning the Quality Award, Eyewear Division Vice-President Bob Palmisano remarked, "This achievement truly recognizes the extraordinary commitment of the more than 3,500 employees that make up the Eyewear Division. It signifies the unending dedication of each of our employees to the constant pursuit of finding better, smarter, and improved ways of doing our jobs. It is from this commitment that our customers are provided world class quality goods and services."

"In the final analysis, the only true distinguishing criteria from one organization to another are its people -- and ours are extraordinary. Congratulations!"

Bob Palmisano Proudly Presents President's Award To The Oakland Facility

Customer satisfaction and an empowered workforce were keys to winning Bausch & Lomb's Oakland facility, as well as three other manufacturing sites in B&L's Eyewear Division, was recently honored with the Prestigious President's Award for Quality for 1991. Eyewear Division president Bob Palmisano presented the award to the Oakland plant manager, Butch Sumpter, during a recent visit to the facility.

Six major B&L divisions competed for the Quality Award, which is based upon the same criteria used for the world-famous Baldrige National Quality Award. The seven categories of performance include leadership, human resource utilization, quality assurance, and customer satisfaction.

"In our vision of quality, employees are the critical driving force . . ."

Believing that the only true measure of quality for a product or service is how well it meets its customer's expectations, the Eyewear Division (whose main product is its line of Ray-Ban sunglasses) began its quest for the award with a customer survey conducted by two outside marketing firms.

Seven factors emerged as being the most important considerations in product and service: style, brand image, price, comfort, durability, protection, and marketing support/service/warranty. In comparisons with its major competitors, the Ray-Ban line of sunglasses was far and away the leader in each of the seven areas.

However, to remain the world leader, the Eyewear Division is committed to continuous improvement. Thus, more important than documenting Ray-Ban's domination of its market, the survey identified opportunities for improvement.

The French/American Connection Closes Gap Across The Atlantic

by Pam Ashby

French exchange students from English classes at the Lycee Lesage in Vannes, France, accompanied by Madame Janine Busson, instructor at the school, are currently visiting Garrett County and are being hosted by Lowell Leitzel's French classes at Southern High School.

This is the third exchange between the two schools since the inception of the program in 1988. Leitzel's students traveled to Vannes in February. The exchange is conducted through the School Partners Abroad Program, sponsored by the Council on International Education Exchange (CIEE). Leitzel and Dayle Dabney, chaperon, accompanied 13 Southern High School students to France February 5-26 for a homestay and a three-day trip to Paris. The students traveling to France were: Tonya Boyce, Melanie Craver, Shannon Dabney, Tammy Eisentrout, Jon Lane, Candi Parker, Ainsley Powers, Tiffany Powers, Jessica Teets, Kim Wampler, Addy Wilson, Jennifer Wilson, and Alison Winters.

Here from France with Madame Busson and Roger Genouel, chaperon and principal of the Arradon Junior High School, listed with American hosts, are: Fabien Ayoul, Malyna Swyter, Karen Brunet, Tammy Eisentrout, Armelle Desdoigts, Tiffany Flatres/Jon Lane, Gael Frazier, Alayna Harkins, Yoann Jaffre/Jason Barr, Pierre-Frederic Jaffre/Jeff Battista, Aurelie Jarlegan, Tonya Boyce, Sophie Le Brun, Melanie Craver, Nathalie Le Corfec, Shannon Dabney, Maguy Le Rohellec, Alison Winters, Tiphaine Menou, Addy Wilson, Patrick Nedelec, Jennifer Wilson, and Morgan Thomas/Jessica Teets.

Monsieur Genouel is being hosted by Louis DiCarlo while Charlotte Bock is hosting Madame Busson.

The French students and their chaperons were treated to a welcome dinner at the Southern cafeteria on April 9. The blessing was given by the Rev. Gus Monu. Lowell Leitzel extended the welcome and introduced guests from the school and the community. Addressing the group were Mary Lou Stemple, administrative aide for Del. George C. Edwards; Brenda Butscher, Garrett County Commissioner; Oakland Mayor Asa McCain; Luther Parrack, representing the Garrett County Board of Education; and Erin Dabney, president of the Southern

Student Council.

During the banquet, Leitzel showed slides of the Southern students' trip to Vannes and gift bags full of treasures and gift certificates from local businesses and agencies were presented to the French students.

WHAT THEY SAY

An informal interview with the French students last week proved to be interesting and entertaining. The students began their answers in English, but were soon overcome with enthusiasm and their native language began to flow.

When asked what he especially wanted to see in America, Gael excitedly replied, "I want to see a Harley-Davidson. Of course, I also want to learn more about American customs - school life and family life that is different from France."

Tiphaine added, "I, too, wanted to see a new way of life - to experience my first plane flight. It was a good experience."

The students touched on the excesses of Americans as well as the benefits when questioned about their first impressions of this country.

Gael (the Harley-Davidson guy) couldn't get over the large cars. Franck was surprised that the "houses are always open (unlocked)." He noted that the houses in France are always locked.

Tiphaine thought it was "too warm" in the houses and in the school as they are used to conserving energy and keeping warm with layers of clothing rather than relying on thermostats. Speaking of the differences of the schools, Armelle noted, "Pupils here do not take notes all the time. We must write down everything. The class sizes are different, also. Ours are much larger."

Franck added, "The students here seem to be more friendly with teachers."

"Yes," said Sophie, "and school is much easier and more relaxed."

Franck and Armelle also talked about the differing dress codes. They said Americans wore more vibrant colors. They like the colors but they think some of the combinations are strange or "out of place."

American food brought various comments. Some said they liked all of it. Others thought it was too high in fat. A few laughed at bread wrapped in plastic. Some enjoyed the snacking, others couldn't get used to it. One young lady was amazed at the speed at which Americans eat. "Americans take about 20 minutes to eat. We spend at least 45 minutes at the table eating one course at a time," she said.

The students also joked about how Americans swallow the ends of their words and how our television programming is riddled with commercials. In France, commercials are placed at the end of each program.

While in America, the students toured Washington, D.C., took in a Pittsburgh Pirates ball game, and were treated to a swimming party at Alpine Lake. Many of them also took trips with their host families over the Easter holiday.

Madame Busson is no stranger to America. Before her three exchanges with Leitzel, she had three exchanges in West Virginia and one in Michigan.

Her reasons for the exchanges are to emerge the students in another way of life and for practical application of a second language for the students.

Busson enjoys the community life and country living. "The people are quite nice here, especially my hostess, Charlotte Bock."

She feels the school's standards are fairly equal to hers and says her students are happy with their host families. Easter with Charlotte Bock and company was a fun experience for her. Busson prepared Alsatian Backeoffe which takes five hours in the oven.

The French students will depart for France on April 25 taking with them a personal view of American life.

WHAT WE SAY

The American exchange students were hosted by families in and around Vannes, France, a port city of about 60,000 people located on the Gulf of Morbihan on the southern coast of Brittany.

During their stay in France, the American exchange students spent the first week in classes catching up on their American courses. They were also instructed to keep a journal for Leitzel. The second week was spent sightseeing places like Yves Rocher, the famous cosmetics plant in La Gacilly; Rochefort-en-Terre; Mont-St. Michel; St. Malo, and Dinan. The host families also took students to various places such as Carnac. The last three days were spent in Paris including dinner at the Eiffel Tower, visits to the Louvre Museum and Versailles Palace, and through a pact with Leitzel, dinner at the Hard Rock Cafe which opened last October.

When asked why she chose to go to France, Kim stated, "For the experience - to see what their culture was like."

She also wanted to see the host family of the girl she hosted two years ago. Kim said the houses in France were too cold and that house regulations were different. "They don't seem to be as worried about germs as we are. They eat raw meat and raw eggs and that would scare us. Their food also seemed pretty bland to me."

Kim continued, "Their high schools are more like college campuses. You sort of learn on your own. The teachers are not as friendly there and there isn't much on one interaction."

Kim said the attraction she wanted to see most was the Eiffel Tower, but she also thought the Hard Rock Cafe was "really neat."

Jon Lane, the only male member of the group besides Leitzel, was apprehensive about going with so many females but said the trip was well worth taking. "I wanted to get a perspective on another way of life and I certainly did," he said. "Everything seemed so fast in Vannes - so upbeat and I loved it. The clothes were different. They always wanted me to wear a sweater and I'm used to a tee shirt and

Nedelec, Morgan Thomas, Fabien Ayoul, and Yoann Jaffre. sneakers. They wear sweaters and dark shoes to school over there."

Jon, too, thought school was more like college. "If there was no teacher, there was no class that day. They don't have substitutes," he said.

Tiffany pretty much echoed the sentiments of her fellow students in the differences in the two countries but she said she had a "great time."

"I didn't feel the food was so different," she noted. "I did notice that they walk more than they drive."

Tiffany's sister, Ainsley, said traveling with her sister didn't make much difference. "We didn't get to see each other that much."

"I really liked the experience and I would like to go back to France," said Ainsley.

How did she like the Hard Rock Cafe? "I like it, but it didn't compare to the one I've been to in Florida," she said.

Leitzel summed up the whole experience. "Having done this exchange three times, I feel this has been a positive experience for the whole school and the community, not just for my French students. It was pleasing to have more students go this year. It made for a more interesting trip. There were more points of view to consider. At the same time, it was more challenging for me. I would like to continue to enable students to see how alive this trip is and how to put to use the language they're learning. The exchange brings about a better understanding among people and about relationships that extend beyond the borders of Garrett County and Maryland - relationships that extend across the ocean."

GCC Alumni To Hold Yard Sale

The Alumni Association of Garrett Community College will be holding a yard sale of donated items this spring. Members are currently in the process of collecting donated items that will be sold at the yard sale with all proceeds going to the Association.

The funds raised from the activity will be used for annual scholarships that will be awarded each year, beginning this year.

The yard sale will be located on North Third Street in Oakland near State Farm Insurance. The date will be announced in the near future.

Area residents are asked to think of the Alumni Association while they do their spring cleaning. Items may be delivered at State Farm Insurance or be picked up by calling Rob Michael at 301-334-3774.

To the Editor:

The week of April 20-24 is National Volunteers Week and is a natural for me to want to applaud the many local businesses, individuals, and organizations who give their time and talents throughout the year to benefit the local American Cancer Society.

As the executive director for the Allegany and Garrett County Units, I have been fortunate to have met and worked with so many people all with the same goal of cancer control. Yes, we do have more to do, but, together we are making a difference each day.

It would take too much space for me to name every one who has been involved with us, so I am just going to send a heartfelt thanks to each and every person who has been a part of our efforts from doing their volunteer work, board members, office workers, corporate and media sponsors, to program speakers and board members, and many others. Each of you are special to me and although I cannot begin to show my gratitude to you, I just want to say you are great and I thank you.

In addition, I would like to give special recognition to two organizations that received awards for their programs on our behalf. First special thanks to Memorial Hospital's Respiratory Care Department that under Don Maloff's guidance offers the ACS Fresh Start smoking cessation program and received a Maryland Division award this past fall for their efforts. Also, special thanks to Garrett County Wellness Together program that under Mikal Moomau's guidance offers the ACS Special Touch Breast health program and was featured at the Art and Science of Health Promotion Conference in San Diego, Calif., recently.

Only two ACS staff people are employed for the two counties, I work full-time and Diane Lehr, area secretary works part-time. Without the dedication of volunteers, we would not be able to continue the many programs and services we provide. I am truly grateful for the volunteers. I am fortunate to have on my team! I welcome anyone interested in joining our team to call me at 722-2145 and become a part of the

A SHAKESPEARIAN EXPERIENCE - Some 250 students from Southern and Northern middle schools traveled to Garrett Community College last Thursday to witness scenes from Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream, presented by students from the University of Pittsburgh. The University of Pittsburgh's Shakespeare in the Schools program provides shortened versions of Shakespearean productions which are acted by third-year graduate actors in Pitt's Master of Fine Arts program. The presentation at GCC, arranged by Southern drama language arts teacher Jane Avery, was funded by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council.

Local American Cancer Society

To the Editor:

After a careful review of records I have kept for future reference concerning property located in Garrett County, I came across something which may be of interest to many people who either live in our county, or at one time or another back through the generations may have had family members who were property owners in the county and lost their property due to the crooked political officials, and/or the lack of a good record-keeping system in our local courthouse.

#1. I find in the Public Notice section of The Republican newspaper, (November 28, 1991) that our Board of County Commissioners were advertising valuable Garrett County real estate, to be sold at public auction on Dec. 12, 1991 in the rotunda of the courthouse in Oakland, Maryland at 10 a.m. The purpose of interest to me here is this: in this notice there is mention of a certain military lot #585 being advertised for sale as "Parcel No. 4," of said publication.

I am now in possession of certified copies of two deeds, maps, descriptions of the military lots as they were supposedly originally laid out many, many years ago (in 1774, as near as I am able to gather.) Since that time things have certainly changed considerably or so the evidence indicates. I would like for somebody to explain to me just how in the world Military Lot #585 can be in Election District #1 of Garrett County. By deed, Military Lot #510 is located along the Walnut Bottom Road in District #1, and was purchased as the deed states in Liber 465, Page 712 by Alice V. Madigan on Dec. 23, 1985, and was deeded to her by Arzella T. Parsons, (treasurer and collector of taxes.)

The most interesting part is that I happened to personally be present and did bid on this particular parcel when it was auctioned off at public auction, therefore, I have first-hand knowledge that the parcel did bring more than any $10 as is stated in the deed. Of course, it does go on to say that $10, as well as other good and valuable consideration, was paid. This makes me wonder; just what the other good and valuable consideration might have been? Or what it might mean? Or who is trying to bluff whom here?

The real concern I have in such actions being taken here in Garrett County is that the very people who I am able to find ties into some very questionable dealings are for the most part the same people who are and have been for many years involved in trying to run my most honorable grand father's good name and reputation, as well as my own. This I will not stand by and let happen, no matter whom I might have to step on, or what I have to do to get these people exposed for exactly what they are.

Yes, my grandfather did enjoy the privilege of owning many, many acres of land in Garrett County. He worked hard all his life to buy and pay for each and every inch he owned, and anybody who has any question about the matter had first better do a little research. The records will speak for themselves.

I may not be able to have gotten my lawsuit into court before a jury of our peers due to crooked politicians, but I can certainly bring these issues to the attention of the citizens in Garrett County, many, many of whom have found out the hard way just how crooked and sleazy our local system really is.

I am only one among hundreds, but the time is at hand when someone is going to have to answer to all of the honest, decent people of this county who have gotten the shaft.

In closing this letter I would like to make it known publicly that I have filed for a patent of re-survey, through the Hall of Records, in Annapolis, concerning any and all of the land which was and still is owned by certain descendants of the late and great Roland S. Duckworth. The purpose of making this fact public knowledge is mainly to bring a halt to any and all adverse possession claims on the property in question in Election District #1 of our county. To all who are known to be involved in the land stealing for many years now, I can only warn you to beware; your ties to the system are now gone and your neighbor cannot save you. Start packing now because it is only a short matter of time until I will get you exposed, no matter who you are.

Thanks to The Republican for helping me make these issues known to the general public. You are a great asset to the community.

Donald G. Duckworth

to the operator of the vehicle choking on a soft drink and losing control of his vehicle, according to police reports.

David M. Aronhalt, 29, Elk Garden, W. Va., wrecked Monday on Md. Rt. 42 after he choked on a soft drink, ran off the right side of the road and struck a guardrail, re-entered the road and ran off the right side, striking an embankment.

Aronhalt was taken to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, by the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad where he was treated and later released. Tfc. G.R. Chaney investigated the 3:45 p.m. mishap and filed no charges.

DWI ARRESTS

Three persons were apprehended and charged with DWI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) by Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry.

DeWane Richard Smith, 31, Oakland, was charged with DWI Thursday by Tfc. G.S. Becker.

Clement Bushrod Hardesty, 32, Deer Park, was charged with DWI by Tfc. W.E. Dixon on Saturday.

Also charged with DWI on Saturday was Edward James Custer, 22, Jefferson. The arresting officer was Tfc. J.T. Bentlejewski.

Fitness Activities
Planned At DCL
Recreation Area

Deep Creek Lake Recreation Area will offer the following activities throughout the month of May at Deep Creek Lake State Park.

The President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports has designated May as Fitness Month. In cooperation, Deep Creek Lake Recreation Area, a unit of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, will offer fitness activities on a weekly basis throughout the month.

A guided fitness hike will be offered on Fridays at 9 a.m. These hikes will follow the guidelines established by the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports for Fitness Walking.

On Saturday afternoons, a guided mountain biking tour will be offered. Both the mountain biking and the fitness hike will take place along the Meadow Mountain trails.

Details and exact times and meeting place will be published throughout the month, and may also be obtained by calling Deep Creek Lake Recreation Area at 387-5563.

Sharps To Instruct Investment Course

A non-credit, continuing education course titled "Investing in Stocks for Income" will be offered at the McHenry campus of Garrett Community College beginning May 4. Robert P. Sharps, vice president and financial consultant of Wheat, First Securities/Butcher and Singer, will provide instruction of the two-session course to be held in the Center for Community and Continuing Education, Room CE-307, between 6 and 8:15 p.m. on consecutive Monday evenings.

Sharps earned his M.B.A. at Frostburg State University in 1980, the designation of C.F.P. in 1984, and has been an adjunct instructor at the college for both credit and continuing education courses since 1978. He has been employed by Wheat, First Securities/Butcher and Singer since 1982.

Students enrolled in this course will review a wide variety of alternatives to increase their income from investments in stocks. Specific topics will include a review of current interest rates and stock market trends; selecting "utility" and "blue chip" stocks to increase dividend income and potential appreciation; using income and growth mutual funds to increase and protect against inflation; and guidelines for the proper percentage of stocks and bonds in their portfolios. Tax free income and government agency mortgage bonds will also be briefly mentioned.

Because of limited seating, all interested persons should plan to pre-register for this course at the continuing education office, Room CE-300. Hours of operation are Monday through Thursday, 8:30 a.m. until 7 p.m., and Friday 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

Although there is a $12 tuition for this course, a spouse or friend may register with their tuition computed at 50%, or $6. Only one discount rate is allowed for each full price registration. There is a $3 registration fee for all participants. Although Maryland senior citizens, over 60 years old, may enroll tuition-free, additional discounts will not apply. Out-of-county and out-of-state students will pay an additional fee. Further information may be obtained by calling the continuing education office at 800-695-4221 or 301-387-6666, ext. 169.

industry has included such information in its own advertising. In Garrett County, the Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse, with assistance from the Maryland Department of Transportation and the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Administration and the Health Department has embarked on a new program that may have impact on the problem. A "Designated Driver" campaign has been instituted.

The Designated Driver program involves establishments that sell alcoholic beverages and their patrons in a cooperative effort to curb drinking and driving. In this program, groups that visit establishments involved in the program are encouraged to designate one of their members as a driver who will agree to avoid drinking alcoholic beverages for the evening. Participating establishments are given a supply of posters, window stickers, server badges, and wrist bands for identifying designated drivers. The Designated Driver Program will gain momentum as the tourist season begins. You will want to watch for it, and are encouraged to patronize establishments that recognize the importance of keeping our roads free from drunk drivers.

Church Women Plan Annual May Fellowship Day

Church Women United held a planning session Monday at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Accident, for May Fellowship Day. Those attending were: Audrey Breneman, Helen Keller, Fern Beachy, Mary Strauss, Lori Schmuck, Charlotte Mouch, Martha Grotfelty, Hazel Margraff, Helen Silber, and Evelyn Steyer. Charlotte Mouch, president, presided.

May Fellowship Day will be held Friday, May 1, at White United Methodist Church, with registration at 11 a.m., business meeting at 11:30 a.m., a covered dish dinner at noon, and worship service at 1 p.m.

This worship event sponsored by Church Women United, brings women of faith from different religious traditions together to experience a sense of bonding and community within an ecumenical environment, Mrs. Mouch said.

The theme is "Call for a Compassionate Community," written by eight women of faith in Indiana, representing Mennonite Lutheran (ELCA), Church of the Brethren and African Methodist. All are invited to attend.

There will be a collection of "The Least Coin."

Local Business Students Learn Banking At GNB

In a continuation of Garrett National Bank's efforts to participate in the Schools + Business = Partnership Program, 44 students and four teachers from Southern and Northern high school business classes and one student teacher from Frostburg State University were introduced to "the real world of banking."

"As a former educator, it is always a pleasure to work with students from our high schools and the two groups this year were no exception," stated Wayne R. Johnson, training officer of GNB. "They were very attentive and pleasant groups to have in our bank."

The students and part of their business education class teachers spent a morning at GNB hearing "What Our Business Looks for in New Employees," Johnson then showed a video tape, "You Can Bank on That," which includes information on banking as a business, new accounts, bookkeeping and accounting departments, the teller line, various aspects of the loan department, and data processing.

After the video a tour of the actual work areas was conducted so participants could see different jobs throughout the banks such as the tellers' windows, where Diana Ever explained teller responsibilities. Jean Sisler, new accounts representative, explained the steps necessary to open a new account. Installment lending and how to obtain credit were explained by Jeff McCauley, indirect loan officer, and D. Deane Foy, installment loan officer.

Accounting, bookkeeping, proofing, and data processing was presented by Sandy Winters, vice president of operations. The groups were shown how checks were processed, records entered, information stored, and how it is all photographed for storage as required by law.

Mary Lou Rohrbaugh, assistant vice president mortgage, went over the residential mortgage and commercial loan process briefly and Bill Rohrbaugh, assistant vice president collections, informed them what happens when a loan becomes delinquent. Donna Burdock, supervisor of central file, where all loan information is kept, showed the students where and how all records are maintained for the specified time periods mandated by Federal Regulations.

"It is indeed a pleasure for us to be able to have our youth show an interest in banking and for us to be able to demonstrate what a career in banking may be like," said George W. Evans, executive vice president. "We enjoyed having them with us."

Area Phantom Star To Perform In Meyersdale

Keith Buterbaugh, star of Andrew Lloyd Weber's "The Phantom of the Opera," will be performing at the Meyersdale Area High School this Sunday, April 26, from 6:30 to 8 p.m. A graduate of Meyersdale Area High School, a former resident of Meyersdale, and a son of Elizabeth and the late Donald R. Buterbaugh, Keith has volunteered to stage an evening filled with musical entertainment to benefit Meyersdale Community Hospital.

Buterbaugh regularly portrays (Raoul (and sometimes Phantom) in the current nationwide tour of "The Phantom of the Opera." He has appeared with the show in New York City (Broadway), Washington, D.C., Philadelphia, and Chicago. He has earned critical raves from his portrayal of Julien in the Off Broadway musical "Mademoiselle Colombe" opposite Tammy Grimes. At home in both opera and musical theater, he has appeared with the Boston Concert Opera and The Opera Company of Boston as Danilo in "The Merry Widow" and MacHeath in "Threepenny Opera."

His European debut was made during the 1987 Carnival of Venice when he portrayed El Gallo in "The Fantastic" at Teatro de Fenice and appeared as a featured soloist in "A Virgil Thomson Celebration." In addition, he was telecast across Europe on Radio-televisione Italiana 3 while appearing with Alfredo Kraus.

Other musical theater/opera credits include performances with Miami Opera, Dallas Repertory Theater and Forestburgh Playhouse in such roles as Curly in "Oklahoma," Tommy in "Brigadoon" and Sky in "Guys and Dolls." Television appearances have been made on "Miami Vice," "The Equalizer," and "As The World Turns."

Buterbaugh recently toured Japan with Stacy Keach while starring as Lun Tha in "The King and I." He has also appeared with the Rhode Island Philharmonic Orchestra, the Cleveland Orchestra, and the Grand Rapids Orchestra. He performed at the White House State Dinner for President and Mrs. Bush and President and Mrs. Rho of South Korea.

Also appearing with Buterbaugh will be Sarah Stewart, a 1988 graduate of Oberlin University with a master's degree in music education and a bachelor's degree in harp performance. Currently, she is in her fourth year of teaching elementary music. Outside of teaching, Sara is pursuing a harp career. Recently she toured throughout Italy with the New York Harp Ensemble and is currently creating her own harp performance ensemble. As a performer she most recently placed as a finalist in the New York Miss America Pageant System.

Information regarding the purchase of tickets can be obtained by calling the Meyersdale Community Hospital Benefit Concert Representative at (814) 634-5911. Meyersdale Community Hospital is a non-profit provider of healthcare services. All proceeds from the concert will benefit their recent purchase of a CT Scanner and air-conditioning for patient rooms. All ticket purchases will be tax-deductible.

Chestnut Grove To Host Dinner

The UMW of the Chestnut Grove United Methodist Church will be having a turkey dinner this Saturday, April 25, in the church basement. Serving will begin at 4 p.m. and continue until food is gone.

The menu consists of turkey, dressing, mashed potatoes, gravy, green beans, cole slaw, rolls, dessert, and drinks.

The price of the meal will be donations. Take-outs will be available.

Glimpse Of The Past . . .

WHEN SHOULD YOU TRY SELF-MEDICATION?
Medical authorities agree that self-medication should be restricted to first aid for symptoms of conditions that can be recognized easily. Examples are: a simple cold that does not persist, occasional constipation, simple headache, minor aches and pains, infrequent indigestion, or minor burns.

BUT, if symptoms persist, or re-occur frequently, it is dangerous to keep masking them with home remedies. A physician should be visited to diagnose the true causes of any ailment and to treat them for a cure. Treatment at the beginning of any problem is usually more effective and can prevent much future pain.

The Wishing Well

Have you ever tossed a coin into a wishing well, closed your eyes tightly, and made a wish? Did your wish come true? Well, maybe so... maybe not.

When we make a wish, we take a chance. A wish carries with it no guarantee — only the elements of luck and coincidence, not so with prayer.

Prayer is guaranteed. Matt. 7:7 promises, "for everyone who asks receives..." thus each prayer is answered according to what God judges is best for us. His children.

Therefore, cast your eyes not into the depths of the wishing well, but upward toward heaven as we worship God each Sabbath and trust in His wisdom each day.

It has been said that "prayer, in its simplest definition, is merely a wish turned God-ward." Prayer is, truly, wishing well!

COVER STORY

Jane Alexander opts for steadiness over flashiness

BY LYNN HOOGENBOOM

The ABC miniseries "Stay the Night" (airing Sunday and Monday, April 26 and 27) is the based-on-fact story of a high-school boy, Mike Kettmann Jr. (Morgan Weisser), who is seduced by an older woman, Jimmie Sue Finger (Barbara Hershey), then manipulated into murdering her husband.

This may sound like an all-too-typical fact-based TV drama. But a couple of elements pull "Stay the Night" a notch above the average.

For one thing, the story is complicated by the role of Mike's mother, Blanche (Jane Alexander). After her son was tried and found guilty, she befriended Jimmie Sue and eventually gathered the evidence that sent Jimmie Sue to prison. Second, Barbara Hershey and Jane Alexander both deliver stellar performances in the key roles.

After befriending Jimmie Sue, Blanche found herself falling under Jimmie Sue's spell, much as her son had.

"Because Jimmie Sue was quite a needful character - childlike in a way - it fit in perfectly with who Blanche was," says Alexander. "She wasn't just playing a role. I think that was probably her subliminal agenda all the time, but I'm not sure how conscious that was. I think Blanche herself is still a little uncomfortable with the fact that Jimmie Sue is behind bars for life."

Jimmie Sue fed the impressionable young man tales - which may or may not have been true - of her husband's abuses. "I think that she wanted Terry (the husband) dead, (for reasons) not the least of which was the insurance money," says Alexander.

Still, how could a well-brought-up boy be manipulated into committing murder? "I believe it could happen to anybody," says Alexander. "I think that's what the strength of the story is about."

Since Alexander has an unusually wide range, we couldn't help wondering if she might have preferred to be cast as the more flamboyant Jimmie Sue.

"Me?" she laughs. "No. When I came into the project, Barbara was already in it, so there was no question. Jimmie Sue was a small, small blonde. Just physically, I was never right."

Still, doesn't she sometimes wish she were cast in more flamboyant movie roles?

"Well, yeah, it would be fun," she says. "Of course, I've done things like the movie 'Square Dance' and Hedda Hopper (in the TV movie 'Malice in Wonderland'). But this didn't call for that. Any flamboyance had to do with who Jimmie Sue was. Blanche was the slow and steady one who finally achieved her aim."

Barbara Hershey (l.) and Jane Alexander star in "Stay the Night." The miniseries airs Sunday, April 26, and Monday, April 27, on ABC.

TV DIALOGUE

BY TONI REINHOLD

DAY'S WORK - I love watching light comedies, and one of my favorite stars of those films is Doris Day. I have a hard time remembering the names of some of her movies. Could you supply a list and also give me a bit of background about her? - C.M.P., Framingham, Mass.

Doris Day in 'Pajama Game'

Day, who is a singer and recording star as well as an actress, made her film debut in 1948 in "Romance on the High Seas," in which she sang "It's Magic." She has made far too many films to supply a complete list here, but her subsequent major films include "Storm Warning" (1951), "On Moonlight Bay" (1951) and "Calamity Jane" (1953). Day suffered a nervous breakdown during the filming of 1954's "Lucky Me," but she continued on the screen in such films as "Young at Heart" (1954), "The Pajama Game" (1957) and "Teacher's Pet" (1958). With 1959's "Pillow Talk," Day began an immensely successful series of light romantic comedies with Rock Hudson, including "Lover Come Back" (1961).

Day also starred in the TV series "The Doris Day Show," which aired from 1968-73.

Day was born Doris von Kappelhoff in 1924 in Cincinnati. Her home life was unhappy, and she immersed herself in studying to be a dancer, but after an auto accident interrupted those plans, she turned to singing and acting. While singing with Les Brown's band, she recorded the hit record "Sentimental Journey." Day's professional success was in contrast to a sometimes dark personal life that included divorces, the sudden death in 1968 of her husband/manager Marty Melcher, and the discovery that he and an associate had bilked her of millions. Today, she has essentially retired from show business, but she is occupied with other interests, notably her work as an animal advocate.

STEWART'S 'PERILS' - Was Jimmy Stewart in the serial of "The Perils of Paalae" with Pearl White? - T.M.P., Deltona, Fla.

No, Stewart was only 6 years old when the silent serial starring Pearl White, Crane Wilbur and Paul Panzer was issued in 1914. "The Perils of Pauline" was remade in 1967 with a cast that featured Pat Boone, Terry-Thomas and Pamela Austin. There was also a 1947 film of the same title, but it was a biography of Pearl White.

SPORTS CALENDAR

College gridders drafted; Retro fashion in NL East

BY CHRISTOPHER HULL

It's 13 years and running for ESPN's live coverage of the National Football League draft, Sunday, April 26. The all-sports network's live coverage of the event begins at 11 Eastern time at the Marriott Marquis Hotel in New York City.

Washington defensive lineman Steve Emtman should be among the draft's very early choices. Wisconsin cornerback Troy Vincent and Michigan wide receiver and kick returner Desmond Howard, who won last year's Heisman Trophy, also should go early.

Among the other notables available in the draft are: Derek Brown, tight end, Notre Dame; Terrell Buckley, cornerback, Florida State; former Heisman winner Ty Detmer, quarterback, Brigham Young; Vaughn Dunbar, running back, Indiana; Carlos Huerta, kicker, Miami; David Klingler, quarterback, Houston; Amp Lee, running back, Florida State; Carl Pickens, wide receiver, Tennessee; Tony Sacca, quarterback, Penn State; Greg Skrepenak, offensive tackle, Michigan.

Don't look now, but there's a retro fashion trend in baseball's National League East, and the Cardinals, Expos and Phillies have all subscribed. The three teams began the 1992 season by donning new on-field duds.

The St. Louis Cardinals are celebrating the franchise's 100th year, and their uniforms, while remaining mostly unchanged, recall an older style. The subtle red, white and blue trim is gone from the neck, sleeves and pants, and the home and road uniforms now feature button-up shirts. The Cards will also be wearing blue caps on the road this year.

Up in Montreal, the Expos have gotten a complete makeover reminiscent of the city's old Royals minor league team. At home, the 'Spes are wearing pinstripes with the team nickname in script across the chest, and on the road the club is back to traditional gray with "Montreal" (a fleur-de-lis serving as an accent over the "e") across the chest. And gone are the clownish tricolor caps.

In Philly, the new uniforms, which were a closely guarded secret until opening day (the team even took opening-day warm-ups in the old uniforms), are based on the old '50s Whit Kids outfits. Burgundy is out, as is the funny "P." The new threads feature bright red, with "Phillies" across the chest in the old-style script.

The 118th running of the mile-and-a-quarter Kentucky Derby airs Saturday, May 2, on ABC's "Wide World of Sports."

MOVIES ON TV

Jane Alexander shines in 'Stay the Night'

BY FELICIA A. FEASTER

Although it has a somewhat irregular start, once "Stay the Night" (ABC, April 26 and 27) begins to work it won't let up. Based on a true story, the miniseries stars Barbara Hershey as a beautiful woman who takes up with her high-school-age daughter's date - an all-American boy (Morgan Weisser) - and, after a scandalous love affair, cons him into offing her husband "Junior," as he's affectionately known to his family, is sent to a Georgia prison for the murder, and mom Blanche (Jane Alexander) works frantically to get her son to implicate his lover. Blanche befriends Jimmie Sue (Hershey) in order to elicit her confession, but soon finds herself as wholly seduced by Jimmie's charisma as her son. No one comes off too shiny fresh in this incredibly twisted tale. Junior, especially, combines utter teen obnoxiousness with tortured loveliness. A tribute to the drama's depth and refusal to give in to pat answers, Jimmie Sue is rotten to the core, but - incredibly - possesses a little-girl innocence that explains much of Junior's lap-dog devotion. Alexander's depiction of Junior's determined mother is as perfect as a performance gets.

"Miss Rose White" (NBC, April 26) also boasts a wonderful cast of film regulars in a drama centered around an ambitious retailer, Rose (Kira Sedgwick), in 1947 New York City. Rose has little difficulty assimilating into her white-bread department-store world until her sister (Amanda Plummer), a refugee from a concentration camp, arrives in America and moves in with Rose. The contrast between this malnourished, sad Holocaust survivor and her chirpy-sweet sister makes for a gulf that separates them while their biology and the shared loss of their mother unites them. The actresses also happen to bear a resemblance to each other, heightening the effect of their fine performances, which are further enhanced by their masterful command of dialect - Sedgwick maintains a credible New York tongue, and Plummer an authentic disjointed Polish accent.

"Mortal Thoughts" (HBO, May 2) deals with the fertile ground of everyday murder plucked in "Stay the Night," but this time in a New Jersey town where Glenna Headly stands accused of murdering her monstrous husband. The ridiculous attempts to cover up the murder, and the local Jersey color, make the film, though entertaining, more black comedy than true crime.

THIS WEEK

Bill Cosby

CLAO, Cliff and Clair: It's the end of an era this week on NBC, as "The Cosby Show" airs its final original episode on Thursday, April 30. The episode promises to be a real sentimental journey, as Theo (Malcolm-Jamal Warner) graduates from college, and the Huxtable family reminisces all the way back to the 1984 debut episode.

SERIES creator and star Bill Cosby is going on to produce and host a new syndicated version of the game show "You Bet Your Life," but it's hard to imagine that it will have anything resembling the impact of "The Cosby Show." Cliff and Clair Huxtable (Cosby and Phylicia Rashad) became America's ideal parents, and Theo, Denise (Lisa Bonet, who will not appear in the finale), Vanessa (Tempestt Bledsoe) and especially Rudy (Keshia Knight Pulliam) became our Everykids. In later years, it became somewhat fashionable to deride the show's wholesomeness ("Roseanne" was created at least in part as the "flip side" of "The Cosby Show"), but the fact remains that "The Cosby Show" struck a chord because it skillfully combined portrayals of families as they really were and families as we would like them to be.

SOAP SCOOP

The writers who put the glow in 'Guiding Light'

BY CONNIE PASSALACQUA

This season, as showcased in a dazzling February sweeps - "Guiding Light" has emerged as a great soap. It's adult, intelligent and exciting. "GL" is current head-writer Stephen Demarest and Lorraine Broderick has been the essential element behind this success since they began working together last November.

Michael Zaslow

Most new head writers cleaning house (i.e., fire actors) and create a new group of characters. "GL" is team did the opposite. "When we came in, we were about to lose four to six characters (played by actors who were leaving of their own volition)," explains Reilly. "So we re-created the relationships with the characters who were left."

Moved into the spotlight were great characters who had been on the back burner for years, like Vanessa Lewis (played by Maeve Kinkead) and Alexandra Spaulding (played by Beverlee McKinsey). They took center stage in February, when the show had an amazing three front-burner stories peak concurrently. "GL" writers say they eschew any kind of timed special events like the February week in which "One Life to Live" generated tremendous hype around the story-line death of Megan Gordon (played by Jessica Tuck). "We don't think stunts last," says Reilly. "We think people will tune in for the stunts, and when the stunts are over they'll tune out. We're aiming for a consistent (story-line) momentum."

Reilly describes how they recently moved the show's villain Roger Thorpe (played by Michael Zaslow) from one major story line into another. "In February we had Roger coming out of a situation where he saved Holly's life. For a few days, he was her hero, and then he had the rug pulled out from under him. (Holly, played by Maureen Garrett, decided to have nothing to do with him after he killed her fiancé, who was a murderer.) On another show, he might go off and be (on the) back burner for a while. But what did Roger find right after that? Alexandra sitting in his living room, offering him money to split up Nick and Mindy (played by Vincent Lirio and Kimberly Simms)." Most of all, the writers enjoy their jobs. "We're lucky we are being paid to dream," Reilly says. "We put it on the paper and give it to a great group of actors and producers who, with a lot of money, turn the dreams into reality. We look at our TV screens six weeks later and say, 'Wow, this is how I dreamt it!'"

IN FOCUS

Director and star Kenneth Branagh (pictured) included portions of "Henry IV" in his acclaimed 1989 adaptation of Shakespeare's "Henry V," which airs Sunday, April 26, on PBS's "Masterpiece Theatre" (check local listings.) The effect of juxtaposing young Prince Hal's antics with Falstaff against his later, mature efforts to prove himself as King Henry V is powerful, rendering this film fascinating and surprisingly poignant.

"Waldo Salt: A Screenwriter's Journey" doesn't convince us that its subject is in the same league as most of the other artists honored by PBS's "American Masters" series, but his story is among the most compelling. His career - halted by the blacklist in the '50s and nearly destroyed by three flops in the early '60s - ignited when he started insisting on taking the time he needed to do the job right. It airs Friday, May 1 (check local listings.)

The 118th running of the Kentucky Derby, the country's most famous and widely watched horse race, airs live from Churchill Downs in Louisville, Ky. Saturday, May 2, on ABC's "Wide World of Sports." Strike the Gold, ridden by Chris Antley (pictured), was the winner of last year's Run for the Roses. Announcers Jim McKay and Al Michaels will be joined by Charlie Canady, Dave Johnson and Jack Whitaker in covering the event.

Southern High School Students Of The Month Selected

The Student of the Month for social studies is Sherry Niner, a junior and the daughter of Roger and Darla Niner, Oakland. She is involved in volleyball, National Honor Society, and was selected as a Maryland Congressional Scholar. In the community, Sherry plays in the Mtn. Top Women's Volleyball League. She would like to attend Frostburg State University and major in elementary education.

Kristina Hebb, a sophomore, received the Student of the Month honor for English. The daughter of Judy and Perry Hebb, Oakland, Kristina is involved in the Spirit Club. She has received the National Science Merit Award and All-American Scholar Award. Kristina hopes to attend college in the future.

The Student of the Month for Vocational is Haroula Knotts, a senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Knotts, Kitzmiller. Haroula is involved in VICA and won third place in the VICA Skills Olympics for Prepared Speech. In the community, she is involved in Kitzmiller PTA, Southern Garrett Band Boosters, a member of the Burger King softball team, and a member of the Immaculate Conception Church. She has joined the U.S. Air Force and would like to become a computer engineer.

Jennifer Savage, a sophomore, received the Student of the Month award for Science. The daughter of Ken and Nancy Savage, Oakland, Jennifer is involved in the Christian Club, Crellin United Brethren Youth Group, and was in the Monte Vista 4-H club for over four years. She would like to attend a junior college and become a writer or a reporter.

The Student of the Month for math is freshman Randy Sharpless, son of Randall and Glanda Sharpless, Swanton. Randy has been awarded the First Federal Straight-A Award. He would like to become a carpenter.

Jennifer Reeves, a senior, was named the Student of the Month for Foreign Language. The daughter of Arden and Loretta Reeves, Mtn. Lake Park, Jennifer is the National Honor Society president, Senior class president, softball player, World Affairs and Environmental Club member, Student Council representative, 4-H president, American Cancer Society volunteer, Adopt-A-Highway Program volunteer, and attends St. Peter's Catholic Church. She has been awarded All-American Scholar, U.S. Student Council Award, National Science Merit Award, Who's Who Among American students, and the U.S. Achievement Academy Award. Jennifer will attend Salem College in Winston-Salem, N.C., and will major in Chemistry or German.

GCC Vets Club Activities Noted

The Veterans Administration representative will be visiting the Garrett Community College Campus on April 24 after noon.

The GCC Vets Club is still having pool tournaments at the Stray Cat Cafe every other Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m. Admission is $5 per person.

All members are urged to attend regular meetings. They are the first Thursday and the third Wednesday of every month Room 306. New members are welcome.

PUBLIC NOTICE

According to Sections 2-205 and 6-308, of the Tax-Property Article, a taxing authority is required to hold a public hearing when it plans to impose an actual property tax rate that is higher than the Constant Yield Tax Rate, even if the planned tax rate is the same as last year. The Town of Oakland plans to keep its tax rate at the same rate as last year, but must publish notice of the proposed tax rate. The Town must publish the notice below according to the above noted law. THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND IS NOT INCREASING YOUR TAX RATE!

-Adv 7-31

NOTICE OF A PROPOSED PROPERTY TAX INCREASE

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, Maryland proposes to increase property taxes.

1. For the tax year beginning July 1, 1992, the estimated assessable base will increase by 4.6%, from $29,400,621 to $30,757,676.

2. If Oakland maintains the current tax rate of $1.20 per $100 of assessment, property tax revenues will increase by 4.6%, resulting in $16,285 of new property tax revenues.

3. In order to fully offset the effect of increasing assessments, the property tax rate should be reduced to $1.15, the constant yield tax rate.

4. The Town is considering not reducing its property tax rate enough to offset increasing assessments. The Town proposes to adopt a tax rate of $1.20 per $100 of assessment. This tax rate is 4.3% higher than the constant yield tax rate and will generate $16,285 in additional property tax revenues.

A Public Hearing on the proposed property tax increase will be held at 7:30 p.m., on May 4, 1992, at Oakland Town Hall, 109 South Third Street, Oakland, MD. The hearing is open to the public, and public testimony is encouraged.

Persons with questions regarding this hearing may call (301) 334-2691 for further information.

Lutheran Branch Holds End-Of-Year Dinner And Meeting

The Lutheran Brotherhood Western Maryland/West Virginia Branch #8483 held its end of the year dinner and business event at the Bittinger Volunteer Fire Company social hall. More than 100 members, officers and guests were in attendance. Welcoming remarks were made by Luther Kephart, Branch president, and the Rev. Louise Knotts offered the invocation.

Maryland State Senator John J. Hafer, of Legislative District 1 of Allegany and Garrett counties, was the speaker. He was introduced by the president and spoke of his experiences as a freshman senator.

Other guests introduced were Branch Unit Advisor Kenneth Dapp and Mrs. Dapp, Louise Richards, executive director of Maryland Salem Children's Trust, and Mrs. Hafer.

Following the Three Candle Ceremony, the business meeting opened with a summary of the year's activities, presented by branch secretary Pauline Faucett. Branch treasurer Jav Pile gave a written financial report that indicated over $12,000 was given to various communities through branch fraternal projects. These projects included food for the needy, clothes and sewing materials for nursing homes in the area, carpet for the Short Gap Volunteer Fire Company dining area, new picnic tables for Keyser, W. Va. parks, disaster relief for medical expenses, and funds to aid the young people for their trip to the ELCA National Convention in Dallas, Tex. Also available to churches in the branch area through Fraternal Communicators and congregation matching funds is an additional $13,800.

District representative David Meese showed a video address by President George Bush to the National Fraternal Congress of America. Mr. and Mrs. Meese had attended the conference.

Branch officers elected for 1992 include Stephen Heare, president; Margaret Kephart, vice president; Pauline Faucett, secretary; Luther Kephart, treasurer; Marie Coddington, service officer; Lisa Broadwater, education officer; and Betty Pannone, publicity officer.

Fruit baskets were awarded as door prizes.

COUNTRY CURRENT, the U.S. Navy's premier country-bluegrass band, will perform at the opening ceremony of the olympic trials weekend at the Oakland National Guard Armory Friday evening, May 15. The group has performed on national television programs, at the Grand Ol' Opry in Nashville, at the Kennedy Center, and at numerous festivals and jamborees throughout the country. The evenings' entertainment also includes performances by the Aerobic Diehards, former Miss Maryland Kim Grimm, the Accident Community Band, and Tom Peterson's barbershop quartet. The public is invited.

Recycling Effort To Benefit NHS Sign Board Fund

Northern High School is collecting aluminum cans, bi-metals, and clear glass to recycle. Profits from the environmentally aware project will benefit the Sign Board Fund of the school.

Barrels have been placed outside the school gymnasium for students and the community to use. A committee has been established to oversee the process. Members include Sherry Lebowitz, chairman; Kelly Friend, secretary; Wrenny Smith, treasurer; and Susannah Mathews. Stephanie Shaulis, Sarah Bosley, and Sally Shaulis.

A contest is underway to generate more response from students. Beginning Tuesday, May 5, students will be asked to bring in recyclables on Tuesdays and Thursdays. For every 10 recyclable items a student brings in, his name will be entered in a drawing. There will be a drawing each Friday in May. Local businesses have donated prizes. The businesses are Rudy's Ski Shop, Cocomo's, Stop and Go Video, Shear land, and Grantsville Ben Franklin.

A mandate for recycling will be in effect by 1994 and the students are urging the public to practice now. "Save your tax dollars by prolonging the lives of the landfills," said one student. "Recycle."

Spring Choral Concert Set At Frostburg State

The Frostburg State University Department of Music presents the annual Spring Choral Concert, Sunday, April 26, at 3 p.m. in Pullen Auditorium. The public is invited to this free performance.

The program will feature Collegium Musicum and The University Choral under the direction of Dr. Karen Soderberg. Featured works by Collegium Musicum will be Swedish composer Sven-Erik Back's "The Transfiguration," and Estonian composer Arvo Part's "Summa." Madrigals by Monteverdi, Farmer and Handel will also be performed.

The University Choral will perform works by Renaissance composers Josquin des Pres and Hans Leo Hassler; Johannes Brahms; motet "Warum ist das Licht gegeben dem Muheligen, Op. 74" and August Soderman's "Swedish Songs in Folk Style." Student conductors Jeffrey Avey and Alison Combes will conduct "Eloquence" by Haydn and "I'm Gonna Sing" arranged by Robert Shaw.

The two groups will join forces to perform "Behold! I Build An House" by American composer Lukas Foss.

MAKE WAVES WITH SEAFOOD

► If you love seafood but feel your collection of recipes is limited, it's time to give your microwave a second chance. Not just a tool for impatient cooks and reheating coffee, the microwave is one of the best and easiest ways to cook seafood. It doesn't just cook seafood quickly, it cooks it to PERFECTION. A little microwave know-how and some guidelines for choosing high quality seafood is all it takes to get started. You'll find microwave seafood recipes fit the simplest meal or your most lavish dinner party.

START WITH THE BEST SEAFOOD

Successful cooks will tell you that a recipe is only as good as the ingredients you begin with. This is especially true with microwave cooking. And with seafood, you can count on Alaska to provide the best seafood on the market today. The waters of the North Pacific and Bering Sea that surround Alaska are the most productive fishing grounds in the world. Alaska seafood is completely natural and wild, swimming freely in the icy pure waters, giving Alaska seafood a lean, firm texture and delicious flavor.

At the market, there are many species of Alaska seafood to choose from. Finfish species include 5 varieties of Alaska salmon, halibut, cod and Alaska pollock. Shellfish species include Alaska King crab, Snow crab and Dungeness crab.

FROZEN MEANS QUALITY AND CONVENIENCE
It's not surprising that the largest commercial fishing industry in the country is also the leader in seafood innovation. Alaska has developed state-of-the-art freezing and processing methods, to insure the fresh caught flavor and texture of its seafood. The buzz word for seafood these days is fresh/frozen. That's good news for microwave lovers. Buy a supply of fresh/frozen Alaska seafood to keep on hand, then use your microwave to thaw and cook. If you plan to cook right away, you can also look for Alaska seafood freshly thawed at the seafood counter. You should count on 6-8 oz. of fish steaks or fillets per person. When buying Alaska crab in the shell, count on 14-16 oz. per person.

COOKING IN THE MICROWAVE

All microwave ovens are not created equal. Generally speaking, the larger ovens have higher wattage and cook food faster. The following recipes are based on a Hi 600-700 watt oven. If your oven has a lower wattage, you will need to increase the cooking time slightly. Microwave ovens have power settings as well. Alaska seafood cooks well at Hi or 100% power. 100% = Hi = 10/50% = Medium = 5/30% = Low/Defrost = 3. Occasionally seafood will pop while being cooked in the microwave, due to steam build-up. Simply lower the power setting to stop popping and increase cooking time slightly.

WHEN IS IT DONE?

No other point in cooking seafood gives people more trouble than judging when it is done. The good news is—it's really very simple. As fish cooks, it turns from translucent to opaque. Fish will continue to cook slightly when taken from the microwave, so it should be removed just as the center turns opaque. To check, simply insert a thin knife into the center or thickest part. One of the benefits of cooking in the microwave is that fish remains moist but it will not flake as much as it does with conventional cooking methods. Don't be fooled by this and cook it for extra time. Use your eyes and let color be the indicating factor.

MICRO QUICK TIPS

- Allow approximately 3-5 minutes on Hi power to cook 1 lb. fish steaks and fillets and 2-3 minutes for individual (6-8 oz.) serving. Allow 2-3 minutes standing time before serving. Alaska shellfish is sold fully cooked. 1 lb. shellfish will take 3-4 minutes on Hi power to heat through. 2 lbs. will take 4-5 minutes.
- Fish cooks most evenly if it is uniform in thickness. Thin fillets such as Alaska pollock, should be folded into thirds. This prevents the thin ends from overcooking and drying out.
- Cover seafood loosely with plastic wrap, paper towel or waxed paper when cooking. This holds in steam, keeps the seafood moist and makes cooking time faster.
- Rotate the cooking dish, or stir ingredients, if appropriate, halfway through cooking time to ensure even cooking.
- It is better to check fish for doneness just before you think it is ready.
- Always allow 2-3 minutes standing time once the dish is removed from the oven. The seafood will continue to cook.

ALASKA HALIBUT WITH BALSAMIC VEGETABLES

- 1 onion, sliced
- 2 Tablespoons olive oil
- 1/2 lb. small red potatoes, cut in half
- 1/2 cup each snow pea pods and thinly sliced carrots
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/8 teaspoon thyme
- 1 Tablespoon balsamic vinegar
- 2 (6-8 oz. each) Alaska halibut steaks, thawed
- Lemon wedges, if desired

Stir together onions and oil in 8 x 8-inch microwave-safe baking dish. Cover with waxed paper. Microwave on Hi power 2 minutes, until onions are soft. Stir in potatoes, cover and microwave on Hi power 4 minutes, until potatoes are almost cooked through. Stir in snow pea pods, carrots, garlic and thyme; cover and microwave on Hi power 2 minutes, until pea pods and carrots are tender-crisp. Remove from oven, stir in vinegar and season with salt and pepper. Remove vegetables to serving plates and keep warm. Place halibut steaks in baking dish. Cover and microwave on Hi power 3-4 minutes. Remove from oven and allow to stand 2 minutes. Place steaks on serving plates. Drizzle with lemon juice and garnish with lemon wedges, if desired. Makes 2 servings.

ALASKA FISHERMAN'S SALMON STUFFED POTATOES

- 4 baking potatoes
- 1/2 cup sour cream
- 1 cup chopped, thawed frozen broccoli
- 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 2 Tablespoons sliced green onions
- 1/2 teaspoon Italian herbs
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 can (14-3/4 oz.) Alaska canned salmon

Rinse and pat potatoes dry. Prick several times with a fork. Arrange in a circle on paper toweling, allowing a few inches between each. Microwave on Hi power 18 minutes, turning potatoes over and rotating towel 1/4 turn after each 6 minutes. Potatoes should be just soft when lightly squeezed. Allow potatoes to stand 3 minutes. Cut potatoes in half length-wise. Scoop out pulp leaving a 1/2-inch shell. Mix potato pulp with sour cream until smooth and fluffy. Stir in remaining ingredients except salmon. Drain salmon and break into large chunks. Gently stir into potato mixture. Spoon salmon mixture back into potato shells. Place shells in a microwave-safe baking dish. Cover loosely and microwave on Hi power 3-4 minutes until heated through. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

* The small amount of skin and bones are completely edible and a good source of calcium and omega-3 fatty acids. Simply blend skin and bones with salmon and other ingredients.

THAW IT... QUICK! You can't cook seafood in the microwave from a frozen state, but you can use the microwave to thaw it quickly and successfully. Use the defrost level, 30% or level 3. Use a microwave roasting rack set in a shallow pan or plate. This keeps the seafood above any juices that may become hot during the defrosting process. Thick portions should be placed towards the outside rim so they receive the most energy. Fish and shellfish should be wrapped or covered. Feel the fish frequently and do not allow the fish to become warm or to turn opaque. Rinse crab legs or clusters under cool water to remove any ice glaze before defrosting. Turn fish fillets and steaks or crab over and rotate between microwave and standing time for most even defrosting. Once the seafood is thawed, cook at High power or as recipe directs.

Timetable for Defrosting

Quantity	Microwave Time (MT)	Standing Time (ST)	MT	ST	MT	ST	Total Microwave Time	Total Standing Time
Alaska Halibut, Salmon or Whitefish
Individual steaks or fillets 6-8 oz.	2 min.	2 min.	1-2 min.	As needed			3-6 min.	2 min.

Alaska King, Snow or Dungeness Crab
1 lb.	3 min.	2 min.	3 min.	As needed			6 min.	2 min.

ALASKA CRAB with DIABLO BUTTER

- 1/4 cup butter
- 1/2 teaspoon Dijon-style mustard
- 2-3 drops hot pepper sauce
- 3 lbs. Alaska Snow crab clusters or 2 lbs. King crab split legs, thawed Place butter in microwave-safe bowl. Microwave on Hi power, 30 seconds, until melted. Stir in mustard and hot pepper sauce to taste. Place crab in single layer in microwave-safe baking dish. Cover with vented plastic wrap. Microwave on Hi power, 4-5 minutes, until heated through. Serve at once with Diablo Butter for dipping. Makes 2 servings.

HONEY-MUSTARD GLAZED ALASKA SALMON STEAKS

- 2 (6-8 oz.) Alaska salmon steaks, thawed
- 2 teaspoons honey
- 1 Tablespoon Dijon-style mustard
- Pinch thyme

Place salmon steaks in microwave-safe baking dish. In a separate bowl, mix together remaining ingredients. Drizzle mustard glaze evenly over salmon steaks. Microwave on Hi power 3-4 minutes. Remove from oven and allow to stand for 2 minutes before serving. Makes 2 servings.

MEDITERRANEAN STYLE ALASKA COD

- 1 onion, sliced
- 2 Tablespoons olive oil
- 1 can (14.5 oz.) plum tomatoes
- 1 cup diced zucchini
- 1/2 cup ripe green olives, sliced
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/4 teaspoon Italian herbs
- 2 lbs. Alaska cod fillets, thawed

Combine onions and oil in 8 x 8-inch microwave-safe baking dish. Cover with waxed paper. Microwave on Hi power 4 minutes, until onions are very soft. Stir in remaining ingredients except cod, breaking up tomatoes with a wooden spoon. Microwave on Hi power, uncovered 5 minutes, stirring after 3 minutes. Set aside and keep warm. Place cod in a separate microwave-safe baking dish. Cover. Microwave on Hi power 3-4 minutes. Allow to stand 2 minutes. Divide cod between serving plates. Spoon sauce evenly over fish to serve. Makes 4 servings.

SUNNYSIDE-UNDERWOOD

The Easter sunrise service at the Underwood United Brethren Church was followed by a breakfast prepared in the church basement, Sunday School, and the regular worship at 10 a.m. There was a large crowd in attendance.

Pastor David Kisamore and friend, Miss Valerie Heffler. Easter day were dinner guests of his grandmother, Mrs. Ruth Allman, Eggleston, W. Va. David's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kisamore and families, of Reedsville, W. Va., who attended the services, were also guests of Mrs. Allman.

Easter day dinner guests of Ray and Cathy Sanders were Ronnie and Daneta Jo Rhodes and children, Zachary, Ashley Nicole, and Melissa Jo, and Debbie and Wayne Rounds and children. Later that afternoon the Rhodes family were guests of his mother, Betty Teats, and his family.

Bessie Canan spent Sunday afternoon with her Aunt Olive White and daughter, Winnie, and Ralph Gatto in Eggleston, W. Va., as a dinner guest. Other visitors in the White and Gatto homes included Mrs. Gatto's daughter, Mrs. Jeanie DeGrove, and family, over the weekend. They are from Kearneysville, W. Va.

The staff at Dennett Manor Nursing Home in Oakland received word on Thursday that Harold Boling who was a recent resident there had suffered a stroke and was a patient in Memorial Hospital in Cumberland. He is now listed as "stable."

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Savage and daughter, Woodbridge, W. Va., and Mr. and Mrs. George Snyder and family, Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., spent the weekend as guests of their mother, Mildred Peterson. Joining them for Easter dinner were Lou Ann Hoover and daughter, Burlena Uphold and son, Mark, Mr. and Mrs. David Conner and daughter, Andy Snyder, Boyd Johnson, and Cheryl Conner. Others visiting during the afternoon in the Peterson home included Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Friend and daughters.

Miss Valerie Heffler, a Bible student from Harrisonville, Va., was an overnight guest of Bessie Canan on Saturday. Her friend, Pastor David Kisamore, also of the college, was a guest of Mrs. Canan during the evening.

Miss Cheryl Conner was an Easter Sunday dinner guest of her grandmother, Mrs. Mildred Peterson.

Arlena Dilley was a dinner guest on Sunday of her sister, Lucille Ludvigsen.

Saturday afternoon callers of Bessie Canan were her neighbors, Audrey and Becky Shippe, Mark Lasher, Tricia and Rebecca Steyer.

Dinner guests on Saturday evening in the home of Earl Friend were his daughters, Robin Schroyer and family, Patty Graham and family, Linda Spink and family, George Friend, Arlena Dilley and Marianne's brothers, Charles Ford, of Alabama, and Jack Ford, Swanton. The dinner was prepared by Earl's daughters.

On Thursday, Scott McRobie of Valley View, Pa., came to spend the Easter weekend with his grandmother, Marie Knotts, and father, David, and Bobbi

SPRING WILDFLOWERS WALK - The Potomac/Garrett State Forest will be the site for a spring wildflower walk on Sunday, April 26, at 2 p.m. Ed Thompson, an ecologist for Natural Heritage will lead a leisurely stroll along the Lost Land Run. "Early spring is the best time to observe our native wildflowers in full bloom, and the Lost Land Run area is famous for its wide variety of colorful and unique spring flora," said Thompson. Interested persons should meet at the Potomac State Forest headquarters at 2 p.m. More information may be obtained by calling the forest headquarters at 334-2038.

McRobie.

On Thursday, Vida McRobie called on Mrs. Knotts and on Friday night, Hazel Ahern and daughter, Rosalie and daughters, Misty and Jean, came to assist Mrs. Knotts with Easter candy making. Mrs. Anna Hartley accompanied them.

On Monday, Eleanor Light visited Mrs. Knotts. One day during the week, Mrs. Knotts called on Mr and Mrs. Samuel Peacky to see their new arrival, a baby girl. They also have two sons. Anna Hartley and Myrtle Harvey called one day and Mrs. Knotts accompanied them to visit Buss and Ruth Evans, Brookside.

Sunday guests of David and Bobbie McRobie were his son, Scott, and mother, Marie Knotts, and Brenda and Todd.

Northern GOP Women To Meet

The Northern Garrett Republican Women's Club will meet at Hill Top Inn, Grantville, April 28, at 7:30 p.m. The speaker will be Joe Howe, administrator to the Liquor Board and County Revenue office. A fund-raiser called Lugging Basket Fundraiser, will be held. Interested Republican women are welcome.

Oakland

GOOD NEIGHBOR PROM PROGRAM - The Oakland office of State Farm Insurance and Marvin's Men's Wear have teamed up to help insure the safety of the juniors and seniors who will be attending the annual Southern and Northern high school proms next month. Because drinking and driving continues to be a major killer on the nation's roadways, personnel from these two Oakland businesses will be available to transport student drivers who make the decision to drink alcoholic beverages the night of the prom. State Farm and Marvin's will have drivers available throughout the evening and the early morning hours to transport, confidentially and free of charge, those students who live within the county. They recommend that all Southern High prom goers attend the after-prom party that will be held at the school. Pictured above, left to right, are Barb and Rob Michael, of State Farm Insurance, and Connie Margison, of Marvin's. Not present for the photo was Jack Jones, also of Marvin's. Persons desiring more information about this offer may contact the State Farm office at 334-3774 or Marvin's Men's Wear at 334-9211.

because of wind. Committee asks that no shrubs be put on graves. Everyone is welcome to attend. Lunch will be served at noon.

The organizers of the event believe that if just one serious injury or death can be prevented, the evening can be considered a success.

County Native To Speak At Women's Aglow Fellowship

Garrett County native, Marian (Beitzel) Diehl, now a resident of Bedford, Pa., will be the guest speaker at the Women's Aglow Fellowship monthly meeting to be held Saturday, April 25, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

The meeting will be held at the Mtn. Lake Park Campground Dining Hall, located off Md. Rt. 135.

A group spokesperson stated, "As a child continually mindful of the spiritual world, Mrs. Diehl was born into the family of God and was baptized at age 11. This led to a continual search for more of God. In 1972, she walked into a deeper commitment, the Baptism of the Holy Spirit. She has discovered that the more she gives of herself, the more He gives of Himself."

Mrs. Diehl has taught vacation Bible school and Sunday school. She trained and spent time working with girls at a drug rehabilitation center founded by Cookie Rodriguez in Dover, Pa. She was also a house parent during summers at new Life for Children, Glen Rock, Pa.

She married Lee Diehl in 1989 and is currently president of the Cumberland Women's Aglow Fellowship.

Mrs. Diehl says her life-line is Matthew 6:33: "But seek ye first the Kingdom of God and his righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you."

She added that the scripture has taken her through many experiences of God's healing power, both physically and emotionally.

All area women are invited to attend the meeting. More information may be obtained by calling 387-9352 or 334-8891.

Aglow is an international, interdenominational organization of Christian women committed to Jesus Christ.

Garrett Alumni Association To Give Scholarships

The Garrett Community College Alumni Association has reached its goal of raising $1,000 for two scholarships that will be awarded for the 1992 fall semester, according to Linda Fike, secretary.

Money was earned from the Alumni Ball, a raffle, a 5-K run, letters of donation, a generous contribution from the Senior Division of the Men's Mountain Top Basketball League, and membership dues.

Students applying for the scholarships must be residents of Garrett County or in the immediate family of a member of the GCC Alumni Association.

Other officers of the Alumni Association are Rob Michael, president; Phoebe Wiley, vice president; and Paul Frantz, treasurer.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Awarded Medal

Staff Sergeant George Beckman of Oakland Company C, 121st Engineer Battalion (CBT), Maryland National Guard, was recently awarded the Army Achievement Medal for outstanding performance as a construction equipment operator for company C.

The certificate accompanying the medal noted that Staff Sergeant Beckman displayed "outstanding initiative and proficiency and reflects credit upon himself, his unit, the Maryland Army National Guard, and the United States Army."

SSG Beckman has been a member of the National Guard for 19 years. He is a heavy equipment operator and is now a squad leader in the support platoon.

Beckman resides in Pleasant Valley with his wife, Linda, and two children, George W. and Angela. He is employed by the Garrett County Roads Department.

U.S. Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Fred A. Bell, a 1983 graduate of Southern High School, Oakland, recently returned aboard the aircraft carrier USS Dwight D. Eisenhower, homeported in Norfolk, Va., following a six-month deployment.

Bell participated in operations in the Atlantic Ocean, Mediterranean Sea, Red Sea and Persian Gulf, as well as in the NATO Exercise Teamwork 92 in the Norwegian Sea.

Teamwork 92, designed to improve the professionalism and effectiveness of NATO force while operating in the realistic environment of the North Atlantic and coastal waters of Norway, included maritime, air, amphibious and field training exercises.

Other exercises conducted by the crew include "Eager Mace," a 10-day, joint amphibious landing exercise in Kuwait, and "Sandstorm," a joint effort with the U.S. Air Force, which included simulated air strikes and tested the carrier's ability to retaliate against air attacks.

Bell visited the cities of Dubai, United Arab Emirates, and Palma, Spain.

Local Students Plan To Attend Outdoor School

Several students from grades 5-8 at the Mountaintop Adventist Elementary School, Route 6, Oakland, along with approximately 80 other elementary students from West Virginia and Western Maryland, will participate in an Outdoor Education School near Huttonsville, W. Va., April 22-26. The event is sponsored by the Education Department of the Mountain View Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

Mountaintop Adventist School teacher Art Miller is part of the instructional staff and will assist in teaching about trees. Other classes include rocks and minerals, edible wild plants, mammals, reptiles, etc. Students may also choose to study and practice caving, backpacking, rock climbing, canoeing, and frontier homesteading.

"In an age when the theory of evolution is too often accepted as fact rather than theory," says Kingsley Whitsett, Mountain View Conference superintendent of schools, "we want the students in our Christian Schools to know they were created by God, and not just descendants of apes. The Outdoor School is planned to help students discover the wonders and excitement of nature about them, and to be drawn closer to their Creator."

Strauss Named To Who's Who For Teachers

Charles Strauss Jr., Peachtree City, Ga., was recently notified that he had been named to the 1992 edition of Who's Who Among America's Teachers, an honor bestowed upon only five percent of the nation's teachers.

Strauss, son of Charles and Mary Strauss, Accident, taught in Montgomery and Garrett counties in Maryland for 11 years before locating in Georgia in 1981. He and his wife, Shirley, both teach in Fulton County, Ga. They have one son, Charles William, who also works and attends Clayton College, one of the schools associated with the University of Georgia System.

Teachers selected to Who's Who are nominated for the honor by former students of theirs who themselves were named to Who's Who Among American High School Students or the National Dean's List.

New Germany Park Has Open House, Clean-Up

New Germany State Park held an "open house" on Sunday, April 5, when all facilities were open to the public. Four cabins were open for inspection and guided tours were held throughout the afternoon. Refreshments were available and the snack bar was open.

Despite the morning snow and frigid temperatures, approximately 103 persons attended. Seven door prizes consisting of door chimes, sweatshirts, and caps were awarded. A grand prize of two free nights in a cabin at New Germany State Park was won by Robert Fisher, Keyser, W. Va. The park's volunteer group, Friends of New Germany, assisted as hosts and hostesses, and worked the contact station greeting guests.

A general spring cleanup was held at the Park on Saturday, April 4. Because of the snow cover, not much raking could be accomplished. Limbs and branches that had fallen during the winter were picked up and tables and fire rings were positioned at the campsites.

Most of the work was done by Boy Scout Troops and Cub Scout Packs. Those participating were BSA Troops 42 and 24 from Frostburg, Troop/Pack 49 from Grantsville, Pack 26 from Lonaconing, and Packs 44 and 24 from Frostburg. Approximately 62 boys were involved in the cleanup activities. Assisted by Scout personnel and park personnel from New Germany, the group worked approximately 186 hours on various projects.

The next meeting of the Friends of New Germany will be held May 20 at 6:30 p.m. at the Beach Bathhouse. Anyone interested in becoming a volunteer is invited to attend.

Soil & Water
Stewardship Week
April 26 - May 3, 1992

Soil And Water Stewardship Week; Its Origin And Observance Explained

For centuries, men and women have offered humble thanks to God for the priceless gifts of soil, water, air and sunshine which make all living things possible.

The world as we know it could not exist without a fruitful agriculture. A regular harvest is a critical matter. But nature, like man, is erratic. There are times when the very elements seem to conspire against a yield.

When the rains cease and the earth cracks, when storms and pestilence wreak their havoc, fields become barren and livestock grow gaunt in search of grass. It is then, and particularly in times of prolonged hardship, that the call goes out for divine intervention to ease the suffering and restore the bounty of the soil.

That is what happened in France more than 1,500 years ago in the city of Vienne and its surrounding countryside. Bad weather, fires and earthquakes had brought crop failures and widespread hunger. The bishop of Vienne, Saint Mamertus, called for prayer and penance on the three days preceding Ascension Day. The people responded and implored God for help in their suffering and privation.

Word of what happened in Vienne spread throughout France and then to other countries beyond the Alps. The supplication filled a need in the hearts and minds of the people and, as the years went by, the practice of setting aside these special days -- Rogation Days -- was widely established on an annual basis. By the end of the eighth century, the Church formally adopted the custom.

In our own country, the decision to set aside a week each year to acknowledge before God our gratitude for His gifts of soil and all the bountiful resources associated with it has met an evident need of a great many people.

The week -- now known as Soil and Water Stewardship Week -- has become a special time to remind all people that these gifts of the Creator warrant their best in creative conservation and considerate management.

In 1946, the publishers of Farm and Ranch magazine took an initiative. They suggested to religious leaders in a number of southern states that one Sunday be set aside each year as a time for a special reminder of the men and women of their congregations about the ethical obligations of all people to serve as responsible stewards of the land.

The response of clergymen and laymen was so warm and widespread that observance of Soil Stewardship Sunday spread steadily to additional churches and additional states. In 1954, the publishers of the magazine (circulated primarily in the South) suggested to the officers of the National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD) that a still wider observance of Soil Stewardship Sunday could aid significantly in bringing about a national awakening and recognition of man's duties as stewards of the Lord's earth.

To help achieve this goal, the publishers offered to transfer their limited sponsorship of Soil Stewardship Sunday to the Association, which represents some 3,000 local conservation district organizations in all the states and territories of the nation. The NACD accepted and, beginning in 1955, undertook to foster the observance on a nationwide basis.

In its stewardship efforts, the association is guided by a Soil and Water Stewardship Committee, which includes clergymen, advisors representing a number of the nation's major religious denominations. Many other church leaders have provided notable assistance. Officers and members of the NACD Auxiliary have been particularly helpful, as have members of several cooperating farm and conservation organizations.

The Soil and Water Stewardship Week observance, by its very nature, is one to be joined in by everyone who shares a sense of personal responsibility under God for the care of soil, water and the other vital elements making up our environment. The prime concern of conservation districts, along with thousands of involved clergymen and laymen, is to encourage an ever-growing participation by Americans in this annual recognition of the continuing importance of thoughtful stewardship.

Progressive Breeder Awards Presented

Maryland Holstein herds which have won Progressive Breeder Awards (PBA) were recognized earlier this year during the Maryland Holstein Association's annual meeting. Tom Dum Jr., HFA consultant, presented the awards to the owners. Two dairymen from Garrett County received Progressive Breeder Awards. They are listed here, along with the number of years the herds have won their award, and their production averages, based on energy-corrected milk.

Carl Bender, Accident, nine years, 23,226M, and Wayne Schrock, Grantsville, two years, 24,721M.

Export Seminar Is A Success: Second One Set

Officials from 25 Maryland companies attended an "Export How To" seminar sponsored by the Maryland Department of Agriculture's (MDA) International Marketing Services (IMS) group on April 1 designed to help them cash in on expanding foreign markets for food products.

The seminar was so well received by those attending, a second one is being planned for early June to accommodate companies which couldn't attend the first one.

One attendee stated afterwards, "I came thinking I'd just get an overview of how other people get into exporting. But now I am convinced my family's business products can be sold overseas."

MDA's IMS specialists gave presentations on what forms of trade show and marketing plan assistance are now open to Maryland food producers through federal and state government, how foreign trade shows work and the services offered by MDA.

These services, as outlined at the seminar cover such key items as documentation, developing trade leads, finding buyers, payments, compliance with foreign countries' regulations, and finding freight forwarders and shipping companies. Also, explained in detail was the U.S. government "MPP" assistance ("Marketing Promotion Program") which provides dollar for dollar matching grants to selected businesses for export market development.

In the area of foreign trade shows, reports were given on the successful efforts of about a dozen Maryland food exporters at recent trade shows held in Cologne, Germany; Barcelona, Spain; Mexico and Puerto Rico. Several of the Maryland companies attending the Barcelona show last month made sales their first time out for such products as vegetarian chili and Maryland maple syrup.

However, the biggest attention getter at the seminar were presentations by three successful Maryland exporters, Scott Garfield of Lee's Ice Cream Company, Kathi Carpenter of International Marketing Consortium, and David Harper of Maryland Gourmet Foods. They told of their successes and how they have used the state and federal international marketing specialists and programs to their advantage.

MDA's IMS office is now working on a regular basis with about 120 companies to assist them with their export sales. A number of these companies recently formed their own organizations; the Maryland Food Exporters Association (MFEA) to pool their resources at export marketing.

Walker Testifies On Need For Aid To Former Soviet Republics

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Robert L. Walker testified before the U.S. House Government Operations Sub-Committee April 7, calling for a comprehensive package of initiatives that will provide much needed assistance to the people of Russia, Ukraine and other emerging democracies.

Walker characterized the present situation in Russia and the other republics as an extraordinary chance to build a more universal peace in the world community.

"Never before in this century has our government had an opportunity -- without recourse to war -- not only to help shape in such a dramatic and positive way the destiny of Russia and the emerging democracies of the former Soviet Union, but also at the same time to build a strong foundation for our future economic growth in a region with market opportunities as vast as the Russian landscape," Walker said.

In his testimony, Walker recommended increased food aid and additional food credits for processed food products that can move quickly onto dinner tables. He also urged the opening of agricultural trade offices in Moscow and Kiev to promote U.S. agricultural food interests. He called on the U.S. Department of Agriculture to aggressively promote value-added product sales in the region.

"We must respond with the same zeal and commitment that characterized our military response when we faced off the Soviet military machine. Helping Russia and the other newly independent nations of that region is in our economic interest, our strategic interest and our national interest," said Walker.

During the past three years, Walker has been a leader in helping Maryland establish agricultural agreements in the former Soviet Union. Under these agreements, more than 100 farmers, students, specialists, veterinarians, aquaculturalists, professors, enterprise managers and others have visited Maryland to learn about U.S. agriculture.

Currently, Walker chairs a Maryland state business advisory group that is discussing ways to take advantage of these ex-

Oakland Team Places Third In Maryland FFA Meats Contest

The Clear Spring FFA Chapter had the first place team at the Annual Maryland FFA Meats Judging Contest held on April 10 at Mt. Airy Locker Company in Mt. Airy. The Wagner Brothers of Mt. Airy Locker annually host the contest which is sponsored as a special project of the Maryland FFA Foundation.

The high scoring individual for the Meats contest was Christine Masser, FFA member of the Clear Spring Chapter. The Walkersville FFA Chapter took second place in the contest, and the Oakland FFA Chapter took third place.

According to contest superintendent and official judge, Dr. John Buric, a retired member of the Animal Science Department at the University of Maryland, College Park, there were six teams registered with 23 members participating. James Ferrant, Maryland FFA executive secretary assisted Dr. Buric with the contest. The contest consisted of a written test section including meat formulation problem solving, a section on retail meat cuts identification, a section on beef quality, yield grading, and carcass pricing. Also included were four placing classes selected from carcass classes as well as retail and wholesale cuts of lamb, pork and beef. Ike Williams of the Clear Spring FFA Chapter was the teacher chairperson and supervised contest activities including the scoring of the contest.

The Golden Years by Melissa Groves

Twenty-eight people gathered at Medford, New Jersey, to take turns bungee-jumping out of a hot air balloon. Volunteering to go first was G. Stuckton Strawbridge, Philadelphia civic leader and retired department store chairman. Told that a previous jumper at the site was 62, he announced, "Well, I'm 77." Said Mrs. Strawbridge, "He's been doing this kind of thing all his life and it's too late to stop him." How did it feel to dive through the air at the end of a 150-foot elastic bungee cord? "Pleasure, pure pleasure," Strawbridge said.

More than 5,000 men and women finalists competed in the 1991 Classic in Syracuse, New York, in events ranging from tennis to basketball and a 10K run. Participation is expected to double when the biennial Classic is staged in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, in 1993.

Livestock Groups Discuss Value-based Marketing Issue

Representatives of five livestock industry organizations met last week in Chicago to exchange information concerning the growing importance of value-based marketing to beef, lamb and pork producers. The groups also identified common objectives on which to focus their joint efforts.

Dr. Gary Smith, Colorado State University, presented a number of value-based marketing challenges to encourage the production of a quality product.

Smith stressed that common concerns for the beef, lamb and pork industries are to assure product safety and to promote good health. Consistency and competitiveness should be highlighted, emphasizing an attack on waste within the production and marketing system, enhancement of product taste, improved management up and down the marketing channel and controlling the market weight of animals.

The industry needs to stress a promotional "pull-type" strategy, which starts from the consumer, moving to retailer, wholesaler, packer, feeder and producer, instead of a "push" approach moving from producer to consumer, Smith said.

He reported that a 1991 national beef quality audit showed that beef producers were losing an average of $280 per head on every fed steer and heifer marketed due to excess fat production and product inconsistencies.

He said the swine industry is planning a similar audit and suggested one is also needed for sheep.

Kenneth Johnson, representing the National Live Stock and Meat Board, reported that the computer-assisted retail decision support (CARDS) system is being well-received. Johnson said the program is designed to help retailers decide the most cost-effective way to secure leaner beef by showing the price and value relationships of different beef cuts. CARDS shows retailers what they can pay for closely trimmed boxed beef, yet still maintain profit margins, due to reduced labor costs and improved yields, he said.

Organizations represented, including the American Farm Bureau Federation, which arranged the meeting, were the American Sheep Industry Association, National Cattlemen's Association, National Pork Producers Council, and the National Live Stock and Meat Board. Representatives of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service and Packers and Stockyards Administration also participated in the meeting. Each participant reported on value-based marketing activities and interests.

The organizations will hold periodic meetings on value-based marketing. The next session will be hosted by the National Pork Producers Council.

FAMILY VEAL FARMING: A Portrait From The Heart Of America.

Editor's note: The American Veal Association, a non-profit organization of independent veal farmers and allied industries, has submitted this series of articles in an attempt to educate the American public about their product. The series will feature health benefits of veal, the industry's roots, how veal is raised, farm technology, ecology and product safety.

Farmers Care: Ecology And Product Safety.

There is a heightened awareness about environmental care and concerns that affect our planet. People are talking about neglect and mismanagement of our precious and limited resources. This is all good, but it now seems that everyone wants to jump on the bandwagon and talk about what they feel should be done about the situation. To the responsible farmer ecology is nothing new, it is an important part of everyday life.

Caring for our planet has never been a fad with the farming community. Concern for the environment has always been a part of farm life. Ecology and the farming lifestyle have been co-dependent upon each other for so long that farming is, almost by definition, the management of natural resources. To the farmer, sound ecological practices just make good sense. Even in this world of high-tech farming, proper management and respect for the land is vital to the prosperity of the farm.

This tradition of caring is extended to a concern for the finished product. As farmers would not pollute their own property, they likewise would not pollute the product they consume or market to their fellow Americans. Veal producers, for example, are actively involved in Quality Assurance Education Programs. Developed in cooperation with veterinary scientists, these continuing education programs are used as a guide and information source for proper management techniques. Participating in regional seminars, to keep up to date on the latest information on product quality, safety and health, veal farmers maintain high standards in raising their animals and take great pride in producing a high quality meat product. The veal you buy at the local grocery store is a safe, wholesome product. When you serve a tasty veal dish, you can be assured that your health and safety have been the top priority in bringing that food to your table every step of the way.

The Food Safety and Inspection Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture inspects all veal and other meat products before they are allowed to go to your grocer or restaurant to make sure they are safe and wholesome, as well as accurately labeled. Veal is actually inspected twice. The first inspection takes place when the animal is delivered to the processing plant. A specially trained and licensed inspector visually checks the animal before it is approved for processing. The second check involves an examination of the meat after processing. At that time, random tissue samples are taken and sent to the USDA laboratory for safety analysis.

Maryland Weights And Measures Lab Qualifies To Test National Standards

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Robert L. Walker announced that the Maryland Department of Agriculture's Weights and Measures laboratory has qualified as a national testing center.

"We are proud that the National Institute of Standards and Technology has authorized Maryland as only the fourth state to receive this certification as a 'participating' laboratory under their National Type Evaluation Program," Walker said.

"In our new laboratory wing we have the latest equipment. As a result, we will be able to help manufacturers produce and customers purchase scales that will have acceptance in all 50 states. With this certification, Maryland has become a national center for the testing and analysis for scales of all types," said Walker.

The National Institute of Standards and Technology created their National Type Evaluation Program to allow manufacturers of scales to go through one type evaluation recognized by all weights and measures officials across the country. The National Institute of Standards and Technology lists all weighing devices that meet these national standards in a publication available to prospective purchasers.

U.S. Promotes Meat Sales To Former Soviet States

USDA Undersecretary Richard Crowder recently announced that the United States is urging the Commonwealth of Independent States to consider using some of their new credit guarantees to buy higher-value U.S. meat products.

Such "friendly" persuasion is welcome news to the American Farm Bureau Federation, the U.S. Meat Export Federation and several livestock industry organizations that have been promoting the sale of red meats to the former Soviet republics.

Voting delegates to AFBF's 1992 annual meeting approved a policy call for greater Farm Bureau emphasis in the promotion of value-added agricultural exports.

In his appeal to the CIS, Crowder said it is up to the republics to decide what commodities they buy on credit, but he urged that they treat the United States fairly by buying as much in U.S. value-added products as they do from other credit suppliers.

Representatives of AFBF and USMEF met earlier this year to discuss ways to strengthen the strong ties that exist between the two organizations, and to explore ways in which more state Farm Bureaus can become involved in efforts to expand world markets for U.S. meats, according to AFBF President Dean Kleckner.

The USMEF is a non-profit international trade organization formed in 1976 to identify and develop foreign markets for U.S. beef and veal, pork, lamb and variety meats.

AFBF and state Farm Bureaus in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and Texas hold full memberships in the trade development organization. The Interstate Producers Livestock Association, an affiliate of the Illinois, Iowa and Missouri Farm Bureaus, also is a member of USMEF.

The AFBF board of directors, at its March meeting, approved a recommendation that the USMEF invite a state Farm Bureau president from Farm Bureau's Northeastern Region and one from the Southern Region to attend its spring board meeting in Philadelphia, June 10-13. A similar process was suggested to involve the Western Region in a fall USMEF meeting.

USDA figures show that the United States sold more than $2.5 billion worth of beef, pork, lamb, variety meats and other red meat in 1990. Kleckner pointed out. The Meat Export Federation estimated the positive impact of those foreign sales at $4.76 per cwt. for fed cattle, $7.09 cwt. for feeder cattle and $10.13 per cwt. for calves.

U.S. port exports in 1990

resulted in an increase of $1.63 per cwt. in the overall value of slaughter hogs.

The $2.5 billion in red meat and variety meats does not include the value of live animals, hides, tallow, lard and other byproducts, which brings the total value of livestock, red meats and other products exported in 1990 to $6.4 billion.

The increased sales of livestock also has a positive effect on grain markets, accounting for an additional 101 million bushels of corn usage during 1990 worth $243 million and 9 million bushels of soybeans worth $52.4 million.

The University of Missouri Economics Department says each 30,000 metric ton export of U.S. pork represents 3.7 million bushels of corn and 600,000 bushels of soybeans. The sales also result in 30,639 days of labor, excluding transportation. Missouri economists credit exports with increasing hog prices by $1 and $1.25 per cwt.

According to the USDA, each dollar of value-added product sold adds 3.1 to 4.1 times as much to the nation's economy.

Pastures Advance; Pastures Decline

By April 19, producers were making rapid progress planting cool weather spring crops. Planting was active. Spring field preparation was 40 percent complete, planting of potatoes reached 54 percent complete, green peas were 66 percent planted and spring oat planting was 55 percent complete.

An average of 5.8 days was suitable for fieldwork during the week ending April 19, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. Across the state, topsoil moisture rated 53 percent short and 47 percent adequate. Subsoil moisture ended the week 32 percent short and 68 percent adequate.

Emergent stands of small grains were in mostly good condition. Barley was just beginning to form heads. Pastures averaged only fair, with Frederick County and west in poor condition. Hay supplies were short to adequate, with prices up with strong demand.

Maryland's progress for week ending April 19, is listed as follows, with crop, this year's percentage, last year's percentage and the five-year average listed, respectively.

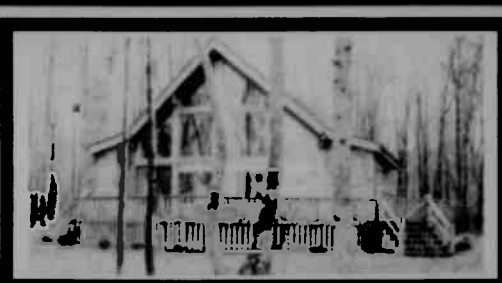

Crops seeded: Sweet corn, 12, 19, 14; corn for grain, 8, 11, 9; potatoes, 54, 56, 78; green peas, 66, 73, 84; spring oats, 55, 64, 76.

WEATHER

Maryland weather for the week ending April 17 was warmer than normal with light precipitation. Precipitation averaged 0.13 inch, ranging from 0.3 at Royal Oak to 0.40 inch at Oakland. Temperatures averaged 56.5 degrees, 2.1 degrees above the normal of 54.4 degrees for the April 11-17 period. Minimum temperatures ranged from 23 degrees at Oakland to the 30's. Maximum temperatures ranged from the mid-70's to the mid-80's.

How Much Corn Are You

Going To Plant This Year?

If you heed what most economists are predicting you probably are going to plant more acres of corn this year

It seems that the most influential factor for predicting corn prices in the future is the weather

Spring is slow in arriving throughout the corn belt and the experts say there is a good possibility of drought conditions in the Mid-Atlantic region

My advice would be to do a lot of right things to maximize your corn yields

Start by making sure your fertility level is at optimum

It takes one pound of actual nitrogen per bushel of corn

Yields can be increased by splitting the application

Make sure the P and K are in balance

Black Cutworm Alert!

The black cutworm has not been a countywide problem in the past

However, when it does show up in our area, the population in corn fields can be tremendous

I have seen a few corn fields completely destroyed by the cutworm

The cutworm moth moves into our area from the south

The female moth lays its eggs on green vegetation such as weeds or cover crops

The eggs hatch in 10 to 14 days depending on the soil temperature

In our area they would normally start to feed around the first week in May

Cutworm problems are more likely to occur where cover crops are utilized, in no-till situations, and when spring rains and poorly drained soils delay planting

Delays in field preparation, herbicide application and planting, increases the spring weed growth which favors cutworm development

I would not recommend a preventive treatment of soil

insecticide for our area

On the other hand, I would recommend that you scout suspect fields for the presence of the small cutworm

If you find them give me a call for treatment recommendations

Customer Service And Satisfaction Class Scheduled

"Building Customer Service and Satisfaction" is the name of a three-session course being offered by Garrett Community College on May 6, 13, and 20.

According to a GCC spokesman, the session will build the awareness and skill of employees in the area of customer service. It will provide them with new ideas for creating favorable impressions that will benefit one's business, he added.

Participants will have "hands-on" learning experiences in: understanding the importance of the customer, quality service and repeat business; techniques for creating favorable impressions and a positive environment for one's business; understanding the various types of customers; how to use control in a variety of situations; building telephone skills; handling stress and difficult customers; and focusing on decision-making skills.

The sessions will be held on the above dates from 6:15 to 9:30 p.m. at the McHenry Campus. Persons wishing to register for the class or obtain additional information may call Lynne Giotfely or Sandy Major at the college at 387-6666, extension 180.

Southern GOP Women To Meet

The Southern Garrett County Republican Women's Club will hold its April meeting on Tuesday, April 28, at the Oak Park Church of the Brethren at 7 p.m.

On the agenda for the meeting will be the selection of chairpersons, and committee members to serve as historian, legislation, fund-raising, membership, Americanism, and other standard committees.

More information will be given about the Western Region Republican Women's retreat to be held in June at Red Run Inn.

All members are urged to attend and potential members are welcome. President Ruth Umbel can be reached at 387-6606 for more information.

Local Habitat Volunteer Supervises Building Project In Mississippi

Early this spring, while Garrett County continued to wear its winter uniform, Don Little, chairman of construction for Garrett County Habitat for Humanity, spent a pleasant "vacation" in sunny Starkville, Mississippi.

For several weeks, students on spring break came to Starkville, home of the University of Mississippi, to live in local churches and work on up to seven houses for Habitat for Humanity. Over 130 students from northern and midwestern states participated in the projects. Each student group paid its own transportation costs and relinquished a week of fun and relaxation to help with the effort. Little volunteered his services to supervise the program. "The warm, sunny March days in Mississippi helped to make the work go fast," Little said.

Now that the snow has melted and spring has come to Garrett County, Little said the local chapter of Habitat will start again its rehab and house building programs for families in need. Several work camps are scheduled for the spring and summer months, each of which will bring funds for materials and work on Habitat projects. Work camps will include students from Loyola College and church groups from Lancaster, Pa., Vienna and Waynesboro, Va., Lake Forest, Ill., and Rockville and Frederick.

Local organizations have also been very supportive of Habitat's mission, Little said. Contributions in the form of funds and/or volunteer services can be made by contacting Garrett County Habitat for Humanity, P.O. Box 363, Oakland, Maryland 21550.

Training Workshop To Be Held For Coverts Project

Woodland owners, managers and others interested in forest and wildlife management can apply to attend a free training workshop on August 27-30 at the Fairview Outdoor School in Washington County. The workshop is part of an ongoing outreach and training program called the Coverts Project, which is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service, Maryland Institute for Agriculture and Natural Resources, with financial support from the Ruffed Grouse Society.

The project gets its name from thickets that provide sheltering habitat for wildlife.

The Coverts Workshop will focus on general forestry and wildlife management principles that can be applied throughout Maryland. Participants will learn how sound forest management practices can make wildlife more abundant, healthy and diverse, while enhancing timber growth and aesthetics.

In return for free training, reference materials and follow-up seminars, the participants (called Coverts Co-operators) will be asked to establish a sound forest and wildlife management plan for their own property and share what they have learned with others through a variety of outreach activities.

"The goal of the Coverts Project is to develop a statewide network of volunteers who can help people interested in forest and wildlife management get the professional assistance they need to accomplish their land-use objectives," stated Jonathan Kays, an extension natural resources specialist in Western Maryland.

Based on the concepts of education through demonstration and neighbor helping neighbor, the program already is having a positive impact on the management of Maryland's woodlands. Since 1991, nearly 60 Coverts Co-operators have completed the training program. In addition to practicing sound forest and wildlife management on more than 10,700 acres of land, they also have provided forest-wildlife information to more than 3,100 people through field tours, one-on-one conversations and other outreach activities.

Persons interested in learning more about becoming a Coverts Cooperator, should contact Jonathan Kays, Western Maryland Research and Education Center, 18330 Keedysville Road, Keedysville, Md., 21756, (phone: 301-791-2298) or the Garrett County Extension Service office at 301-334-1990. Applications for the August workshop will be accepted until June 15.

Strep Throat Requires Immediate Care

When someone has sore throat, it does not necessarily mean that he or she has strep throat (the medical term is streptococcal pharyngitis). Symptoms of strep throat infection range from no symptoms at all to fever, red throat, and painful swallowing. Lymph glands in the neck may become enlarged and tender. There may be white spots on the tonsils or dark red spots on the soft palate of the mouth. Since these same symptoms can occur with a viral infection, the only certain way of determining the presence of streptococcus is with a throat culture.

Strep throat infections are caused by a specific type of bacteria called group A beta hemolytic streptococcus. This bacteria is a member of the same group that causes scarlet fever, rheumatic fever, impetigo (a skin infection), and streptococcal kidney disease. If left untreated, a strep throat can lead to rheumatic fever and heart damage in children. For this reason, sore throats in children that do not clear in a few days should be evaluated by a physician.

John Williamson To Present Paper At CAAS Meeting

John Williamson, adjunct instructor of English and the humanities at Garrett Community College, will present a scholarly paper at the spring meeting of the Classical Association of the Atlantic States (CAAS) to be held at Villanova University April 24-26.

The topic of the paper will be "Decision Making in Ancient Greek Society, Part II" and will deal with the ways leaders in ancient Athens made decisions and how they reversed decisions when it was realized that were ill-advised ones. It focuses on the Mytilenean Crisis that occurred when Athens wanted to put all of the adult males of Mytilene to death because of few of them had rebelled against Athenian rule. The Athenians, in a late night debate in their assembly, decided to reverse their original decision to carry out the massive death sentence. They chose instead to execute only those who had been directly involved in the conspiracy.

Williamson holds a B.A. in English from Arizona State University and an M.A. on comparative literature from West Virginia University. He currently teaches composition, literature, and humanities classes at Garrett Community College.

The second annual Cinco de Mayo Festival/Mexican Independence Day Celebration will kick off the early summer season at Deep Creek Lake.

The event will be held Saturday, May 9, at the Stray Cat Cafe parking lot on Deep Creek Drive in McHenry, beginning at noon. Activities and entertainment will include live music by several bands, chicken and ribs barbecue, children's games, and activities for people of all ages. Several local businesses will also offer a variety of products during the festival.

Among the participating businesses and organizations this year are: WXIE Radio, Dr. Willy's Seafood, Kathy's Corner Furniture and Gifts, The Tourist Trap, Razzberry's Sports Bar, The Fort at McHenry, Crystal Waters Marina, Crafty Critters, High Mountain Sports, Tips Up Ski Shop, Deep Creek Outfitters, Denny's Restaurant, Mastercraft Printers, Reel Video, Lohr Distributors, GCC Olympics Committee, GCC Veterans Club (Honor Guard), and the Deep Creek Business Association.

Musicians and bands that will provide musical entertainment are: Boat House, at noon; Jim and Mike, at 2:30 p.m.; Rob Smith, at 5 p.m.; Steve James, at 7:30 p.m.; Rob Smith and Steve James, at 10 p.m. in the Cafe (cover charge); and Sexy Sister, at 10 p.m. at Razzberry's Sports Bar (cover charge).

The GCC Veterans Club Honor Guard will present the colors at 2 p.m. Members of the Deep Creek Business Association will be present to raise funds for their July 4 fireworks display. WXIE Radio will provide live broadcasts from the festival throughout the day.

The festival has been designated as an official event of the Governor's Pre-Kness Celebration.

Swanton Juvenile Hospitalized Following One-Vehicle Mishap

A Swanton juvenile was hospitalized Friday morning following a one-vehicle accident on Dennett Road in which he struck a mailbox, according to reports filed by the Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry.

The juvenile was hurt when he failed to keep the 1988 Oldsmobile Cutlass right of center, drove across the northbound lane, and struck a mailbox. The car then crossed the center line again, ran off the road, and came to rest in a field.

He was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad where he was admitted and has since been released, according to a hospital nursing spokesperson.

The juvenile was charged with failure to drive right of center and with a seat belt violation.

STRIKES DEER

A Kitzmiller man was treated and released from the local hospital last Thursday after the motorcycle he was operating struck a deer, according to a nursing spokesperson at the hospital.

Brian F. White, 20, was injured when he was traveling north on Md. Rt. 34, south of the Vindex Road, and a deer jumped into his

GCC Board Of Trustees Hears Report On College's Business Programs

The Garrett Community College Board of Trustees met Tuesday, April 21, where they heard a report on "Programs for Business" presented by Sandy Major, coordinator of the GCC Job Placement Center.

Major discussed the Continuing Education Department's business programs and the impact they've had on the local business community as well as those benefiting through employment as a result of the programs.

She noted that managerial and supervisory skills training included customized training for Bausch and Lomb, Inc., Garrett Optical, Garrett County Memorial Hospital, and the Flushing Shirt Company. This area also included classes at GCC for Garrett National Bank, Caselman Lumber, Financial Support Services, First United National Bank and Trust, Plaza Deli, Master Casting, and Community Action.

Technical or professional training through DEED (Department of Employment and Economic Development) grants was also given to Bausch and Lomb, Garrett Optical, Garrett County Board of Education, Caselman Lumber, and Demaree Inflatables & Micon.

Job Training Partnership Act grants assisted in General Education Development (GED) and building trades classes. There were also numerous seminars and short classes offered.

During the board meeting, Major also outlined the GCC Job Placement Center. She thanked The Republican newspaper for its continued coverage of the center and noted its numerous success stories.

At the conclusion of her presentation, GCC President Dr. Stephen Herman commended Major and Lynne Glatfelter, job placement specialist, for the work they've completed in aiding local businesses in finding suitable employees and for assisting students in obtaining proper training for job placement.

Board Chairman Charles "Bus" Bender commented, "Ms. Major, your enthusiasm shows you're pleased with your work and rightly so."

BUDGET APPROVED

The trustees approved the budget for FY93 that will be presented to the Board of Garrett County Commissioners by May 1.

Dr. Herman noted that there will be no tuition increase if the proposed budget remains intact (not state or county rescissions). He also indicated that those preparing the budget reduced the total appropriation of the county by $20,000. Over $200,000 more dollars from the state is expected in the next fiscal year because of the change in formula for state aid to community colleges. The college will keep its budget request at $920,000 from the county. The college will request $30,000 in capital funding for roof repair.

"I want to thank everyone at the college and the students for bearing with us in these particularly trying financial times," said Dr. Herman. "It's a good budget and it makes sense."

Last year's original request was $2,743,507 while this year's request is $3,180,890.

SCHOLARSHIP AID

Bus Bender announced that American Legion Post 214 will continue its support of GCC with a contribution of $1,000 in scholarship funds. The money will be allotted in two $500 awards for GCC students who are children or grandchildren of American Legion Post 214 members.

AWARD WINNERS

Sentences Handed Out In GC Circuit Court; PSI's Ordered For Two

Pre-sentence investigations were recently ordered in Garrett County Circuit Court proceedings by Judge Fred A. Thayer for two persons previously indicted by the March Term Grand Jury, and prison terms were handed out to several other defendants in the past two weeks.

Ronald A. Keesacker, 29, Weston, W.Va., previously indicted by the Grand Jury, pleaded guilty to assault and battery and destruction of property charges. Thayer accepted the plea and ordered a pre-sentence investigation. Bail was stricken for the defendant.

Keesacker incurred the charges after he apparently assaulted Tfc. Robert Hershberger of the Maryland State Police in February. A charge of breaking and entering was not prosecuted.

John R. Toston represented Keesacker.

Victoria Collins, 18, Oakland, also indicted by the Grand Jury, pleaded not guilty to possession of an illegal drug with intent to distribute, possession of marijuana, and delivery of a controlled dangerous substance to an inmate. The defense also made a motion for acquittal.

The motion was denied and the verdict of the jury was guilty to all counts. Thayer ordered a pre-sentence investigation and revoked the bail.

Collins was charged after she allegedly tried to deliver marijuana to an inmate of the Garrett County Jail in February.

Defense attorney was John R. Toston.

A Kingwood, W.Va., man was sentenced to three years in the Maryland Department of Corrections for the offense of breaking and entering a storehouse.

Eric W. Graham, 24, pleaded guilty to the charge which stemmed from an incident in late August 1991 when he apparently illegally entered Fairfax Sand and Concrete Company, Inc., on Rt. 219 South, and removed several items including a microwave and two CB radios.

The sentence was then suspended for all but time served, which had been 149 days. Three years of supervised probation was ordered and was transferred to West Virginia. Conditions of the probation are the defendant must make restitution of $125 to the victim, he must seek, obtain, and maintain employment, and must utilize a substance abuse rehabilitation program.

Robert C. Hesmon represented Graham.

Pa. Man Jailed On $5,000 Bond On Drug Charges

A York, Pa., man was arrested Friday afternoon by the Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, and charged with possession of suspected marijuana with the intent to distribute, possession of suspected marijuana, and possession of suspected drug paraphernalia.

Rick D. Miller, 32, was operating a 1986 Dodge van on Interstate 68 at Md. Rt. 495 when he was stopped by Tfc. R.T. Wilson. Wilson observed a bag of suspected marijuana on the console of the van and a search revealed five additional bags of suspected marijuana, three marijuana smoking pipes, and one balance scale.

Miller was taken before a court commissioner and formal charges were filed before he was lodged in the Garrett County Jail. A jail spokesman said he has since posted bond and has been released from custody.

Roads Dept. To Absorb All Of Funding Cuts

The Garrett County Commissioners announced this week that state funding cuts to the county, made during the final round of budget cuts recently, will be totally absorbed by the Garrett County Roads Department and will not affect any other county departments or agencies.

The commissioners stated they were pleased to learn that the cuts only amounted to $248,000 when they originally feared the number could be as high as approximately $700,000. That original amount would have been "devastating," according to Commissioner Elwood Groves.

The county roads department will absorb the total amount by virtually eliminating the usual spring construction program, said Groves, who noted that some projects would then be started July 1, the beginning of the new fiscal year.

Commissioner John Braskey reported that the roads department will also cut back on materials which, he said, has already been happening throughout the year. "I want to commend the management at the roads department. They've been able to work with less and do more."

For nearly a year, Garrett County Administrator Robert Fousek has filled the position of roads department administrator and will continue to do so until a permanent replacement is hired. He took on the role following the resignation of Paul Shockey.

Braskey stated that only routine road maintenance will be performed by the roads department during the spring season.

Commissioner Brenda Butcher stated, "I want to compliment all the county departments" for accepting the budget cuts during the past year. "It's been a tough year... I'm real proud of them," she added.

Commissioners To Consider Inclusion Of Westernport Into Garrett County

The Garrett County Commissioners announced this week that they have agreed to talk to Westernport residents about the possibility of the town seceding from Allegany County in order to become part of Garrett County.

Commission Chairperson Brenda Butcher reported that she had received several calls from residents of the town, located just east of Bloomington, inquiring about the possibility of becoming part of Garrett County, and was informed that an additional $400 million would be added to the county's tax base in that event. That figure, however, has not been confirmed by county officials.

Butcher explained that the main issue of concern among some of the residents was the way the closing of Bruce School was handled. She noted, however, that the local board of education would ultimately have to make any decisions about the school issue and would like the education board to work with the commissioners during the talks.

Butcher also pointed out that she did not foresee any significant increase in terms of county services to that area since "we already go down as far as Bloomington."

Commissioners Elwood Groves and John Braskey both agreed they would welcome the negotiations. "This is a significant development and worth pursuing," stated Groves, adding, "We will maintain an open-door policy, with all due respect to Allegany County officials."

He noted that the board would have to look at the possibility in terms of "benefit versus liability," adding that Westvaco "represents a tremendous tax base."

County Administrator Robert Fousek explained that the inclusion of Westernport would mean that the entire Westernport election district would become part of Garrett County. That election district represents a total of 3,395 residents, according to 1990 census figures, and includes Westvaco.

Commissioner Braskey pointed out that the commissioners would have to look at any potential legal problems with the secession. "We're willing to talk but are not ready to make a commitment - there are a lot of things to work out."

A meeting date has not yet been scheduled.

Trustees Caution Commissioners Against More Cuts To Library

Members of the Ruth Enlow Library Board of Trustees met with the Garrett County Commissioners this week in an effort to explain the dire financial situation at the Ruth Enlow Library, and to caution the commissioners that any additional funding cuts from the county would have a devastating effect on the system, as well as far-reaching negative implications throughout the county.

According to Diane Thayer, board treasurer, the library system is currently running on an "operating deficit, and remains open only because the users are paying for it." But, she added, "those volunteers are just about tapped out."

Thayer requested the commissioners give consideration to the library's needs before they "become locked into figures" as they finalize the Fiscal Year 1993 budget for the county.

Sull McCartney, newly appointed member of the board of trustees, presented the commissioners with financial data delineating funds received by the library from state, county, and other sources. According to the figures, only 39% of total revenue sources come from the county, with 35% coming from the state and 26% from other sources such as donations.

McCartney noted that funds for the express purpose of purchasing books has decreased over the past two years from $42,449 in 1990 to $30,408 in 1991. Currently, the budget is at $24,111.

The book purchasing budget is "the easiest place to cut," stated McCartney, who added that "it seems kinda silly that's the first discretionary place to cut in a library - it's alarming."

He noted that all the books being purchased at the present time are with gifts to the library, adding that gift book money may not be used for any other purpose.

Sybil Sharp, board president, told the commissioners, "Although we're pleased with any increases you've given us, we are at the bottom" in terms of the average funding received in other counties. Sharp explained that, per capita, the average percentage contributed to county library system budgets is twice that of

Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner Guest Speaker Announced

Delegate Tom Hattery will be the featured speaker at the annual Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner to be held Friday, May 8, in the McHenry Room at the Will O' the Wisp, according to an announcement made by the Garrett County Democratic Club this week.

Del. Hattery attracted national attention last month when he upset seven-term incumbent Congressman Beverly Byron in the Maryland Primary.

In his keynote speech at the Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner, Hattery will present themes and issues of his current campaign. At the top of Hattery's list is the revitalization of the economy and the creation of jobs.

A farmer and small businessman from Frederick County, Hattery stated early in his campaign, "We've got to talk about serving the people who are the backbone of our society -- the work-day Americans. Whether they work in the laboratories of I-270 or in the mills and mines of Allegany and Garrett counties -- those are the forgotten folks."

In the Maryland House of Delegates, where he has served nine years, Hattery co-sponsored the Job Training Partnership Act -- a program where volunteers from business help to retrain unemployed workers.

Reform of the nation's health care system is another of Hattery's top priorities. He will outline a health insurance system that provides health care for all citizens, including preventive care, home care, and cost containment.

Hattery says he is committed to keeping in close communication with his constituents. He has also just completed "a grueling session in Annapolis," where he was forced to break ranks with his party's leadership over what he felt was a burdensome tax package. Nevertheless, he feels the state has been put in a terrible dilemma -- "unwilling and unable by law to run up the burden created by federal budget cuts."

In the last session, Hattery co-sponsored successful

Hattery said that despite the tight purse strings in recent years, he is proud of his legislative record. The state reportedly now has laws that Hattery sponsored to aid education, the environment, children, the disabled, health, and safety.

During the current session, Hattery served on the House Ways and Means Committee and chairman of the Transportation Subcommittee. He has also served on special bodies including the Joint Education Sub-Committee, the Governor's Advisory Council for the Handicapped, the Governor's Task Force on Youth and Alcohol Abuse, Small Business Legislative Forum, and the National Conference of State Legislatures' Committee on International Trade. His colleagues voted him one of the 25 most effective legislators in Annapolis.

Hattery majored in political science at The American University, graduating cum laude. He also edited a book, Western Maryland: A Profile, that provided a look at the economy, politics, and culture of the region.

Hattery and wife, Debbie, a nurse manager at Frederick Memorial Hospital, are the parents of two children, Nora and David.

Persons interested in attending the dinner may call Maurice Brookhart at 334-2284 or Phyllis Trickett at 334-4810 for tickets. No tickets will be sold at the door.

Work To Begin On U.S. Rt. 219 South Of Oakland

The State Highway Administration (SHA) has announced that work is about to begin on U.S. Rt. 219 from Mont Vista Road north to MD 135 in Oakland.

The project includes resurfacing, safety improvements and application of thermoplastic pavement markings. Motorists will notice a smoother riding surface and the new pavement markings will improve visibility in inclement weather, the SHA said.

All lanes will remain open during peak driving hours of 6 a.m. until 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. until 6 p.m. Flagpersons will control traffic during single lane closures in off-peak hours.

The $381,000 project has been awarded to I.A. Construction of Concordville, Pa., and should be complete by the end of July.

The State Highway Administration said it appreciates the patience of all motorists during such projects.

Costly Thefts Probed By GCSO; Arrests Noted

Two costly thefts in the area were reported to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office in the past week, one of which involved the loss of nearly $8,000 worth of tools. The Sheriff's Office deputies also logged various arrests last week involving charges such as assault and illegal drug possession.

The Carmel Cove Bed and Breakfast, located on Glendale Road, was broken into some time between 4:30 p.m. on April 21 and 7:30 a.m. on April 22. Once inside, the culprits removed a planer, table saw, chain saw, transit, miter saw, stone tanner, and other items. The loss has been estimated at $7,725, according to the report.

Carmel Cove is owned by Legacy Homes.

In another case of theft, an unoccupied trailer located at the intersection of Dilley Road and Rt. 39 was broken into sometime last weekend. Stolen from the home was an electric household water pump, valued at $300. Delano Martin reported the theft, which was discovered on the morning of April 20.

The owner of the trailer is Robert Sloan, Newton, Pa. There are no suspects in either theft case, but investigations are continuing.

Arrests

Jeffrey B. Corbin, 26, Kempton, was arrested on April 25 and charged with breaking and entering, assault, and destruction of property, according to the police log. The incident leading to his arrest apparently took place at a location along Rt. 219 south of Oakland on the morning of April 25 and involved an unidentified female victim.

Fred L. Lewis, 41, Baltimore, was charged last Friday with second degree rape and assault and battery following an incident that occurred on February 29. Lewis is accused of forcing a physically helpless 15-year-old female to have sexual intercourse with him, and of assaulting a 12-year-old victim who apparently was trying to help the 15-year-old.

Lewis is being held on $25,000 bond.

Robert W. Lower, 19, Bayard, W. Va., was charged Saturday with possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia. Lower was reportedly a passenger in a vehicle that was stopped by deputies for a traffic violation on H Street in Mountain Lake Park. The defendant was asked to exit the car and officers then located in his possession a small brass pipe containing suspected marijuana residue.

After the arrest was made, the officers discovered that the defendant had 11 outstanding warrants for failure to appear in court to face bad check charges. Lower is currently incarcerated on $14,600 bond, according to a Sheriff's Office spokesperson.

Arnold W. Lipscomb, 27, Parsons, W. Va., was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant over the weekend. Lipscomb was charged with failure to appear in Garrett County District Court in July 1990 to face a felony theft charge, according to the report.

Motorcycle Accident
Sheriff's Office personnel responded to the scene of a motorcycle accident early Friday in which the operator sustained injuries. Jamie M. Goehringer, Oakland, was operating a 1984 Honda Shadow eastbound on Rt. 135 when, after she downshifted, the rear tire began to slide along the shoulder. The motorcycle then left the roadway, struck a ditch and overturned, ejecting Goehringer.

She was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the owner of the motorcycle, Chiquita Savage of Elk Garden, W. Va. Goehringer was treated and released, according to a hospital spokesperson. She was cited by police for operating a vehicle not authorized by her license, according to the report.

Southern Band To Present Spring Concert

The 28th Annual Spring Concert of the Southern Garrett Band will be presented on Thursday, May 7, in the school cafeteria beginning at 8 p.m.

The band will open the concert with J.S. Bach's "Aria and Allegro," and will perform "Psalm and Celebration," "Celebration and Dance," Clare Grundman's "American Folk Rhapsody," and a medley of Paul McCartney's works.

Musical pieces from the show "Miss Saigon" will also be featured, as well as music from the movie "Robin Hood." A number entitled "Dixieland On Stage" will feature the talents of soloists J.J. Devine, Ashley Smith, Tiffany Powers, Jessica Yost, and Tommy Hayhurst.

The John Phillip Sousa Award will be presented during the concert, as well as several other awards and recognitions. The Southern Garrett Winter Guard's award-winning show will be performed following the concert.

Admission to the event is $2 for students and $3 for adults. The band is under the direction of Richard D. Clever.

Bloodmobile To Visit Grantsville

A community bloodmobile visit, sponsored by the Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross, will be held Monday, May 4, from 12:30 to 6:30 p.m. at the Grantsville Fire Hall.

Any person age 17 or older who weighs at least 110 pounds and is in general good health may donate blood.

According to Donor Resource Specialist Ed Majoris, "All blood types are important and needed, but the Johnstown Regional Blood Services is currently urging those people with type O negative, A negative and B negative blood to come out and donate at the Grantsville bloodmobile."

"It is important for potential donors to know that you cannot contract AIDS through blood donation," Majoris continued, "Each needle used is sterile and disposed of after each use."

American Red Cross, Blood Services, Johnstown Region serves 81 hospitals within 46 counties in a five state area, including Garrett County and the surrounding area.

We're Moving Backward...

The not guilty verdict returned yesterday in a Los Angeles courtroom in the Rodney King "beating" case sent immediate shock waves, not only throughout the city of LA, but also across the entire nation. Shock and disbelief would aptly describe the reactions of most citizens upon hearing the news.

While we support the general philosophies behind the American system of justice, we also believe that this vindication of the law enforcement officers involved in this case is, in our opinion, more than just a gross error on the part of the jury; it is a travesty of justice.

To find the officers not guilty of assault with a deadly weapon could conceivably be justified since they are supplied with deadly weapons and occasionally must use them to enforce the law. But to find these men not guilty of use of excessive force is entirely beyond our comprehension.

It's true that there were several minutes of the video of that beating that were not seen by the general public, scenes that apparently demonstrated that Mr. King was more of a threat to the officers than is evidenced in the lengthy beating scene. However, we will never believe that the continued assault on King was warranted or necessary. Yes, he was a big man, but there were four trained officers on the scene. Surely King could have been handcuffed without being pounded so mercilessly.

The jury also seemed to forget the crude, racist comments and joking that were recorded during and after the assault, which so obviously proved the officers are bigots.

Not only is this decision unjust and outrageous, but it's downright frightening. It tells police officers that it is all right to treat people this way, that they are somehow above the law. It sends a message to the general public that, even with hard evidence, there is no guarantee that justice will be done in cases such as these. This decision by a nearly all-white jury at least implies that racism is not only alive and well in our society, but may even be gaining strength.

The violence that has occurred in Los Angeles since the verdict is as deplorable as the conduct of the officers on trial, particularly the beatings of apparently innocent people by the angry mobs. However, the emotional reaction is at least understandable, given the circumstances.

Our society is in desperate need of some new ideas, new energy, and a new approach on how we should get along with each other as fellow, equal human beings. We seem to be moving backward in this area.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I wonder why The Republican did not print a report on the departure of the very respected Southern coach? What better use of the gymnasium at any time than for student athletics, to perfect their skills?

The administration can't stand commitment and excellence because they are unaware of what it really means!

So we let this kind of administration set our school taxes? God forbid! Would it be better if the coach and students were steaming up windows in vehicles on weekends and nights in state park lands or at a motel? Would that be more acceptable?

Many of us attended a school board meeting last Tuesday night, that was a "white-washed forest" concerning Michael Sines and the bus complaints of numerous taxpayers! Fourteen hundred taxpayers long ago requested his dismissal! The board seemed immobile in what appeared to be an obvious pre-planned scenario while Dr. Ryscavage read pages of questionable replies to the concerned parents' complaints! The replies apparently not written by him since he seemed to have some difficulty enunciating, perhaps the taxpayers money paid for Attorneys Burnett and Eiswert to write answers to reject the taxpayers complaints. Who knows with all the strange things going on and utter silence in places where there should be outrage!

There was no county commissioner present and I thought now there was always one to be present at Board of Education meetings, whether wanted to be there by administration or not! Who is representing the taxpayers? Surely the board members (elected) never opened their mouths as all this buslitany was presented.

No one appeared to know the "Comar" laws, or if they did, they certainly didn't open their mouth to express a word. It was Richard Thomas who had to inform the board, Dr. Ryscavage and the audience what the "Comar" state school bus transportation laws required. It was as though the board was "paralyzed" and couldn't speak or had they been told not to speak?

Ignorance is one thing; to effectively shut people up or put people down is another. Who is running whom and why and how? So grand man Bosley goes, Dr. Charlene Evans, a grand woman educator left also! How long will the electorate put up with this kind of morality in the education of our most precious element in our society -- our children, our future, USA!

It is a somber reproach that some people could be on the Board of Education payroll one day longer, while Bosley, the superior one goes! Where and what is the "rationale"? Think about it. This is my opinion.

Mrs. Louise V. Harvey
Friendsville

Dear Ms. Harvey,

If you look on page A 11, upper right corner, of the April 16 issue, you will find a rather lengthy article about Tom Bosley's resignation.

Editor

To the Editor:
It is with a great deal of sadness and concern that I write this letter. Sadness because Southern High School has lost a very talented and dedicated basketball coach with the resignation of Tom Bosley.

Unfortunately, in this day and age, it is hard to find qualified people who are genuinely and fully dedicated to the development of our young people. Tom has given a total commitment to the Southern High Varsity Basketball Program and the development of the young men involved in his program. Anyone involved in Bosley's program call tell you without reservation that he demands the best from each individual, with preparation and training being the keys to success.

This is the prime reason for Tom's resignation, because he feels that if his program cannot have a total commitment of time and preparation, it cannot be successful or effective. This requires a summer program that has access to the gymnasium. I am concerned because in the interim of being conservative and saving-conscious in this county, I am afraid we are sacrificing a great deal more than we are saving in this regard. There is no heat expense through the summer months and a nominal expense in using the gymnasium in the early part of the winter months and certainly a nominal expense for the lights.

I certainly hope an agreement can be reached by Dr. Ryscavage and Mr. Bosley, and that Tom will reconsider his position in this matter. If not, Tom, I wish you success in your future career. I am certain with your attitude, qualifications and determinations, you will continue to find success in your endeavors.

Respectfully,
Rick DiSimone

by GCC President Dr. Steven J. Herman

A GARRETT COUNTY STARS SPANGLED OLYMPIC FESTIVAL

By now, just about everyone in Garrett County has heard about the U.S. Canoe and Kayak Team Olympic Trials to be held in the Savage River State Forest on May 16-17. Nearly 100 of the top canoe and kayak paddlers in the nation will compete for 15 slots on the U.S. Olympic Team, and the right to represent the United States in Barcelona, Spain, this summer.

This whitewater team may become the best in the world, winning a significant number of Olympic medals. The U.S. has a good chance to sweep the medals in the one-man canoe class and a good chance to medal in every class. The athletes come from all over the country. They have been training and preparing for years, dedicating and disciplining themselves, for this trial.

Now is the time for Garrett Countians to stand up and be counted. Let our Olympic athletes know that Garrett County is behind them. Spectators will have lots of opportunity to wave flags and show their support for the United States and its Olympic white-water team.

The first event is free to everyone. Oakland has organized a kickoff parade and celebration for Friday, May 15, starting at 6 p.m. at the Post Office on Second Street. Everyone is invited to attend. We hope Garrett Countians will line the sidewalks to show their support. Bring your flags and raise your voices to cheer the athletes. Let them know that Garrett County is behind them.

After the parade, the First Federal Savings Banks of Western Maryland will sponsor a spaghetti dinner at the National Guard Armory in Oakland. Following the dinner, the U.S. Navy Country Currents Band will perform. Free tickets will be given out on a first-come, first-served basis at the First Federal branch office in the Midtown Plaza on Md. Route 135, beginning May 8. Tickets are limited, 4 per customer. So act quickly.

The Olympic Trials will take place on the Savage River on Saturday and Sunday, May 16 and 17. Tickets are $10 per person including parking, shuttle bus service, and entry to the event. Children 12 and under are free if accompanied by their parents. Just drive your car to one of the nearby designated parking lots and board a bus to the site.

The competition course has been shortened this year in order to approximate the length of the course that the U.S. athletes will face in Barcelona at the summer Olympics. This course makes for great spectator viewing. Let the world know that Garrett County is represented and that we support American and the young athletes who will represent our nation in the Olympics.

Besides the competition itself, we have planned fun for the whole family. In fact the entire event is aimed toward good family entertainment. For that reason we decided to admit young children free of charge if accompanied by their parents. No alcohol will be sold at the event.

For the children we have designed Junior Olympic Boulevard, featuring clowns, pony rides, and a live, wild bird exhibition. On the main Olympic Boulevard, you will find attractions for the whole family. The centerpiece of the Boulevard is the Performance Tent. The event schedule

Elder Abuse; A Local Tragedy

The Maryland State Office on Aging, in conjunction with the Department of Human Resources' Adult Protective Services Unit, has designated May 3-9, 1992, as "Adult Elder Abuse Week."

The first elder abuse studies began in 1979, which was the first year federal money was allocated for abuse services. That same year, a National Committee on Elder Abuse was formed. Current statistics on the problem are alarming.

The incidence of elder abuse and exploitation in domestic settings are estimated at over 1.5 million per year nationwide, yet only 1 in 8 abused, neglected or exploited older individuals actually receives service from community systems. The vast majority of cases never come to the public's attention. Some experts believe that only 1 out of 14 cases of abuse is actually reported to authorities. Approximately 2 million older Americans reside in long term care facilities, but 86% of the reported cases of abuse of the aged are mistreated by their own families.

Over the past 25 years, the traditional American image of domestic tranquility has been shattered by the nonignorable realities of steadily increasing child abuse, spouse abuse and now elder abuse and mistreatment. Ours is a strange culture with regard to human rights and the inherent value and basic priority of human life. In 1874, the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals argued before the Supreme Court that a child is a member of the animal kingdom and is therefore entitled to at least the same rights and protection as other animals. In 1974, one-hundred years later, Congress agreed and passed a national law on child abuse. Elder abuse is now, finally, also a legal crime as well as a moral shame.

Abuse of the elderly is not necessarily a new problem, but it is one of the most recent of several forms of intrapersonal violence to be thrust upon the American consciousness. Elder abuse is now firmly in place alongside other forms of social evil to be reckoned with.

In the year 1900, only 1 in 16 Americans was over 60 years of age. By the year 2000, 1 of every 4 Americans will be. By the year 2000, 13% of the American population will be 65 or older.

Clearly our society, nationally state by state, county by county, and in every community, simply must address the tragedy of elder abuse.

It is morally and ethically wrong for an elderly person to spend the last years of their lives trapped in a virtual nightmare of abuse, neglect and exploitation - cheated of money, property, rights and life itself. But it is happening. And it happens now, right here, in Garrett County.

The Garrett County Area on Aging is working to reduce or if possible eliminate this problem through a program of direct services, information and referral to other appropriate agencies. If you are aware of instances of elder abuse or of elder folk in need of help, call 334-5856, Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. If the victim of abuse is residential in the community, you may report it directly to the Adult Protective Services Unit of the local Department of Social Services at 334-5401.

I am writing concerning the extremely serious situation which is continuing to occur with the education of this county. People should realize how important they really are to their elected officials.

To the Editor:

I am writing concerning the extremely serious situation which is continuing to occur with the education of this county. People should realize how important they really are to their elected officials.

Over 1,500 people have signed a petition for the removal of Mike Sines as Director of Transportation "in the interest of the students" of Garrett County. What action have we gotten from our superintendent and Board? Nothing! They seem to operate by the logic that "to fix a flat tire you paint the car."

It is unfortunate that Dr. Ryscavage can't see the forest for the trees. Hannah Sincell put it straight forward when she told the Board and superintendent they had "missed the point." I am glad to see that at least one of the candidates for the Board can use his/her head.

One of the points that the Board is missing is the conduct of their staff. It is well known to the Board, local press, and county commissioners that one Board member has had an encounter with one of their directors on the back roads of Savage River during school time. By their non-action, the Board suggests to the public that this is not strange and that it is even a proper example for the 5000-plus students of Garrett County.

As a parent I feel that it is absolutely disgusting and outrageous that our superintendent and Board condone this type of conduct with the system that is responsible for the education and safety of our children and grandchildren.

Dr. Ryscavage indicated that my method in approaching the situation was misdirected. How can it be misdirected if it finally brings a problem to light that has been festering for at least five years? How long can a problem be covered up or ignored? If my method was misdirected, why did I and the other petitioners have to go this extreme to have action taken or even

CHARTER HOME RULE FOR GARRETT COUNTY

Article V Budget and Finance

Considered by many as one of the most important features of the charter is the requirement for preparation of a proper county budget, which will reflect the financial situation of the county, past and present, and for planning into the future.

The budget requirements in Article V of the charter were prepared following an in-depth study of budget preparation by other Maryland counties. In comparison with other counties, the study revealed Garrett County has been grossly deficient in its financial planning and budget preparation.

With the increase in revenue income over the past several years from $7 to over $20 million, county administration has become a multi-million dollar business. For a financially sound government, this requires the use of university accepted principles for business management and budget preparation. Also, budget preparation should include multi-year planning, whereby future operations and capital improvements may be addressed and available for public review.

The county budget shall represent a complete financial plan for the county, reflecting receipts and disbursements from all sources, including all revenues, all expenditures, and the surplus or deficit in the general fund and in all special funds of the county government.

The county budget shall be comprised of an operating or expense budget; a capital projects/capital program budget; and a budget statement.

An Update From The Superintendent

By
Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, Superintendent
Of Garrett County Public Schools

EXTENDED ELEMENTARY EDUCATION

(This article was written in conjunction with Dr. Brenda McCartney, Director of Elementary Education with the Garrett County Board of Education.)

The Extended Elementary Education Program, or EEEP, is a prekindergarten program sponsored by the Maryland State Department of Education and the Garrett County Board of Education. The program is currently offered at Friendsville, Loch Lynn, and Red House. Initially the program was also offered at the Kitzmiller School, but due to lack of enrollment that program was relocated to Loch Lynn.

Registration in the prekindergarten program is voluntary and is offered on a first-come, first-served basis to students who will be four years of age on or before December 31st of the school year, who live within the school attendance area, and who have completed registration procedures, including proof of immunization. Students who live outside the school's attendance area are accepted into the program after September 15th of each school year, if the maximum enrollment of 20 students has not been met. Daily attendance, which coincides with the county's calendar of days for elementary students, is expected. A full day's program is provided geared to the needs of a 4-year-old child.

Each prekindergarten classroom has a certified early childhood teacher and an assistant, with class size limited to 20 students. The teacher and assistant work together to tailor the program to meet the needs of each child and to provide a print-rich environment. The students learn through activities such as dramatic play, housekeeping, games, and puzzles. Positive social skills are developed as children play together and are encouraged to make choices with a minimal amount of adult interaction. Learning centers, or activity areas, are set up in the classroom and children are given the opportunity to choose activities they enjoy while the teacher and assistant guide the students in selecting activities to meet their individual needs.

A typical morning for a prekindergarten student might include having breakfast after arriving at the school; meeting as a group to begin the day by talking about the calendar, weather, and any special activities; working at different activity or learning centers for an hour; and then working in small groups with activities to meet special needs or to explore areas of interest. After outdoor play and lunch the students might have music, art, or physical education with one of the teaching specialists who travel throughout the county followed by a rest period and nutritional snack. The day generally closes with the class gathering together to "celebrate" the day's learning.

The Extended Elementary Education Program really gives the school an opportunity to assist children at an early age. Students identified as needing speech, language, or other special learning services are provided those services. In addition, the Garrett County Board of Education and Garrett County Head Start have begun a Wrap Around Program. Families who have children enrolled in one of the EEEP classrooms and who qualify through Head Start guidelines are invited to participate in this program which attempts to address the needs of the family. A Head Start Family Service Provider ensures that the parents are provided family counseling in areas such as housing, job training, health, nutrition, and financial planning. Director services can be provided in the areas of child medical and dental care, parenting meetings, and home visits from the Family Service Provider. The Family Service Provider and the EEEP Teacher meet on a regular basis to coordinate the child's program.

The Garrett County Board of Education will be able to enroll sixty children in its prekindergarten program for the 1992-1993 school year. It is hoped that parents will take advantage of this opportunity and enroll their child. Any parent wanting further information may contact Dr. Brenda McCartney, Director of Elementary Education at 334-8948. What's happening in our schools this week?

On Saturday, May 2, 20 kindergarten through second grade teachers will take part in project Learning Tree. This is a joint effort between the Board of Education and the Garrett County Forestry Board to develop an interdisciplinary environmental education program.

On Monday, May 4, Ronald McDonald will be presenting the program "You and Me and Ecology" to all the students at Grantsville Elementary School.

Students in the seventh grade at Southern Middle School will be going to the Hickory Environmental Educational Center on May 6-8 for the seventh grade resident program. Northern High School will conduct its annual band and chorus concert on Saturday, May 9, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The Garrett County Schools Update can be heard each week on WMSG Radio at 8:35 a.m. each Monday, WXIE Radio at 8:30 a.m. each Saturday, and at 3:30 p.m. each Saturday on WAJ Radio.

LOCAL AUTHOR PUBLISHES BOOK - "Tree of Renewed Life" is the title of a newly published book written by Terry Webb of Swanton. The book, which Webb began in 1989, has a Christian focus and discusses the spiritual renewal of the church through the 12-step method of addiction recovery, an approach commonly used in many rehabilitation programs. The 12-step program and its relation to the Christian faith is the topic of Webb's book. She states in the introduction that only a few churchgoing Christians know that these 12-step programs were initiated by devout Christian men, and that people may think the self-help groups are completely secular in nature. "Little do they realize," Webb writes, "that these groups, meeting in church basements all over the world, may be the hidden church of this century." Webb is a member of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Oakland, and a member of the Garrett Choral Society. She works as a marital and family counselor and also specializes in clergy issues and addictive diseases. The book is available at The Book Market and Christian Bookstore, both in Oakland, and the Christian Bookstore in Frostburg. The publication may also be ordered from any bookstore.

Spectators To Have Adventures Of Their Own During Olympic Trials

"The excitement of Olympic competition will not be the only source of thrills at the U.S. Canoe and Kayak Team Olympic Trials on the Savage River May 16-17," said an event spokesperson. "While the whitewater athletes are competing on the river, spectators will have the opportunity for an adventure of their own by participating in one of the adventure sports available at the site."

should be worn.

Only persons holding tickets to the Olympic Trials will be able to participate in the adventure sports activities, as the tickets will include the shuttle bus transportation to the site. While they last, tickets will be available at the designated parking areas from where the shuttle buses will run during both days of the races. Children 12 years of age and under will be admitted free when accompanied by a parent.

There will be designated parking areas with shuttles to the events. (See separate story.)

TOURISM WEEK PROCLAIMED - The Board of Garrett County Commissioners have proclaimed the week of May 3-9 as Tourism Week, in conjunction with Maryland Tourism Week. Tourism week activities planned in the county that week include a "Breakfast on the Air" program at WKHJ Radio, featuring Diane Wolfe, executive director of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council. She will be on the air with local radio personalities, Terry King and Jim Shaffer at 9:30 a.m. Monday, May 4. Various activities are also scheduled at the Youghiogheny Overlook Information Center on Interstate 68, east of Friendsville. Performing there will be the Garrett Community College Pipes and Drums in concert at 2 p.m. on Saturday, May 9. Maryland Tourism Week activities are scheduled throughout the state with a variety of programs planned.

Antique Sale will also be held town-wide on May 16 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. For information on this yard sale, call (301) 895-5208.

features many Garrett County and regional performers as well as entertainers appearing in Garrett County for the first time: the Spektra Band (variety of music); storytellers including Gail Herman, Gary Yoder, Jamal Koram (Aesop's Fables and African stories), and Andy Fraenkel (sacred stories from around the world); Greg Latta (banjo and hammered dulcimer); the Dulcettes (Mountain Dulcimer group); Hammers and Strings (authentic Appalachian music); Larry Smith (recorder); Jesse Shimrock (mime); Ben Sincell (mime and magic); and the Miller Family Acappella Choir (sacred songs). Add to all this a grand array of exhibitions and food selections and you have the ingredients for a great day of family entertainment. Schedule information will be available in the Souvenir Program sold at the event.

And there's more. You can have your own adventure. In the surrounding park area, you will be able to select from whitewater rafting, mountain biking, canoeing or kayaking on the Savage River Lake, or horseback riding. All the equipment you will need is included in the fee for these activities. You can also choose to go on a free nature hike with a GCC guide. Spaces are limited. All these activities are booked on a first-come first-served basis. If you would like to participate in any of the adventure activities, reserve a place by telephoning 387-8000.

On Sunday evening First Federal Savings Bank will sponsor an Awards Banquet at Frostburg State University. The athletes who have won the right to be on the Olympic Team will be introduced. Captain John Butterfield (U.S. Navy Retired), the Executive Director of the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sport, will be the keynote speaker. The U.S. Navy Sea Chanters will perform a program of patriotic music. A limited number of tickets will go on sale at $15 per person.

I hope all Garrett Countians will participate in this great weekend of activities to support the U.S. Olympic Team and our Olympic athletes. For further information, telephone 387-8000.

SHS Students Attend World Affairs Event

Ryan Durst, Jennifer Reeves, and Ingrid Carlson, all three Southern High School students, recently traveled to the 33rd Annual World Affairs Institute held in Morgantown, W.Va. Sponsored by the Morgantown Rotary Club and the Department of Political Science at West Virginia University, the World Affairs Institute dealt with issues before the United Nations Security Council. The format was similar to a true United Nations session.

The students from Southern, advised by Doug Oxford, represented Japan. The objects of the session were to find resolutions to the problems of restructuring the security council, re-admit South Africa into the U.N., evaluate the World Human Rights record, and discuss international world peace. Terrorism was also a topic of discussion.

In session A, Japan had one resolution passed and five presented. In session C, Durst succeeded in passing five resolutions.

Southern was among 41 high schools from Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Ohio. Although only first place winners were selected in the three sessions, the students from Southern had high scores in the race, according to a spokesperson. Their achievements were recognized by all of the delegates present, the spokesperson said.

SHS STUDENTS REPRESENT JAPAN - Three Southern High School students recently attended the 33rd Annual World Affairs Institute, held at West Virginia University, Morgantown. The format of the event was similar to that of a true United Nations session, with the Southern students representing Japan. The main objective of the session concerned the pursuit of world peace, and according to advisor and teacher Doug Oxford, the students all felt they had learned a great deal about the difficulties of such an endeavor. The group fared well in the final scoring. See story. The group members, pictured above left to right, are Oxford, Jennifer Reeves, Ingrid Carlson, and Ryan Durst.

BPW To Host Fashion Show Saturday, May 2

The Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club will host a spring fashion show on Saturday, May 2, at 1 p.m. at the Will O' the Wisp.

Deep Creek Lake.

BPW member, Rebecca Knox, local Beauty Control consultant, will be the coordinator for the first-time event. BPW members and guests will model the latest in fashions from Fashion Trax, located in the Train Station, Loch Lynn. Coordinating accessories will also be displayed.

Gloria Gaddis, Maryland State Federation Membership chairperson will appear with other officials to provide information and to answer questions about membership in a BPW organization.

The $5 ticket price covers a "Refreshment Break," a new offering by Martin Heise of the Wisp. Tickets are available from any BPW member or by calling President Peggy Jamison at 334-1648 and leaving a message.

Meeting Place Changed For Democrat Club

It was announced this week that the meeting place has been changed for the Garrett County Democrat Club.

The meeting will now be held at the Spruce Room of the Wisp Resort Hotel on Tuesday, May 5, at 7:30 p.m.

Correction Noted

In last week's edition of The Republican, the name of an artist from the Juried High School competition at Garrett Community College was incorrect. Michael Rexrode, not Michael Aeyrote, was the artist who painted "Field of Serenity." We regret the error.

Clean Up Week Set In Friendsville

Clean Up! Paint Up! Week is slated in Friendsville May 4-9 and residents are asked to do away with rubbish piles, cut weeds, mow lawns, trim hedges, repair and paint.

They are also asked to dispose of worn out furniture, broken appliances, and useless old tires. "We need a thorough cleaning and renovation," said Mayor Spencer Schlosnagle. "It is the sensible thing to do for health, safety, pride, and happiness of all our people."

"Our town is known as the friendliest little town in Maryland," he continued. "Why shouldn't we make it the cleanest little town in Maryland as well? Come on, let's put things in order. To have a town clean and beautiful should be the ambition of everyone of its citizens."

Trash removal as usual will be on Friday, May 8. Pick up of large items will be Saturday, May 9, beginning at 10 a.m.

Lead Poisoning Week Proclaimed

Governor William Donald Schaefer has proclaimed May 4-10 Lead Poisoning Week in Maryland.

"Lead poisoning is the number one environmental threat to our children," said Governor Schaefer. "It contributes to learning and behavioral problems and other even more serious health concerns. This week serves as a reminder that lead poisoning can be prevented by identifying lead hazards and safely getting rid of them."

The Maryland Department of the Environment (MDE) coordinates the state's efforts in preventing lead poisoning.

MDE works with the state Departments of Health and Mental Hygiene, Housing and Community Development, and Licensing and Regulation as well as local health departments to find and eliminate lead hazards in the environment.

The most common source of lead exposure to Maryland children is dust from lead-based paint in older homes. Lead dust is created as paint deteriorates or is disturbed during home maintenance or

PREPARE FOR EQUIPMENT FAIR - Garrett County Memorial Hospital staff, Laurie Grant, right, and Beth Newcomb, are shown here getting ready for an Equipment Fair on May 12 and 13. The fair will feature current patient care equipment available at GCMH. The equipment on display will be clinical and patient-care oriented and will be demonstrated if possible. The public is invited to the fair on May 12 from 2-7 p.m. This will provide the public with an opportunity to see first-hand the functions of hospital equipment.

Northern Band, Chorus To Present Spring Concert

The Annual Spring Concert of the Northern High School Band and Chorus will be presented on Saturday, May 9, in the school cafeteria beginning at 8 p.m. An art show of students' works will accompany the musical presentation.

This year's band concert will include a variety of music, including "A Tribute to Glenn Miller" with Tuxedo Junction, Little Brown Jug, Jersey Bounce, and American Patrol.

"Caccia," by American composer W. Francis McBeth, will be performed, as will John Barnes Chance's "Variations on a Korean Folk Song."

The chorus will present a medley of Andrew Lloyd Weber's works, including songs from "Jesus Christ Superstar," "Cats," and "Phantom of the Opera."

Various works of student artists will be on display during the concert. Featured displays will include the creations of award winners in the Fifth Annual Juried High School Exhibition, held at Garrett Community College in early April. The first place sculpture by Brian McKenzie will be on display as well as the second place drawing by Brian Blocher.

Works by students Laura Dubansky, Sam Wakefield, Scott Friend, Jody Ross, and Ken Hook will be shown as well.

The concert and art show are free to the public and all persons are invited to attend.

Goldstein Receiving 1,100 Calls Per Day On Sales Tax Law Changes

As the clock is counting down to May 1, when many of the changes in Maryland's sales and use tax law take effect, telephones in the state Comptroller's Office are ringing off the hooks. The office is handling about 1,100 calls a day from businesses affected by the changes.

Some of the businesses are calling to register to collect the tax for the first time, including veterinarians and businesses providing building cleaning, security and credit reporting services. Other businesses are calling to find out if the services they provide are now taxable. Services by dry cleaners, barbers and beauticians are not affected by the tax law changes.

While it keeps the sales and use tax rate at 5%, the new legislation subjects an array of items and services to the tax. Beginning May 1, consumers will pay sales and use tax on over-the-counter, subscription and home delivery sales of newspapers; prescription dietary dog and cat food; a variety of telephone services; pay-per-view television; and cash sales of food at college and hospital snack bars, cafeterias and vending machines.

The Comptroller's Office has already mailed informational materials on sales and use tax law changes as well as licensing requirements to more than 120,000 businesses and trade associations in Maryland.

However, the Sales and Use Tax Division of the Comptroller's Office is still waiting to hear from thousands of businesses who have requested information about registering for sales and use tax licenses, but have not yet done so.

Most existing businesses can set up sales and use tax accounts over the phone by contacting the Taxpayer Service Section at 225-1300 in the Baltimore metro area, or toll-free 1-800-492-1751 from other areas of Maryland.

Consumers will also find that on May 1, gasoline taxes increase by five cents per gallon to 23½ cents per gallon and cigarette taxes increase by 20 cents per pack to 36 cents per pack of 20 cigarettes.

GOBA MEETS WITH MDDA - The Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA) met recently with representatives of the Maryland Downtown Development Association (MDDA) in Hancock. MDDA is a group of professionals trained in Main Street Revitalization. Western Maryland Main Street practitioners were brought together to compare problems and discuss solutions. Topics discussed were organizing a business association, parking, signs, sidewalks, fund raising, and others. Representatives in attendance at the meeting were from Annapolis, Baltimore City, Ellicott City, Frostburg, Hagerstown, Hancock, and Oakland. GOBA reported to the group its successes, including the formation of a Commercial District Management Association (CDMA) with the backing of the mayor and town council, a strong and active business association, methods of productive fund raising, good parking promotions, and local unification in accomplishing projects, such as the Mountain Fresh Produce building and business directory. Pictured above, seated, left to right, are Dianne Wiebe, executive director of MDDA; and Debbie Johnson, MDDA board. Standing in the same order are Janna Naylor, GOBA/CDMA member; Simon Ruderman, MDDA president; Leon Szuser, MDDA vice-president; Connie Margison, GOBA; and Jane Trolinger, MDDA board.

NHS Recycling Effort Continues

Northern High School's Recycling Club is finally gaining response from the community in its recycling efforts, according to a recycling committee member.

Over the past weekend, the community brought many recyclable items to join in the school's efforts. So many items were collected that the barrels couldn't hold them all.

A recycling contest will begin Tuesday, May 5. For every 10 recyclable items a student brings in on a Tuesday or Thursday morning in May, his name will be entered in that week's drawing. Prizes totalling over $350 were donated by local businesses.

"Students and teachers are urged to participate," said Sherry Lebowitz, committee member. "Break the waste habit and recycle."

Three Vacancies Filled On Social Services Board

The Garrett County Commissioners this week announced the appointment of three new members to serve on the Garrett County Board of Social Services after being informed of the recommendations by Robert Shaffer, director of the county's Department of Social Services.

The three new appointees are Eleanor Plachta, Oakland, Leora Yaste, Bittinger, and Rev. Samuel Wachter, McHenry. The vacancies were created by outgoing members Rev. John Grant, Charles Tressler, and by the late Don Newman.

One appointee will serve an initial term of two years, from July 1, 1992, to June 30, 1994. The other two appointees will serve three-year terms from July 1, 1992, to June 30, 1995.

Pool Operator Certification Class Offered

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College has scheduled a Swimming Pool - Spa Operators' Course for May 20 and 21. The course is designed for persons who are not currently certified.

Course sessions will be held both days between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., in the Center for Community and Continuing Education, McHenry Campus, Room CE-305.

All potential students should pre-register at the Garrett Community College, Continuing Education Office, Room 300, McHenry Campus. Out-of-town students may obtain registration information by phone at 800-695-4221, ext. 169. The tuition for this course is $2 for Garrett County Residents, $3 for out-of-county Maryland residents and $4 for out-of-state residents. An additional registration fee of $3 will apply to all students. Students who need texts may obtain them on the first day of class from the instructor. The cost of the text is $15.

A Swimming Pool - Spa Operator Recertification Course, designed for individuals who are renewing their certification, will be offered on May 20 at the Center for Community and Continuing Education, McHenry Campus, Room CE-305. The recertification course may only be taken by those individuals who hold current certification. The course will meet from 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The tuition, text and fees are the same as those listed above.

Successful completion of the appropriate course will prepare an individual to supervise the operation of a public swimming pool or spa in Maryland. Topics will include pool water chemistry, testing, record keeping, Maryland regulations, plan review processes, equipment,

STUDENTS PARTICIPATE IN MENTOR PROGRAM - Several students at both Northern and Southern High School have been given a unique opportunity to participate in a pilot mentor program coordinated by the Garrett County Board of Education. The purpose of the mentor program is to allow students explore possible career choices by getting "hands-on" experience in established community businesses or agencies. Several area persons of recognized ability and success are serving as "mentors" for the students. See story. In the photo above, left to right, are Jo Ann Vent, education board coordinator of the mentor program, and Southern High participants Kerri Shaffer, Brian Friend, Sheila Butt, and Dan Smith. Not pictured is Lyz Savage. In the photo below is Mildred Wucik, Northern High principal, and students Danielle Sines, Lisa Wagner, Cyndi Yeager, David Opel, Stephanie Merrill, and Mrs. Vent.

Maryland law requires all public swimming pools to be under the direct supervision of a certified operator. Students who successfully complete the initial operators course and exam will receive two-year certificates that are valid throughout the state. Students who successfully complete the recertification course will receive a two-year certification.

Mr. Rodney B. Giotfelty, assistant director of Environmental Health at the Garrett County Health Department, will be the instructor for the recertification course. Mr. Giotfelty has won the head of the swimming pool and recreational sanitation program at the Department since 1979. He is a registered environmental sanitarian and a member of the State Licensing Board for this profession.

The course text, which costs $15, may be obtained from the Environmental Health Services office (334-8180) before the first session if desired. Additional information may be obtained from the Continuing Education office by calling 387-6666, ext. 169.

Red Cross To Honor Volunteers, Elect Directors

The Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross will hold a Volunteer Recognition Dinner and Annual Meeting on Wednesday, June 3, at 6:30 p.m. at Silver Tree Inn. An election of the Board of Directors will also be held.

The cost of the dinner is $10 per person. Anyone wishing to attend may make reservations by mailing their check to The Garrett County Chapter, P.O. Box 3113, Deer Park, MD. 21550.

GCC Offering Short Course For "Soft Servers"

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College, in cooperation with the Garrett County Health Department, has scheduled a course titled "Soft Serve Sanitation" on Thursday, May 14. The one session course will meet in the Center for Community and Continuing Education, McHenry Campus, Room CE-305, between 8 a.m. and noon. According to the instructor, Ms. Tina Buckel, a registered environmental sanitarian, "Personnel from all food service facilities which offer frozen yogurt or soft serve ice cream are urged to attend."

The goals of the course are to provide participants with proper sanitation techniques for soft serve machines and to help participants understand bacteriological issues through an informative laboratory analysis simulation. A representative from the Morris M. Young Company will have a soft serve machine available on-site for "hands-on" exploration and a question/answer period.

There is a $3 fee for all participants. Anyone who desires additional information, or who wishes to pre-register, is invited to call the Continuing Education Division of the College at 800-695-4221 or 301-387-6666, ext. 169. Refreshments will be provided.

Students Work With Area Mentors In Pilot Program

A limited number of high school juniors and seniors have recently been given the opportunity to participate in a unique program designed to expand their curricula opportunities beyond the classroom. Jo Ann Vent of the Garrett County Board of Education is the coordinator of a pilot mentor program with the objective of providing students with models of success, a realistic picture of the work outside of the classroom, and a chance to explore different career areas.

The students and mentors currently participating in the pilot program are as follows: Northern High student Dave Opel and Southern students Brian Friend and Dan Smith are working with Wade Dorsey, Department of Natural Resources - forestry division; Pete Miller, procurement forester for Westvaco; Larry Maxim, forestry management of Savage River State Forest; John Foreman, woodlands manager; and Randy Bernard, forester for Wood Products, Inc.

Kerri Shaffer, SHS student, is working with Ralph Burnett, attorney. Sheila Butt, SHS, is learning the CPA trade from Nick Brown of Naylor's Hardware, Oakland. SHS student Lyz Savage's mentor is Leslie Johnson of the DNR wildlife division, and NHS student Cyndi Yeager is studying under Judy Schroyer of Garrett National Bank.

Stephanie Merrill, NHS, is working with Bobbie Siler of Garrett National Bank, and NHS student Lisa Wagner's mentor is Mike Kozier, county executive director of Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation. Danielle Sines, NHS, is working with Patsy Green and Colleen Nordeck of Wheat Financial.

These community mentors were asked to devote eight to 16 volunteer hours per month in the project. The students report to the mentor's worksite for the work experience.

"This has been a great experience for me," said student Sheila Butt. "At Naylor's, I have been given a segment of a small business for which I am responsible. It is great to see how what I have learned at school can be applied in business."

The hope of the mentor program organizers is that the students will make the connection between school and work and will have some assistance in career decision making. Mrs. Vent expressed her gratitude to the current mentors, and hopes to expand the program in the coming school year.

Parking Areas Designated For Olympic Trials

As the weekend approaches for the U.S. Canoe and Kayak Team Olympic Trials on the Savage River May 16-17, preparations are moving into "high gear" at Garrett Community College and the cooperating state agencies. According to Don Stork, chair of the local organizing committee, each of the divisions is checking off lists of last minute needs to make certain that everything is ready for the athletes and officials, and for the 15,000 spectators and media representatives expected to view the premier whitewater event in the United States this year.

One recent development in the preparations for the Trials has been the announcement of the designated nearby lots where spectators may park their cars during the two days of races.

Those areas include: the parking lot at Big Run State Park off New Germany Road, the McCool Volunteer Fire Department on Md. Rt. 135, Westernport Industrial Park on Md. Route 135 in McCool, and the Tri-Towns Shopping Plaza on Md. Rt. 135 in McCool.

Shuttle buses will run from these lots to and from the race site from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. both days. Because of the confined area in the Savage River Valley, no spectator parking will be permitted on site. Signs directing travelers to the parking areas will be placed along all state roads leading into the area by the Maryland State Highway Administration.

Olympic Trials tickets will be available at these parking lots while they last. The price of tickets ($10) includes parking, bus transportation, entrance to the Trials and to the Star Spangled Festival events on the site. Children 12 years of age and under will be admitted free when accompanied by a parent.

Tickets may also be purchased in advance at designated retail outlets in Garrett, Allegany, Mineral, and Frederick counties, or by calling the Olympic Trials office at Garrett Community College at 1-800-827-1529.

Free Medicine Check-Ups Set For Senior Citizens

During May, "Older Marylanders Month," the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging and the Health Department's Drug and Alcohol Prevention Program will provide older residents with a free personalized check-up of their medicines.

Known as a "Brown Bag" medicine review, this service will be held on the following dates and locations: May 12, Old Mill Restaurant, Gorman, 11 a.m. to noon and 12:30 to 1:30 p.m.; May 13, Oakland Senior Center, 11 a.m. to noon and 12:30 to 1:30 p.m.; May 14, Kitzmiller Community Building, 11:30 a.m. to noon and 12:30 to 1 p.m.; May 14, Flowery Vale Senior Center, Accident, 11 a.m. to noon and 12:20 to 1:30 p.m.; May 14, Starnes Hill Apartments, 10:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and noon to 1 p.m.; May 18, Swanton Community Building, 12:30 to 2 p.m.; May 18, Bull's Restaurant, Bloomington, 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 1 to 2 p.m.; May 20, Jennings Community Building, 11:30 to noon and 12:30 to 1 p.m.; May 20, Twila's Old Mill Grill, Friendsville, 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.; May 28, Finzel fire hall, 11 a.m. to noon and 12:30 to 1:30 p.m.

"Improper medicine use causes about 25 percent of nursing home admissions," said Adina Brode, director of the Area Agency on Aging, "and older people are also at greater risk for hospitalization and death from adverse drug reactions. Regular medicine check-ups can help older people stay independent and avoid these outcomes."

During the medicine check-ups, local pharmacists will review each medicine and discuss the older person's medicine-taking routine. The conversation is private and confidential; the pharmacist conducting the review may follow up with the patient's own doctor about serious concerns.

"We look for problems that are easy to solve, but which can lead to severe consequences for a patient's health," notes Ms. Brode. "For example, some medicines should not be taken together, but patients may receive prescriptions from different doctors - who may be unaware of a patient's other medicines. About half of all medicines prescribed are taken incorrectly, sometimes because patients do not have complete instructions or do not understand why it is important to follow them exactly."

Many older people and their families also appreciate the change to get a health professional's undivided attention - free of charge. Participants can ask questions and get personalized tips on remembering their medicines, reducing or avoiding medicine side effects, and safe medicine storage.

Interested older citizens and/or those who care for them should contact the Area Agency on Aging at 334-5856 for more information. Caregivers may come with the older patient. Participants should bring all medicines in the original containers to the check-up.

A list of local pharmacists participating in the "Brown Bags" program will appear in next week's edition of The Republican.

Rodeheaver Joins First United

Richard G. Stanton, chairman of the Board and president of First United National Bank & Trust, recently announced the appointment of Carissa Lynn Rodeheaver as trust officer. She joined the First United staff in early March.

"We're very pleased to add Carissa to our Trust department staff," stated Stanton. "We pride ourselves on having a highly trained and qualified Trust department staff. With Carissa's background as a certified public accountant, she is sure to add even greater expertise."

Mrs. Rodeheaver holds a bachelor of science degree in accounting from the University of Maryland. During her college tenure she was named a Maryland Distinguished Scholar, while maintaining a grade point average of 3.5. Prior to joining First United, she gained accounting experience from employment with the following organizations: Rodeheaver & Associates, Texas Eastern Gas Pipeline Company, and Bausch & Lomb.

Mrs. Rodeheaver is a member and treasurer of the Oak Grove Church of the Brethren. She and her husband, Scott, reside in Bittering.

Lake Manager Issues Reminder Regarding Docks

As the recreation season approaches, the Maryland Department of Natural Resources has issued a reminder to Deep Creek Lake property owners who are planning to install docks.

The Deep Creek Lake regulations set certain requirements for dock flotation that apply to all permit sites on the lake. Flotation devices must contain sufficient positive flotation material to keep the drum visibly afloat if it detaches from the dock. State Forest and Park Service personnel have noted through spot inspections that a number of permit holders have not conformed to this requirement. As the season progresses, enforcement in this area will be stepped up.

One other reminder involves the numbering system used at dock permit sites around the lake. According to Lake Manager Paul Durham, there are a number of sites that go unnumbered each year. "The lake regulations require that each dock display the permit number," stated Durham. "Aside from the administrative need for the numbering system, it also is extremely valuable in locating permit sites when responding to emergencies or citizen complaints. We encourage all property owners to take the few minutes necessary to conform to this requirement."

The Deep Creek Lake Management Program is administered through the Forest and Park Service office located at the Deep Creek Lake Recreation Area. Information on regulations, services, and programs can be obtained by calling 301-387-4111.

Rams Defeat Keyser, Petersburg, Westmar, Then Lose To Allegany

The Southern High Rams won their fifth, sixth, and seventh straight games this past week before having that streak stopped last night by visiting Allegany, 9-6, in a showdown between the area's two top-rated teams.

Coch Jim Bosley's team topped Keyser last Thursday, 11-4, in Oakland, defeated previously unbeaten Petersburg, 8-6, on Friday on the Vikings' diamond, and edged visiting Westmar in a make-up game, 6-4, on Tuesday before meeting the number one ranked Campers last night. The 11-3 Rams will host Bishop Walsh this Friday.

Jeremy Bosley led the Rams both offensively and defensively in their Potomac Valley Conference win over Keyser last Thursday, as he doubled, singled, and took a no-hitter into the fifth inning from the mound.

Southern took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Brett Rice reached on a fielder's choice and came home on a two-out single by Shane Skipper.

The Rams put the game away in the second inning by adding seven more runs. Britten Martin led off the frame with a walk, eventually scored, and then smacked a double to score the final run of the inning. Josh Woods, Bosley, and Garth Glatfelter stroked RBI doubles, and Rice and Dave Kurtz each added run-producing singles in the inning.

Southern took a 10-0 lead in the fourth when Skipper rapped an RBI single and later scored himself on a wild pitch. The game would have ended three outs later because of the 10-run rule, but Keyser finally got on the scoreboard and ended Bosley's quest for a no-hitter.

Ron Coleman and Brian Duckworth each singled in the bottom of the fifth and Chad Cooper followed with a three-run homer to make it 10-3.

The Rams added one more run in the sixth on an RBI single by Rice.

Rice finished with two singles and three RBI and Skipper added two singles for two runs.

RAMS' STREAK ENDED BY CAMPERS - The Southern High Rams' six-game winning streak was ended yesterday in a showdown with Allegany. The Rams, ranked second in the area, Bosley went the distance, allowing five hits and recording five strike-outs to up his personal mark to 3-1.

It wasn't pretty, but the Rams were successful in topping previously unbeaten Petersburg Friday in another PVC contest by recording seven unearned runs and taking advantage of four Viking errors.

The Vikings came into the contest with a 10-0 mark and managed to get 10 hits off Brett Rice, who went the distance, but the Rams came back from a 4-2 deficit with a five-run effort in the sixth inning.

Southern took a 1-0 lead in the top of the first with an unearned run, as Bosley reached on an error and scored on a double by Kurtz.

The Vikings went on top 2-1 in their half of the first on RBI singles by Doug Fletcher and Shaun Sarap.

Chad Cooper added another run for the home team in the second inning with the first of his three RBI singles on the afternoon.

Hits by Rice and Garth Glatfelter and a fielder's choice in the third inning resulted in the Rams' only earned run of the day.

Petersburg added another single run in the fourth on Cooper's second RBI single before the Rams took the lead for good with their five-run sixth. Those unearned scores were recorded as Skipper walked, Kurtz singled, and Gary Upole reached on an error that scored Skipper and Kurtz.

Then Raymie Sherwood, Bosley, and Rice followed with singles and Bosley scored when Glatfelter reached on another error.

Cooper rapped another run-producing single in the Vikings' two-run sixth, but they could get no closer, as Southern added an insurance run in the seventh.

Willie Watts took the loss for the Vikings. The Rams struggled against the 5-6 Westmar Wildcats on Tuesday in Oakland, but managed to break a 2-2 tie with a three-run second inning and hold on for the win.

Westmar took a 1-0 lead in the first inning on an RBI double by Todd Snyder.

Southern responded in the bottom of the inning with two unearned runs before the Wildcats tied it at 2-2 in the top of the second when Shane Lamberson doubled home Tom Metz.

Upole led off the Rams' three-run third with a walk and Nathan Dixon reached on an error following his sacrifice bunt. Both scored on a single by Bosley, who also came home when Skipper singled.

Westmar cut the lead to 5-3 with a run in the sixth when Snyder walked and scored on an error, but the Rams added an extra run in the bottom of the same inning when Josh Woods singled, stole second, and scored on a single by Dixon.

Relief pitcher John O'Neal, who has suffered from tendinitis much of this season, proved to be the ace in the hole for the Allegany Campers last night, as he pitched four innings of hitless relief, striking out nine Ram batters in the process.

O'Neal took the mound in the fourth inning with the score tied at 4-4, runners on first and third, and no outs.

fall to the top-ranked Campers, 9-6, on Southern's diamond. Above, Ram Josh Woods eyes a pitch that appears to be just a little high. The Rams will host Bishop Walsh this Friday.

He struck out Jason Rinker for the first out and then walked Bosley to load the bases. Rice followed with a squeeze bunt that brought Woods home and then Britten Martin upped Southern's lead to 6-4 when he came home on a wild pitch.

O'Neal took complete control after that point, as he struck out seven of the next eight batters.

The Rams came back with one run in the bottom of the inning when Bosley came home on a ground out by Skipper.

Southern went on top 4-2 in the second when Woods and Martin walked, Rinker followed with a two-run single, and then later scored himself on a single by Rice.

A home run by Brett Miller on Rice's first pitch of the third inning, followed by a similar shot by O'Neal on the second pitch quickly knotted the score at 4-4.

The Campers took control of the game in the sixth inning by scoring five runs, three of which were unearned. Brian Carithers rapped a two-run double after Jeremy Hedrick doubled and Danny Bauer singled. The bases were then loaded and John Hancock scored on a wild pitch. Then Fradiska and Miller scored the final two runs of the game when they came home on a throwing error at first base.

The loss for Rice was his first on the mound, as his personal record dipped to 4-1. Milburn, who started for Allegany and came in with a 5-0 mark, allowed just three hits in his three innings of work, but gave up five walks and allowed six unearned runs. O'Neal was credited for the win.

Coach Bosley described O'Neal as "the best pitcher in the area," and said he was surprised how well he pitched "for a guy who hasn't thrown all year."

After the Bishop Walsh game Friday, the Rams will play at Tri-Valley on Saturday and host Northern Monday.

Southern Girls Continue Streak On The Courts

The Southern High School girls' tennis team, coached by Debbie Goralski, recorded three more wins this week to up their season mark to 10-1, the best in the area.

The Rams whipped Beall on Friday, 6-1, in Frontburg, recorded a 6-1 win over visiting Hampshire on Tuesday, and then blanked Keyser yesterday afternoon, 7-1, also in Oakland.

Meanwhile, the Southern boys' team was topped by a strong Beall squad on Friday, 6-1, and then fell to Keyser last night, 6-1.

Nikki Brown, Ingrid Carlson, Erin Dabney, and Sheila Butt all recorded singles wins against Beall, while Ashley Smith and Kathryn Ashby were winners in doubles.

The only point recorded for Beall was by the doubles team of Angie Bennett and Jaime McFarland.

In the boys' match, the only victor for the Rams was Shawn Gregory in singles.

Against Hampshire, Brown, Carlson, Dabney, and Jessica Teets all recorded singles wins for the Rams, while Smith and Ashby again won in doubles.

In yesterday's match against Keyser, Brown, Carlson, Dabney, Butt, and Teets were all singles winners, while the doubles teams of Ashby and Smith, and Tammy Eisebrou and Tiffany Nicholson also won.

In the boys' action, only the Southern doubles team of Bernard and Gregory was victorious. A.J. Stevenson,

Huskies Split With Mountaineers, Crush Flintstone; Record Is 7-4

The Northern High Huskies dropped a 5-0 decision to Beall last Thursday, walloped Flintstone on Monday, 21-0, and then avenged their loss to Beall last night by topping the Mountaineers, 12-10, in Accident. The results left Coach Phil Carr's team with a 7-4 mark, which they put on the line against host Rockville this Friday.

In the first game against Beall last Thursday, the Huskies managed to collect only two hits off Jason Cutter, who went the distance, struck out seven, and allowed just one walk.

The Mountaineers took a 4-0 lead in the first inning, as Jon Winebrenner singled, stole second, and moved to third on a passed ball. Mike Frost followed with a walk, a steal of second, and taking third on another passed ball, which allowed Winebrenner to score.

Cutter followed with a walk, went to second on another passed ball which scored Frost, and then moved to third on still another passed ball. Jeremy Robison then walked and stole second before Ronnie Komatz walked to load the bases. Scott Yates followed with a run-producing single that scored Cutter, and then Robison came home on a fielder's choice ground ball by Chris Stevens to make it 4-0.

A single by Komatz in the second inning that sent Winebrenner home concluded the game's scoring. It was the seventh win in 10 starts for the Mountaineers.

Jason Beals hit a triple for the Huskies, as Jon Houser took the loss on the mound.

Houser led the Huskies' offense in their laughter over visiting Flintstone on Monday afternoon, as he rapped two home runs, both in the first inning, and accounted for five of his team's 13 runs in the first.

Houser smacked a two-run shot first and then a three-run blast in the first frame. He added a single in the third to pace the Huskies' nine-hit effort. The game was called after five innings because of the 10-run rule.

Mark Beals, Doug Breneman, and Brian McKenzie each doubled and Robert Beachy added an RBI single for the Huskies.

Derek Mason earned the win on the mound, as he allowed only two hits, struck out six, and allowed no walks. Donnie Jay and Prentice Stonestreet accounted for the Aggies' only hits.

The Flintstone defense helped the Huskies by committing five errors and allowing nine walks. The loss dropped the Aggies to 3-7.

Three Northern pitchers allowed 15 walks last evening against Beall, but limited the Mountaineers to just three hits, while the Husky offense pounded out 10 hits.

Jarrett McKenzie led the Huskies with a two-run homer and a two-run single. Beals added a double and a Chad Hayward, Jason Kite, Todd Rosedale, and Jeff Morehead all won their singles matches for the Golden Tornado.

GOH Annual Hike And Bike Event Scheduled

Paul Kolb, commander of the Garrett County American Legion posts will be the honorary chairperson for the 16th annual Hike and Bike, sponsored by the Garrett County Organization for the Handicapped (GOH).

Hike and Bike will be held the weekends of May 2 and 16. The southern route will begin at Dennett Road School, Oakland, at 10 a.m., on Saturday, May 2, and the Northern Route will begin at Grantsville Community Park, Grantsville, at 10 a.m. on Saturday, May 16. One hour before the start of each event, VFW Post 10077, Deer Park, will hold on-site single for three RBI, and Paul Edwards stroked a two-run double.

Northern went out to an 8-0 lead with four runs in the second inning, one in the third, and three in the fourth. Then with the help of five walks in the fifth and four in the sixth, Beall rallied to take a 10-9 lead.

Northern came back with a single run in the fifth and three in the sixth to win.

Charlie Grove recorded two of Beall's three hits with a pair of singles.

The loss dropped Beall to 7-5 and tied the Huskies with them in the Region I Class C standings.
